Referendum approved for new middle school

Oconto Falls voters will decide April 5 on building new school, other projects

By WARREN BLUHM

Editor-in-chief

Five years and three minutes after the Oconto Falls School Board started thinking about an April 2022 middle school referendum, the board pulled the trigger Jan. 10.

With little discussion, board members unanimously approved asking voters to agree to borrow an amount not to exceed $49.9 million. Those dollars would pay for: construction of a new middle school; a new cafeteria at Oconto Falls Elementary; repurposed space for an Abrams Elementary cafeteria; various improvements to the elementary and high school buildings and grounds; secure entrances; traffic flow parking lot improvements; and deferred maintenance on structures around the district.

The resolution goes on the April 5 ballot. Voter approval would be the final step to setting in motion replacement of aging Washington Middle School — parts of which are more than a century old — while dealing with issues at the district's other school buildings, all three of which are at least 25 years old.

Administrators timed the study so that the referendum comes as other district debts are being paid off, so the impact on property taxes would be minimal, Superintendent Dean Hess has said.

"We've been working on this for a long time, and I think all of the i's have been dotted and the t's are crossed," board member Ken Harter said before the vote. "I commend Dean and our administration and the citizens that worked on this on the citizens advisory committee for the work they put into it. I don't think there are too many people we've heard from that do not see the need, so I think the timing is right and we need to move forward."

The new middle school would be built on land across County Road I from the existing campus that includes Oconto Falls High School, Oconto Falls Elementary School, the district office and ST Paper Stadium. The board purchased about 100 acres about three years ago for future expansion, including the potential middle school.

Six candidates register for Oconto Falls School Board

By WARREN BLUHM

Editor-in-chief

Six people registered in time to be placed on the ballot for two open positions on the Oconto Falls School Board, meaning a Feb. 15 primary election will be necessary to reduce the field for the April 5 general election.

Meanwhile, three of the candidates also submitted applications for the seat left vacant by Sharon Stodola-Eslien's resignation last month. The person appointed to the seat will fill the last two months of Stodola-Eslien's unexpired term.

Chad Early, Carla Hedtke, Robert Kellogg, Ron Leja, Charles O'Harrow and Sarah Schindel submitted nomination papers to run for the two open seats in April. Hedtke, Kellogg and Schindel have also applied to fill the vacant seat. Leja, the longtime board president, is the only incumbent in the mix.

The top four vote-getters in February will square off April 5 for the two open seats.

Board members Jan Stranz, Clint Gardebrecht and Bryan Baumler agreed to coordinate interviews with the applicants, which are expected to take place later this month. Statutes require the board to fill any vacancy within 60 days, which means the new person should be named by Feb. 11, even though she or he would only serve through April.

Suring historical society to meet Tuesday

The monthly meeting of the Suring Area Historical Society is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Jan. 18 at the Suring Village Hall meeting room, 604 E. Main St., Suring.

Gillett community gives input on Dollar General

By LUKE REIMER

Reporter

The Gillett Zoning Board of Appeals heard a mixed bag of opinions Jan. 6 during a public hearing to gauge community support for a proposed Dollar General. Many community members in attendance said they were not opposed to the new store but had concerns about its proposed location on Pine Street.

"For a small town, this is almost like an anchor store for Green Bay," said Gillett resident Jerry Luther, who added the Dollar General would be an asset to the community. "You have a name brand coming in that is going to bring people in. It is also going to build our base."

Luther said he thinks bringing in more businesses will draw more out-of-towners to the community.

"When the Family Dollar came into town, I owned the Shell on the highway," he said. "I thought, 'There goes my business.' That wasn't the case; my business picked up."

Kathy Wynkoop, who lives on Pine Street, said she agreed with Luther's thoughts but doesn't think the store should be built on Pine Street.

"It is a residential area," said

Wynkoop. "I do not want this on my street. I don't want the congestion of the traffic, garbage and noise."

Alderperson Matthew Stroik, who owns property on Pine Street, echoed the thoughts of Wynkoop.

"Looking at the drawing that I saw, there is only one entrance," said Stroik. "People don't want big semi-trucks going all day into that entrance."

Gillett resident John Lang said Dollar General should look for a location that wouldn't cause an inconvenience for local residents.

"If it was up the road by the gas station, that would be a bigger area for parking and a flow of people," said Lang.

Other Pine Street residents said they worry about the depreciation of their property.

Wendy Vorpahl, who owns a business in Gillett, said that she posted a poll online to get community members' thoughts on the new store.

"It looks like, out of 104 people, 73 of them said no," said Vorpahl, who added she is not able to track which respondents live in or outside Gillett.

Caroline Lang, Gillett resident, said community officials need to be thinking about the long haul and the future of the city.

"We are all going to be excited of this new business," said Lang. "But it will hurt us in the long run. We have to build a strong future for our kids and their kids."

Alderperson Marie Blaser said that Dollar General wants to be on a main highway instead of a back alley.

Todd Platt, Dollar General developer, agreed and said he appreciated the public input.

"Dollar General tells us which communities they want to develop in," said Platt. "We have put them in communities much smaller than Gillett, and we have put them in communities where they have co-existed with Family Dollar."

He added that Dollar General demands a location with constant traffic.

"The properties that we want to rezone are on a highway that currently has an average of 5,000 cars driving it a day," said Platt. "They are looking for high traffic counts, high visibility and a close proximity to the urban center of the community."

In response to the concerns about the Pine Street location, Platt said that they looked all over the community for the right spot.

"We need about an acre and a half for the project to work," said Platt. "We honestly could not find an alternate feasible spot."

Platt said that the trucks would be unloading in the northwest corner of the building.

"The dock would be facing Pine Street," said Platt. "All of the truck maneuvering would be done in the parking lot, not on Pine Street."

Platt also said the new Dollar General would create jobs in Gillett, as they are looking at hiring six to 10 employees for the store.

Two members of the zoning board were absent from the meeting, so the panel decided to table a decision on a recommendation to the city council for a later date.

OCONTO COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT

Proceedings of Jan. 7

After a preliminary hearing, Alisha M. Kocken, 29, Oconto Falls, was bound over on charges of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, first-degree recklessly endangering safety, resisting an officer causing substantial bodily harm, battery to a law officer, aggravated battery, disarming a police officer and misdemeanor counts of intentionally pointing a firearm at a person, discharging a firearm within 100 yards of a building and disorderly conduct, in connection with the wounding of Officer Nicole Blaskowski on Aug. 6, 2021. Arraignment was scheduled for Feb. 10.

In Marinette County Circuit Court, Brett A. Harvey, 26, Oconto, was sentenced to four years in state prison, followed by seven years of extended supervision, on consolidated Marinette and Oconto county charges of fleeing an officer and second-degree recklessly endangering safety, in connection with an incident that occurred April 4, and possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine, in connection with an incident that occurred April 5.

Proceedings of Jan. 6

A May 4-5 jury trial was scheduled for Brian J. Ragen, 60, Oconto, who is charged with homicide by operating a motor vehicle with a restricted controlled substance and operating with a restricted controlled substance (fifth offense), in connection with a vehicle-pedestrian accident that claimed the life of Chris Tyni of Oconto on Nov. 21, 2019, and felony bail jumping, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Feb. 5, 2021. A final pre-trial conference was scheduled for April 13.

Ashlee N. Webster, 26, Keshena, waived her right to a preliminary hearing and pleaded not guilty to bail jumping, possession of methamphetamine, fleeing an officer, and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Nov. 16. A pre-trial conference was scheduled for Jan. 13.

Proceedings of Jan. 5

Timothy M. Johnson, 30, Appleton, pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor count of resisting or obstructing an officer and was placed on one year of probation, in connection with an incident that occurred May 29. A related felony charge was dismissed in a plea agreement.

After a preliminary hearing, Joseph Daniel Gaffney, 65, Lakewood, was bound over on charges of felony bail jumping and misdemeanor counts of operating a motor vehicle while his license was revoked and disorderly conduct, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Sept. 24. Arraignment was scheduled for Jan. 13.

Bond was set at $15,000 cash for Rafael Elroy Garay, 36, Pound, after he was charged with two counts of felony bail jumping in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Jan. 3. His initial appearance was adjourned until Jan. 13.

Proceedings of Jan. 4

Taylor R. Peterson, 29, Wabeno, pleaded no contest to possession of narcotic drugs and a misdemeanor count of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated (second offense), in connection with an incident that occurred March 22, 2021. Judge Michael T. Judge scheduled sentencing for March 4 and ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Bond was set at $10,000 cash for Shane J. Schreiber, 41, Shawano, after he was charged with possession of methamphetamine, felony bail jumping and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Jan. 3. His initial appearance was adjourned until Jan. 13.

Proceedings of Jan. 3

Randy Joseph Micolichek, 29, Green Bay, pleaded no contest to hit-and-run causing injury in connection with a July 11 crash on U.S. Highway 141 and Chicken Shack Road in the Town of Stiles. Judge Michael T. Judge scheduled sentencing for March 3 and ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

David A. Konstanski, 32, De Pere, pleaded no contest to operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and causing injury, operating with a prohibited alcohol content and causing injury, and misdemeanor charges of bail jumping and tampering with or failure to install an ignition interlock device, in connection with an incident that occurred Aug. 29. Judge Michael T. Judge scheduled sentencing for March 3 and ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

A March 29-30 jury trial was scheduled for Ben D. Kingsley, 43, Lena, who is charged with strangulation-suffocation, false imprisonment, and misdemeanor battery, disorderly conduct and bail jumping, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred March 11, 2021. A motion hearing and final pre-trial conference were scheduled for Feb. 28.

Brad A. Vickman, 48, Oconto, pleaded not guilty to charges of possession with intent to deliver amphetamine, misdemeanor battery, bail jumping, disorderly conduct and possession of drug paraphernalia in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred June 16, and two counts of bail jumping and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Aug. 5. A pre-trial conference was scheduled for Jan. 13.

After a preliminary hearing, Troy Allen Whisman, 18, Abrams, was bound over on charges of aggravated battery, criminal damage to property, and misdemeanor charges of battery and two counts of disorderly conduct, in connection with incidents that allegedly occurred Oct. 26 and 27. Arraignment was scheduled for Jan. 13.

Saul Cortes-Bustamante, 19, Manitowoc, waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was bound over on charges of burglary and misdemeanor counts of criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Nov. 7. Arraignment was scheduled for Jan. 13.

Bond was set at $7,500 cash for Michael D. Wood, 34, Suring, after he was charged with first-degree reckless endangerment, strangulation-suffocation, false imprisonment, substantial battery, and misdemeanor counts of disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property, in connection with an incident that allegedly occurred Jan. 1. His initial appearance was adjourned until Jan. 13.

