Oconto Falls school officials set community conversations

Virtual session planned for July 29

By WARREN BLUHM

Editor-in-chief

Oconto Falls School District officials hope to hear residents' perspective on capital improvement projects after a light turnout at the first "community conversations" sessions.

The district held an in-person meeting July 13 and was planning a virtual session July 22, with a second session tentatively planned at 6 p.m. July 29.

Only nine or 10 people had pre-registered for the first meeting as of the school board's July 12 session, Superintendent Dean Hess told the board.

"Folks are very busy, especially right now in the summer," Hess said. "With that stated, this is not the only time that they will have to give input."

Public input is "critical," however, so Hess encouraged the public to get involved if they can. The board is considering a referendum in April 2022 to seek public approval for building projects. Hess said there's been some confusion because the district just passed a referendum in April 2021 that covered operational expenses.

The upcoming vote will address the condition of district facilities and is expected to focus largely on Washington Middle School, part of which is more than a century old.

"Every one of the buildings in our district has needs," Hess said. "They range from things like the safety entrances we have to ensure that we're aligning physical environment with some of our safety practices ... all the way to the middle school and whether or not we are looking at addressing those significant needs with the building that we have or whether we would be looking at actually building a new building."

To reserve a spot in a community session, call administrative assistant Debbie Woods at 920-848-4471.

School board approves quotes to fix clocks

Gillett Elementary School's clocks and controllers disabled during electrical storm

By LUKE REIMER

Reporter

The Gillett School Board approved a unanimous motion to help fix a problem with the clocks and the electrical controller in the elementary school at their July 15 board meeting.

Clocks at Gillett Elementary School needed to be fixed after an electrical storm knocked out the controller and the clock system.

"We believe that the controller is fried," Superintendent Todd Hencsik said.

Two different quotes were discussed from American Time on replacing the clocks, one for $2,747.85. This quote will be used as a test to work on fixing the clocks. If more work is needed to replace all of the clocks in the elementary school, the cost would be an additional $7,759.92.

"The recommendation is to approve the quote for us to not exceed $10,626.91 in both purchases if they are needed," said Hencsik. "The hope is that the controller will just correct the issue, but we just need to get in there and see that."

Board member Katie Daul said that if a new controller needs to be installed, that it would not be included in this price.

"Correct," said Hencsik. "That would have to be done through an independent contractor."

Hencsik said he and Elementary School Principal Curt Angeli will look into whether insurance will cover any of the costs.

"They are going to look into the insurance to see if they will find out if lightning did it," said Board President Jaime Young. "I am not saying for sure that insurance will cover some, but we will look into it to see."

Angeli assured the board and Hencsik that American Time had the part that would be needed to fix the controller.

Trial finally underway in 1976 murder trial

Lakewood man faces charges in Marinette County for couple's shooting deaths

By WARREN BLUHM
Editor-in-chief

Forty-five years after David Schuldes and Ellen Matheys were murdered in Marinette County's McClintock Park, a trial began for the man authorities believe committed the crime.

"You've probably all watched horror stories or terrible scary movies, but what you're going to hear surpasses anything that you've ever watched on TV," special prosecutor Mark Williams told a Marinette County jury Monday afternoon as he began to describe how 25-year-old Schuldes' body was found outside the park restroom on July 9, 1976.

The body of his 24-year-old fiancée, Matheys, was found the next day in a wooded area nearby. Both had been shot to death with a .30 caliber firearm; Matheys had been raped first.

From inside the woman's shorts, investigators preserved a DNA sample of an unknown man believed to have committed the murders, and then spent "year after year" trying to find that man, Williams said. One of their tools was a DNA profile developed from the sample.

By December 2018, technology had advanced to the point where analysts could say that the suspect was one of the four sons or grandsons of Gladys and Edward K. Vannieuwenhoven, a Green Bay area family, Williams said. Detectives began an effort to obtain DNA samples from the couple's three surviving sons.

That search led in early March 2019 to Raymond L. Vannieuwenhoven, 84, of Lakewood, whose trial is expected to last up to 10 days.

The DNA evidence is irrefutable, Williams told the jury.

"You're going to hear that literally no one else in the world could have left that semen stain on Ellen Matheys' shorts but that guy over there," he said.

In his opening statement, defense attorney Lee Schuchart conceded that it's his client's DNA, but he said the case is not about who may have had sex with the woman.

