Gillett library expands community outreach

Peterson show, National Night Out among coming events

By WARREN BLUHM
News editor

The Gillett Public Library got a sweet surprise when it set up a booth at Oconto County Breakfast on the Farm on June 11.

"We gave away 300 books, and the books went before the candy. We were shocked," Library Director Shannon Stoner told the Gillett City Council during her monthly report July 6. "We were out of books in about an hour and a half. It was crazy."

They brought along three big bags of candy, 250 handmade take-and-make projects for children, and small containers of Play-Doh, Stoner said. It was all gone by the time the farm breakfast concluded.

Stoner has made it her mission to make the Gillett Public Library more visible.

"One of my goals for 2023 was to increase our outreach to the community and participate in community events ... It's been a big year for the library," she said.

Upcoming events include a children's concert by singer Randy Peterson at 6 p.m. July 17.

"He's very popular with the kids," Stoner said. "They know his songs by heart, so that's going to be a fun time."

A number of people have signed up for a do-it-yourself soap-making class scheduled for 4-5 p.m. July 18.

"We're going to have the signees come up and work on making a goat's milk soap, and I think we got peach, so we're going to make peach soap as well," Stoner said.

The big upcoming event is a National Night Out program scheduled for 5:30-7:30 p.m. Aug. 1 at Ebenreiter Square, the open space between the library, 200 E. Main St., and its community center, the former bank building at 204 E. Main St., she said.

"That's going to be a hoot and a holler," Stoner said. "We got a dunk tank, we got dogs, we got (the band) Home Grown performing, we got the face painter, we've got the EMS vehicles coming, it's just going to be a huge deal at the library."

Randy Peterson is a Green Bay-based singer-songwriter who specializes in children's entertainment. He is scheduled to bringing his "Welcome to My Band" show to Gillett Public Library on July 17. RANDY PETERSON

The library staff is brainstorming possible activities for Harvest Days, and there's a chance the Halloween-season haunted library could make a return appearance, but nothing is finalized on those fronts, she said.

Oconto woman dies in two-vehicle accident

A 19-year-old Oconto woman died in a two-vehicle accident along U.S. Highway 41 in the Town of Little River.

On the evening of June 30, the Oconto County Sheriff's Department was notified of an accident on Highway 41 south of County Road W.

A preliminary investigation revealed a SUV operated by a 23-year-old man from Bolo, Illinois, was traveling north on Highway 41. A motorcycle, operated by a 21-year-old Oconto man with the woman, identifed by the sheriff's department as Aubrey Williams, as a passenger, was also traveling north on the highway.

The vehicles made contact while the motorcycle was changing lanes south of County Road W. Williams was ejected. Life saving measures were performed on her at the scene, but she died at the hospital as a result of injuries sustained in the crash.

An ongoing investigation is being conducted.

The sheriff's department was assisted by the Little River Fire Department, Oconto Fire and Rescue Service, Peshtigo Police Department, Oconto Police Department, Oconto Falls Police Department, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Wisconsin State Patrol, and the Brown County Medical Examiner's Office.

Mountain Health Center announces extended summer hours

Ground broken for new fire station

Oconto Falls Fire Department should move into facility next year

By WARREN BLUHM
News editor

The excavation has been underway for a few weeks, but Oconto Falls city officials held a formal groundbreaking July 11 for the new fire station along North Chestnut Avenue at the south end of Memorial Field.

"This has been a journey for our department and our staff for many years," Fire Chief Tim Magnin said of the $7.5 million facility.

He credited Assistant Fire Chief Joe Lavarta for finding out about the state Department of Administration's Neighborhood Investment Grant and Vicki Roberts, former city administrator, for helping to draft the application on short notice. Lavarta learned of the program on Oct. 21, 2021, and applications were due two weeks later on Nov. 4.

State Rep. Jeff Mursau helped push the application over the top with a letter of support, Magnin said. The $7 million grant came through; inflation has since increased the price tag, but the city was able to scale back the project a bit and cover the additional cost, he said.

"Now with this new station, our space needs are hopefully going to be met," Magnin said.

The new station will be better for the firefighters' health and safety, he continued, as it will include space to decontaminate their gear and remove potentially cancer-causing agents.

"Now there's a place for us to wash our gear, dry our gear, separate those from our clean clothes," Magnin said. "We'll have that decontamination area that we don't have now."

It will also contain proper showers and a workout room, so firefighters can keep up on physical fitness, he said.

The new building will also serve as city's emergency management operations center as needed and could also be an alternative voting site, he added.

Administration Secretary Kathy Blumenfeld said the project is an example of Gov. Tony Evers' commitment to emergency response especially in rural areas, adding that the facility should serve the community for years to come.

"There's so many great things happening in Oconto Falls, and I think this is going to be one part of the puzzle that continues the investment in emergency services, in broadband, in child care, housing," Blumenfeld said. "All of these things together are going to continue to make Oconto Falls thrive."

Mayor Brad Rice called the project "a dream come true" for Magnin and the department.

"We've talked for well over 10 years about expanding the fire department and building a new fire department, and I had to keep telling him, 'No, we can't afford it,'" Rice said. "Finally they applied for the grant, and I said, 'OK. It's a long shot, but go ahead and go for it.'"

The hardest part was when the grant was awarded, but Rice was instructed to keep it a secret for a week before the official announcement, he said.

Mursau, R-Crivitz, said "the fun part of the job" is writing letters of support and groundbreaking ceremonies.

"The hardest part is writing out, doing all those applications, and it's quite a process to get that done and a lot of spent," he said, and he thanked the governor for seeing a small community's needs. "A lot of times these monies go to larger cities, and our need is here, too."

Tom Zeise, president of Zeise Construction, the general contractor on the project, said the new fire station is likely to be an important part of the community.

"As we look at our homes, our workplaces, our places of worship, we give gratitude for the ones who have placed brick upon brick," Zeise said. "Engineers, architects and designers and project managers brought forth our dreams on paper. Construction workers and contractors work to make these visions come into a reality."

Bailey Merrill of Five Bugles/Wendel, who served as the architect for the project, said it was an honor to be working with the city, the fire department and Zeise.

"It's always exciting to be at a groundbreaking, because as Chief Magnin said, we've been working over a year with this group to get to this point and to be digging in the dirt and getting started," Merrill said.

DID YOU KNOW?

