Grams censured for Floyd comment on Facebook

School board condemns posting, requests resignation

By LEE PULASKI

City Editor

It took less than 15 minutes Sunday for the other eight members of the Shawano School Board to vote for a resolution censuring fellow board member Mart Grams for comments he made regarding the death of Black man George Floyd.

Grams posted on his Facebook page: "You know George Floyd has been drug free for 2 months." Floyd died after having a knee pressed to his neck by ex-officer Derek Chauvin for seven minutes, 46 seconds, prompting protests and riots around the United States, calls to defund the police and more.

Grams' comment was reposted to the Facebook page "Shawano, Let's Talk About It" Saturday night by Sarah Hill White, who stated she wanted to see the matter taken up by the school board at its next meeting.

The Shawano School District posted on its main Facebook page "Shawano Schools" Sunday morning: "Mr. Grams is speaking as an individual and does not represent the other members of the Shawano School Board, the Board as a whole, or for the school district staff. His comments do not reflect the values of the Board, the District, or the community. Mr. Grams is an elected official. Under Wisconsin law, the Board does not have authority to remove or to discipline a member of the Board. An elected school board member may be removed through the electoral process, including through recall, but not by action of the school board."

There are only three ways a board member can be removed from the board, according to state law — a resignation tendered by the board member, a decision by a judge, or a recall campaign initiated by district residents.

The resolution is recommending Grams "tender his immediate and unconditional resignation" from the school board, claiming that Grams has compromised his ability to serve the public as a board member. It further stated that Grams' comments were "irresponsible, inflammatory and racially and socially insensitive" and that the board "disavows" any commentary Grams has made regarding Floyd and the events that have sprung up since the man's death.

Board president Tyler Schmidt proposed the resolution, noting that the board members had received over "500 public comments and numerous emails and complaints" Sunday regarding Grams' conduct and demanding that he be removed from the board. Schmidt, in a prepared statement, said those comments have come from "all over the world."

"As board members, everything we say and do reflects on the board and the school district," Schmidt said. "Given the nature of Mr. Grams' statement, it is my opinion as the board president that it is important for the board to have an opportunity as a collective body to make known its position and to do so as soon as possible."

The only other board member to comment on Grams' behavior was Michael Sleeper, who claimed that Grams' Facebook post has tarnished the school district's reputation.

"One point that concerns me to no end is the hard, hard work that our staff and volunteer committees have been undertaking these past months to reinvigorate and reenergize the district, to work to make a more positive school system, to better the outcomes for our students, to have a positive working environment for our staff, this kind of thing puts those efforts in jeopardy," Sleeper said.

He further expressed concern that what has happened will prompt people to look elsewhere for their children's education instead of choosing Shawano.

Schmidt claimed that the resolution is not meant as a personal attack on Grams or abridging First Amendment rights to free speech. However, Schmidt expressed fear for his safety, the safety of the other board members and their families in light of the public outrage.

"I do not think that Mart understands the harm that he has caused and put the rest of the board — and each of us individually and our families' safety — at risk," Schmidt said. "I do not say that lightly. It is not a time to screw around with this kind of stuff. It is no joke."

Schmidt said Grams' actions are tearing the district apart "in a mere 20 hours."

"I have received emails and phone calls from around the world," Schmidt said. "They're not nice. We're being portrayed by these comments that the entire board is this way. That is absolutely not fair to group us as that."

The Shawano Leader sent a reporter to attend the board meeting in person but was denied admission by the board's administrative assistant, Lori Sherman, who said that, with the board members and attorneys in attendance, no one else could be allowed to attend without there being more than 10 people in the room. The Leader obtained its information from a livestream of the meeting on YouTube.

Tribes emphasize masks to curb coronavirus spread

Menominee tribe adopts resolution requiring masks

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

The Stockbridge-Munsee and Menominee Indian tribes this past week issued statements in support of wearing masks to prevent the spread of the coronavirus.

While the Stockbridge-Munsee Community has required the use of face masks by all employees and those visiting tribal businesses and government services, the Menominee Tribe last week went a step further by issuing a resolution requiring the use of face coverings across the reservation.

The Menominee Tribal Legislature adopted a resolution on July 9 stating that all residents and visitors to the reservation age 10 and older are required to wear a clean face covering if they are in contact with people who are not household members in public or private indoor settings.

The resolution also requires all employers to ensure that face masks or coverings are sufficiently available to employees, and that all educational and government facilities and all places of business within the reservation boundaries provide face coverings to patrons, guests and visitors who don't have their own.

For its part, the Stockbridge-Munsee on Tuesday issued a statement reaffirming its commitment helping prevent the spread of COVID-19.

The tribe already requires the use of face masks at all tribal business and government services, including the North Star Mohican Casino Resort, Pine Hills Golf Course, Little Star Convenience Store and the Stockbridge-Munsee Health and Wellness Center, as well as all government buildings.

"We are pleased to see that more cities, counties and businesses across the state are considering implementing their own mandatory mask policies," Tribal Council President Shannon Holsey said.

"Our policy has been in place since the beginning of the pandemic, and while it has taken some getting used to, we are grateful for the ongoing compliance of our members, employees and customers," she said. "By working together, we are doing our part to make sure where we live, work and play stays as healthy and safe as possible."

The renewed emphasis on masks comes as the Shawano-Menominee Counties Health Department reports an uptick in coronavirus cases over the past week.

Shawano County, which broke the 100-mark over the weekend, reported 104 cases as of Tuesday — an increase of 11 since July 10, or nearly three new cases a day. In recent weeks, the county was recording one or two new cases a day.

Public Health Director Vicki Dantoin did not return a call for comment by press time.

Menominee County, meanwhile, has held steady at nine confirmed cases since July 8. Even with the relatively low numbers, however, Menominee County is still considered a high risk area given its limited population.