New child abuse charges filed against Lena man

Complaint alleges a pattern of abuse dating back nearly two decades

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Oconto County prosecutors filed 16 new child abuse charges against a Lena man Jan. 6 before a judge sentenced him to prison on two felonies and a misdemeanor to which he had already pleaded no contest.

Bond was set at $100,000 cash for Victor J. Alberts, 55, after he was charged with five counts of child abuse-intentionally causing harm, one count of child abuse intentionally causing great harm, four counts of child abuse with a high probability of great harm, five counts of causing mental harm to a child and one misdemeanor count of battery, in connection with a series of incidents that allegedly occurred between 2004 and 2018.

After that case was processed, Judge Jay N. Conley proceeded to the earlier case, where Alberts had pleaded no contest Oct. 25 to child abuse intentionally causing harm, possession of a firearm by a person convicted of a felony and a misdemeanor count of disorderly conduct, in connection with incidents that occurred in January and March 2020.

Conley sentenced Alberts to three years in state prison, followed by three years of extended supervision, on the child abuse case, and an additional 90 days in county jail for the battery charge. On the weapons charge, Conley imposed and stayed an another prison sentence, instead imposing three years of probation to be served after the three years of extended supervision for the other charges.

The newly filed, 36-page criminal complaint chronicles years of physical, mental and sexual abuse against children, including alleged beatings, threats and violence against family pets and other animals.

During a preliminary hearing into the new charges Jan. 11, defense attorney Alf Langan argued that the charges be dismissed in part because the dates of the incidents alleged in the complaint are unclear, but Conley ruled the state proved probable cause Alberts committed a felony and bound him over to circuit court.

Arraignment and a motion hearing are scheduled for Feb. 15.

OBITUARIES

Odile Ann Wasmund (Lanser), 84, of Suring, passed away suddenly and unexpectedly on Friday, Jan. 7, 2022. Odile was born in the Town of How on May 9, 1937, a daughter to the late John and Anna (Otradovec) Lanser. Odile married Robert Wasmund on June 23, 1956, in Milwaukee. She later moved her family from Milwaukee to Suring and lived out the rest of her life there, surrounded by family members.

Odile was a graduate from Suring High School with the Class of 1955. Odile worked at EvenFlo for many years before she retired. Once retired, Odile could be found doing many things — including gardening, knitting/crocheting, painting, watching her birds and taking her dog, Max, for walks.

Odile is survived by her two sisters,

Imaine (Stan) Olson and Eulalia (Llewellynn) Rueckert; brother, Cyril Lanser; sisters-in-law, Janice Lanser and Jane Lanser; two daughters, Laure Christensen and Robin (Jay) Gilligan; three sons, Wayne Wasmund, Todd (Michelle) Wasmund and Kyle Wasmund; grandchildren, Crystal (Scott) Bragg, Ryker (Janel) Wasmund, Caleb (Sarah) Wasmund, Joey Christensen, Carly Christensen, Dylon Gilligan and Emma Gilligan; and great-grandchildren, Maleki, Esme, Aria, Greyson and Ezra.

Odile was preceded in death by her husband, Robert Wasmund; parents, John and Anna Lanser; sister, Melanie (Gaylord) Strehlow; brothers, Matthais Lanser, Dennis Lanser and Anthony (Mary) Lanser; sister-in-law, Joan Lanser; son, Paul Wasmund; son-in-law, Allan Christensen; and grandson, Cory Christensen.

There will be a private service for immediate family to be held at Gruetzmacher Funeral Home. Burial will be held in the spring at Breed Union Cemetery.

Gruetzmacher Funeral Home is assisting the family with arrangements. Online condolences can be expressed at www.gruetzmacherfuneralhome.com.

Denese M. Keup

Denese M. Keup, 73, Abrams, passed away Sunday, Jan. 2, 2022. She was born on June 13, 1948, to Curtis and Dorothy (Dixon) Splan.

Denese was a 1966 graduate of Green Bay Southwest High School and graduated from UW-Green Bay. She married Norbert Keup in September 1986. Denese owned her own consulting business, helping companies save money by educating them in workman's compensation and risk management. She retired in 2006, but then went on to tutoring students in her community.

Denese had lived most of her life in Green Bay until she and Norbert bought their dream home in Abrams, where she implemented the Neighborhood Watch Program.

Denese enjoyed crocheting beautiful afghans and blankets and donated hundreds of them over the years. She also loved to cook and bake and shared her delicious dishes with family and friends.

Survivors include her son, Zach Patske; stepchildren, Eric Keup, Clark Keup and Noelle (Scott) Petersen; step-grandchildren, Oliver and Callie; sister, Jackie (John) Hetrick; a special aunt and friend, Dianne (John) Meyer; and many other relatives.

Denese's life was greatly enriched by the loving care shown to her by her brother-in-law, John Hetrick, and her wonderful friends and exceptional neighbors.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Norbert; her parents; and her beloved dogs, Patches, Maggie and Sophie.

A celebration of life for Denese will be held at a later date.

Expressions of sympathy may be shared at www.blaneyfuneralhome.com, or cards may be sent to Blaney Funeral Home, 1521 Shawano Ave., Green Bay, WI 54303, to the attention of Denese Keup's family, and they will be forwarded.

Denise's family wishes to thank Dr. Stephanie Bakey and the caring medical staff at St. Vincent Hospital.

Gresham school goes back to mask mandate

Board to look at new plan that would require masks at certain number of cases reached

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The issue of whether masks should be required in Gresham Community School divided the Gresham School Board on Jan. 10, but a new mandate was put into place for at least two weeks.

Originally, board members who sought the mandate wanted to put it into effect for at least six weeks, through Feb. 21. The measure, however, saw pushback from other members of the board, community members and even the staff, with some expressing disappointment that such action was being taken — even though there was clear consensus from local and state health officials that the Christmas break and family gatherings caused the sudden spike in cases throughout Wisconsin last week.

Instead, the board voted 5-2 to require masks through Jan. 24, when the next board meeting is scheduled to take place, and the board will look at recommendations presented by Superintendent Newell Haffner to establish benchmarks for when to mask or not mask.

Board member Marge Eberhard said her intent on having the mandate go into February was to allow for establishing a pattern of a downward trend in COVID-19 cases. She felt it was necessary to keep the school open and prevent it from having to go to virtual learning, a setup that has been made very difficult for rural school districts where broadband internet access is at a premium.

"In two weeks, we may see a decrease or an increase, but we won't see a pattern," Eberhard said. "I chose the period of time to continue seeing decreasing cases and quarantines."

The latest COVID-19 statistics from the school show 12 active cases last week, with 25 total students and staff being quarantined. The week before, the district recorded four positive cases but didn't record quarantines because the school was on break for the holidays.

Board member Joe Ejnik, who voted against mandates both on Jan. 10 and back in September when the board initially voted to require masks, accused board members of hitting the panic button, noting that the omicron variant is being described as more transmissible but less lethal than other strains of COVID-19. He also noted recent reports that showed the cloth masks many were wearing at the meeting were "useless" against stopping the spread of the virus and that the school would need to invest in N95 masks for the requirement to have any real effect.

"If you look at the (Wisconsin) Department of Health Services and the flow charts, they mimic each other (whether masked or unmasked) except for little blips for all the schools that are optional," Ejnik said. "We just keep doing circles right now. Are we going to set exceptions for policy from now on, or are we going to set them on what we were put here to do? If we're going to set them on exceptions, to me that ain't right, because then we're taking the few and abusing our power."

Haffner, who was speaking to the board remotely after testing positive for COVID-19, noted that the big increase in positive numbers was "screwy" because the cases were mainly confined to two large families in the area. He expressed concern that requiring masks would hurt morale at the school, noting that at least 80% of students and most of the staff chucked the masks once they were no longer required.

"How can we force this stuff on them anymore?" Haffner said. "I did what I was supposed to, and I still got it, so we're not going to stop it right now (with masking)."

Haffner plans to present a plan where the requirement to mask or not mask can be set weekly dependent on the percentage of students and staff confirmed to be positive for COVID-19. He noted 1% would constitute four cases, while seven cases would be at 2%. It will be up to the board where to set the benchmark.

Shawano School District implemented something similar earlier in the year, although the benchmarks were specific numbers of students and not percentages. For elementary and middle schools, there would have to be at least five positive cases to require masking in the school, and nine cases to require it at the high school.

Gresham parent Ethan Schmidt

chastised the board for going back on action taken in November to follow the Centers for Disease Control guidelines, which still "recommend" masks be worn in indoor spaces, especially where there are large groups. To suddenly decide to require masks seemed to be going back against what they'd promised.

"What we're doing here at school isn't the problem," Schmidt said. "It's what happens outside this building. I think the board needs to come to the realization that COVID is not going to go away once everyone is vaccinated or herd immunity is here. It's here to stay like the flu. You, the board, need to prepare for how we can move forward and not when something happens run back to masks or the second agenda item, which is virtual meetings."

The board took no action on going to virtual meetings, with board members believing the distancing measures in the school gymnasium were sufficient to keep board meetings in person.

School district makes case on facility needs

Officials hope community survey will provide input on where to go with school improvements

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano School District is facing declining enrollment, which means declining revenues, at a time when it is also having to catch up on deferred maintenance and expand facilities that are decades old.

District officials made their case Jan. 11 to a group of community members at Shawano City Hall, showing how enrollment could dip below 2,000 students in the next few years, but there are also maintenance needs that could cost the district in excess of $26 million. Also, plans to improve fine arts and athletic facilities at Shawano Community High School are looking to be revived by the district, coming with their own price tag.

"We still have some significant needs on both the fine arts and the athletic sides of the house that need to be addressed," Superintendent Randi Anderson said at the town hall meeting.

A community survey is expected to go out later this month, with plans to present strategies and priorities around the end of March. Those plans could include ambitious fundraisers, or they could include a future referendum to take care of the needs.

"It is imperative that a school district be fiscally responsible to the taxpayers. That is a number one priority as we continue to move forward," Anderson said. "Just as you have a plan as a homeowner that says, 'You know, my home is 10-15 years old. I probably need to look at shingle replacement, right?' and you have a conversation about how you're going to budget that. It's a significant cost. The same thing for the school district, we need to have a long-range facility plan."

The Shawano School District has lost more than 200 students in enrollment in the last few years, in some cases due to fewer students enrolling due to fewer births from families in the area, but also due to school voucher programs helping more families get education through private schools. According to Anderson, the enrollment numbers dropping at Shawano Community Middle School could impact Shawano Community High School in the next four years, dropping total numbers of graduates.

Total enrollment is expected to continue to drop in the next 10 years, with the numbers projected to dip below 2,000 in half that time.

Christopher Kent, Shawano Community High School band director, shows an image of costumes taking up space in the scene shop at the school during a town hall meeting Jan. 11 at Shawano City Hall. The issue is one of many the district is dealing with as it tries to determine where to go with its schools in the future.