North Chestnut Avenue in Oconto Falls is closed between Paul and South Adams streets while crews install water lines that will serve the new fire station. State Highway 22 is detoured along East Highland Drive. The work is scheduled to be completed by July 24.

Shawano, Oconto counties see increased tourism impact

Wisconsin tourism has record-breaking year

By KEVIN PASSON
Editor-in-chief

The total economic impact of tourism in Shawano and Oconto counties increased from 2021 and 2022, with numbers also up slightly from the pre-COVID 2019 numbers.

According to 2022 economic impact data, the Wisconsin tourism industry generated $23.7 billion in total economic impact, surpassing the previous record year of $22.2 billion set in 2019.

"This is tremendous news and a testament to the hard work of the business owners, workers and marketing partners across the industry and our strategic investments to bolster the industry at an especially difficult time," said Gov. Tony Evers. "Tourism is vital to the economic health of local communities, businesses and workers across our state, and I'm proud of our work to support this critical industry and its success over these past few years. We must continue to make key investments in Wisconsin tourism to ensure it continues to be a key part of our economy for generations."

The economic impact of the travel and tourism industry is felt by communities in every corner of the state, and in 2022, all 72 counties experienced an increase in total tourism economic impact.

In Shawano County, the total economic impact increased 13.0% from $98 million in 2021 to $111 million in 2022. The total also reflected an inrease from the 2019 total of $105 million.

"As we promote 'Find Your Wild Side' in Shawano Country, we want tourists and residents alike to experience something new or something on their bucket list," said Michelle Eron, tourism manager with Shawano Country Chamber of Commerce. "Whether it's hopping on a bike to ride the many trails throughout our area viewing the barn quilts or if it's a bit more edgy – riding the whitewater rapids or snowmobiling in the powdery snow — you are sure to find some incredible experiences around every corner."

In Oconto County, the $123 million generated in 2021 increased 8.9% to $134 million in 2022. The 2019 total was $131 million.

Further, last year, tourism supported 174,600 part-time and full-time jobs across various sectors of the industry and generated $1.5 billion in state and local tax revenue.

Oconto County reported a 4.0% increase in tourism-related jobs, from 732 up to 761. Shawano County showed a decrease of 0.8%, from 801 down to 794.

In 2022, there were 111.1 million visits in Wisconsin, which was up 8.8 million visits, or 8.7%, over the previous year. This includes a record 45.4 million overnight visits, an increase of 13.8 % from 2021. Overnight visitors, on average, spent nearly three times as much as day trip visitors.

"Tourism is both big fun and big business. I'm so grateful for the innovation and dedication of the folks who make up the Wisconsin tourism industry. Each one of them played a role in setting this record," said Wisconsin Department of Tourism Secretary Anne Sayers. "Aided by strategic marketing, Wisconsin convinced more visitors to stay the night so they could add more activities to their itinerary, delivering a deeper economic impact."

Direct visitor spending in Shawano County jumped 15.2%, from $65.4 million to $75.3 million. Oconto County numbers were up 9.3%, from $88.7 million to $97 million.

"We constantly promote (Shawano and Menominee) counties on a broad scale, meaning to those outside our region, even outside our state through the Wisconsin Department of Tourism and other digital and printed publications," Eron said.

The organization's visitor guide is widely distributed to numerous chamber of commerce, convention and visitor bureaus, and travel centers throughout the Midwest. Locally, it is distributed through retail business, hotels, cottages and other places.

"We also have increased our social media presence," Eron said. "Our Facebook page 'Visit Shawano' reached over 100,000 views last year by helping market events within our community. Our website events calendar is our most popular page to view as it showcases a comprehensive list of activities going on all year long."

Nick Zuiches, of Clintonville, and his daughter, Madeline, enjoyed an evening of fishing in Oconto County in 2020. The financial impact of visitors, near and far, to the county continues to grow with each year.

The Shawano Country Chamber of Commerce and Visitor Center is at 1263 S. Main St.

"We recognize that we serve as the 'front door' for the entire area to attract new businesses and industry, new residents and tourists," Eron said. "On a daily basis we are a resource to those who seek information about everything from where to grab a bite to eat to directions to a local business."

The chamber also exhibits at sports shows and local festivals.

Eron said one of the significant future projects is to monitor developments regarding the 2025 NFL Draft in Green Bay to prepare for the many visitors to the area.

Travel Wisconsin markets Wisconsin as an all-seasons destination, and the economic impact data reflects that as travel spending grew year-over-year in every quarter in 2022.

The Native Nations of Wisconsin also play a critical role in enriching the state's tourism industry offerings and attracting travelers to the state. Because tribal tourism data is private, the total economic impact of tribal tourism is not wholly reflected in this report.

VFW golf outing raises funds for scholarships

Community supports veterans organization

By KEVIN PASSON
Editor-in-chief

A full slate of 32 foursomes — and then some — gathered July 8 at the Golden Sands Golf Course in Cecil to raise funds for the Herbert E. McLaughlin VFW Post 2723 scholarship fund.

"Jim Acker does a great job out there for us," VFW Commander Tom Hoffman said of the course owner. "He puts a great show together for us."

Joining Golden Sands as major sponsors were Charlie's County Market and Screamin' Head Buzz. Veterans Rich Kucksdorf and Phil Nelson are key golf outing organizers, while Jeremy Buenning is the scholarship coordinator.

The day included 18 holes of golf, raffles and a dinner.

For the 2022-23 school year, the veterans provided 17 $1,000 scholarships to graduates at Shawano and Bonduel high schools.

"Initially, we had planned to give $12,000," Hoffman said, "but then we had 17 applications, and we had the funds. So we decided to give out 17 instead. The community is a great supporter of ours, so it was only right to give back."

When everything is tallied from Saturday's golf outing, Hoffman said he expects the net proceeds to be more than last year.

"The community has been super supportive," he said. "Even at the first outing, we had more community members participating than veterans."

Hoffman said most of the money for the scholarships is raised at the golf outing, although there are a few other fundraisers during the course of the year that contribute funds as well.

Hoffman has been commander of the VFW the past three years. Membership stands at more than 100 veterans.

The post is named after McLaughlin, a private from Shawano who was killed at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. He is one of 14 veterans still missing in action from Hickam Field at Pearl Harbor.

Plaques honoring local veterans who served their country are set up at the Golden Sands Golf Course on July 8 for the Shawano VFW golf outing scholarship fundraiser.