"The state has to prove to each and every one of you beyond any reasonable doubt that Ray Vannieuwenhoven shot and killed these people," Schuchart said. "Semen didn't kill these people; bullets killed these people."

Schuchart also pointed out that Vannieuwenhoven does not fit the description of a man seen in the area carrying a rifle around the time of the crime. A witness described a man with a mustache who was no more than 28 years old.

"Ray was 39, and he didn't look young," he said, adding that he has never worn facial hair.

Security was tight at the Marinette County Courthouse. Anyone who entered the courtroom had to pass through a metal detector, and purses and other carry-in bags were prohibited.

Judge James A. Morrison and the attorneys spent the morning questioning a pool of 28 prospective jurors. Fifteen more possible jurors waited in the gallery, and another couple of dozen watched the proceedings via video feed in another room.

Several were excused for medical or other reasons, and then the prosecution and defense exercised their right to strike seven more people apiece from the pool to reach the panel of 12 jurors and two alternates who are hearing the trial.

After Monday's opening statements, testimony began Tuesday morning.

Democrats march, rally for fair maps

Former legislator urges residents to call representatives and urge support for bills

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano County Democrats kicked off their education blitz on the planned redistricting of Wisconsin on July 17 with a march and rally at the courthouse that brought out over a dozen people.

The Democrats are seeking to have a nonpartisan commission draw the maps, a requirement every 10 years as the U.S. Census data, arguing that the maps were heavily gerrymandered in 2010, guaranteeing that Republicans continue to have strong majorities in both the Assembly and Senate. They believe that the gerrymandering has led to those with extreme views on both the right and left getting elected to office, reducing cooperation and compromise and leading to gridlock.

Fifty-one counties have passed advisory resolutions in support of the nonpartisan commission, and 17 counties have passed advisory referenda with voters. Shawano and Menominee counties have done neither, while Oconto County has approved a resolution.

Former state Rep. Penny Bernard Schaber, who represented the 57th Assembly District for six years until she was defeated in 2014 while making a run for state Senate, led the rallying cry in Shawano on July 17, urging Democrats to call on local legislators to support Assembly Bill 395 and Senate Bill 389, which both call for the formation of the commission.

"Fairness in government is what we need, but in my mind, the most important issue we have to deal with is gerrymandering," Bernard Schaber said. "We have to have fair maps. We have to end gerrymandering in Wisconsin because, if we don't, nothing else will get done."

Bernard Schaber argued that nothing is getting done in the legislature, and that giving candidates on both sides a fighting chance in elections is the way to solve the issue.

"Nothing of substance is getting done," she said. "If we want a clean environment, if we want good health care, if we want to have education that works well for everybody ... we have to end gerrymandering."

Bernard Schaber noted the legis-

Shawano County Democrats march along Main Street on July 17 carrying signs urging fair redistricting maps for Wisconsin. The Democrats marched from Franklin Park to the Shawano County Courthouse, where they were urged to contact legislators to move forward bills that would establish a nonpartisan commission to redraw the districts.

lative bills are languishing in inactive committees at the moment, thus the need for contacting legislators on the issues.

"We have to call the committee people and tell them you want a public hearing," Bernard Schaber said. "We have to ask them to be active and to do something."

The call to action is not just for those sitting on committees looking at the bills. Bernard Schaber said the Democrats in attendance needed to contact all legislators to demand action be taken.

"It's our job to tell the representatives and our senators to do what we ask them to do, not what the big parties ask them to, not what WMC — the Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce — tells them to do," Bernard Schaber said. "It's their job to listen to us, and to do what we ask them and tell them to do."

To not call legislators on the issue would give the impression that it's not a pressing issue among constituents, according to Bernard Schaber.

"If you don't call them, they'll say, 'Oh, it's not important,'" she said. "You even have to call people that you know support the bills because they'll think it's not important."

County seeks input on parks and rec plan

Oconto County Parks and Recreation is working with UW-Madison Extension to develop a Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation and Parks Plan 2022-2026 in order to become eligible for state and federal grant opportunities. The plan is designed to set the county's recreational direction for the next five years and will take about six months to prepare.

Each of the county's six parks, 13 boat landings and numerous recreational properties will be examined in detail for upgrades and development potential based upon the identified needs from the public and users.

"In order to know what people would like to see improved or even developed, we want to hear from the public," said Dale Mohr, community development educator with the Extension office in Oconto. "A 10-question online survey has been developed to gather the public comments and preferred improvement ideas."