Six horses killed after crash on state Highway 29

Six horses running loose on the roadway were struck by a motor home on state Highway 29 in the Town of Hartland on July 9.

Five of the horses were immediately killed and a sixth sustained a broken leg and had to be dispatched, according to the Shawano County sheriff's department.

The horses struck and killed were among 20 that had gotten loose from a pen on Highway 29, according to the sheriff's department. The sheriff's report lists the owner as Dean Nolan.

The incident was under investigation, and there was no information available as to how the horses got loose.

The highway was partially closed while the owners removed the dead animals. The highway was reopened shortly after 6 a.m.

The motor home sustained some damage, but the extent was not known.

Kautza cancels July County Board meeting

Shawano County Board Chairman Tom Kautza made it official Tuesday; there won't be any County Board meeting this month.

That puts off until at least August a proposed resolution declaring Shawano County a Second Amendment sanctuary.

Kautza said that with the possibility of state funding shortages due to the coronavirus, he saw no reason to hold a meeting — along with the per diem and mileage costs that accompany it — for just one agenda item.

"It's nothing that can't wait until next month," he said.

The proposed Second Amendment sanctuary resolution, which has been delayed since March, would give the sheriff the discretion not to enforce laws considered to be an infringement on the constitutional right to keep and bear arms.

The resolution states that the county "shall not appropriate any funds for any enforcement of unconstitutional laws against the people of Shawano County, and requests the Sheriff to utilize his discretion to avoid the unlawful enforcement of any law which unconstitutionally impedes our fundamental Second Amendment right to Keep and Bear Arms."

The next scheduled meeting of the County Board would be Aug. 26.

OBITUARIES

David A. Habeck

David A. "Dave" Habeck, 61, of Leopolis, passed away unexpectedly at his home on Tuesday morning, July 7, 2020. He died as a result of complications from Lyme disease, which he contracted 10 years ago.

Dave was born Nov. 19, 1958, in Shawano, a son of Leon and Estelle (Molyneux) Habeck. He was a member of the Shawano High School class of 1977. Dave took up music at the age of 16, and was a pro at tennis. He worked at Lee's Music and Mary's Music before going to work as a line-man at Asplundh. Dave then attended North Central Technical School where he earned his associate's degree in business. On Aug. 10, 1985, Dave and Laura Lindner were married on her parents' farm, and the reception was held at Hayman Falls.

His greatest passion was writing songs and playing music. It was his life. On the day his daughter was born Dave wrote a song titled "Oh Angelina" which was featured on his first album, "Western Plains," by Habeck and Butz. His second album, "The Circle Meets Itself Each Time Around," was a solo album which came out in 1981.

Dave co-founded the band Burnt Toast and Jam with his friends, and they recorded three albums. For many years, Dave taught guitar lessons at his home and the homes of his students. He then went to work at Jungle Music where he continued to teach guitar as well as the ukulele, mandolin, and acoustic guitar. Dave eventually opened Makin' Music where he continued to share his talents and love of music with his students.

To say he made an impression on many young musicians would be an understatement. Not only did he influence his students, but he impacted everyone's life through music. Dave took many kids under his wing and guided them on a positive path in their lives. Many of his students wouldn't be where they are today if it weren't for his positive attitude and influence.

Dave's many hobbies included being outdoors where he enjoyed camping, fishing, gardening, campfires and cross-country skiing (he also loved vacuuming). Most of all, Dave cherished his time with his wife, daughter and grandchildren.

Those he left too soon include his loving wife, Laura, of Leopolis; his precious daughter, Angelina Warta and son-in law Matt Warta of Round Rock, Texas; five treasured grandchildren, Adrianna Warta, of Green Bay, and Isabella, Gabriella, Grayson, and Bronson Warta, all of Round Rock, Texas; his brother and sister, Greg (Mary) Habeck, of De Pere, and Beth (Michael Peters) Habeck, of Bonduel; his stepmom Susie (Jerry) Habeck-Schafelke, of Appleton; his bonus siblings, Nancy (Greg) DeGrave, of Combined Locks, and Cindy Monroe, Rick Bayer, and Linda (Jeff) Engel, all of Shawano; his faithful companions Meeko, Dilly, Dude, Ellie Mae, Rayna and Roscoe; and his grand-puppies, Lily and Luna.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Estelle; his father, Leon; his brother, Bobby Bayer; and his grandchild, Sebastian.

A celebration of Dave's life took place on Monday, July 13, 2020, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at his home, W13061 Leopolis Road, Leopolis. In lieu of flowers and plants, please consider making a donation to Happily Ever After Animal Sanctuary in Marion or a local music organization in Dave's name.

If you're looking for a good time in downtown Shawano, don't expect to get it from the courtyard clock on Main Street.

Unless you happen to be driving by it northbound at 8:15, or 8:35 southbound, it will be wrong.

The clock — located about midway in the 100 block of South Main Street — has had problems keeping time for years and has often stalled anytime there's a power outage, frozen in limbo until someone from the city can get around to manually correcting it.

It has also gone uncorrected, sometimes for weeks, after the shift in Daylight Savings Time.

"I don't know how many people notice that. There's a few that call us all the time if it's five minutes off," said Matt Hendricks, the city's parks and recreation director.

Time seems to have run out on the city's ability to maintain the clock.

"It's beyond what we can do in-house," Hendricks said.

That leaves the city with three

Shawano's downtown courtyard clock remains frozen in time, but the city's finance committee recently decided that, due to the cost of repair, the aesthetic quality of the clock was more important than having it display the correct time.

TIM RYAN | NEW MEDIA

options, remove the clock, refurbish it or leave it as it is, a perpetually frozen piece of quaint, old-timey downtown atmosphere that can only guarantee the right time twice a day.

The clock was installed by the Verdin Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, 17 years ago when Main Street was reconstructed.