The district got a jolt on how deferred maintenance could cost it down the road in 2021 when the middle school's wastewater system had to be overhauled because water was starting to damage its basements and foundations, according to Josh Swanson, the district's finance director. The district can no longer wait for things to break down to take action, he said.

"We can't be waiting for water in the basement to fix the sump pump, or we can't wait for water to leak from the roof to fix that," Swanson said.

There are an estimated $26 million in maintenance projects expected in the next 10 years, much of that going to SCHS, which was built 25 years ago and has a lot of amenities reaching their end of life, according to Swanson. However, the district's annual maintenance budget is $2 million, and that includes a lot of the basics like cleaning schools, removing snow from parking lots and sidewalks, and mowing grass.

District officials touted how amazing a lot of the high school programs are, but the facilities that have been housing these programs are starting to crumble and run out of space, even as the number of students drops.

Among some of the athletic improvements at SCHS are fixes at the football fields, including the bleachers, which are no longer compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act, according to activities director Joel Wondra. Also, the scoreboard is failing, at times during games, and an outdated press box and facelift plans for the concession stand and restrooms are also needs the high school faces.

The weight room is outdated and can no longer accommodate the number of athletes who use the facility. Equipment is being stored in hallways. The wrestling program has experienced growth, but the room where wrestlers practice is now too small for everyone to practice at once.

Over on the fine arts side, storage is also an issue, with items being stored in hallways and practice rooms. A scene shop where flats and other scene equipment used to be built now houses costumes because there is no other place to store them, and now scene building has to take place elsewhere in the school, which is inconvenient, according to the school's band director, Christopher Kent.

Kent pointed out that the fine arts and athletics not only help to tap into student talents, but they create memories that last a lifetime.

"Whether it's athletics or it's one of the fine arts, it doesn't matter. They're life-changing for many of the students that we encounter," Kent said.

The big question the district is grappling with is how to fund maintenance needs and future facility improvements when the loss of a single student cuts $10,000 in state funding from the school. Anderson and her colleagues with the district are hoping that the community survey will provide the solution.

"We really need to hear from the community in the next three months," Anderson said. "We have a lot of opportunity."

Woman held in shooting incident at estranged husband's house

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Bond was set at $500,000 on Jan. 7 for a former Tigerton area woman accused of shooting her estranged husband in the leg during an argument over another woman.

Tina L. McCandless, 48, of Menasha, was charged with attempted first-degree homicide and first-degree recklessly endangerment in connection with the Jan. 4 incident at her husband's home on Dent Creek Road in the Town of Morris.

Judge Katherine Sloma adjourned McCandless' initial appearance until 1:30 p.m. Jan. 19.

According to the criminal complaint, officers were called to Mark A. McCandless' home at 12:36 a.m. Jan. 4 on a report that shots had been fired and an individual was wounded in the leg. The responding officer found the couple across from each other with a .22 caliber pistol on a living room table.

Mark McCandless said they had gone out for drinks, and then Tina left to go back to Menasha, where she was staying with family. Later he woke up to find her holding the pistol, and she told him to put his wedding ring back on. When he declined because the marriage is over, she fired off a round, the complaint said.

The court document said she then chased him through the house, occasionally firing the pistol, and one of the bullets struck him in the calf. At one point, he grabbed for the weapon and they struggled, and he was able to restrain her long enough to call police, the complaint said.

The gun was registered in Mark McCandless' name, and at first Tina claimed self-defense, telling the investigator that he had the gun and it went off as they struggled, but the location of the spent casings — officers found more than a half-dozen rounds scattered around the house — lent credence to his version of events.

Online court documents indicate that the couple filed for divorce at the end of October, and a stipulated divorce hearing is scheduled for March 15. The complaint indicates that Tina McCandless had just found out her estranged husband has begun dating another woman.

DNR's Winter Free Fishing Weekend is Jan. 15-16

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is hosting Winter Free Fishing Weekend Jan. 15-16 to share the fun and excitement of winter fishing. No fishing license or trout and salmon stamps are required.

Anglers can fish state waters where there is an open season. All other fishing regulations (<https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/fishing/regulations>) apply, such as limits on the number and size of fish you can keep and any seasons when you must release certain fish species.

Anglers cannot fish spring trout ponds during the Winter Free Fishing Weekend. Review the trout regulations (<https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/Fishing/regulations/troutregs.html>) and 2021-2022 hook and line regulations (<https://widnr.widen.net/s/xvldvfnblh/fishregselectronic2122>) for more information.

If you plan to keep your catch, be sure to review the DNR's Safe Eating Guidelines (<https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/Fishing/consumption>) to stay informed of potential consumption advisories impacting some waterbodies throughout the state.

Find Free Fishing Weekend events on the DNR events webpage at <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/events>.

Continue your fishing adventure after Free Fishing Weekend by buying a fishing license at <https://gowild.wi.gov>. The next Free Fishing Weekend will take place June 4-5.

Patrons warm up with soup at library

Program first in a series of Friday events in January

By LUKE REIMER

Reporter

Visitors to the Shawano County Library had the opportunity to warm up as temperatures dipped below 20 degrees Jan. 7.

Library officials offered every patron a cup of Italian wedding soup as they entered the library.

"This is our January thaw," said library assistant Helen Rowinski. "We have soups available every Friday at 11:30 a.m. in January."

Librarian Paige Crawford said this is something the library likes to do for people in the area.

"It's just a nice thing for the community," said Crawford. "People can come in and kind of warm up with a cup of soup."

Crawford said that they have been hosting this event for the last few years.

"This has been pretty well-received in the past, so we want to keep it going," said Crawford.

This event is sponsored by Friends of the Library, which library director Kristie Hauer called a voluntary membership organization. "In that group, they just want to help make the library better."

She said that the group works on donations and grants from around the community for projects within the library.

"One of the big things that they fund are the programs in this library and the other five branches," said Hauer. "The January thaw is one example of the programs that the staff come up with and put together."

All told, library staff made enough soup in preparation to serve about 30 people.

"We usually have about 30 people per time that we host this," said Rowinski. "With us doing it every Friday in January, we are making a lot of soup."

As the staff has put this on for the last couple of years, it has become a part of some community members' routines.

"When we were shut down during the pandemic, we had a lot of people asking us what we are going to be doing with the soup," said Rowinski.

Rowinski said that people come in just for the soup, but even that is a step to getting more people into the library.

"They come in just for soup, but they have to walk by our bulletin boards and they can see what is going on," said Rowinski. "It may not be someone that comes in on a weekly basis, but just coming in for soup will get them to attend something else."

Hauer added that something like this also gives staff the opportunity to share other events that are happening.

"This is a good conversation piece for us," said Hauer. "We can talk about the soup with patrons and then mention our other programs as well."

The library will be serving Olive Garden's chicken gnocchi soup, tomato soup with grilled cheese croutons and vegetable wild rice soup in the coming weeks.

"This is great for us," said Rowinski. "We have a grand old time when we can do this."

Gallagher grilled by SCHS seniors

Students ask for answers on vaccine mandates, Build Back Better, tribal sovereignty

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

U.S. Rep. Mike Gallagher found himself under scrutiny Jan. 6 at Shawano Community High School as he visited the school to talk with the Class of 2022 and talk one-on-one with one of its members who will be going to the U.S. Naval Academy in the fall.

Jackson Smits was appointed to the academy by Gallagher, who had been in the U.S. Marine Corps before he decided to run for public office. Gallagher sat down with Smits for a closed-door session to talk about the academy, but before that, he talked civics with the senior class.

One of the first questions Gallagher fielded addressed remarks he had made on Fox Business News regarding the harmful effects of virtual learning and masking during the COVID-19 pandemic, and he was asked why he wasn't pushing for vaccine mandates. Gallagher said that he didn't feel it was the federal government's role to impose mandates, noting that he and his wife have both been vaccinated, and that he is pro-vaccine.

"As a constitutional matter, with the exception of the U.S. military, it is unconstitutional for the president and the federal government to impose a vaccine mandate," he said. "Joe Biden, as a candidate, said the same thing."

Gallagher added that there is Supreme Court case history that the states have the authority to impose mandates on vaccines and other matters. He said it should be up to state and local governments to decide if they're going to require vaccines for people to move about in public.

"In more concentrated urban areas, you can make a better case of it," Gallagher said. "In rural areas, I don't see the need for it."

He conceded that the vaccines reduce hospitalizations and deaths from COVID-19, but they don't stop the spread of variants like omicron and delta.

One student recalled when Gallagher visited Shawano Community Middle School five years ago, and when asked what the biggest problem in the United States was, he said it was the national debt. Gallagher said it's still the biggest problem today, but the dysfunction in Congress in addressing the issue was a key reason that it remains a huge issue.

U.S. Rep. Mike Gallagher answers a student's question Jan. 6 after a presentation in the auditorium at Shawano Community High School. Gallagher spoke to the senior class and sat down with one of its members who is going to the U.S. Naval Academy.

LEE PULASKI | NEW MEDIA

"The problem has gotten dramatically worse in the last four years, where we're now at $24-$28 trillion in debt, depending on how you look at it," Gallagher said. "At some point, we're going to have to pay back that debt. If you look at governments throughout history, the message is clear. Governments that can't keep their fiscal house in order tend to collapse."

He added that the United States is passing on a huge obligation to the seniors sitting in the auditorium and their children. Only by making hard choices can the debt be brought down, according to Gallagher.

The congressman also expressed his opposition to the Build Back Better plan being pushed by Biden, claiming it has a lot of divisive issues and only serves to increase the debt.

"There's a massive expansion of the role of the federal government in the health care system, a lot of counterproductive climate policies that won't help us win the race for clean technology moving forward, and just the creation of massive new federal bureaucracy at a time when we spent $2 trillion recently and $6 trillion total fighting COVID-19," Gallagher said, noting that the federal government just spent $2 trillion on a bipartisan infrastructure bill. "I fear this is going to make inflation worse and not solve our underlying problems."

Gallagher was asked to give his own solutions on dealing with climate change, to which he replied that the country should do more to address natural gas and its role in reducing emissions. He also recommended more be done to incorporate hydro and solar energy, but he also recommended looking at nuclear energy.

Another student pointed out that the Shawano area is on the border of the Menominee Reservation and asked Gallagher about his stance on the federal government and how it should respect tribal sovereignty. He replied that the federal government should not do anything that infringes on the tribes' rights to handle their own affairs.

"We have to honor those treaties, and I don't support any efforts to abrogate them," Gallagher said. "As a result, we have a unique arrangement. Sometimes we have to simultaneously respect tribal sovereignty as much as possible to respect those treaties while also making sure we have a productive relationship with the tribal government, the federal government and the state government."

Gallagher pointed to the Oneida Casino shooting in May 2021 as an example of that. While tribal police took the lead on the investigation, he said, the tribe worked closely with state and county law enforcement.