The intention of the survey is to help guide the staff in both departments in making detailed plans for each of the county sites.

"You can access the survey up until midnight on Aug. 30," said Monty Brink, Oconto County parks director. "We have included a section of the plan to include town parks in order for the smaller communities to become eligible for grants, as well. This is a separate town survey the Extension staff sent out directly to the towns in July."

The public survey can be found at <http://www.co.oconto.wi.us/?i=1882> For more information, contact Brink at 920-834-6821 or Mohr at 920-834-6845.

Daul to take over Gillett's football program

Justin Daul, center, instructs the girls basketball team during a Division 4 regional playoff win over Crivitz on Feb. 9 in Gillett. Daul stepped down as the girls basketball coach and will instead coach the football team this coming school year.

Gillett Secondary School coach Justin Daul will make the transition from the basketball court to the football field this coming school year.

Daul spent the past eight years as the girls basketball coach at the varsity level, leading the Tigers to a 132-68 record and several deep postseason runs during that time. Daul will now be a head football coach for the first time, after spending the past three years as an assistant with the Tigers.

A number of factors led to the coaching switch for Daul, with family playing the biggest role.

"I recently had my third child and will have two in diapers. Coaching football allows me to be more structured with all aspects of my life as a dad, husband and coach," said Daul.

The coach added that he hopes to get back into coaching basketball at some point in the future.

During his time as the girls basketball coach, he and the Tigers accomplished several big feats.

"My first year, we were the third-biggest school in D5 but only had 12 girls out in the program," said Daul. "We flipped that around where two years ago we upped that to 26 kids and running three teams."

"Gillett has a long tradition in girls basketball but only had one girl represented on the 1,000-point banner. We added three names to that. We have added two regional championship plaques to the halls, and would have been a co-champion of the conference this year had they awarded that. We have always been academically strong as a team."

The Gillett football team is coming off a winless 2020 season. Despite the tough season, which was complicated further by coronavirus problems, Daul says he and the new staff can look at things "with a blank canvas."

He added the team is young but has several talented athletes to start building around. Some experienced players also get the chance of a fresh start.

"The main goal is to really up the value and the structure of our boys sports in our district, and the fact that the school has entrusted me with a position to really make a difference is so encouraging," said Daul. "I know we have a long road ahead, but the goals at the beginning are so much more than winning football games. If we can get kids interested and more vested into our programs, then the rest will take care of itself!"

Daul will have former Gillett football coach Jesse Witcraft back on the coaching staff as the team's offensive coordinator. Paul Herzog will run the defense. Brad Herzog will help run the youth program.

"Together, I believe we can build this thing up. We will have some great opportunities here in the future," said Daul.

Daul replaces Nick Losselyong, who served one season as the football coach. Gary Regal will take over the girls basketball varsity team.

Lena grad Kennedy Marquardt to join St. Norbert track and field team

Runner made it to state meet in senior season

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Lena High School graduate Kennedy Marquardt is eager to continue her track and field career at the collegiate level.

A 2021 state track and field qualifier in the 400-meter dash, Marquardt will continue her career at St. Norbert College in De Pere.

"It's such a cool opportunity, because you are able to compete with the best of the best in every event," said Marquardt on getting the chance to compete in a collegiate sport. "It's an experience that not everyone gets to have in their life, so I'm just really thankful."

Marquardt has had aspirations of competing in college for several years and said colleges first started showing interest in her when she was a sophomore.

Despite not being able to compete as a junior after the coronavirus pandemic wiped out the season, Marquardt said that's when the most collegiate coaches were contacting her about potentially having her join their programs.

"It was a bit overwhelming but amazing at the same time that all these coaches were interested in me," said the Lena graduate.

Marquardt eventually was able to narrow down landing spots to just five — St. Norbert, Concordia University (Mequon), Concordia University Chicago, UW-Oshkosh and UW-Eau Claire.

St. Norbert eventually won Marquardt over.

"Not only is the campus beautiful, but the classrooms and professors are so outstanding," said Marquardt. "Those few qualities were something I couldn't find anywhere else. Lastly, the athletic facilities and coaches were so unique and stood out to me the most out of all the campuses I toured."

"My coaches are extremely knowledgeable and have many resources to help me succeed. They proved to me that there is more to college than just track and field, that I also have to work hard to achieve my career that I am going for. I liked that they want me to choose school over sports, because college sports is a dream, not reality."