Whitman wins IMCA Modified feature

Stedjee, Bennett, Sobiesczyk, Stueck also find victory lane

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Johnny Whitman won the IMCA Modified feature during racing action on on July 8 at Shawano Speedway and now sits in first place in the division standings with 263 points.

CONTRIBUTED

The IMCA Modifieds kicked off the night's feature events. Nick Holtger and Jerry Muenster were responsible for leading the field to green.

Marcus Yarie quickly made a charge for the lead after a few early cautions, being followed by Lucas Lamberies, Whitman and Jordan Bartz. By Lap 5, Whitman found his way around his fellow competitors on the top of race track and grabbed the top spot.

Behind him, Lamberies was slowly reeling him in to make for a spectacular finish. A late race caution on Lap 17 bunched the field up. Whitman, Lamberies, Konnor Wilinski, Jordan Bartz and Jason Czarapata were all fighting for their respective spots, with Whitman holding them off to park his machine back in victory lane.

The IMCA Stock Cars saw Stedjee jump out to an early lead with his fourth-place starting spot. Stedjee began to pull away from the rest of the field, but business was picking up behind him as Travis VanStraten, Kyle Frederick and Dan Michonski were making a charge to the front.

As the laps began to wind down, Dylan Stedjee was battling with Mitch Stankowski for fifth. In the end, the challenge of VanStraten was not enough to deny Vern Stedjee a first-place finish.

A caution came out on Lap 4, with Bennett at the point followed by Kyle Raddant, Ron Berna, Rothe and Brett Swedberg. The action was heating up on half-mile clay oval when another caution came out involving some of the hard chargers and would reshuffle the deck.

In the closing laps Berna, Raddant, Swedberg and Jayden Schmidt would jockey for position behind the flawless Bennett, as he cruised into victory lane.

Jeffery Teske started third in the IMCA Sport Mod feature and was making a comfortable lead in the early stages. Sean Falk, Kevin Bethe, Travis Rhodes, Max Oreskovich and Sobiesczyk had other ideas on how the evening was going to turn out.

Sobiesczyk has been the hot shoe as of late and was making his way to the front. Teske began to pull away around the halfway point. But the 27 of Sobiesczyk machine was hooked up again and caught Teske for the lead — he tried the high line, then the low line and eventually made the pass for the lead.

The action didn't stop there though. Logan Fleischman was running third trying to catch the leaders but simply was running out of time. When the double checkers flew, it was Sobiesczyk that earned the photos and celebrations in victory lane.

The Mighty 4 division didn't disappoint with their feature. Stueck jumped to an early lead using his fourth-place starting spot. Stueck would soon be challenged by Nathan Lisowe and Dalton Nelson.

By Lap 7, Tanner Westphal and Cody Bierman moved into fourth and fifth position, respectively, and were trying to catch the leaders. Lisowe's challenge was no match for the Stueck machine as he prevailed once again to take home the checkers.

Zierdan's complete game gives Shawano win

Postseason play right around the corner

By DUSTIN RIESE
Correspondent

With the American Legion Regional tournament just around the corner, teams want to be playing their best ball in an effort to advance to the state tournament.

That is no different for Shawano and Pulaski whose summer seasons haven't gone as planned thus far. With fewer than five combined wins between the two of them, it was Shawano getting back on track as Alex Zierdan tossed a four-hit shutout to lead the way for a 10-0 win July 6.

Zierdan did his thing on the mound, walking three and striking out seven to go with those four hits, but it was the offense that gave him plenty of early support to make life easier.

"It feels good to be on the mound with a team to back me up," Zierdan said. "Everyone was hitting the ball so well to start the game that it allowed me to relax once I came back out to pitch the second. Everyone was so positive from start to finish that it just kept the demeanor high and gave us some positive momentum."

Not only did Zierdan dominate on the mound, but he was part of a relentless offense that scored seven times in the first three innings to grab a 7-0 lead. Four of those runs came in the first with Anderson Schmidt opening the scoring with an RBI triple before coming home on the one-out single from Crew Weisnicht. Shawano would then put a two-out rally together as Dylan Hodkiewiez, Zierdan and Parker Beyer all came away with singles including RBI hits from Beyer and Hodkiewiez to make things 4-0.

"It was nice to see the boys come out and hit the bell well tonight," Shawano coach Troy Beyer said. "We were able to plate four runs in the bottom of the first and kept the momentum going the rest of the way."

Like in the first, Pulaski had a chance to at the very least chip away at the Shawano lead in the second as Brett Schott led things off with a single before a one out walk from Hunter Money put a pair of runners on base. Unfortunately for them, they couldn't come away with the clutch hit as Zierdan responded with two straight outs to end the threat.

Already with a lead, the Shawano offense continued to go to work in the second as three straight singles led to another run with Jerzy Brocker grabbing that RBI. A walk and an RBI groundout from Carsen Herm later saw the Shawano lead grow to 6-0 before adding another run in the third to extend their lead to 7-0.

The best opportunity for Pulaski to come through came in the fourth when Gavin Ostrenga and Schott led things off with singles, but it was a costly baserunning mistake that saw Ostrenga nailed at second base. Those hits were followed by a C.J. Clauss walk that would have loaded the bases only to have the Pulaski offense come up empty again.

"We had a tough time stringing consistent hits together," Pulaski coach Jack Anderson said. "Give credit to Shawano. They had a great pitcher on the mound tonight and he made things tough for our guys. We didn't help ourselves defensively in the early stages, but as the game went on every started to settle in."

Leading by seven and looking to put the game away in the fifth, Shawano got off to the perfect start with Bradley Miller and Blake Knope opening the bottom of the fifth with a pair of singles. Two batters later saw Schmidt single to load the bases before Brocker added another RBI knock to stretch the lead to 8-0. Shawano continued to keep the pressure on with Herm adding a two-out single to stretch the lead to 9-0 while the bases loaded walk to Hodkiewicz ended the game as Shawano picked up the 10-0 five inning win.

"Zierdan was locked in on the mound tonight and pitched a great game," Beyer said. "Sure, scoring 10 runs is always nice, but he set the tone out there for us and made life a lot easier for everyone in the lineup tonight."

Pulaski was led by Schott offensively as he paced the offense with two hits. Caden Czyzewski and Ostrenga added the other two hits in what was a quiet offensive day. For Shawano, they were led by Schmidt who went a perfect 4-4 with one RBI. Brocker added two hits with two RBIs as everyone in the Shawano lineup had at least one hit.