The company estimated in an email to the city that it would cost at least $4,750 to repair the clock and bring it up to date, complete with a master clock controller that automatically adjusts for Daylight Savings Time and resets itself after any power outages; a National Electrical Manufacturer Association-approved enclosure for the clock controls; and replacing the old synchronous timepiece movement with a new pulse drive.

That cost estimate, however, was given to the city in April of last year and would likely be much higher now, Hendricks said at a recent finance committee meeting.

The committee's consensus was that the right time wouldn't be worth the money.

"Honestly, I don't even notice it. I drive right past it," said Alderwoman Rhonda Strebel, who chairs the finance committee.

Strebel said it might be nice to include a clock in the city's future downtown plaza plans, but she didn't see the value of putting money into the existing clock's repair.

Alderwoman Lisa Hoffman said the clock was something she never really noticed, but wasn't opposed to leaving it there, even though it's not working.

"I don't necessarily think it needs to come down," she said. "I mean it's a cute, little clock. I don't mind it being there and not working."

Hendricks said providing the correct time was never really the purpose of the clock.

"The clock is not there for the functionality," he said. "It's more of an aesthetic. It's a piece of charming downtown Shawano."

The committee agreed the clock will stay, right or wrong, at least for the time being.

Fledgling businesses make comeback after shutdown

Stubborn Brothers Brewery,
R. Franklin Clothing bounce back after delayed openings

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

While all local businesses were impacted to some extent by the two-month COVID-19 shutdown in Wisconsin, two downtown Shawano businesses had their operations scuttled before ever getting off the ground.

"We were all planning to open," said Aaron Gilling, co-owner with his brother, Eric, of Stubborn Brothers Brewery, 220 S. Main St.

"We were ready to rock and roll. We were excited. We had a great team all together," he said. "Things unfortunately didn't go as we wanted."

The state's Safer at Home order closing down non-essential businesses went into effect on March 24.

Gilling said he understands the need for the order in spite of the impact on Stubborn Brothers' opening.

"We support public safety," he said. "We definitely support keeping people safe."

Gilling said the brewery used that time to get to work brewing the beer it would eventually offer the public.

"As an entrepreneur, you have to be a glass-half-full kind of person. You've got no choice," he said.

"I took the chance with the shutdown just to work hard because beer is considered an essential business," he said. "Everyone needs their beer. We learned that from Prohibition."

The brewery did some curbside sales of the first four beers it planned to have on tap when they expected to open in March.

"We did not think it was going to be as big a success as it was," Gilling said. "There were lines around the block and around another block. We feel very blessed that people like our beer."

The brewery now has 17 types of beer all brewed on the premises.

"We have a a unique venue different than any brewery in Wisconsin," Gilling said. "That's very exciting for us."

When the brewery finally did open on June 3, one of the customers waiting to get in had driven all the way from St. Paul, Minnesota.

"He drank our beer and drove back to St. Paul," Gilling said.

Patrons pack into the Stubborn Brothers Brewery, 220 S. Main St. in Shawano, in this June 20 photo to enjoy the music of Greta Wolf Run. The brewery's opening was delayed for two months by the statewide COVID-19 shutdown.

CONTRIBUTED

Gilling and his brother were forced to lay off most of the nearly 30 people they had on staff when the closure started. Many of those employees have come back, but some were forced to find other jobs.

"We have nothing but kind feelings for all those people," Gilling said. "During that pandemic, the shutdown time, everyone had to figure out how to survive and make sure they were bringing in some form of income.”

The brewery seems to be bouncing back from the two-month disruption.

“We’re only a month old but we’re doing very well,” Gilling said.

The crowds began showing up as soon as the brewery opened its door.

“It was pretty amazing how many people came,” Gilling said. “They were pouring into the street. It was great to have so many people come and support us.”

The hiatus set all businesses back financially, Gilling said, but the brewery was able to work with the city on the terms of its development agreement and with the banks, particularly CoVantage Credit Union, to keep things afloat during the down time.

“We are very blessed,” Gilling said. “We have great bankers willing to work with us, as well as the city, able to make it so we were able to survive and thrive through this time. We’re beyond grateful for what the city, CoVantage and several other banks have done.”

Another downtown Shawano business with great expectations aborted by the COVID shutdown was R. Franklin Clothing, 109 S. Main St., which was set to take over the tradition of the Gentlemen’s Quarter shop that previously occupied that space.

The store was able to get at least one week under its belt before the statewide shutdown.

“I opened on March 16 and was open for just one week before I had to close again for a couple months,” said owner Riley Courchaine.

Courchaine had spent a few months prior to that remodeling the shop in anticipation of opening.

When the shutdown came, he said, “I just closed. I didn’t have a choice.”

Courchaine continued drop-off and pickup of dry cleaning, but, “otherwise I didn’t have anything going on.”

With no employees, Courchaine did not qualify for any federal assistance but did get some help from the city’s assistance fund.

Business has picked up a little bit now since the shutdown has passed, but things are still a little slow, Courchaine said.

“Everybody’s still being a little cautious,” he said. “Nobody’s really out clothes shopping.”

Customers do come into the store wearing masks and there is social distancing going on.

“The store’s big enough that distancing is not an issue,” Courchaine said.

Courchaine worked for three years under Gentleman’s Quarter owner Jeff Kirchner and kept the store going after Kirchner was diagnosed with cancer last year.

“They’re big shoes to fill,” Courchaine said. “But all the customers have been very supportive. The regular customers from his store have been coming in. I feel like I have a lot of support from the community.”

City prepares comprehensive planning process

Public input will be key to city's new vision for future growth

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

The city of Shawano will launch an update of its comprehensive plan in the coming months expected to produce a new vision for city growth when it's finally completed sometime in 2021.

The city has been working with a comprehensive plan last drafted 11 years ago.

Among the changes expected in the new document will be the incorporation of a bike and pedestrian pathways master plan.

The city is working with the East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission on the project.