As Marquardt prepares for her college career, she's excited to focus all of her attention into just one sport. She noted that in high school, she competed in two other sports — basketball and cross-country — while helping manage two sports — volleyball and football.

With the extra attention on track and field, she's hoping to one day qualify for nationals as a part of a relay team or in an individual event.

"Overall, I am just really excited to compete with such talented individuals on my team," said Marquardt.

Along with qualifying for state as a senior, she also was the Marinette & Oconto Conference champion in the 400. She qualified for sectionals in the 100, 200, 400 and long jump.

As a sophomore, Marquardt was an M&O champion in the 100, 200, 400 and long jump. She made it to sectionals in those four events as well.

Back in her freshman season, Marquardt won a conference title as a part of a 4x100 relay team. She made it to sectionals as a part of that relay team and as an individual in the 200 meters.

Oreskovich gets 1st career sport mod feature win

Feck, Van Straten, Berna, Hacker win other features

By DAVE BUSS

Special to NEW Media

Halloween came early at the Shawano Speedway as Halloween on the half mile made its return July 17.

Kids donned costumes and prizes were awarded to some of the best. While kids waited to go trick or treating in the pits after the races, drivers were hoping for more treats than tricks on the track.

Finding a treat, in the form of a feature win, in their bag would be Kevin Feck, Travis Van Straten, Ron Berna, Max Oreskovich and Lucas Hacker.

Feck led the entire IMCA Modified feature event with an impressive run. Feck dominated most of the event, but caution flags provided a little drama throughout the event.

Late in the race, Marcus Yarie and Jordan Bartz joined Feck for an intense battle. The three drivers fought it out, with Bartz and Yarie swapping the runner-up spot lap after lap.

Bartz drove hard into three and four on the last lap, making it three wide for the lead. Bartz slid up the track, and for a moment, it looked like she would collect Feck and end both their nights. Amazing car control by all the drivers provided a fantastic finish with Feck leading Bartz and Yarie across the line.

The IMCA Stock Car feature had Darren Otto jump out to the top spot in the early going. Tom Riehl provided the early competition before fading to the seventh spot later in the race.

Max Oreskovich won the IMCA Sport Mod feature race at Shawano Speedway on July 17.

TURN 2 PHOTOS AND DESIGN

Meanwhile, Dan Michonski, piloting his brand new car for the first time, powered past Otto for the lead.

Otto suffered mechanical issues and had to retire early from the race. Michonski was joined at the front by Trent Nolan and Jeremy Christians providing attacks from the high and low side. While Michonski fought to keep the top spot, Van Straten was making his way into the battle.

Van Straten made his way to second and set his sights on another feature win as he tracked down Michonski. Van Straten grabbed the top spot and cruised to victory lane. Michonski placed second, with Nolan and Christians in the top four.

Rocket Ron Berna lived up to his nickname and rocketed to the front out of corner two on lap one of the Late Models feature event. While Berna was running away, Todd Frank and Luke Postl were battling for the second spot.

Caution flew as Frank found trouble and had to limp his damaged machine to the pits for the night. When the race continued, current points leader Kyle Raddant powered to the second spot, getting by Troy Springborn on the high side.

Another caution opened the door for Nick Anvelink to grab third from Springborn as the top two got away. Berna notched another win with Raddant, Anvelink, Springborn and Joel Bennett in the top five.

Oreskovich has been on the cusp of a feature win for some time in the IMCA Sport Mod division. Oreskovich grabbed the early lead and quickly found his preferred line on the low side of the track. While Oreskovich was setting the pace out front, Jeffery Teske moved into the second spot and started his pursuit of another checkered flag.

Teske closed the gap working the high side only to have Oreskovich pull away on the back stretch. Lap traffic helped Teske get right to the back bumper of the leader in the closing stages of the event. Nothing would deny Oreskovich his trip to victory lane as he held off Teske for the win. Jayden Schmidt grabbed third with Tyler Sobiesczyk fourth.

Hacker once again showed his dominance in the Mighty 4s division as he grabbed the lead from the start and never looked back. Hacker cruised to his third win this year.

Tony Everard and Carl King grabbed second and third.

Milwaukee wins 2nd NBA title behind 50-point game from Giannis

By BRIAN MAHONEY
The Associated Press

Giannis Antetokounmpo ended one of the greatest NBA Finals ever with 50 points — and a championship Milwaukee waited 50 years to win again.