"The reason I have a good relationship with the tribes is because I'm very deferential to their sovereignty," Gallagher said, noting that Native American tribes have led the way on clean water issues.

However, there was one other question that Gallagher had to answer before leaving — what his favorite pizza is at Gallagher's Pizza in Green Bay, a company that's part of the family. He said he preferred something simple like thin crust pepperoni before launching an attack on pineapple.

"Don't put pineapple on your pizza," Gallagher said. "It's sacrilegious."

Acetaminophen fails to help with low back pain

The lifetime prevalence of low back pain is reported to be as high as 84%, and costs for this condition in the United States are estimated at over $100 billion per year. Low back pain can be caused by any number of disorders and diseases. The most common cause is mechanical malfunction, which occurs after years of normal use, overuse and misuse.

Common misuses are strains such as overdoing it at the gym or golf course or back injuries like lifting or falling, but sitting at a desk all day or simply having weak core muscles can also increase the likelihood of back problems. Nearly everyone will experience back pain at some point, and for mild to moderate pain, most people reach for non-prescription medications, including acetaminophen. Contact your doctor if you have any of the following warning signs along with your back pain: loss of bowel or bladder control, leg weakness, fever or pain when coughing or urinating.

Recently, medical researchers investigated the effects of acetaminophen (e.g., Tylenol, Excedrin) on patients with acute low back pain. In a large randomized trial published in the prestigious medical journal, "The Lancet," researchers discovered that acetaminophen for was no more effective than placebo for acute low back pain. Among patients who took acetaminophen, median time to recover was 17 days compared with 16 days for patients receiving a placebo.

Previous research supports these current findings, and two scientific reviews found acetaminophen to be ineffective for acute low back pain, but research has found acetaminophen to be effective for other types of pain, such as tooth extraction and postoperative pain.

Acetaminophen is associated with several serious adverse events, like increased risk of gastrointestinal bleeding, myocardial infarction, stroke, heart failure, hypertension, renal disease and death. Acetaminophen overdose is the No. 1 cause of acute liver failure in the United States; it accounts for 50% of all cases of acute liver failure and carries a 30% mortality rate.

Additionally, maternal acetaminophen use during pregnancy is associated with a higher risk for attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder-like behaviors and asthma in children. In the United States, the FDA reports that acetaminophen ranks fifth on the list of drugs related to death, right below morphine in the fourth position.

Oconto Falls goes 3-0 at home quad

Panthers continue impressive winter season

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Oconto Falls High School wrestling team added to its strong winter season with a 3-0 dual record at a home quad on Jan. 7 in Oconto Falls.

The Panthers earned wins over Clintonville (78-6), Green Bay Preble (62-15) and Kewaunee (42-24) on the day.

Seniors Graeson Pankratz, Jaden Ganter, Cody Dellise and Clayton Whiting, junior Luke Trepanier, sophomore Garrett Ganter and freshmen Landon Magnin and Parker Peterson all had 3-0 records on the day for the Panthers.

“Our offense on our feet has improved dramatically over the past few weeks during the season,” said Whiting, who had three pins on the day. “We struggled at first, and then during the season we started getting more confidence on our feet and we started taking guys down more and started pushing the pace.”

Only three weight classes wrestled in the dual between Oconto Falls and North Eastern Conference foe Clintonville. Oconto Falls claimed two of the matches, with freshman Nick Trepanier and Whiting earning back-to-back pins at 182 and 195 pounds, respectively.

Dellise (170), freshman Luke Gilbertson (220), sophomore Brenner Cole (285), Garrett Ganter (106), Magnin (113), Pankratz (120), Peterson (126), Jaden Ganter (132), Luke Trepanier (138), senior Weston Borkovec (145) and senior Brayden Kozlowski all won by forfeit against Clintonville.

Competition stiffened against Preble, but the Panthers — ranked ninth in Division 2 by www.wiwwrestling.com in the latest team rankings — still eased to victory.

Nick Trepanier started the dual off with a 15-7 major decision win at 182 pounds. Whiting, the No. 1 ranked wrestler at 182 pounds, then earned his second pin of the day, needing just 24 seconds to accomplish the feat.

Cole picked up the Panthers’ next win at 285 pounds, earning the win with a first-period pin. Garrett Ganter followed that up with another pin in the first period at 106 pounds.

Magnin kept things rolling with a dominant 12-1 major decision win at 113 pounds before Pankratz won again by forfeit. Peterson then pinned his opponent in the first period before Jaden Ganter and Luke Trepanier earned forfeit wins at 132 and 138 pounds, respectively.

Kozlowski and Dellise wrapped up the dual win with pins, both coming in the first period.

“I think, since we’re halfway through the season right now, our team is starting to get a feel on what our mistakes are and what we’re great at,” said Whiting. “I feel like right now, we should be focusing on the little details that we’re struggling with so that we become more prepared for upcoming regionals and sectionals.”

Kewaunee gave Oconto Falls its hardest challenge of the day, but the Panthers still won comfortably.

Whiting got the dual started with a pin in the second period, but Kewaunee claimed each of the next two weight classes to go ahead 12-6.

Oconto Falls claimed the 106, 113 and 120 weight classes by forfeit, and then earned decision wins in three straight weight classes before another forfeit win to run away with the dual.

Garrett Ganter, Magnin and Pankratz got the forfeit wins at 106, 113 and 120, respectively. Ganter is ranked inside the top 16 wrestlers at 106 pounds this winter, while Pankratz is fifth at 120 pounds.

Peterson rallied in his match at 126 pounds for an 11-6 decision win. He got a late takedown in the third period to seal his win.

Jaden Ganter also had a late takedown in the third period, with his helping him to a 4-2 decision win. Trepanier, also ranked among the best 16 wrestlers at 138 pounds, won a 7-4 decision, leading from start to finish.

Oconto Falls’ Luke Trepanier works on breaking down his opponent during the team’s dual against Kewaunee on Jan. 8 in Oconto Falls.

More high school wrestling results can be found on page 19.

Borkovec picked up the forfeit win at 145 before Dellise earned Oconto Falls’ final win of the day at 170 pounds. Dellise trailed 2-0 after one period before scoring all three points in the second period. Dellise got a critical takedown in the third period and went on for a 6-4 decision win.

At this point of the season, and based on some of its showings at duals and tournaments, Oconto Falls appears primed for a big post-season.

Dellise, who is in his first season with Oconto Falls, says team camaraderie has been a big part of the team’s success so far.

“A lot of it is just a bunch of team effort, team cooperation. We all work together as a team, we all cheer each other on during practice, during the meets,” said Dellise.

“Win or lose, we all help each other be the best that we can be inside the season and outside the season, in the wrestling room and outside the wrestling room. We’re all there for each other and all helping each other out.”

What made Oconto Falls’ three dual wins even more impressive is that several wrestlers that are normally part of the lineup were out. Freshman Cole Bozile (113) and junior Mitch Kallies (285) are two ranked wrestlers who weren’t in action.

ATHLETE PROFILE: KATE MAHONEY

Suring senior embracing leadership role

The Suring High School girls basketball team won a regional title during the 2020-21 season but lost several key players to graduation after the season. Senior Kate Mahoney is now one of the leaders for the team, and she's putting together a strong season.

Through Jan. 9, Mahoney is averaging about nine points a game and leads the team in 3-pointers.

Mahoney also averages about three rebounds, three assists and just under two steals a game.

Q: When did your interest in basketball begin?

A: I started basketball at a very young age. I would go to youth basketball each Saturday morning, starting in kindergarten. It was not until the eighth grade that I realized how much of a passion I had for the sport.

Q: What is your favorite part about the basketball season?

A: My favorite part about the basketball season is realizing the true value of friendship that you create with your teammates. Each season, the team becomes your family. Early mornings and late nights are made easier with your best friends by your side. When each of us has a desire to get better, the outcome is greater than a win.

Q: What has basketball taught you over the years?

A: Being a part of this program has not only taught me about basketball, but about life. It has taught me the importance of hard work and dedication. It has also taught me about the value of communication.

Q: You've become a reliable and consistent 3-point shooter. Talk about the work you put in to make that a reality.

A: Throughout high school I have spent many hours in the gym. I knew I wanted to have a main strength, and as I kept shooting I realized how I could bring this quality to my team.

Suring's Kate Mahoney dribbles toward the rim during a conference game against Lena on Dec. 6 in Lena.

The full Q&A can be found at www.newmedia-wi.com.

I dedicated myself by lifting and going to camps in the summer to gain strength, experience and knowledge.

During the season, many early mornings are dedicated to basketball. I want to take advantage of every moment to make myself better. This helped me gain the respect of my teammates and coaches. If I am not shooting well during a game, my coaches tell me to keep shooting because they know what I am capable of.

Q: What individual goals do you have for your senior season?

A: I hope to have become a great role model for the youth in my school. When I was in kindergarten I began youth basketball and I remember the high school students that would volunteer their time on a Saturday morning to come help. I looked up to these players, and as I got older I knew that is something I wanted to do.

It is special to work with the youth in such a small school like Suring. It means so much to me to also see them at my games. Seeing the future sitting in the bleachers cheering us on gives me hope for the future of our sports programs. My personal goal is to leave everything on the court. I want to exit the gym after each game and practice knowing that I gave 100%.

Q: What are some of the team's goals this winter, and what needs to happen in order to achieve the goals?

A: Any high school basketball team's dream is to make it to state. To achieve this goal, we try to focus on taking advantage of every opportunity. Each second of practice should have a meaning. Every game, win or lose, should give you feedback on what you personally and the team as a whole needs to improve on.

Q: Do you have any rituals you go through before a game begins?

A: Before each game I visualize what I should be doing both on offense and defense. I think about what the other team will be doing and how to beat that. If I see myself being successful, I have more confidence in performing at my best.

Q: As a senior, how do you try and help lead the rest of the team?

A: Being a leader on my team is very important, and I try to dedicate myself to doing it each and every day. I do this not only by being vocal on the basketball court or in the locker room, but also in the classroom. Having my teammates be great students that are involved in organizations and clubs only enhances the team. I also believe that having confidence in myself is a quality that helps lead to success for the team.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Suring girls basketball team?

A: My favorite memory of being on this team is earning a regional championship my junior year. After the game, we rode on top of the Suring Fire Department trucks as we were escorted through town. The streets were lined with family, friends and community members. As we climbed on top of the firetrucks, our parents threw us blankets, hats and warm clothes. Due to our excitement, we didn't even notice the below zero temperatures.

Two primary elections needed for County Board

Eight districts in all have races; two seats have no one on the ballot

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Primary elections will be needed to narrow the field of candidates in two Oconto County Board supervisory districts, and there will be races in those and six other districts come April.

In two other districts, write-in ballots will likely determine the winners after no one registered for the ballot before the Jan. 4 deadline.