Kim Viedermann of the regional planning commission told the Shawano Plan Commission at a recent meeting that the plan, required by state statutes, is intended to help guide the future direction of growth in the city.

Questions the city plan commission need to consider include how the city's current plan is used, what the expectations are for the update and how best to involve the community in the process.

"Along with the budget, this is one of the two guiding documents we use for short-term work and long-term planning," City Administrator Eddie Sheppard said. "It's something that's been useful for us the last few years."

In particular, the existing comprehensive plan envisioned the kind of future development that eventually sprung up along the County Road B corridor, including the Belmark project, a new Reinhart facility and a housing development.

"Ten years ago we predicted that's how this area was sort of going to develop," Sheppard said. "We didn't think it was going to take 10 years for all that to happen at once."

Sheppard said that for most of that 10 years, those properties sat vacant.

"Now they're developing as we anticipated," he said.

Sheppard said having a comprehensive plan can also make the Common Council feel comfortable that it's making the right decisions in terms of zoning and giving the go-ahead to proposed projects.

"Where are we going next is the big question," Sheppard said.

The plan commission will finalize a public participation plan at its meeting later this month.

Sheppard said that plan is likely to focus on surveys rather than in-person comment, but the plan commission will have one more chance to discuss that.

The comprehensive planning process itself will probably kick off in August and is expected to take 16-18 months.

"It will be pretty labor intensive from then on," Sheppard said.

Name released in apparent accidental drowning

Authorities Monday released the name of a 33-year-old Appleton female who was the victim of an apparent accidental drowning in the Town of Hartland last week.

Megan K. Fredrich was found deceased in a small pond after a suspicious vehicle was reported at a property on Happy Lane shortly after 9 a.m. on July 8.

Shawano County sheriff's deputies were dispatched to Happy Lane for a reported child running naked in the area shortly after 7 a.m.

An unsupervised 9-year-old boy was picked up by a citizen and turned over to deputies when they arrived on scene. Shawano County Human Services was called to care for the child and also assist in identifying and determining where he came from.

The suspicious vehicle was reported at about 9:15 a.m.

Fredrich was located in a pond a short distance from the vehicle after an extensive search of the area.

It was determined that the child was the son of the deceased female.

At this time, the death appears to be an accidental drowning, according to the sheriff's department, but the incident remains under investigation and pending the results of an autopsy.

Former mayor recommended for vacant council seat

Cronce would finish term left open by Easter resignation

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

The city of Shawano's personnel committee has recommended former mayor Jeanne Cronce to fill the District 1 alderman seat left vacant by the resignation of Jeff Easter.

Easter, who was also director of buildings and grounds at the Shawano School District, resigned from the Common Council in June to take a job as facility director with the Education Service District in Oregon.

The recommendation to appoint Cronce was expected to go before the Common Council for approval at its July 15 meeting.

Cronce was one of five people who applied to fill out the remainder of Easter's term, which expires in April of next year.

The other applicants were Brad

JEANNE CRONCE

Keuschel, Nancy Cramer, Jessica Van Buren and former alderman Bob Kurkiewicz.

Easter was elected to the Common Council after Kurkiewicz chose not to seek reelection last year.

District 1 includes Wards 1 and 2 of the city.

Alderwoman Rhonda Strebel, who chairs the personnel committee, said she was happy to see the number of applicants.

"I'm pleased to see that our community wants to get involved," she said.

Alderwoman Sandy Steinke noted that Cronce has been attending city meetings over the past several weeks since the vacancy was announced.

"I was very impressed that she attended all the meetings that she could," Steinke said, "and her knowledge and background with the city is excellent."

Strebel said that some of the applicants had not come to any meetings.

"It's good to see at least one of the five candidates has been coming on a regular basis," she said.

Strebel encouraged the other applicants to get involved with other aspects of the city, if they wish.

"We do have openings on committees and commissions, and I would love to see some of these people maybe do that as a first step," she said.

County's libraries reopening on a limited basis

Restrictions on patron numbers, access to materials in place

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Shawano County's libraries will be reopening to the public on a limited basis beginning next week.

The Shawano library will be open on Mondays from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The other five branch libraries will open for one day each week, and curbside pickup will remain available at all libraries on the other days that the library would normally be open. Hours at the branch libraries will be: 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays for Bonduel; 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesdays for Wittenberg; 2-6 p.m. Tuesdays for Mattoon; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursdays for Birnamwood; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays for Tigerton.

There will be other restrictions in place, as well. Besides the usual rules about masks, social distancing and hand sanitizer, there will be limits on the number of people in the building, and only two people per household will be allowed to permit as many different families to use the library at one time as possible. The time limit for visits is one hour.

Magazines and newspapers will not be available in the next phase of the reopening, and restrooms and water fountains will remain closed. Computers will be available by appointment only.

Patrons will be asked to put any books touched but not checked out in designated areas to be quarantined. They will also need to return checked-out materials in the outside bins.

"We've been mindful and monitoring how our patrons have been using our services, how they would like to be using our services," said Kristie Hauer, the county's library director. "Now we have our courier system, which runs between all the libraries, that is up and functioning again."

Hauer noted that conditions have improved to the point where it's possible to accommodate patrons who can utilize library services briefly like checking out a couple of books, albeit at 20-25% capacity. The size of the Shawano and Birnamwood

Library patrons will only be allowed to return checked-out materials to the outside receptacles once the buildings reopen next week.