Antetokounmpo had 50 points, 14 rebounds and five blocked shots as the Bucks beat the Phoenix Suns 105-98 on July 20 to win the series 4-2.

It was the third game this series with at least 40 points and 10 rebounds for Antetokounmpo, a dominant, debut finals performance that takes its place among some of the game's greatest.

He shot 16 for 25 from the field and made an unbelievable 17-of-19 free throws — a spectacular performance for any shooter, let alone one who was hitting just 55.6% in the postseason and was ridiculed for it at times.

He hopped around the court waving his arms with 20 seconds remaining to encourage fans to cheer, but it was way too late for that.

Their voices had been booming inside and outside for hours by then, having waited 50 years to celebrate a winner after Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Oscar Robertson led the Bucks to the championship in 1971.

In a season played largely without fans, the Bucks had 65,000 of them packed into the Deer District outside, a wild party that figured to last deep into the Midwestern night.

Confetti rained down inside as fans chanted "Bucks in 6! Bucks in 6!" — what began as a hopeful boast by former player turning out to be a prophetic rallying cry.

The Bucks became the fifth team to win the NBA Finals after trailing 2-0 and the first to do it by winning the next four games since Miami against Dallas in 2006.

Chris Paul scored 26 points to end his first NBA Finals appearance in his 16th season. Devin Booker added 19 points but shot just 8 for 22 and missed all seven 3-pointers after scoring 40 points in each of the last two games.

CMN offers sustainable ag degree program

The College of Menominee Nation has created a new Bachelor of Science program for sustainable agriculture.

The program is an extension of the Associate of Arts and Sciences Natural Resources program at CMN.

The focus of this new program centers on sustainability among Indigenous nations and communities. Although not a commonly used term, "food sovereignty" has gained local interest. The need to address food-related issues and general community interest in learning about traditional foods, gardening and improved wellness through relationships with the natural environment stems from community input sessions held in 2015 and 2016. In 2019, CMN faculty and staff began working on the development of this program.

Sustainable agriculture is about addressing issues of land sovereignty, natural systems, government policies, ancient to modern technologies, economics, and human biological and social systems. Upon completion, graduates will be resilient and creative with the ability to think critically, communicate and enhance the lives of those in Indigenous communities and beyond.

Degree holders in this program can be self-employed or seek employment in agricultural production, food and nutrition, natural resources and other areas. In addition, they may continue with their higher education enrolling in a graduate program.

Any associate degree graduates in natural resources from CMN and other accredited institutions are encouraged to apply for the upcoming Fall 2021 semester.

Competitive scholarships covering tuition and fees are available for the first year of the program. To learn more, contact Luis Ortiz, enrollment manager, at 715-799-5600, ext. 3065, or lortiz@menominee.edu.

OPINION

Package different, essentials stay the same

The first newscast I ever delivered on the radio was 18 minutes long, including the commercials. I started reading at 7:37 a.m. after Paul Harvey News and Comment, and I filled the time until the 7:55 a.m. ABC newscast.

Nowadays, a radio newscast runs about three minutes, if the station carries news at all. I remember playing audio clips that ran 30-40 seconds. Today's sound bites are in the neighborhood of 10.

The first comic book I ever bought cost me 10 cents and was 32 pages long, including the ads. Twenty years earlier, that dime would have bought 64 pages; 10 years earlier, it was 48. The last one I saw for sale was still 32 pages but it was priced around $3.99, and the pages were narrower than they'd been in 1961.

When I started my first job at a supermarket, we stocked the shelves with 3-pound cans of coffee. Now those cans hold about 2 pounds and a fraction. Remember half-gallon packs of ice cream? They're a quart and a half these days.

Stuff changes. It gets shorter, more expensive, smaller or all of the above.

The reasons are almost always economic: The businesses raise the price to cover their rising costs, or they reduce the size of the product so they can hold the price steady.

When DC Comics raised the price of their books to 12 cents, they ran a full-page text ad to explain why. I still remember appreciating that explanation.

This newspaper isn't what it was even a few years ago. The Shawano Leader is a weekly. It shares about half of its content with the Oconto County Times Herald and Wittenberg-Birnamwood Enterprise-News; the other half is unique to each community.

The reasons are economic, of course. The semi-merged papers began as an emergency reaction to the pandemic-related business lockdowns. Advertisers ordered to close their doors had no need to buy ads. Our choices were to go smaller or go away.