Some changes were likely after the County Board approved new district boundaries in November that created five districts with no incumbent and five districts with two or more incumbent board members. In four of the latter districts, one of the incumbents decided not to run for reelection.

The other is District 9, where three incumbents reside — Allan Stranz, Fran Wranosky and Leonard Wahl. The district is comprised of Ward 2 in the Town of Morgan and Ward 3 in the Town of Abrams. Wranosky decided not to run for another term, but Stranz and Wahl will be on the ballot, along with Jolene Barkhaus and Gordon Aprill. A Feb. 15 primary will reduce the field to the two candidates who will be on the April 5 ballot.

A primary is also set for District 20, one of the places where there is no incumbent. Covering Ward 1 of the Town of Oconto Falls and Ward 1 of the Town of Stiles, the candidates are Timothy C. O'Harrow, Keith Schneider, Jerrold Schroeder and Richard Wood.

Other districts with competitive races:

District 3 (Town of Little Suamico, Ward 3, and Town of Chase, Ward 3) — Brandon Dhuey and Frank Nowak are running for the open seat.

District 8 (Town of Abrams, Ward 1, and Town of Morgan, Ward 1) — David Behrend and Curt Haffeman are running for the open seat.

District 11 (Town of Oconto, Ward 2, and Town of Pensaukee, Ward 2) — Incumbent Supervisor Diane Nichols is running against Patrick Scanlan; another incumbent who lives in the district, Karl Ballestad, decided not to run.

District 22 (Town of Brazeau, Ward 1, and Town of Spruce, Ward 1) — Incumbent Supervisor David Parmentier and Terry Brazeau are on the ballot; County Board Chairman Paul Bednarik, who also lives in the district, is not seeking reelection.

District 23 (Town of Gillett, Ward 2, and Town of Oconto Falls, Ward 2) — Incumbent Supervisor Gregory Sekela is challenged by Robert Wolf.

District 28 - (Town of Breed, Ward 1, and Town of How, Ward 1) — Carol M. Heise and Richard VandeWettering are running for the open seat.

No candidate is on the ballot in District 7 (Town of Chase, Wards 4 and 5) or District 12 (City of Oconto, Wards 1 and 2). By law, the seat is offered to the person with the most write-in votes; if that person declines, the county board can appoint someone. A candidate can file as a registered write-in through the county clerk's office.

In addition to Bednarik, Ballestad and Wranosky, five other supervisors submitted their notices of non-candidacy: Elizabeth Paape, Robert Pott, Rose Stellmacher, Buzz Kamke and Kenneth Linzmeyer. Stellmacher's exit left incumbent Supervisor John Matravers unopposed for reelection, and only one candidate emerged to replace the other four, as well — Chris Augustine (for Paape's seat), Dennis Kroll (Pott), Joel Lavarda (Kamke) and Char Meier (Linzmeyer).

HSHS COVID hospitalizations hit record high

Most COVID inpatients are not vaccinated, officials say

By WARREN BLUHM

Editor-in-chief

Hospital Sisters Health System hospitals in Wisconsin and Illinois experienced a grim record Jan. 7.

The HSHS health care system that includes St. Clare Memorial Hospital in Oconto Falls recorded 303 COVID-19 inpatients across the system's 17 hospitals, breaking the previous high of 293 in November 2020.

Dr. Marc Shelton, senior vice president and chief clinical officer for the system, said during a Zoom news conference that only 20% of the COVID patients had been fully or partially vaccinated.

"It's uncommon for people who have been totally vaccinated, and particularly boosted, to get sick enough to be hospitalized or need a ventilator or die," Shelton said, while admitting the vaccines do not eliminate the threat of illness. "It tends to attenuate the effect of the COVID variant, even omicron, but it is not effective 100% in all people."

Shelton compared getting the shot with wearing seat belts in a car: People still die in vehicular crashes, but seat belts reduce the risk of injury or death.

Ken Nelson, chief nursing executive for HSHS Wisconsin, also urged people to get the vaccine.

"The data here is loud and clear: A significant majority of our hospitalized patients with COVID-19 are unvaccinated," Nelson said. "Those who are unvaccinated and hospitalized with us are spending nearly double the amount of time in the hospital than someone who on the rare occasion is hospitalized who was vaccinated."

The hospital officials stressed that people should not go to an emergency room unless they are experiencing an actual health emergency. They discouraged people from using the ER to get tested for COVID.

Pulaski schools sponsoring community book study

The Pulaski Community School District is planning to sponsor a community book study for January and February, including discussion sessions and a conversation with the author.

The book to be read and enjoyed together is "A Chance in the World" by Steve Pemberton. The award-winning book details Pemberton's upbringing from being placed with abusive foster parents to becoming a successful adult, regardless. The story shares his resilience and perseverance as well as some of the "light-houses" or people who showed up for him through his difficult childhood and challenging teenage years. The story was made into a 2017 movie.

The sessions will either be in person, via Google Meet or possibly alternate, depending on participants' preferences, according to Janelle Bailey, who will facilitate the book study. Bailey was a longtime teacher in the Howard-Suamico School District and is now state director of the Wisconsin Academic Decathlon program at CESA 7.

"Wonderful things can happen when two or more people read the same book and then process their different perspectives as the story affects their heads and hearts," Bailey said. "It is so much fun to read any book but especially such a good one as this, sharing Steve Pemberton's true story, one sure to stir your heart and mind."

While Bailey is a longtime teacher, she is even more so and to-her-core an avid reader, and said she will not be giving quizzes or tests or "teaching" this book, but relishes the opportunity to read it with community members and talk about all that can be learned through sharing this reading experience.

Sessions are planned for six Tuesdays from 6-7 p.m.:

- Jan. 18: Introduce the book and meet each other
- Jan. 25: Discussion of part 1, chapters 1-16
- Feb. 1: Discussion of part 2, chapters 17-26
- Feb. 8: Discussion of part 3, chapters 27-35
- Feb. 15: Discussion of part 4, chapters 36-43 and the epilogue
- Feb. 22: Discussion of the epilogue and book overall, create community questions for Steve Interested people may contact Bailey at jbailey@cesa7.org or 920-617-5617 to sign up for the book study. They may also sign up on a Google doc at this link: <https://forms.gle/8LU3S5DZ7SRY2D6Q9>.

School district staff members received a copy of the book earlier this school year and have been participating in discussions on its content. Pemberton will be speaking to the Pulaski High School Student body on March 1. Book study community members can also join one of the two sessions.

The book club is sponsored by PCSD, and books can be mailed to participants or picked up at the PCSD Teaching and Learning Department at PHS District Offices at Glenbrook Elementary.

Pathways grant to help build new Maple Hills trail

A proposal submitted by Shawano Pathways to create a new snowshoe trail with signage and new maps in a small county park just south of Shawano has been selected to receive a $1,000 AARP Wisconsin "Small Dollar, Big Impact" grant.

Grants were awarded throughout 2021 to projects across Wisconsin that are designed to improve communities and make them better places for everyone to live, work and play as they age.

"This project fits perfectly with the spirit and intent of the Small Dollar, Big Impact grant program," said AARP Wisconsin interim state director Christina FitzPatrick. "Our goal is to support communities as they make positive changes that inspire long-term progress on livable issues. This proposal hits that nail right on the head."

A seldom-used snowshoe trail has existed in the Maple Hills Recreation Area in Shawano County for many years, but it will not be available at all after this season because of a coming solar panel installation, according to Nancy Brown-Koeller, president of Shawano Pathways, who submitted the grant proposal.

"This is unfortunate, as interest in this easy-to-do winter activity has grown and Shawano County needs more access to low-cost physical activities in winter," Brown-Koeller said. "The county parks department budget is small because of a small tax base, so extras, such as building a new snowshoe trail, are difficult. This recreation area needs a replacement for the trail that will be lost and add new signage and maps. We'll recruit for several volunteer days to help with these efforts."

In addition to ordering new signs and printing new maps for the trail network, work will begin soon to map out a new trail and remove obstacles such as fallen branches and trees from the new pathway so that people can start using it as soon as possible, potentially even this winter.

"Our group is made up solely of volunteers and our funding comes from grants, fundraising events and membership dues," Brown-Koeller said. "This grant enables us to move forward on creating recreational opportunities and improving safety in the county."

Brown-Koeller said Shawano Pathways will work closely with the county's parks department and get public input to prioritize the work that needs to be done.

"Our mission is to get people outside on bikes and on their feet, and it's hard to do that when the trails are not well defined," she said. "We want to improve that."

This is the second Small Dollar, Big Impact grant awarded to Shawano Pathways this year. In March the group received its first $1,000 grant, which helped create a new, contemplative walking path in Alpine Shores Park.

AARP Wisconsin's launched its Small Dollar, Big Impact grant program in 2020 and is now in its second year of helping proposed projects move forward in rural and urban parts of the state.

Got fruit? Soon you'll have cedar waxwings

It's a beautiful snowy day as we watch a flock of cedar waxwings flitting through the crabapple trees in a friend's yard, eagerly feasting on the small plump apples that hang like red rubies from the snow-covered branches. They feed with a restless energy, moving in waves through the trees. They are a beautiful bird with history.

Consider their moniker: waxwing. How was the name derived? According to "What It's Like to be a Bird" by David Sibley (Sibley), the small red tips on the feathers of their inner wings gave them their name; the red wingtips reminded early naturalists of the red sealing wax used to seal important letters.

As they flit through the trees, the cold morning light reveals the soft yellow brown of the cedar waxwing's back, head and jaunty crest of feathers that tops its head. A dashing black "mask" edged in white sweeps across the eyes giving it a roguish look. Its belly is a soft yellow and wings mostly dark gray. In addition to the red-tipped wing feathers, it has a yellow-tipped tail adding more color to its sleek palette.

Listen for their two common calls. The Cornell Lab All about Birds website describes them as a high-pitched, trilled "bzeee" and a sighing whistle that is about a half-second long and often rising in pitch at the beginning.

Crab apples may seem too big for the birds to eat, but according to Sibley, a wide mouth allows them to swallow the fruits whole. And a tongue with inward-facing barbs helps them pull the fruit into their mouth and throat. In winter, according to the All About Birds website, they also eat mistletoe, juniper, mountain ash, honeysuckle, hawthorn, and other fruits. In the summer, they feast on serviceberry, cherries, strawberry, mulberry, dogwood, raspberries and insects.

Cedar waxwings are a social bird; liking each other's company, they travel in flocks in search of fruit.

According to Alan Haney (Haney) in his book, "Jewels of Nature, Delightful Birds I have Known," pairs do separate from the flock for nesting, but even then nesting is often done in groups.

The birds have a rather elaborate interactive courtship ritual. The male hops toward a female and offers her an object — e.g., a flower petal, small leaf or insect. She may show her interest through a little dance, then take and return the object to her suitor. They may even touch beaks. Once mated, the females lay two to six eggs in a cup-shaped nest. Both parents feed the young — insects when very young, with fruits added as the chicks get older.