LEE PULASKI | NEW MEDIA

AT A GLANCE

New rules to observe once the libraries reopen:

- Hand sanitizer will be available in entry ways. Sanitize your hands when entering the building.
- All staff will wear masks in public-facing spaces.
- The public is encouraged to wear masks when in the building. Masks are required for anyone who requests individual help from staff outside of the designated checkout area.
- Maintain six feet of social distance from staff and others in the building.
- Limits will be placed on the number of people who may be in each building at one time. Your visit, for whatever purposes, will be limited to 1 hour.
- Computers will be available by appointment. Contact your branch library to schedule an appointment.
- Return library materials to designated outdoor book drops. Items will be checked in three business days after being returned to the library and will be marked as if returned on the date you brought the items back to the library. Your library account will be updated when the materials are checked in.
- When browsing for materials at the library, put any items you touch but do not check out into designated areas inside the library. These items will be quarantined for 72 hours before returning to the library shelf.
- Magazines and newspaper will not be available for browsing. Magazines may be checked out with the assistance of a staff member.
- Restrooms and water fountains will not be available.
- Observe a two-person limit per household to allow as many people as possible to use the services

COVID-19 Journal

libraries will allow up to 20 people to use the facility at a given time, but the other libraries are smaller, she said, so only a few patrons will be able to enter at a time.

"We still have our curbside pickup available on other days of the week," Hauer said. "If people are concerned about being in close proximity to other people, there are still options available that won't have people so close together."

The one-hour time limit should be easy for patrons to accomplish, in Hauer's view, because the libraries have scaled back on services like children's programming, author presentations and other activities that would compel patrons to stay in the library for longer periods.

"You can come in, take care of your business, whatever that may be, and then leave the building again to leave that space and availability open for other patrons," Hauer said. "The staff will be on hand to help facilitate that more quickly."

She recommended patrons who know specifically what they need to call ahead, as it will allow library staff to have it ready when patrons arrive.

Hauer is uncertain when the libraries will be back to their former levels of service, noting that it will depend on how the health status of Shawano County evolves. She said the next level of reopening would involve increasing the number of days being publicly accessible and fewer with curbside pickup.

"Our library board takes a look at this every single month, and we look to see if it makes sense to scale in more services," Hauer said. "What the library board and I are trying not to do is scale things back so severely again where there's much more limitations to our services. Our path will be slow moving forward, but we intend to keep building upon our services and availability rather than scale back."

Notice of 2020 Board of Review for Town of Richmond, Shawano County

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Review for the Town of Richmond, Shawano County, Wisconsin, shall hold its first two hour meeting on Wednesday, July 29, 2020 from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 p.m. or later, at the Richmond Town Hall, N5170 County Road MM, Shawano, Wis. 54166.

Please be advised of the following requirements to appear before the board of review and procedural requirements if appearing before the board:

1. No person will be allowed to appear before the board of review, to testify to the board by telephone, or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the assessor to enter on to property to conduct an exterior view of the real or personal property being assessed.
2. After the first meeting of the board of review and before the board's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the board of review may contact or provide information to a member of the board about the person's objection, except at a session of the board. Open book shall occur no less than 7 days prior to the board of review.
3. The board of review may not hear an objection to the amount or valuation of property unless, at least 48 hours before the board's first scheduled meeting, the objector provides to the board's clerk written or oral notice of an intent to file an objection, except that upon a showing of good cause and the submission of a written objection, the board shall waive that requirement during the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, and the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days with proof of extraordinary circumstances for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and failure to appear before the board of review during the first 2 hours of the first scheduled meeting.
4. Objections to the amount or valuation of property shall first be made in writing and filed with the clerk of the board of review within the first 2 hours of the board's first scheduled meeting, except that, upon evidence of extraordinary circumstances, the board may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days. The board may require objections to the amount or valuation of property to be submitted on forms approved by the Department of Revenue, and the board shall require that any forms include stated valuations of the property in question. Persons who own land and improvements to that land may object to the aggregate valuation of that land and improvements to that land, but no person who owns land and improvements to that land may object only to the valuation of that land or only to the valuation of improvements to that land. No person may be allowed in any action or proceedings to question the amount or valuation of property unless the written objection has been filed and that person in good faith presented evidence to the board in support of the objections and made full disclosure before the board, under oath, of all of that person's property liable to assessment in the district and the value of that property. The requirement that objections be in writing may be waived by express action of the board.
5. When appearing before the board of review, the objecting person shall specify in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information that the person used to arrive at that estimate.
6. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or object to a valuation if that valuation was made by the assessor or the objector using the income method of valuation, unless: no later than 7 days before the first meeting of the board of review the person supplies the assessor with all the information about income and expenses, as specified in the assessor's manual under s. 73.03 (2a), Wis. stats., that the assessor requests. The Town of Richmond has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the assessor under this paragraph that provides exceptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or the duties of their office or by order of a court. The information that is provided under this paragraph, unless a court determined that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under s. 19.35 (1), Wis. stats.
7. The board shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the board a letter from a physician, surgeon, or osteopath that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone unless the Board, in its discretion, has determined to grant a property owner's or their representative's request to testify under oath by telephone or written statement.
8. No person may appear before the board of review, testify to the board by telephone, or contest the amount of any assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the board, or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed under s.70.47 (3) (a), Wis. stats., that person provides to the clerk of the board of review notice as to whether the person will ask for the removal of a member of the board of review and, if so, which member, and provides a reasonable estimate of the length of time the hearing will take.

Notice is hereby given this 6th day of July, 2020.

Camp Creepy Crawly Critters

Matthew Briggs, left, August Yogow, Evan Rankin and Jeremiah Hodges survey the bugs, tadpoles and other pond life in a net shared by Navarino Nature Center naturalist Tim Ewing.

Matthew Briggs holds a container of frogs as Jeremiah Hodges looks on. The four boys at the camp learned about the life cycle of frogs and other aquatic creatures as they explored a swampy area of the Navarino Nature Center.

The first in-person camp of the year was held July 9 at the Navarino Nature Center, W5646 Lindsten Road, Shiocton. Camp Creepy Crawly Critters helped elementary-age children (and family members) learn about life that can be caught in a bug net. The nature center, which includes education as one of its missions, has offered take-home camp kits as an alternative to in-person camps this year.

YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW

Raise the bar on police transparency

Recently, the National Freedom of Information Coalition and the Brechner Center for Freedom of Information issued a statement calling for greater transparency and accountability from law enforcement. They were joined by more than 50 groups — including the Wisconsin Freedom of Information Council, Wisconsin Newspaper Association and the Wisconsin Transparency Project.

“Trust is a key element in police-citizen relationships. Secrecy is the enemy of trust,” the statement read. “Effective oversight of law enforcement requires meaningfully improving the flow of information to the public, both as a matter of law and as a matter of culture.”

The police killings of George Floyd, Rayshard Brooks and Breonna Taylor, among others, as well as video footage of police using excessive force in dealing with protesters, have underscored the need for changes in policing, including greater access to disciplinary records.

BILL LUEDERS

It is time to break down some of the barriers that prevent the public from getting a full and true picture of how police perform — sometimes laudable, sometimes not — and how government agencies respond to allegations of misconduct.

Wisconsin, according to one survey, is among just 12 states in the nation in which records of police disciplinary investigations are generally available to the public, but there are still opportunities for improvement.

For one thing, the law builds unnecessary delays into the process to afford police officers, like all public employees, an opportunity to sue to block the release of disciplinary records. It also enables departments to deny access to records while an investigation is pending, in the absence of any proof that secrecy makes the process work better.

Early this year, the Legislature passed and Gov. Tony Evers signed into law a bill regarding the use of police body cameras. While it does a good job of balancing the public’s right to know against legitimate privacy interests, it still allows police agencies to withhold video of ongoing investigations, something that doesn’t happen with video taken by onlookers and not police.

That means, in some cases, the public can only see the video that it is not paying for.

The National FOIC and Brechner Center argue that every aspect of the police misconduct oversight process should be open to public scrutiny.

“Only by seeing the substance of each complaint, how it is resolved and what consequences are imposed can the public trust that justice is being dispensed without favor,” the statement says.

“We understand the difficult challenge police officers face each day in their work. While they have a unique position in our communities, they are still public employees — but with extraordinary power to use deadly force, to search private homes and to detain and arrest.”

Thus, we should insist on maximum transparency.

Yes, there are times when police draw complaints that are unfounded and unfair, but the public should have a right to see even these, with the expectation that ordinary people can make rational judgments about their nature and how they are addressed.

We should not have to trust the police to police themselves. Trust will come only when we are allowed to see inside the process.

Your Right to Know is a monthly column distributed by the Wisconsin Freedom of Information Council (wisfoic.org), a group dedicated to open government. Bill Lueders, the editor of The Progressive, is the council’s president.

During times of crisis, crucial information about your community comes from local reporters.

Access to high quality information is essential (especially local information) and especially now. What's happening in our communities? What's the impact? How are our local leaders responding? For answers to these questions, we rely on the hard work of our local reporters. As a result, readability of local news outlets has reached record highs.

But due to COVID-19, local news outlets are in a tough spot. Not advertising has plummeted during the crisis and we're afraid of losing our jobs. It's not enough to fill the void. This has led to thousands of local reporters being laid off. Just as our society faces numerous, urgent challenges.

Millions of people are in danger of losing access to the authoritative local information they need to stay informed. That's why the Local Media Consortium and the Local News Consortium are working with local news providers to build a strong future for local journalism. And that's why our long-time partner Google is purchasing ads like this in local publications across the country as well as providing a fund to help struggling local news outlets. But there's still more work to do.

Please consider supporting the local news organizations and help us continue to share. Donate to them. And if you have a business that's able to, advertise with them. Your support is critical to sustaining the dedicated journalists serving your communities.

Our local news outlets really need us. Let's help them stay open.

Musician Dave Habeck remembered by community

Love of music traced back to high school

By DAVID WILHELM
Correspondent

Dave Habeck, Leopolis, a longtime presence in the local music community, was remembered for his smile and positive influence even as his body failed from fighting Lyme's disease. He passed away at age 61 on July 7.

Kurby Hoffman was a bandmate with Habeck in Burnt Toast and Jam, a popular string band in the area that Habeck helped to start. The band recorded three albums.

Hoffman said of Habeck, "We've been friends for a long, long time. Music was a big part of our friendship but life was also a big part of our friendship. The music was at the center of the connection but we connected in so many other ways."

"I don't believe he had any enemies. There'd just be no reason to. He was just so easy to get along with," Hoffman added.

Hoffman credited Habeck with teaching him a lot and his extreme creativity.

Hoffman added he developed an instinctual connection with Habeck when playing music, "We just had a lot of fun. I can't ever remember arguing with Dave about anything that had to do with music or anything else for that matter.

Hoffman applauded Habeck's stage presence and general musicianship. "He was a very easy guy to play music with. The times we had, I mean, you could fill a book. There's nothing but good to say," he recalled.

Joel Kroenke, a longtime advocate for music in Shawano and a musician, called Habeck "a positive, friendly presence in the Shawano music community. He was a talented performing and recording musician."

Kroenke added, "In his humble, reassuring way, he taught music," referring to the many years Habeck taught guitar, mandolin and ukelele.

Part of Habeck's presence in Shawano was his Jungle Music store on Main Street and later Makin' Music. Kroenke recalled Habeck supplied other musicians through the store and his willing support of the Shawano folk festival and other music events.

"He will be missed by many people. I know he reached a lot of people through his music," Kroenke said, adding he'd remember Habeck as always having a smile and being a great influence on a lot of people.

"The biggest thing I'll say is they don't make many like him," said Tod Pubanz, also a Burnt Toast and Jam member.

Habeck was a "unique musical talent," Pubanz added.

"He had songs I don't hear other people playing," Pubanz said. "His approach was unique."

Pubanz called it an honor to play music with Habeck.

"He was just a big personality," Pubanz said. "But he still had a devilish grin and a devilish attitude. That was part of the whole attraction."