Businesses are reopening and rebuilding, and so are we, but some of those advertisers are struggling to recover and others did not survive. So it's hard to say when or if the papers will become separate entities again. We consider ourselves fortunate to be among the survivors, especially since the newspaper business had already been shrinking for more than a decade.

We've adapted, too, of course. The local news and sports you used to see in your daily paper is now posted online at www.newmedia-wi.com every day. The local news and sports you used to wait to see in the weekly papers is now available every day.

The staff is smaller than it was, partly because of economics and partly because it's not easy to find help in these times. We're working on that. Know any good reporters looking for a change? Send them our way.

What hasn't changed is the commitment of the people who are still here turning out the news and sports for you. These are our communities, and we're here to tell their stories — the triumphs and the tragedies and the beauty and the warts and all.

The package is different, but there's still stuff here that you won't find anywhere else.

Boy, do we appreciate that you've stuck with us through all of what the past year — years — have brought. Thank you for every news tip, ad, subscription or single-copy purchase. Thank you for talking with friends about the stories you see here. Heck, thank you for complaining, because complaints mean you care enough to let us know what we can do better.

I hope I've helped you understand why we're smaller and don't cost a dime anymore. I hope I've reassured you that our mission hasn't changed. I hope you'll stick around and help us tell our community's amazing story together.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Evers puts money back in for public schools

To the editor:

This past year, students and their families, schools and educators had to sacrifice so much. The one-time $2.3 billion in federal funding from the American Rescue Plan was meant to help public schools recover. However, the funding was not meant to relieve the state of its responsibility. By law, federal funding will not be received by any legislature that fails to increase education funding by at least $387 million over the next two years.

The original Republican supported 2021-2023 budget sent to Gov. Tony Evers cut his budget to $128 million, thus putting the federal aid in jeopardy. The governor, who cares deeply about education, did not want Wisconsin lose the federal funding. Therefore, he used his constitutional authority to revise the budget adding $100 million in recovery funds to invest in Wisconsin's classrooms.

Districts will now be able to use these funds for non-pandemic-related expenses such as hiring educators and staff, providing additional educational or mental health supports or buying computers.

This is such a breath of fresh air after Wisconsin had been ranked 49th in the nation for per-pupil education investment increases. Over the past decade, Wisconsin's investment in K-12 per pupil spending had increased a measly 4.3% compared to 18.9% nationwide. The Joint Committee on Finance had a chance to change that in the 2021-23 budget, but it took the governor to prioritize our children and their education.

In the past, the state of Wisconsin had one of the best public school systems in the nation. Part of this was due to state funding which provided two-thirds of the cost. For two decades, this has not been the case, and the local taxpayers have had to support their school districts. This made it difficult for many rural school districts to provide a quality education. Thanks to Evers, the 2021-23 biennial budget provides roughly $685 million in additional net general and categorical school aids. This funding restores the state's commitment to providing two-thirds of the cost.

There will be $89 million that the governor put into reimbursement for students with disabilities and $19 million in school mental health programs. These services had been drastically underfunded.

As a retired educator, it is heartening and a relief to see our state putting money back into the education of our children.

Jan Koch, Shawano

Don't be duped by label 'Product of the USA'

As we headed into the Independence Day weekend, many families fired up the grill and celebrated with burgers and steaks cooked to sizzling perfection or, in sadder cases, charred to an unrecognizable blackened blob. Whether you're one of the lucky folks feasting on a grillmaster's handiwork or instead find yourself chomping on charred protein, will you know where the beef on your plate originated?

After seeing store shelves stripped bare during the COVID-19 lockdown, many consumers have become more conscious of the fragility in the U.S. food supply. Interest in buying locally surged, which is why many customers reach for beef with the label "Product of the USA" in the cooler. Many, understandably, will think that in doing so, they're supporting U.S. farmers and buying beef from cattle that are born and raised in the USA.

Unfortunately, that's where the disconnect lies.

Sometimes that meat is actually from animals that never took a breath in America. Currently, meat can have a "Product of the USA" label slapped on even if it was imported and only repackaged at a U.S. Department of Agriculture-inspected facility.

I think that's bologna. Thankfully, so does the National Farmers Union (NFU), and they've raised concerns about it, alongside ranchers and farm organizations from throughout the country.

Those efforts may be paying off. On July 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced it would conduct a "top-to-bottom review" of the "Product of the USA" label.

This is good news for farmers and ranchers who know how the label tricks customers into thinking beef and pork is truly an American product even in cases where it was born, raised and slaughtered in another country.