DNR seeking artists for stamp contest

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is accepting artwork entries for the Wild Turkey, Pheasant and Waterfowl Stamp design contests. The winning designs will appear on the 2024 collection of stamps.

Each year, local artists from around Wisconsin compete for an opportunity to have their artwork commemorated in a historic way on the wild turkey, pheasant and waterfowl stamps.

Sales of these three stamps bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for species management throughout the state, including habitat management, restoration, education and research projects. Hunters are required to purchase stamps to harvest these game birds.

The contest is open to anyone 18 or older living in Wisconsin who is a U.S. citizen or legal permanent resident. Artwork must meet technical requirements to be eligible, and applicants should carefully review the contest rules to ensure their entries' eligibility.

The deadline to submit stamp designs is July 15. Judging will take place on Aug. 26 at the Waterfowl Hunters Expo in Oshkosh.

The 2022 Wild Turkey, Pheasant, and Waterfowl Stamp design contest winner was Sam Timm of Wautoma, who swept all three categories of wild turkey, pheasant and waterfowl.

Rules, entry information and reproduction rights agreements are available on the DNR website.

Celebrate Pulaski Polka Days July 20-23

Music, food, parade highlight annual event

By KEVIN PASSON
Editor-in-chief

Celebrate everything polka at the 44th annual Pulaski Polka Days, coming July 20-23 to Pulaski Community Park, 429 E. Pulaski St., Pulaski.

Pulaski Polka Days is an annual festival that brings thousands of visitors each year from far and wide to hear some of the best polka music in the world.

The souvenir stand will be available to get your Pulaski Polka Days T-shirts, hats, can koozies and children's toys.

The polka was designated the state dance by 1993 Wisconsin Act 411. The legislation was introduced at the request of a second grade class from Charles Lindbergh Elementary School in Madison and supported by several groups, including the Wisconsin Polka Boosters Inc. and the Wisconsin Folk Museum. Supporters documented the polka heritage of Wisconsin and provided evidence that the polka is deeply ingrained in Wisconsin cultural traditions.

Admission tickets are available at the gates for $5 on July 20 and $20 each July 21-22. Admission is free on July 23. No advanced tickets are available.

There are plenty of activities for everyone to enjoy.

Community Appreciation Night will be held July 20 and will include fireworks at dusk, presented by American Tradition Fireworks LLC and sponsored by Tri-County Optimist and Pulaski Polka Days Inc.

Want to hit the dance floor but are unsure of how to actually dance the polka? Take part in the dance lessons offered by Duane and Robin Wilks from Omaha, Nebraska.

Lessons will be offered from 1:30-3 p.m. July 21 inside Tent 2 with music provided by Steve Burclaw's New Polish Sounds, and then again from noon to 1:30 p.m. July 22 inside Tent 2 with music by The Beat and Livewire.

The Ms. Pulaski Polka Days contest returns this year, and a garden walk will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. July 22, rain or shine. The walk is hosted by The Gardeners Club of Green Bay.

Garden walk tickets are $15 per person or two for $25. Wristbands will be available the day of the event at any of the gardens.

Children older than 10 are welcome; no pets are allowed.

Gardens that are part of the tour are Rob and Veronica Geurts, 3054 Big Timber Circle, Green Bay; Dan and Lisa Rocheleau, 4011 Nature Court, Green Bay; Rose-Hill Gardens, 452 Rose-Hill Drive, Oneida; For His Majesty Gardens, Dan and Kitty Doersch, N6379 Ballard Road, Seymour; and The Quarry Gardens, Carl and Karen VandenHeuvel, W1842 Culbertson Road, Seymour.

An arts and crafts fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. July 22 and July 23.

Join together Sunday after breakfast for worship services, in Polish style. Bring your own lawn chairs for this event.

New Life Community Church will offer a service at 8 a.m. in Tent 1. A Catholic Polka Mass will be held at 9:30 a.m. in Tent 2.

Enjoy the pancake and porkie breakfast from 8-11 a.m. July 23.

Parade line-up is at Pulaski Community Middle School and Pulaski High School on St. Augustine Street. The parade travels north on St. Augustine Street and then west on Pulaski Street to the Pulaski Polka Grounds.

Tickets for a cash raffle will be sold all four days on the festival grounds. Prizes will be announced at 5 p.m. July 23; winners need not be present.

First prize is $1,000, with $500 for second prize and $200 for third prize. Fourth and fifth place prizes are $100 each, with $50 each for sixth and seventh places and $25 for eighth and ninth places.

Of course, Polish food and souvenirs will be available every day of the festival.

Concertina players invited to jam session

The World Concertina Congress (WCC) will host its second annual all-concertina jam session at 7 p.m. July 20 in Tent 2 at Pulaski Polka Days. The WCC will attempt to break the record for the largest number of concertina musicians performing the same song at one time.

All concertina musicians are invited to participate.

The WCC will pay the admission costs for all performers.

Bring your chemnitzer concertina and be ready to play three songs. Sheet music is available through links on the Pulaski Polka Days website at https://pulaskipolkadays.com. The songs are "North, South, East, West Polka," "There's Pretty Girls in Chicago Waltz" and "Seven Days Without You Polka."

The World Concertina Congress elevates the image of the chemnitzer concertina and honors those who have labored unselfishly to produce, preserve and promote the instrument and the music it makes.

The World Concertina Congress was created in 1975 by a handful of chemnitzer concertina musicians and has grown over the years to include thousands of musicians and enthusiasts from around the world.

On the water

A weekly kayak group that has been coordinated for 12 years by "paddle-commander" Dick Kendall in the Townsend/Lakewood area is once again gathering silent-sport enthusiasts on Thursday afternoons from mid-May through mid-September. This summer's balmy temperatures and dry, rain-free afternoons have lured many to participate. Several weeks ago, on Paya Lake, 46 paddlers joined the fun. Then, on June 29 on Archibald Lake, 57 people launched their crafts and paddled on a warm afternoon. The colorful kayaks dotted the water plentifully as everyone took off in various directions to see Wisconsin nature at its finest. To join the group, contact Kendall at 920-731-4994.

WE NEED YOU!