Even as far back as his high school days in Shawano, Pubanz said everyone liked Habeck, a 1977 graduate, and that in itself was something of an achievement. Pubanz noted that Habeck taught music to, and played with, members of Burnt Toast and Jam and their family members since that time.

As a band member, Pubanz said Habeck, who started playing music at age 16, "kept us all in line or helped us get out of line."

Given all of his creativity, Habeck was the most structured in the band, Pubanz continued, "He always wanted to have things down 'tight.'"

Pubanz conceded the band members needed that structure even as they fought him on it.

"As a bass player, I like to have that structure" but sometimes he also wants to go "off on his own" in a song, Pubanz said.

Pubanz didn't identify Habeck as the band's leader, saying Burnt Toast and Jam relied on collaboration, but people in the audience as well as the band were drawn to him.

"We were all just friends," Pubanz said.

Habeck passed away at his home from complications from Lyme disease, which he contracted 10 years ago.

Habeck was born Nov. 19, 1958, in Shawano. He worked at Lee's Music and Mary's Music before working as a lineman at Asplundh. He then attended North Central Technical School where he earned his associate's degree in business. On Aug. 10, 1985, he married Laura Lindner on her parents' farm.

Pubanz concluded that, even in his final years as he struggled with Lyme disease, Habeck "had a smile on his face and was happy as could be."

Boldt's clutch hit caps Bonduel's comeback

Oconto Falls goes
1-1 during week;
Shawano tops
Waupaca

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Storms wreaked havoc on high school-aged baseball schedules last week, resulting in several postponed or canceled games. The few games that were played were entertaining contests.

Bonduel

Isaac Boldt's hit to the left-center gap scored Jack Johnson to give Bonduel a thrilling 8-7 win over Coleman on July 8 in Bonduel.

"I faced him (the Coleman pitcher) a couple innings before that, and he wasn't throwing too hard. I knew it was probably a fastball coming — it was a 2-1 count, I think. I got a good look at the first (fastball) and fouled it off and then that one was dead center (down the middle), so I was able to square it up really nice," said Boldt of his walk-off hit.

It was anything but a thrilling start to the contest for the hosts, who trailed 6-0 after just 1½ innings of play.

Coleman scored three runs in each of the first two innings, with each frame beginning with a leadoff walk and being aided by subpar Bonduel defense.

The host's demeanor changed in the bottom of the second, when Cole Anderson singled home Noah Beilfuss — who avoided a tag at the plate with a perfect slide — to put Bonduel on the scoreboard. From that point on, the chatter from the Bonduel dugout intensified, with players up against the fence cheering their teammates on.

Boldt replaced Anderson on the mound starting in the third frame and ended up working the last five innings, surrendering just one run in the fourth while striking out seven batters, including all three in the seventh.

Bonduel's big inning came in the fourth, when the team sent 10 batters to the plate and scored six runs to tie the game at seven.

Isaac Banker drove in the first two runs with a line drive double, scoring Boldt and Beilfuss. Kyle Hanus followed with a RBI single. Later in the inning, Brett Margelofsky doubled him home.

Johnson followed with a RBI groundout before Logan Guentenberg capped the big frame with a RBI single.

"It obviously wasn't the best start (to the game). We got down early but we stuck with each other, one hit at a time," said Banker. "We just kept chipping away. We kept believing in each other and hitting the ball."

Each team had chances to break the tie over the next two innings, but neither could deliver a hit with a runner in scoring position.

Bonduel's seventh inning started with a Johnson walk before he moved up to second and then third on wild pitches. The next two guys in the lineup were strikeout victims, but Garrett Engel drew a two-out walk to set the stage for Boldt.

Anderson led the hosts with three hits — two singles and a double — while Beilfuss singled twice and walked in his other plate appearance. Hanus also singled twice in the contest.

sloppy defensive play hurt Oconto Falls in a wild 12-9 loss to Denmark on July 7 in Oconto Falls.

After Connor Peetz tossed a 1-2-3 first inning for the hosts, Oconto Falls looked to be on its way to grabbing an early lead in the bottom half of the frame after putting a pair of runners on with only one out. Denmark erased the threat by inducing a infield popup and groundout.

The bad luck and sloppy defense for Oconto Falls started in the second inning, which helped Denmark put up three runs. A routine popup landed between the shortstop and left fielder to open the inning before another single snuck through the infield.

Peetz induced back-to-back groundballs from the next two hitters, but both batters reached on infield singles. Another groundball allowed Oconto Falls to record the first out of the inning, but it also gave the visitors their second run. The final run scored on a throwing error.

"We made a couple of mental mistakes, and they compounded when we threw the ball all over the place," said Oconto Falls' Mitchell Manns, a player from the class of 2020.

Oconto Falls was able to respond in the next half inning.

Travis Zielinski and Matthew Klein each reached base to start the frame for the Panthers before Alex Waschbisch came through with a two-run single. Waschbisch later scored on a double play ball to tie the game.

Denmark retook the lead with a run in the third before breaking the game open with a five-run fourth.

The visitors had two more batters reach on infield singles in the fourth. The big hit in the frame was a two-run triple, which turned into a little league homer after an Oconto Falls throwing error.

Oconto Falls cut into the deficit by scoring twice in its half of the fourth.

Grady McNichols picked up a RBI after being plunked by a pitch with the bases loaded, which scored courtesy runner Peetz. Klein scored the second run on a wild pitch.

Zielinski held Denmark scoreless in the fifth before Oconto Falls inched a bit closer in the bottom half. Manns drove in Andrew Klein on a sacrifice flyout before Braden Uelmen scored on a wild pitch to make it a two-run contest.

Another scoreless Denmark frame in the sixth gave the hosts a chance to get even closer, but Oconto Falls went down in order.