This isn't just a problem for consumers — it hurts farmers who can't differentiate their product while trying to survive against the competing powers of multinational corporations.

My family raises beef cattle in northwestern Wisconsin. We have marketed cattle through conventional channels but are shifting to direct marketing to family, friends and neighbors. The switch was spurred partly by our frustration at deceptive labeling and how, when marketed through traditional avenues, the beef from our animals — born and raised here in Wisconsin — has no edge in the marketplace over imports that are pouring into our country from places like Brazil, Mexico and Canada.

The fact that our government allows the stamp of "Product of the USA" on meat from an animal that never set a hoof on American soil should give us all pause. This loophole is slowly and painfully pushing American farmers out of business.

Over the past few decades, the U.S. has experienced a concerning level of consolidation in agriculture. Four major meatpacking companies — Cargill, Tyson, JBS and National Beef — now control over 85% of the American beef market. In turn, farmers have incredibly little control over the slim margin they receive. For example, that top sirloin steak that averages $9.99 a pound? According to NFU's tracking of USDA data, the farmer's share is $1.90. Misleading labels exacerbate these already difficult market conditions.

Still, farmers are out here rolling the dice. Many of us play the game because we feel a strong tie to the land and a desire to protect it for future generations. We believe that, in a world where something as clear-cut as "Product of the USA" is being watered down, it's important for there to be family farmers — and organizations like Farmers Union — safeguarding our supply chain and providing an alternative to this sad status quo that has become the American food system.

As NFU President Rob Larew noted earlier this week, "American consumers deserve to know where their meat comes from. Whether they want to keep their food dollar in their community, limit their food miles or avoid unsustainable or unethical practices, there are many reasons why someone would want to know what country their meat was raised in. But as things stand, there's no way to determine the origin of beef and pork since the wildly deceptive 'Product of the USA' label can appear on meat that spent its entire life in another country."

Farmers Union, along with the U.S. Cattlemen's Association, was a vocal advocate of Country-of-Origin Labeling for meat, but the World Trade Organization deemed the labeling discriminatory against Mexican and Canadian cattle and Congress repealed the law. Yet we do label country-of-origin for many other products like lamb, fruits and vegetables, and clothing. Why should beef and pork be different — other than the lobbying power of those oligopolies? It seems that the rights of other countries have risen above the right of Americans to know the origins of their food.

Please educate yourself and join in the efforts to remedy this deeply flawed labeling loophole. It's purely common sense that the "Product of the USA" label be reserved only for meat products derived exclusively from animals born, raised, slaughtered and processed in the United States. You know, for products actually of the USA.

Danielle Endvick is the communications director for Wisconsin Farmers Union, a grassroots organization committed to enhancing the quality of life for family farmers, rural communities and all people through educational opportunities, cooperative endeavors and civic engagement. She raises beef cattle on her family's Runamuck Ranch in Chippewa County.

CMN's new president explains leadership philosophy

"Netaenawemakanak" translates to "all my relations" in Menominee. College of Menominee Nation's new president, Christopher Caldwell, also sees it as the school's obligation.

Caldwell, an enrolled Menominee tribal member, told me: "I understand the term goes beyond my family relations to community relations and non-human relations. Our responsibility is sharing what we've learned with the Menominee people, but also with our Indigenous and non-Indigenous relatives who want to learn from us and take that knowledge back to their own communities."

Before becoming the third president in CMN's history, Caldwell served as the director of the college's Sustainable Development Institute helping to foster local, national and international conversations grounded in Indigenous knowledge. Caldwell explained that SDI's mission is grounded in reflection and dissemination.

"Some see sustainability as a nebulous concept with no local application, but we approach the concept by looking locally and then expanding upward," he said. "That philosophical concept was not difficult to carry over to the president's office."

Caldwell has already demonstrated how this theory could be put into practice in the school's executive office. While he assumed the presidency on July 1, Caldwell has served as the interim president since February 2020. From the get-go, he has looked to the teachings of his people for guidance — particularly, the Menominee practice of diplomacy as a strength of his nation.

"It's practical because it draws from the past, is vision-orientated and steers the nation forward as we address and deal with the uncertainty that will always be there," Caldwell said.