Good news reporters are in short supply. As the big-city newspapers cut their staff to the bone, they also restrict the supply of timely information to their readers, leaving them to look to the untamed internet to get "facts" about what's going on.

At NEW Media, we're not cutting staff. In fact, we're hiring. We want people with curious personalities, stellar research and writing skills, and an eye for catching the perfect photograph for any story. Contrary to popular belief, you don't have to work for a metropolitan newspaper to find out wild and interesting stories. We get plenty of public officials displaying dubious behavior, heartwarming volunteers who go above and beyond the call of duty and events that bring people out for a good time.

Anyone working for NEW Media will find a lot to report on—we're in the heartland of Wisconsin's agriculture scene, home to three thriving Native American tribes and have more arts and entertainment venues than other rural communities.

To apply for one of our reporter positions, send a resume with writing and photography samples to editor-in-chief Warren Bluhm at wbluhm@newmedia-wi.com and put "Reporter" in the subject line.

Edwards' swan song with Kids coming

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Nathan Edwards got up on the stage of Shawano Community High School one last time July 5 as a member of the Kids From Wisconsin, performing as part of a state tradition that goes back to 1969.

The Kids From Wisconsin are in the 55th season of summer entertainment that gives youth with musical talent a chance to shine for communities across the state. Shawano has a long tradition of having at least one performer in the ensemble, whether those performers are singing a tune or playing an instrument.

"I saw the 2019 show when they did it here at the high school," Edwards said during the Shawano stop of the tour.

Edwards is in his fourth year with the program but only the third of performing live with the group. He said that the pandemic canceled the 2020 tour; instead of meeting as a group to perform, they did video recordings and put them all together.

"I think this will be the best one yet," Edwards said. "I have the most solos this year."

Edwards claims that "by some miracle," he passed the 2020 audition, which happened just before everything was shut down in Wisconsin, and he's been making music ever since.

"It's a tough gig to get into," Edwards said. "I did it as a hail Mary to get some auditioning experience, but I was very lucky."

Edwards — who plays woodwind instruments like the flute, saxophone and clarinet — is going into his junior year at University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point. He plans to major in clarinet performance, as his dreams are set to be in a pit orchestra on Broadway.

"This show, I'm playing four different instruments," Edwards said, noting he likes being a jack-of-all-trades with instruments. "Last year, I played five. Whenever they need someone to play a flute or a clarinet role, I take that. It's a lot of very high heart sopranos a lot of the time. It's a very cool part of the organization."

Each year brings in new performers, most of whom only perform with the Kids troupe for a summer or two. It's rare that performers get four summers with the group like Edwards, but he enjoys being able to make new friends each year.

LEE PULASKI | NEW MEDIA

"All the troupe members with me are just great people and lifelong friends, truly," Edwards said. "I also enjoy the performing experience. Just getting out and doing gigs where you get to perform six days a week at this high of a caliber, and get paid for it, it's an awesome experience."

Edwards' love of performing is what has brought him back to the Kids year after year.

"I came at a good time, when they needed a woodwind player," Edwards said. "I was lucky because I was young enough where I could do it for four years. There's just something about being on a stage with a crowd that loves you."

While the Kids' visits to Shawano always draw a crowd, the biggest crowds Edwards and his colleagues face are at the Wisconsin State Fair in August, playing multiple shows throughout the duration.

"It's definitely the best two-week period, because that's where the Kids originated from," Edwards said. "Originally, they only performed at the state fair, and it's nice because it's our home turf. There are a lot of people who come (to the fair) just to see us, and it's such a great crowd. I like it because I'll be performing one day, and then I'm randomly packing my instruments and then I hear my name, and it's just random from someone from school or another family member who just happened to be there that day."

Like many Kids members from Shawano before him, Edwards credited the SCHS music and performing arts programs for providing the foundation for excellence that has helped him become part of something bigger.

"I think we have an excellent music program, at least on the band side of things," he said. "The jazz band is really highly caliber, and that really lends itself to this level of playing. This is not classical playing (with the Kids) by any means."

While improvement is expected from one year to the next, Edwards is amazed at his playing ability now compared to his first summer.

"It's leagues apart," Edwards said. "I remember looking back at videos of me playing at a piccolo solo that first year. I was looking at that and thinking, 'Oh, my goodness.' A few years of college have helped to improve my chops and tone a little."

While Edwards likes the road lifestyle that programs like Kids From Wisconsin provide, he also likes bringing the group home to meet the parents and the rest of his hometown.

"It's just something to come here and see familiar faces in the crowd," Edwards said. "It makes you perform a little harder, which is the best part of it. Coming back here, I hope there are members in the band and choir programs that see it is awesome to go on and do crazy things like this, to just reach for the stars."

For those who missed the Shawano performance, there are plenty of Kids shows left, including July 19 at 6:30 p.m. at Antigo High School, 1900 10th Ave., Antigo.

Packard Caribbean has deep family ties

By GREG SEUBERT
Correspondent

GREG SEUBERT

After spending a lot of time and money restoring a 1953 Packard Caribbean, Bob Kuester was thinking of selling the car.

"When I bought the car, it didn't have an engine or transmission and it didn't have an interior, but the body work was pretty much done," said Kuester, who joined his cousins, Mary Beth Kuester and Kay Doran, to display the vehicle at the Iola Car Show.

"It needed everything," he said. "It had been in an accident, so the right front fender was dented up. The fellow that had it prior to me didn't do much of a job restoring it. The pieces didn't fit."

Although Bob now lives near Dallas, Mary Beth and Kay, who are sisters, live in Antigo. All three grew up in Clintonville, where the Kuester family operated a Packard car dealership on Main Street for several years.

"Three generations of us went to Clintonville High School," Doran said. "We all grew up there. What's left of the family is now scattered like most families, but it was a good place to grow up."

Bob Kuester purchased the car in Texas and oversaw its restoration, a three-year process.

"I've been brought up with Packards," he said. "The first Packard we had that was restored for my father was a 1929 Packard 640 Roadster. After Dad died, I got that car and sold it to a fellow in Florida. Then, I bought a 1953 Mayfair, which is a two-door hardtop. People ask, 'How do you do that?' I said, 'Well, you just take one piece at a time.' I started with the engine, then the transmission, then the suspension. Then, we started working on the sheet metal, like the right fender."

"We were driving a 1932 Cadillac," he said. "When I was still living in Wisconsin, we came to every one of these shows and Dad always showed his 1929 Packard Roadster. Since I moved to Texas, I've only been up here three or four times."