According to Haney, the birds can be found year-round across the northern United States and as far south as the Carolinas. In summer, they range into the lower Canadian provinces from coast to coast. They overwinter across all of the United States and Central American and south to Colombia, South America. Their broad range gives us a chance to see them throughout the year.

and, better yet, attract them to your yard by planting native trees and shrubs that bear small fruits — such as dogwood, serviceberry, cedar, juniper, hawthorn, mulberry and winterberry. They are a delight to see.

CoVantage patronage payments are largest to date

A record of over $5 million in patronage has been deposited into the accounts of members who borrowed and saved with CoVantage Credit Union. This is the largest patronage payment in the history of CoVantage Credit Union, and an $800,000 increase over what was provided to borrowers and savers for 2020.

Patronage is a concept of giving back that originated among cooperatives many years ago. CoVantage is one of a few credit unions in the country that continue the practice, and this marks the 41st consecutive year CoVantage member-owners have received this unique financial benefit.

"I am so proud to be part of a credit union that truly lives their mission like we do at CoVantage. As the credit union grows and more members come to us with their savings, checking and other deposits, we loan those dollars out, so other members can buy a home, purchase a car, or in some cases, start a business," said CoVantage Board Chair Susan Gitzlaff. "When the board and I meet at year-end, we evaluate how much income is needed in reserves to protect the credit union, and to fund regular dividends and operating expenses."

The year-end patronage payment includes a bonus on dividends earned for those who save, and a loan interest rebate for those who borrow.

CoVantage depositors received a 6.1% bonus on dividends earned on eligible savings, term share certificates and variable rate accounts. Borrowers received a rebate of 6.1% of their total 2021 interest paid on qualifying vehicle, home equity, in-house mortgage, credit card, and commercial loans. For instance, if $5,000 of interest had been paid on a home loan, the borrower would receive $305 in patronage for just that loan.

OPINION

YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW

How to obtain public records: A primer

Every time an elected official sends an email, it becomes a public record. When an employee at a government agency makes a purchase, that transaction is the public's business. Whenever a permit or license is issued by a government authority, this is information you should be able to obtain.

These records, which include everything from construction contracts and meeting minutes to electronic correspondence and court filings, offer a behind-the-scenes look into how governments function. In many cases, public records contain discussions that show how and why individuals employed by city, county, state and federal agencies make decisions and spend tax dollars.

Wisconsin's open records law begins with a declaration: "In recognition of the fact that a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate, it is declared to be the public policy of this state that all persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those officers and employees who represent them."

That's pretty unequivocal. When government officials at the state and local level create a record, any record, under this law the public has a right to see it. We are allowed to obtain, inspect and even scrutinize these records.

That's exactly what you should do when you want information.

If you have questions about how much a government agency spent on a project or who was at the table for an important committee meeting and how they voted, start by making a public records request.

Commonly used by journalists as well as everyday residents, what are called "open records" or "public records" requests can be made by anyone at any time for any reason.

While the process of making a public records request is relatively simple, it is a formal process nonetheless and there are a few steps to follow.

First, determine what you want to know and who has that record. The person in charge of keeping and managing these documents at an agency or department is known as the "custodian" of public records. It doesn't hurt to call the agency to find out who that custodian is.

In crafting your request, it may be best to use a simple template. A particularly good one for state and local entities can be found on the Wisconsin Freedom of Information Council's website, as the top offering under "Resources." (For federal records, you need to file what's called a "FOIA request," which stands for "Freedom of Information Act.")

After you've filed your request with the record-keeping entity, you wait. Usually, the custodian will acknowledge your request pretty quickly and may tell you when you can expect your records.

Not all records are available. Some personnel — and personal — data and information may be protected. Also, records aren't kept forever and some may have been deleted, destroyed or lost.

Sometimes, there is a cost for retrieving records, but you should ask to be informed of that beforehand. You can also ask that the request be fulfilled for free, as the law allows. Further, to expedite their processing — and for environmental reasons — you may ask to receive your records electronically.

Requesting public records can take time and a fair amount of back-and-forth with record keepers to obtain the information you need. When you have the records, you've completed an important check on the balance of power our government has over the public, and you're one step closer to understanding why and how elected officials and other authorities make their decisions.

Don't forget: These records are not the government's records — they're your records.

Your Right to Know is a monthly column distributed by the Wisconsin Freedom of Information Council (WisFOIC.org), a group dedicated to open government. Council member Steven Potter is a reporter and radio producer based in Madison.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Disappointed library board rejected memorial donation

To the editor:

You may or may not have known our mother, Jeanne Waschbisch, personally, but you may have met her on occasion or heard her name mentioned. In our humble opinion, Jeanne was a pillar of the community. She started her journey of community involvement in 1974 when she accepted a position at Cook Memorial Library and continued her work when the library moved to its new location on Main Street. She continued to volunteer at the library after her retirement in 2005.

Mom was involved in so much more than the library. She took part in the chamber of commerce, the Red Hatters, Friends of the Library. She drove friends and neighbors and sometimes people she hardly knew to doctors or the Silver Sneakers programs. Her generosity and giving nature weren't only restricted to Oconto Falls, they expanded into the surrounding communities as well.

Jeanne left us unexpectedly last Feb. 20. Mom loved being around people and learning new things and helping others. The Town of Oconto Falls gave her so much opportunity to be able to do those things. As a family, we felt it only right to give back something to the town that gave her so much joy.

We approached the Oconto Falls Community Library with three proposals as a memorial to her. Our first and favored proposal was a Wi-Fi park built behind the library, a 16-by-16 gazebo with seating within range of the library Wi-Fi that would provide a place for people to gather, read and relax. All we asked was the library contribute what they felt they could, and we would cover the rest. The second proposal was for a clock/sign in front of the library, and the third was a bench/statue outside by the front of the library.

We are sad to say the library turned down our proposed donated plans and funds. Our mother did everything she could to make the library a success, either while employed or volunteering. The library can only see the potential future cost to it rather than the opportunity to honor a woman whose hard work and dedication for 47 years helped the community as well as the library. As a family, we are deeply disappointed in its choice.

If you are as disappointed in the board's decision as we were, please contact it with your concerns at Oconto Falls Community Library, 251 N. Main St., Oconto Falls, WI 54154, Attn: Larry Kindel, board president.

Frank Waschbisch, for the Waschbisch family, Oconto Falls

Cardinals appear for angels on barn quilt

Zachary and Amber Selle have sponsored Shawano County's 382nd barn quilt, which is now on display on their barn at N6502 Cardinal Lane, Wittenberg.

Featuring a male and female northern cardinal, the pattern has been named "Cardinals Appear When Angels Are Near."

"With us living on Cardinal Lane, we named our property Cardinal Hill Ranch," Amber Selle said, "so it's only fitting to add a barn quilt featuring our favorite red bird, the cardinal. It's always special to see a cardinal as it reminds us of our loved ones and brings us joy. I've always thought this area was absolutely beautiful, and the barn quilts really add to the charm and beauty of this part of our state. I feel extremely blessed to be able to live here and have an old barn to put a quilt on."

Making it even more special for Amber is that the quilt was put on display on Dec. 17, which just happened to be her birthday.

Zachary, a Tigerton native, and Amber, a transplant from Neenah, purchased the 70-acre farm from Milan Bernarde in 2016. He and his family operated the small dairy farm for many years, and it is still referred to by locals as the "old Bernarde farm."

The barn still has stanchions, a gutter and even a barn cleaner. When the Selles purchased the farm, both the house and barn were in bad shape and needed a lot of repairs and updates. They first saved the barn by putting on a new roof. Then they gutted and remodeled the entire house, during which they found an old Tigerton checkbook in the insulation dating back to the early 1900s, so they know both the house and barn are more than 100 years old. They also found many old articles, postcards and records in the barn and milk house that harken back to a simpler place and time.

Since moving to the Wittenberg area, the Selles have had three children — Isaac, age 4, Noah, 2 and Eloise, 11 months. All were born in the farmhouse with a midwife.

They also added heritage pastured red wattle pigs, chickens, goats, ducks and horses and hope to add grass-fed beef in the future. Heritage is an umbrella term that embraces pure breeds of livestock and poultry with deep histories in the United States. The Selles also planted a 20-tree fruit orchard and created a couple vegetable gardens.

"It's been fun making this property our own," Amber Selle said, "although the to-do list is never ending."

The Selle barn quilt was painted by the Shawano County barn quilt committee and was put on display by LeRoy and Keenan Raddant, both of whom work for Raddant Electric in Shawano.

Zach and Amber Selle, with their children Isaac, Noah and Eloise, are shown with Shawano County's 382nd barn quilt on their barn at N6502 Cardinal Lane, Wittenberg. JIM LEUENBERGER

Student writing contest starts its 16th year

The 16th year of the George Putz Memorial Student Writing Contest is now open for entries.

All students in grades 1-12 who live or go to school in either Shawano or Menominee counties are welcome to submit entries. Students can submit their fiction, nonfiction and poetry work for a chance to win a cash prize and a certificate of achievement. The contest is free to enter, and the deadline is April 1.

Through the years, Shawano Area Writers has given away thousands of dollars to winning student writers. A couple of years ago, the organization started giving out a $2,000 scholarship for a graduating senior.

For information about the writing contest and scholarship, visit www.shawanoareawriters.org. Questions may be directed to John J. Mutter Jr. at 715-524-4520.

Green Bay Packers offensive players take a break from the action during the team's loss to the Detroit Lions on Jan. 9 in Detroit. The futures of several key players within the Packers organization are in question, making a Super Bowl run this year that much more important.

GREG MELLIS | NEW MEDIA

Green Bay Packers eye deep postseason run before offseason of uncertainty

Way back in September, the Green Bay Packers began their quest to bring the Lombardi Trophy back to Green Bay.

MORGAN RODE

Here we are, several months later, and the Packers are closing in on their big goal, despite the future still being very much up in the air. That makes this playoff run that much more intriguing, and one fans

Green Bay started the season knowing this could be the last time that several core players might be on the roster, but it didn't stop the organization from dreaming big.

Here we are, several months later, and the Packers are closing in on their big goal, despite the future still being very much up in the air. That makes this playoff run that much more intriguing, and one fans need to soak up.

The biggest question facing the Packers and their future is whether quarterback Aaron Rodgers will be the one leading the team. He came into the season not thrilled with how the organization had treated him during his Hall of Fame career, and many people expected this year to be No. 12's final one in Green Bay.

The relationship between Rodgers, the likely soon-to-be MVP for a second straight season, and the front office has improved by all accounts, and it seems much more likely that he'll keep wearing the green and gold uniform in the future than it did back in September.