Caldwell noted that during his tenure the school had to contend with "COVID, cyber-attacks and adherence to health and safety protocols while ensuring the quality of the Christopher Caldwell is the third president for the College of Menominee Nation, having served in an interim capacity since February 2020 before being named permanently to the position. Caldwell is continuing his work on sustainability — having served as the director for CMN's Sustainable Development Institute — by having the college offer degrees in sustainable agriculture and interdisciplinary studies in sustainability.

education experience."

"We've been able to turn COVID into an empowerment, as we've created opportunities to address longstanding funding inequities amongst mainstream and tribal colleges," he said.

In the past year alone, CMN has invested in a learning management platform, funded the training of faculty, upgraded classrooms at both their Keshena and Green Bay campuses and purchased laptops and portable hotspots for students to use to complete coursework remotely.

Caldwell emphasized: "We didn't just move online. We created a quality experience that in itself provides exciting opportunities of connecting with other communities."

CMN has also progressed towards expanding its degree options. This fall, the school will begin offering courses in a new sustainable agriculture baccalaureate degree, and its new interdisciplinary studies in sustainability bachelor's is slated to begin in 2022.

Still, Caldwell is looking beyond CMN's immediate future, as was evident in his titling the public lecture that resulted in his hiring "Omaeqnomenewak Maec-kaehkinuhamati-wikamek, Pursuing the Best Path for the Next Seven Generations." Caldwell recognized the potential in the school he now leads.

"CMN is a vital center for relationships connected to language revitalization," he said. "We have resources for high school students and Native students, and we offer a unique experience rooted in a tribal context. We are open to adult learners who want to start or restart their college careers, and our programs offer growth potential through learning by doing."

Caldwell speaks from experience, as he earned his associate's degree in sustainable development from CMN, before earning a bachelor's in natural resources at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a master's degree in environmental science and policy from UW-Green Bay.

"CMN gave me my voice," Caldwell reflected. "It allowed me to expand what I knew, and it pushed me to talk in front of groups."

Currently, Caldwell is also a Ph.D. candidate in environment and resources at UW-Madison's Nelson Institute. He stated, "I'm focusing on Indigenous research methodology, tribal forestry and sustainability science. I'm deepening my understanding and connecting it to a broader understanding of Indigenous responsibility and leadership."

He reflected, "The act of going through the program has been transformational."

Transformations are something Caldwell takes to heart.

"I see my journey as arcs in a circle — community member, adjunct faculty member, administrator and, now, as president," he said.

While these arcs are unique to Caldwell, they provide evidence of the potential he sees for all of his relations.

Ryan Winn teaches communication, English, and theater at College of Menominee Nation. For information about the school, visit www.menominee.edu.

CHRISTOPHER CALDWELL, new College of Menominee Nation president

Lena track to host off-road nationals

Dirt City Motorplex is hosting the International Series of Champions next week at the Motorplex, 414 E. Main St., Lena.

AMSOIL is Official Oil and Title Sponsor of the series, which features six stops on the schedule this summer. Several classes, including Pro 4x4 and Pro 2, are competing on the best short-course tracks in the region, including Bark River International Raceway in Michigan and the famed Big House in Crandon.

The season began in Antigo June 5-6, and culminates with the World Championship Off-Road Races at Crandon International Raceway Sept. 3-4.

The weekend in Lena begins Friday, July 30, with practice and qualifying races 12:30-4 p.m. and features Thunder On Main in downtown Lena that evening. From 6 to 8 p.m., race vehicles will parade through town and then park on Main Street for fans to come check out along with getting a chance to get their favorite drivers' autographs.

Sportsman Opening Ceremonies are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday, July 31, followed by races in 14 divisions, beginning with Stock Truck, 1600 Light Buggy, Short Course Karts, Mod Kart, 1600 Single Buggy, Super Stock Truck, Sportsman SxS, 170 SxSR, 570 SxS, and Pro Buggy. The professional class opening ceremonies are at 4:45 p.m., followed by PRO STOCK SxS, PRO-LITE/PRO SPEC, PRO MOD SxS, PRO2 and PRO4 races.

Another round of racing begins with Sportsman Opening Ceremonies at 9 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 1, and the evening opening ceremonies at 4 p.m.

Each Championship Off-Road event will be live-streamed at Champoffroad.com or on Flo Sports.

Dirt City Motorplex is a new motorsports facility featuring a 1-mile-long, short-course off-road track and camping area. For more information about the races and to make campground reservations, visit <https://dirtcitylmc.com>

The Oconto County Economic Development Corp. was awarded a $6,500 Joint Effort Marketing (JEM) grant to help promote the event.