"A collector had it and was going to restore it," he said. "He got part way through it and he gave up. I can put them together mechanically, but the painting, the upholstery, the body work, you have to have somebody who knows what they're doing. There are a lot of restoration shops down there that specialize in cars like this. I have a very close friend who's a mechanic and really gave me a lot of guidance. It turned out very well and it's a very nice driving car. Everything's new in that car. It's like a new car."

"Mary Beth said, 'Don't sell it to anybody else outside the family, sell it to me,'" he said. "She wrote the check and she got the car."

Mary Beth Kuester now owns the car with her sister. It also has a permanent home at the FWD Seagrave Museum in Clintonville.

"Our family had the Packard dealership and when my sister and I were little girls, we lived up above the garage, right downtown on Main Street," she said. "We lived up there in the late '30s until after World War II. You can still see the building, it says, 'Kuester Block.' The dealership was around from the early '40s until '56 or '57.

"We were always associated with the implement business, the car business. My dad was into steam engine restoration and (Iola Car Show founder Chet) Krause bought almost all of my dad's stuff after my dad died. My dad was into steam tractors and his brother Bill – Bob's dad – was into cars, predominantly Packards."

Detroit-based Packard Motor Car Co. manufactured the Packard Caribbean, a full-sized luxury car, from 1953-56.

"The Packard was a high-end car and people were looking a little bit less," Doran said. "We also sold Diamond T trucks, which was a high-end truck."

"In the '20s and '30s, the Packard was a premium automobile," Bob Kuester added. "Even through their demise in '56, they still were a premium automobile."

A new Packard Caribbean sold for $5,200 in 1953.

"In 1953, you could buy a real nice car for under $2,000," Bob Kuester said. "Like this Lincoln Continental over here. In 1956, you could be a very nice car for under $3,000 and that car sold for $10,000. You'd find them in the bigger cities where the wealthy people would buy them."

"We've always been interested in restorations," Doran said. "Our family is a bunch of gearheads from way back, girls as well as boys. We love the smell of rust and axle grease."

Role-plays provide chance to be someone else

KATHLEEN MARSH

I am presenting an interpretive role-play called "Lucy Loved Lakewood" at 1 p.m. July 22 at the Holt and Balcom Logging Camp Museum in Lakewood. I debuted it at the Oconto County Historical Society's Beyer Home Annex in April, and it was well-received. The presentation details Lucy Rumsey Holt's indispensable role in preserving the history of northern Oconto County. I love sharing Northwoods history, and dramatic presentations are the most popular programs at the camp.

My hour as Lucy includes an exhibit of rare photographs of northern Oconto County taken by and of her from 1894 to 1938. The collection depicts the Holt family's wide circle of family and friends as they enjoyed getaways at Island Lodge, a secluded summer retreat on a large island in Archibald Lake. Built by Holt crews in 1896 and only accessible by boat, the lodge is still used by Holt descendants for summer vacations.

My introduction to the Holt name came in 1993 when I saw it on the property abstract for land we bought on the Townsend Flowage. I didn't really take notice until my cousin, Lee Stehula, mentioned it one night in 2006. The McCauslin Lions owned the logging camp back then, and as president, Lee was in charge of the site.

He recruited my husband to help with school tours still hosted annually for area fourth graders studying Wisconsin history. Jon agreed and volunteered me, too. Thus began an odyssey that included unexpectedly becoming head contractor and sole fundraiser of a site-saving restoration that took from 2007 to 2013.

As a token of appreciation from the Holt family, I was invited to visit Island Lodge, where I enthusiastically accepted an offer to sit in Lucy's chair. I am convinced that experience bewitched me. I began researching her life, finding an inspiring story of a woman who was a hundred years ahead of her time. I subsequently made friends with several of Lucy's descendants who said I knew more about her than they did.

Lucy Holt, left, stands with her daughter, Jeanette, as she shows off her new camera — a gift from her husband, W.A. Holt. Kathleen Marsh, of Lakewood, will be depicting Holt in the one-hour role-play "Lucy Loves Lakewood," which Marsh wrote. CONTRIBUTED Truth be told, Lucy and I are as different as can be — except for both of us having a lead foot, an abiding affection for white pines and a desire to record history. I was raised on a dairy farm; she was from high society. As a devout Presbyterian, Lucy never smoked, drank, swore, gambled or danced. I admit that I have done all of those things. Yet when I put on my Lucy costume and look in the mirror, I see the faint reflection of a halo over my hat.

I've been doing role-plays for a very long time. To become someone else on stage for an hour or so is as enjoyable as shoe shopping or drinking wine with girlfriends. That sort of amazes me, because I was never in dramatic productions when I was in school. In fact, back then I was very self-conscious and uncomfortable in the limelight. Really.

Somewhere in my 30s, I discovered that portraying both real and fictitious people was a great teaching strategy. It was a humbling experience to learn that the kids paid more attention when I was someone else, but I swallowed my pride and went with the flow.

I played Becky Thatcher (Tom Sawyer's love interest) as a grown woman. I did Catherine Dickens, long-suffering wife of Charles who flaunted his affairs while she dutifully raised their children. I especially loved doing Hatshepsut, an Egyptian pharaoh who brought economic prosperity to her beloved Egypt. She built monuments, temples and pyramids but was basically erased from history by her jealous stepson who forced her to commit suicide, then removed her name from all of her achievements and inserted his instead.

The best role of my life was Cathouse Cate, the madame of the Red Light Saloon. Maybe it was the red dress, the bling, the feather boas, the freedom to be a teeny-weeny bit naughty on stage. Whatever. When I put on that costume, I felt like I was Cate. Why not? I'm convinced that in a previous life, I was a lumberjack's lady.

Yes, yes, a century ago, Lucy Holt would never associate with the likes of Cate. However, there is an interesting connection. Saving vulnerable young women from being ensnared in the Chicago sex trade was a key mission of the Lake Forest Presbyterian Church that the Rumsey family attended. Lucy obviously condemned the sin and not the sinner, so I think she'd forgive Cate and highly approve of the fact that she does reform in the end.

If I've piqued your interest, why not take a drive to Lakewood on July 22 to see "Lucy Loved Lakewood"? Relax in our air-conditioned cookshack and learn about this amazing woman. You will be educated and entertained; I promise.