Still, the team is going to have to make several hard decisions in order to get under the salary cap, and it's possible trading or moving on from Rodgers is the move needed to keep most of the rest of the team in place and competitive for years to come. It's also a possibility that Rodgers asks to be traded.

Another big piece to the puzzle of the Packers' future is wide receiver Davante Adams — who, like Rodgers, had another big season.

Adams, who set new team single season records for receptions and receiving yards, is a free agent after the season. It's been reported that the team and Adams haven't had any contract extension talks since July, and that the team will likely place the franchise tag on Adams for the 2022 season and then try and work on a longer extension.

Of course, if Green Bay ends up moving on from No. 12 and 17, the offense and team will likely experience a far different season than it did this go 'round.

After those two players' futures are figured out, then the attention will turn to the team's huge list of free agents.

Among the list of unrestricted free agents the team must make decisions on are: cornerbacks Rasul Douglas, Kevin King and Chandon Sullivan, tight end Robert Tonyan, inside linebacker De'Vondre Campbell, offensive lineman Lucas Patrick and wide receiver Marquez Valdes-Scantling.

Then throw in restricted free agent receiver Allen Lazard and offensive lineman Yosh Nijman and exclusive restricted free agent inside linebacker Krys Barnes, among others, and you realize the tall task that awaits the Packers' front office.

Like it did last offseason, the Packers might also have to restructure or move on from the contracts of veteran players, like outside linebackers Za'Darius Smith and Preston Smith, offensive lineman David Bakhtiari, defensive lineman Kenny Clark, receiver Randall Cobb, kicker Mason Crosby and safeties Adrian Amos and Darnell Savage.

The more you dig into things, the more you realize that running it back with this particular roster — what the Pack essentially attempted this season — is going to be practically impossible.

That means “The Last Dance” that Rodgers and Adams mentioned before the season is going to be the case, even if those two are back in Green Bay next season.

While the Packers’ title aspirations and outlook won’t be completely decimated after the season, it’s likely to take a hit, which puts a little extra pressure on the team in this postseason run.

By earning the NFC’s top seed with a 13-4 record, the Packers boosted their Super Bowl hopes a bit.

Now their goal is to avoid a repeat of last year, when the team also had the No. 1 seed but fell to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the NFC Championship Game — a game that’s tripped the Packers up four times since their last Super Bowl win in the 2010-11 season.

Those two teams appear destined for a rematch in this year’s conference championship, but first the Packers will have to take care of business in the Divisional Round.

Should the Eagles shock the world and pull off an upset win over the Buccaneers, they would travel to Green Bay for the Divisional Round game. If they don’t then there’s three teams that the Packers could face.

The first would be the San Francisco 49ers, a team that Green Bay defeated early in the season but that could pose some big problems with its stellar running game. If the 49ers lose to the Dallas Cowboys, then the winner of the Arizona Cardinals and Los Angeles Rams game will head to Lambeau Field.

Green Bay also beat those two teams during the regular season. In fact, of the Packers’ losses this season, only one of those teams is in the playoffs — the Kansas City Chiefs in the AFC bracket.

The road to the Super Bowl definitely won’t be a cakewalk, but it’s one that Packers’ fans need to try and enjoy as best they can with the team’s future so up in the air.

Green Bay Packers quarterback Jordan Love (10) makes a call at the line of scrimmage during the team’s game against the Detroit Lions on Jan. 9 in Detroit. With Aaron Rodgers’ future in Green Bay up in the air, Love could be the one behind center next season for the Packers. GREG MELLIS | NEW MEDIA

NFC PLAYOFF PREVIEW

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

The Green Bay Packers are the No. 1 seed in the NFC playoffs with an NFL-best 13-4 record. As they embark yet again on their elusive quest for a fifth Super Bowl championship and 14th NFL title, here is a look at the seven-team NFC playoff field:

No. 1: Green Bay Packers (13-4)

Points scored: 26.5 (ninth). Points against: 21.8 (14th).

Record vs. playoff teams: 5-1.

Why they'll win the Super Bowl: The Rodgers-led offense is on a roll. Over the last seven games, they were second in the NFL in scoring. A really good unit is about to get even better.

Former All-Pro left tackle David Bakhtiari is back, receiver Randall Cobb is coming back and former Pro Bowl running back Aaron Jones should be rejuvenated after getting week 18 off to rest his ailing knee.

The Packers won't beat themselves. They take care of the football (league-low 13 giveaways, even after the backups had three against Detroit) and they follow the rules (league-low 69 penalties).

Two things are critical in winning a Super Bowl: the play of the quarterback and having a relatively healthy roster. With Rodgers, the Packers have the presumptive MVP.

With the return of Bakhtiari and the potential returns of Jaire Alexander and Za'Darius Smith, the Packers suddenly could get three Pro Bowl-caliber players added to the lineup.

No. 2: Tampa Bay Buccaneers (13-4)

Points scored: 30.1 (second). Points against: 20.8 (fifth).

Record vs. playoff teams: 4-1.

Why they could beat the Packers:

Green Bay Packers running back A.J. Dillon runs with the ball during the team's game against the Detroit Lions on Jan. 9 in Detroit. After going 13-4 in the regular season, the Packers have the No. 1 seed and a bye for the first week of the postseason.

GREG MELLIS | NEW MEDIA

We could wrap this section up by simply saying "Tom Brady" and moving on. Brady is the greatest quarterback in NFL history. He's won a staggering seven Super Bowls — including last year, when he led the Buccaneers into Lambeau Field and beat the Packers in the NFC Championship Game.

The Packers were the only team in the NFL to go undefeated at home this season, but the Bucs won't be fazed one bit if they make a return visit.

The 44-year-old Brady remains a marvel. He led the NFL with 5,316 passing yards and 41 touchdowns. The offense isn't as good as last year with standout receiver Chris Godwin out with a torn ACL. He caught five passes for 110 yards in last year's title game and led the Bucs with 98 catches for 1,110 yards this season.

But towering Mike Evans (14 touchdowns) and Hall of Fame-bound tight end Rob Gronkowski are good enough to carry the passing game, and the offensive line features three Pro Bowlers.

Like the Packers, the Bucs are getting healthier. Do-it-all running back Leonard Fournette and starting outside linebackers Shaquil Barrett and Jason Pierre-Paul are expected back this week. Without Bakhtiari, Barrett and Pierre-Paul combined for five sacks in last year's title game. That defense returns just about intact.

A front seven that includes Vita Vea and Ndamukong Suh on the line and Lavonte David and Devin White at linebacker is as good as it gets.

No. 3: Dallas Cowboys (12-5)

Points scored: 31.2 (first). Points against: 21.7 (seventh).

Record vs. playoff teams: 3-4.

Why they could beat the Packers: Mike McCarthy's team might be the most dangerous team in the 14-team field. This is a group filled with star players capable of making a game-changing play on any snap.

Showing their power, their plus-10.1 scoring differential was tops in the NFC and their plus-14 in turnovers paced the NFL.

In a sense, this team is a carbon copy of McCarthy's best teams in Green Bay. Score, force a turnover, score again and step on the gas. The Cowboys are an offensive powerhouse. They led the NFL in scoring and yards behind quarterback Dak Prescott, who set career highs for completion percentage (68.8) and touchdowns (37).

With receivers CeeDee Lamb, Amari Cooper and Cedric Wilson, plus tight end Dalton Schultz, he's got weapons galore and doesn't play favorites. Running back Ezekiel Elliott isn't the menace he was a few years ago, but he and Tony Pollard combined for 1,721 rushing yards and 86 receptions.

A defense that ranked second on third down finished strong. The rookie duo of linebacker Micah Parsons and cornerback Trevon Diggs are franchise-changing players. Parsons not only had 84 tackles but finished sixth in the NFL with 13 sacks, fourth with 30 quarterback hits and added three forced fumbles.

Diggs led the NFL with 11 interceptions. Bakhtiari vs. Parsons and Davante Adams vs. Diggs would be made-for-TV gold.

No. 4: Los Angeles Rams (12-5)

Points scored: 27.1 (eighth). Points against: 21.9 (15th).

Record vs. playoff teams: 2-5.

Why they could beat the Packers: The Rams are hard to figure. With the high-profile additions of Matthew Stafford, Von Miller and Odell Beckham, they've got a roster built to win a Super Bowl.

After three consecutive midseason losses to the Titans, 49ers and Packers – all playoff teams – they recovered to win five straight. But with a chance to secure the No. 2 seed, the Rams lost at home to the 49ers on Sunday.

The Rams will go as far as Stafford can take them. Acquired from the Lions during the offseason, he finished sixth in passer rating (102.9), third in yards (4,886) and second in touchdowns (41). He also threw eight interceptions in his final three games after tossing just 10 in the first 14. That's not going to cut it in the playoffs.

Receiver Cooper Kupp had a superb season with 145 receptions for 1,947 yards and 16 touchdowns. In eight games, Beckham added 27 receptions for 305 yards and five touchdowns.

The potential return of running back Cam Akers from a torn Achilles could provide a lift.

Defensively, Aaron Donald is a generational talent on the line. Despite a steady stream of double teams, he had 12½ sacks and four forced fumbles. Outside linebackers Leonard Floyd and Miller combined for 14½ sacks.

Even while rarely tested, premier cornerback Jalen Ramsey had four interceptions, 16 passes defended and nine tackles for losses.

No. 5: Arizona Cardinals (11-6)

Points scored: 26.4 (11th). Points against: 21.5 (ninth).

Record vs. playoff teams: 5-2.

Why they could beat the Packers: Which Cardinals team will show up for the playoffs? Will it be the one that started 7-0, including a signature victory at the Rams, then won at Dallas in week 17? Or will it be the one that dropped four of its last five entering the playoffs? Will it be the team that went 8-1 on the road? Or will it be the club that got crushed at Detroit?

Young quarterback Kyler Murray is capable of winning a game with his arm as well as his legs. That's a dangerous combination in a do-or-die scenario. He finished eighth in passer rating (100.5) and second in completion percentage (69.2). While he didn't run with the ball as much this year, his 6.2-yard average and 11 touchdowns in 2020 serve as a reminder of what he brings to the party.

With James Conner (15 touchdowns) and Chase Edmonds (5.1 average), the Cardinals can run the ball against anyone. With receivers DeAndre Hopkins, Christian Kirk and A.J. Green and tight end Zach Ertz, Murray's got some top-flight targets. Hopkins, who caught 115 passes last season, is a name to watch as the playoffs begin. He missed the last four games with a knee injury, and his return for the playoffs is in doubt.

The defense is led by outside linebackers Chandler Jones and Markus Golden, who combined for 21½ sacks and 10 forced fumbles. They finished plus-12 in turnovers.

No. 6: San Francisco 49ers (10-7)

Points scored: 25.1 (13th). Points against: 21.5 (12th).

Record vs. playoff teams: 4-4.

Why they could beat the Packers: The 49ers went 4-1 down the stretch, including an upset at the Rams in week 18.

Quarterback Jimmy Garoppolo had a solid season with a 68.3% completion rate and 98.8 passer rating. He's got a lot of talent around him with receivers Deebo Samuel and Brandon Aiyuk and tight end George Kittle. While Kittle is an established star and arguably the best tight end in the game, Samuel is one of the league's emerging studs. Not only did he catch 77 passes for 1,405 yards and six touchdowns, but he carried 59 times for 365 yards and eight touchdowns.

In 12 games, Elijah Mitchell rushed for 963 yards. With Bakhtiari missing most of the season, Trent Williams has taken over as the best left tackle in the NFL.

The defense might not be of recent vintage, but the Niners ranked third in yards allowed and third in sack percentage. Nick Bosa ranked fourth with 15½ sacks and third with 32 quarterback hits. His best days are long behind him, but cornerback Josh Norman forced a whopping seven fumbles.

No. 7: Philadelphia Eagles (9-8)

Points scored: 26.1 (12th). Points against: 22.6 (18th).

Record vs. playoff teams: 0-6.

Why they could beat the Packers: The Eagles can run the football. They finished first with 159.7 rushing yards per game and fourth with 4.94 yards per carry. Quarterback Jalen Hurts (784 yards, 5.6 average, 10 touchdowns) and running back Miles Sanders (754 yards, 5.5 average) are big-time threats to move the chains and keep the opposing offense chilling on the bench.

The Eagles can also stop other teams from running the football, ranking sixth with 4 yards allowed per carry behind linebackers Alex Singleton and T.J. Edwards. Darius Slay gives the Eagles a premier cornerback.

Philly is a flawed team in most every other sense – it lost to the woeful Giants and just got crushed 51-26 by Dallas – but it did go 6-3 on the road.

Aaron Rodgers closes in on 4th MVP award

QB focused on winning Super Bowl

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

When Aaron Rodgers won his first MVP in 2011, it was the culmination of a professional journey that started with his unforgettable plunge deep into the first round of the 2005 draft to his rise to the summit of the NFL.

When Rodgers won his second MVP in 2014, it put his stamp on Hall of Fame credentials.

When Rodgers won his third MVP in 2020, it marked his return to the pinnacle of the NFL after a couple so-so seasons.

What of Rodgers' potential fourth MVP?

"I don't think you can be the biggest jerk in the league and punish your team and your organization and your fan base the way he did and be the Most Valuable Player," MVP voter and Pro Football Weekly editor Hub Arkush said on Chicago radio station 670 AM. "I think he's a bad guy, and I don't think a bad guy can be the most valuable guy at the same time."

A "jerk" to some but beloved by his teammates, Rodgers has turned in another phenomenal season. After throwing two interceptions in the week one loss against New Orleans, Rodgers threw 37 touchdowns vs. two interceptions in his final 15 games. He ended the season ranked No. 1 in the league in passer rating, touchdown percentage and interception percentage, a feat accomplished in the Super Bowl era only Rodgers last season, Tom Brady in 2010, Steve Young in 1992 and Ken Anderson in 1981.

He threw at least two touchdowns with zero interceptions in his last seven games, the second-longest streak in NFL history. It was his 13th game with those credentials this season, an NFL record. In NFL history, there have been four seasons of at least 11 games of two touchdowns and zero picks: Rodgers in 2021, Rodgers in 2020, Rodgers in 2014 and Brady in 2010.

It's all absurd as Rodgers appears poised to win his fourth MVP exactly one decade after winning his first.

Physically, he still throws the ball as well as anyone in the NFL. Mentally, he's leaps-and-bounds better than he was in 2011 through more than 10,000 additional game reps and countless numbers of practices and film sessions.

"The physical part is an interesting

Green Bay Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers smiles during the team's final regular season game against the Detroit Lions on Jan. 9 in Detroit. Rodgers is the favorite to win this year's MVP award, his fourth, but says he is more focused on winning the Super Bowl.

one because, obviously, I don't run as much as I used to — less scrambles, less scramble drills, less touchdowns outside the pocket, I would assume, based on that year," Rodgers said last week. "I think the older you get, the smarter you have to get in a number of different areas. Obviously, the experience gives you a lot of banked memories you can draw from."

Physically, Rodgers has adapted to stay ahead of Father Time. Former coach Mike McCarthy used to say that a quarterback is done when his legs are shot. That stuck with Rodgers.

"Just from a physical standpoint, I probably weighed between 225 and 230 the majority of the season in 2011, and I've been between 215 and 220 in the majority of this season, so that 10 pounds has made a big difference for me," he said.

"It's allowed me to still move in the pocket, to still keep legs. I rededicated myself in the weight room to squats, which has been really important. I haven't had the knee problems that I even had 10 years ago, which has been great. Just playing smarter, smarter with diet and body maintenance off the field has been important to still play at a high level. But the greatest asset is the experience and the banked memories and just the ability to play on instincts so often on game day."

Here's a comparison of Rodgers' MVP seasons:

- 2014 (fourth-best of his MVP seasons): Rodgers' passer rating of 112.2 trailed only Dallas' Tony Romo and ranks 17th in NFL history. He threw 38 touchdowns vs. only five interceptions as the Packers went 7-1 after getting crushed at New Orleans. Jordy Nelson caught 98 passes for a franchise-record 1,519 yards and 13 touchdowns, Randall Cobb had his best season with 91 receptions for 1,287 yards and 12 touchdowns and a rookie named Davante Adams chipped in 38 catches for 446 yards and three scores.

- 2021 (third): Rodgers' passer rating of 111.9 led the NFL and ranks 20th in NFL history. The Packers once again won 13 games despite All-Pro left tackle David Bakhtiari missing the first 16 games and the losses of Pro Bowl left guard Elgton Jenkins and rising tight end Robert Tonyan to torn ACLs. The passing game revolved almost wholly around Adams, whose 123 receptions were almost as many as the next three players on the team combined. Adams had 1,040 more receiving yards than anyone else, as well.

- 2011 (second): Rodgers set the NFL record with a passer rating of 122.5, a mark that has held up for a decade. He threw 45 touchdowns vs. six interceptions as the Packers scored the second-most points in NFL history and finished 15-1. It was a star-studded group of pass catchers. Led by Nelson's 68 receptions for 1,263 yards and 15 touchdowns, the Packers had five players with at least 37 receptions and six touchdowns (receivers Nelson, Greg Jennings, James Jones and Donald Driver and tight end Jermichael Finley). It was a group so good that rookie Cobb finished just seventh in catches.

- 2020 (first): Rodgers had arguably the best quarterbacking season in football history. His passer rating of 121.5 led the NFL and is the second-best in the NFL history. Rodgers joined one of his mentors, Steve Young, as the only quarterback since 1940 to lead the NFL in passer rating, touchdown percentage, interception percentage and completion percentage in the same season.

Rodgers threw 48 touchdowns vs. five interceptions in 2020 despite having only one consistently reliable receiving threat, Adams, who had more than twice as many receptions and almost twice as many receiving yards as anyone else on the roster. With Rodgers' passer rating rising by 26.1 points compared to 2019, the Packers averaged 8.3 more points per game.

Of course, the Packers didn't win the Super Bowl after each of Rodgers' first three MVP seasons. In fact, no NFL MVP has won a Super Bowl since the Rams' Kurt Warner in 1999. Entering the playoffs, Rodgers knows what's at stake. In the locker room after the loss at Detroit, he reminded his teammates.

"The fact is it's win or go home at this point," Rodgers said after the game. "We have a little over a month left in the season. Let's make sure we're thinking about the right things, doing the right things, focused on the end goal."

Packers lose to Lions in regular season finale

Rodgers throws 2 TDs in 1st half

By LARRY LAGE
The Associated Press

Aaron Rodgers got off the field unscathed, giving Green Bay a win of sorts in a game it lost on the scoreboard.

Rodgers threw two touchdown passes in the first half and sat out the second half with nothing at stake as the Detroit Lions beat the top-seeded Packers 37-30 on Jan. 9 in Detroit.

"The win obviously would be nice, but the most important thing was to get out there," Rodgers said.

Backup Jordan Love threw two late interceptions, sealing a defeat that didn't affect Green Bay's play-off positioning.

The NFC North champion Packers (13-4) rolled into the Motor City after already clinching the conference's No. 1 seed and its only first-round bye.

"I might have a better perspective tomorrow," Green Bay coach Matt LaFleur said. "We're all competitors, and we don't like losing.

"I am happy in the fact that we got out fairly healthy."

Rodgers, the reigning NFL MVP who may win the award for a fourth time, was 14 of 18 for 138 yards.

He threw a 1-yard pass to Allen Lazard to cap a 13-play, 74-yard drive that took 7:18 off the clock to open the game and a 29-yard pass to the fourth-year receiver late in the second quarter for another score.

Rodgers replaced his helmet with a baseball cap at halftime and watched the rest of the game from the sideline out of harm's way after getting roughed up at times by the hard-charging Lions.

"I hold my breath every time he gets hit," LaFleur said.

The Lions (3-13-1) closed coach Dan Campbell's first season with plenty of pride and some nothing-to-lose plays.

The tricky Lions tied it 7-all late in the first quarter when seldom-used Tom Kennedy ended up with the ball on a reverse and threw a 75-yard touchdown pass to Kalif Raymond.

Detroit took a 24-13 lead early in the third on a reverse flea-flicker with Jared Goff throwing a 36-yard touchdown pass to Brock Wright.

Love threw a go-ahead, 62-yard touchdown pass to Josiah Deguara with 4:49 left in the fourth, but the Packers could not hold on for the win.

D'Andre Swift scored on a 14-yard run with 1:54 left to put Detroit back ahead.

C.J. Moore intercepted Love's pass at the Green Bay 36 on the ensuing possessions after it was deflected by linebacker Jalen Reeves-Maybin, setting up Riley Patterson's field goal to put the Lions up by a touchdown.

Love threw a second interception with 21 seconds left after his pass went off rookie receiver Amari Rodgers' hands.

Packer pacer

Green Bay's Davante Adams had six catches for 55 yards, giving him a single-season franchise record of 1,553 yards receiving that Jordy Nelson set in 2014.

"He just texted me when I was walking in here right now," Adams told reporters after the game, saying his former teammate congratulated him.

Injuries

Left tackle David Bakhtiari, a 2020 All-Pro, started and played for first time since tearing his left ACL on Dec. 31, 2020, and having two surgeries.

Center Josh Myers started after getting removed from IR on Saturday. The rookie second-round pick from Ohio State had been out since had a knee injury on Oct. 17 at Chicago.

"Like I told (Bakhtiari) and Josh, there's no substitute for football shape, and it will be good for them to be out there," LaFleur said.