Kathleen Marsh is a lifelong educator, writer, and community advocate. She has published eight books, four on the history of Townsend, where she and husband Jon are happily retired on the beautiful Townsend Flowage.

"As a token of appreciation from the Holt family, I was invited to visit Island Lodge, where I enthusiastically accepted an offer to sit in Lucy's chair. I am convinced that experience bewitched me."

Pageant Players take audience back to onakow

Last month, the Menominee Pageant Players brought the Native American Tourism of Wisconsin Conference attendees to their feet. At the event in Keshena, the group concluded their presentation as they do every show — with an intertribal dance that they invite everyone to partake in.

RYAN WINN

The 2023 conference ran from June 20-22, and it featured events ranging from traditional storytelling and crafts to business and partnership building. NATOW's mission is "to promote tribal tourism and economic development, while highlighting the beauty, diversity and cultural dynamism of the 11 federally recognized tribes of Wisconsin."

The organization notes that "Tourism is the leading industry in tribal economies and plays a critical role in generating employment and revenues for essential governmental services for tribes and their members." The conference was a chance to highlight some of the events that each tribe promotes.

One of the events highlighted was the Menominee Pageant, held annually in the tribe's famed Woodland Bowl in Keshena. From 1937 to the 1970s, the Menominee people staged their theater tradition that mixes audio recordings and pantomime with live drumming, singing and dancing. The shows highlighted Menominee history and cultural teachings through performance, and they drew spectators from throughout the nation.

Since 2016, the College of Menominee Nation has honored an elder's request to revive this traditional art form. The producers of the show range from CMN staff to community members, the core of which make up the Pageant Players Guild. Having heard of the annual production's success, NATOW booked the Pageant Players for an after-dinner presentation.

Beginning with an overview, the presentation shared documents of "oration" being a part of Menominee tourism that dates back to at least 1878. Further, the Woodland Bowl amphitheater has been recognized as a performance space for more than 100 years. In 1937, the Menominee people staged the first pageant for the "tin can tourists" who parked their campers on tribal land. News of the inaugural event spanned the country, including a story from Florida's Sarasota Herald, which called the gathering "a good time."

COLLEGE OF MENOMINEE NATION

The reason for the NATOW address was to promote the forthcoming pageant. At 9 p.m. Aug. 2, the group will stage a new script titled "Onakow," which is the Menominee word for yesterday. The show's billing states, "Combining scenes from classic pageants with new work celebrating Restoration, 'Onakow' showcases how Menominee values both guided the ancestors and continue to inspire their descendants."

After the presentation and a video invitation to attend the August show, the Pageant Players took to the stage in their regalia. Shannon Wilber then addressed the crowd on the group's behalf.

Wilber said: "The pageants have allowed many opportunities to be grateful and proud of our culture and to realize how far our people have come, but the greatest reward is when you give of yourself. It is about bettering the lives of others, being part of something bigger than yourself and making a positive difference."

Wilber then cued the Wolf River Singers and they started an intertribal song. Wilber said to the NATOW participants, "We welcome you all to join us, just like we do to end our pageant performances."

With the beat of the drum, many of those assembled left their chairs behind for the chance to participate in the song. Among those who joined in was Wisconsin Tourism Secretary Anne Sayers, as well as tribal leaders from throughout the Badger State.

After the song ended, Menominee pageant veteran Ron Bowan Sr. approached the group and thanked them for their work.

"Having been a part of these shows in the past, tonight meant so much to me," Bowan said.

The other attendees seemed to echo their approval, as they asked for photos with the Pageant Players.

While the 2023 NATOW conference got a look at "Onakow," the hope is that tourists from throughout the state will join in the fun during the full production this August.

Old school archery's romance lives on

I've been to many archery events over the years, most of them involving compound bows.

These mostly 3-D archery competitions involve shooting foam animal-shaped targets in realistic hunting settings at hunting distances from 20-50 yards. With today's high-tech compound bows, such shots are not overly difficult. Modern bows fitted with carbon limbs, machined aluminum risers, pulleys that allow a shooter to hold as little as 15% of the bow's draw weight, lighted sights, drop-away arrow rests and other George Jetson gadgetry makes this once-primitive hunting tool seem as far away as a stone-tipped spear.

ROSS BIELEMA

Now there is nothing wrong with an efficient hunting weapon for a quick, clean kill. I've used compound bows successfully on many deer, just as I've used crossbows. If you want venison for the freezer and aren't overly concerned about the challenge involved, these two tools are probably the way to go outside of a rifle.

Since I started my archery deer hunting around 1974 with a laminated-wood Bear Grizzly recurve bow and Bear Razorhead broadheads on the tips of my feather-fletched wooden arrows, the romance of traditional archery never stopped whispering in my ear. I've yet to drop a deer with basic stick and string.

Now I was wandering the grounds of the Compton Traditional Bowhunters Rendezvous on June 16-18 in Berrien Springs, Michigan, with hundreds of others who shared my love of traditional recurves and longbows.

Nobody was talking about the latest gadget to make their bow shoot better or faster. In fact, I got a surprise when my two friends and I got to the first of four 3-D shooting ranges. Nobody was keeping score. There was nobody with a scorecard. As a naturally competitive sort, I was taken aback at first.

Angie Petersen, left, owner of Far North Archery traditional bow case maker in rural Wrightstown, and her mother, Joyce, Far North Archery employee, share a successful moment June 17 on this 3-D turkey target at the annual Compton Traditional Bowhunters Rendezvous in Berrien Springs, Michigan. Angie Petersen built the wooden and fiberglass bow she holds. ROSS BIELEMA

True traditional archery means no sights. Arrows are normally shot off the shelf of the bow's riser, not an arrow rest. Shooting instinctively is similar to throwing a baseball: practice makes perfect. We were honing our shooting skills with every shot.

Almost anyone can learn to shoot a compound bow in about an hour, including kids as young as 6 or 7. In a few days, older kids and adults can routinely hit ping-pong balls at 20 yards or more. These arrow-shooting machines still take arms to hold them and draw them back, but they have taken most of the shooting challenge away.

The first target was a foam javelina at about 20 yards. Compton sets its targets at traditional archery distances, meaning you will never see a target more than 35 yards away. Trad hunters prefer to get closer to their quarry, just as the Indians did. Small saplings were directly in front of the target, and my first arrow was perfect: dead-center in the sapling.

After struggling to remove the arrow, my fellow shooters — Angie Petersen, owner of Far North Archery (a traditional bow case maker) and her mother, Joyce, both of rural Wrightstown — and I decided to leave my arrow as a warning to others. A burly shooter in the group behind us asked if I had stuck an arrow in a tree. He then told me that he'd been able to remove it and left it by the shooting stake. I ran back to retrieve it.

There were lots of fallen logs by target two and once again, my arrow found wood. This time I was able to unscrew the shaft from the target point, leaving it for the wood nymphs.

The first range was a quick 22 targets, and there was only one where all three of us were able to make decent shots: the rear end of a fanning turkey target. We all needed a lot more practice.

After a quick lunch at the concession stand, we moved to our second and final range. An occasional arrow would skip off a tree limb and disappear for a bit, but with three sets of eyes, we normally found it. One of Joyce's arrows flew over the top of one target and onto the far shore of a small stream. I did a balancing act across a log to retrieve the arrow, then managed to put at least one boot in the mud on the way back. We returned to the grounds with all of our arrows.

As we watched shooters wandering the grounds and admired rows and rows of both new and vintage wooden, laminated bows, I realized what was missing from compound bows. They have no natural beauty or kindred spirit. They are as lifeless and boring as a crescent wrench.

I strongly recommend a visit to this annual gathering of traditional archers if the trad bug bites you. When it does, the only cure is to embrace the natural pull of natural wood and the primal call of hunting as they did centuries ago.

SALUTES

Volunteers for Gillett Fourth did amazing job

To the editor:

It was very evident that many happy smiles overshadowed the 90-degree heat at the recent Gillett Fourth of July celebration. There were hundreds of smiles at the energetic live music, the roaring truck pull, the majestic horse pull, the powerful tractor pull, the classic antique car/truck show, the grand parade, the forget-my-diet food and the fantastic fireworks show.

All those smiles would not have been possible without our dedicated small-town donations and volunteers. Thank you to all the volunteers who gave up their time to order-up, set up, serve-up, cook-up, put-up, fire-up and clean up at the Gillett event. A very special thank you to all the businesses and individuals who made donations to make this event possible.

Lastly, thank you to the tireless work of the committee members who start meeting and organizing in early March for the July celebration: Ann Henrichs, treasurer; Steve Fifield, truck/tractor pull; Dick Jewell, beer stand; Shawn Limberg and Bill Cole, food stand; Roger Paholke, antique car/truck show; Julie Yonker, horse pull; Evelyn Smoot, parade; Don Moser, music; Micki Hoskins, media; and Dave Henrichs, fireworks.

If you see any of these people, please let them know how much you appreciate their volunteerism. Taking time to say thank you goes a long way.

Thank you, donors and volunteers.

Todd and Micki Carlson, Gillett

Winter wheat, drones part of ag field day

LeMere Farms is hosting this field day event that features three UW-Madison specialists and multiple other presenters. Winter wheat agronomic management and disease management topics will be discussed by small grain agronomist Shawn Conley and field crops pathologist Damon Smith. On-site demonstration plots of various fungicide active ingredients and application timing, as well as nitrogen application rate and timing and sulfur application rate research plots, will add to the learning opportunities.

Brian Luck, biological systems engineer, will be reviewing the use of drones in agriculture. Their uses continue to develop as technology changes, to include crop sensing, crop scouting and spray applications. Luck will review the opportunities, challenges and realities of what you need to do if considering drone usage.

Questions from attendees will be a key part of the day, as well. Other topics will include post-wheat cover crop opportunities and forage production options after wheat. A light lunch is being provided by Seed Concepts Inc. CCA CEU's are being requested for this event.

Registration is at 10 a.m. Discussions begin at 10:15 a.m., with topics and plot tours finishing around 2 p.m. The farm is located at 4140 County Road J in Abrams.

Pre-registration is requested to achieve accurate meal counts, but walk-ins are welcome, as well. For information or to register, contact Scott Reuss, regional crops and soils educator, at 715-732-7510, 715-701-0966 or scott.reuss@wisc.edu.

Boivin named to Green Ribbon Commission

Gov. Tony Evers recently announced his appointments to the Green Ribbon Commission on Clean Energy and Environmental Innovation. Pamela Boivin, executive director and loan officer at Woodland Financial Partners in Shawano, is one of the commission members.

In April, Evers signed Executive Order 195 to create the commission to advise on the state's new Green Innovation Fund, the first environmental and clean energy fund in Wisconsin. Both the Green Ribbon Commission on Clean Energy and Environmental Innovation and the Green Innovation Fund are critical steps toward advancing the state's goal to ensure all electricity consumed within Wisconsin is 100% carbon-free by 2050, as outlined by Evers in Executive Order 38.

"We're working to ensure our state's infrastructure, workforce and economy are built for the 21st century, and that means we have to both address the climate crisis while investing in a clean energy economy that will generate thousands of family-supporting jobs, help lower energy and utility bills and reduce our state's reliance on out-of-state energy sources," Evers said. "Our Green Ribbon Commission on Clean Energy and Environmental Innovation will play a critical role in creating a Green Innovation Fund so we can work toward investing in and achieving our clean energy goals."

Lila Shower named president of CWEC

The board of directors of the Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative (CWEC) has announced the selection of Lila Shower as its new president and chief executive officer. She started July 3.

Shower has 29 years of experience with CWEC — most recently serving as vice president of accounting and finance and co-interim CEO. She has a strong financial background and overall knowledge of the system, according to a CWEC press release.

LILA SHOWER

Shower will be responsible for the overall performance of CWEC to include leadership and management, functions of planning, organizing, directing, coordinating and running the activities of CWEC in accordance with policies, long-range plans and business objectives delegated by the CWEC board.

CWEC is an electric distribution cooperative that provides electricity to over 8,000 meters on 1,443 miles of primary and secondary electric lines, which are divided between 853 miles of overhead and 590 miles of underground in central Wisconsin. Members are located in parts of Waupaca, Portage, Shawano and Marathon counties.

Hickory Corners topic at historical society meeting

The Suring Area Historical Society's next meeting will be July 18 at 6:30 p.m. in the meeting room at Suring Village Hall, 604 E. Main St., Suring.

The speakers for the evening will be Bob and Pat Broetzman, who will be giving the society the history of Hickory Corners. Snacks and refreshments will be provided.