The visitors created some breathing room in the seventh, sending seven batters to the plate and scoring three times.

battle, putting together a rally in its half.

After McNichols walked and Jake Sager singled, Manns drove in both players with a double to the right-center fence. Unfortunately for the hosts, the rally was snuffed out after that, with a flyout and groundout ending the game.

"It's good to see that we don't put our heads down. We always keep playing until the game is actually over; it doesn't matter what the score is," said Manns.

Oconto Falls ended up using four pitchers in the game. Peetz worked the first two frames before Uelmen worked 1 1/3 innings. Zielinski got the last two outs in the fourth before also pitching the fifth. Manns then made a rare appearance on the bump, working the final two innings.

Oconto Falls bounced back from the loss with a 6-1 win over Oconto on July 9 in Oconto Falls.

Shawano

Shawano secured its fourth straight win with a 13-6 win at Waupaca on Sunday.

Andrew Popp led Shawano at the plate and on the mound. Popp posted three hits, including a home run, and drove in six runs while also picking up the win after pitching four innings.

Ashton Henning, Zach Erdmann, Jacob Landon and Braedyn Kow-

Ian Reinders tossed two innings for the Hawks before Joey Sperberg got the final three outs.

Pulaski stays hot with Dairyland win over Hofa Park

Navarino picks up its third win

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Many Dairyland League teams passed the halfway point of their 2020 summer schedule on Sunday. Pulaski, Nichols, Hortonville, Waupaca and Navarino all earned wins.

Pulaski 3, Hofa Park 1

The Pulaski Reds remained the league's only unbeaten team, toppling the Hofa Park Panthers on Sunday in Pulaski.

Garrett Kaczrowski led the way for Pulaski, earning the win on the mound after pitching 8 2/3 innings. Joel Vandehei got the final out to earn the save.

Dan Sabin and Vandehei each finished with two hits for the Reds.

Bob Tilot posted two hits and Carson Williquette drove in the run for Hofa Park, which fell to 1-4 overall. Jon Zacherius suffered the loss after working the first 7 1/3 innings.

Waupaca 7, Shawano 3

The Waupaca Lakeman improved to 4-1 on the season after a home win over the Shawano Lobos on Sunday.

Wes Austin and Jacob Popham each had two hits for Waupaca, while Brenden Canterbury drove in a pair of runs.

Cam Seidl earned the victory on the hill, striking out 10 batters over six innings. Jim Nighbor worked the final three innings.

Grant Bystol recorded three hits for Shawano, which dropped to 2-2.

Hortonville 6, Bonduel 1

The Hortonville Stars scored five runs over the final two innings to steal a road win over the Bonduel Broncos on Sunday.

After Hortonville took the lead in the fifth, Bonduel tied it with a run in the sixth. The Stars (2-2) regained the lead with a run in the eighth before plating four runs in the ninth.

Colan Trembl earned the win for Hortonville after striking out eight batters over seven frames.

Luke Kostreva had two hits for Bonduel (3-2) while J.C. Reinke drove in the run. Mitch Pleshek took the loss, but struck out 10 batters over 8 1/3 innings.

Nichols 3, Freedom 2

The Nichols Nitros edged the Freedom Mets in 10 innings on Sunday in Nichols.

Freedom (1-4) took the lead with a two-run eighth, only to have Nichols (3-2) respond with two runs of its own in the bottom half.

Trevor Cornell drove in all three runs for Nichols. He singled home Justin Krull to win it.

Krull earned the win after pitching 4 2/3 innings in relief of Sam Fonder, who struck out 10 batters during his time on the bump.

Braden Schneider and Travis Vander Loop drove in a run each for Freedom. Schneider took the loss after relieving Hunter Schabo, who tallied six strikeouts in 7 1/3 innings.

Navarino 5, Cecil 1

The Navarino Rangers secured their third win of the season after taking down the Cecil Mudhens on Sunday in Cecil.

Navarino (3-2) scored four times in the third inning to seize control of the game. The team's final run came in the seventh, matching Cecil's only run in the previous half inning.

Navarino's Ryan Boettcher earned the win after working six innings, while Paul Sellner worked the final three frames. Matt Krause drove in two runs, while Brett Krull scored twice.

Brandon Hagel drove in Cecil's run. The Mudhens are now 0-5.

Delayed start should help Knebel play all season

Crew reliever missed 2019 season after Tommy John surgery

By STEVE MEGARGEE
The Associated Press

Milwaukee Brewers reliever Corey Knebel believes the pandemic-imposed hiatus will enable him to be ready for the start of the season as he returns from Tommy John surgery.

"I'm feeling very confident that I'll be ready to go," Knebel said after throwing an inning of scoreless relief in a Friday afternoon scrimmage.

Knebel didn't pitch at all last year after tearing the ulnar collateral ligament in his right elbow during spring training, an injury that required him to undergo surgery in April 2019. Knebel said that if the 2020 season had started on time, he probably wouldn't have been able to join the active roster until June.

The delay to the start of the season now means the 28-year-old right-hander shouldn't miss any more time.

"I want to say all of April was going to be rehab outings, and the plan was to join the team around June 4 or June 5," Knebel said.

The Brewers are now scheduled to open July 24. Knebel said the delayed start to the season gave him "a lot of time to get ready to go and do what I've had to do."

Brewers manager Craig Counsell agreed that Knebel should be on the season-opening active roster while noting that the team will remain cautious with him.

"We just need to build a base underneath him that allows him to recover as best as he can as we go into the season," Counsell said.

The return of Knebel should provide a major boost for the Brewers, particularly with this year's compressed schedule magnifying the importance of bullpens.

Knebel made the NL All-Star team and posted a 1.78 ERA with 39 saves in 76 appearances in 2017. He pitched 57 games and had a 3.58 ERA in 2018 while teaming up with Josh Hader to form a fearsome relief tandem as the Brewers reached the National League Championship Series and were a win away from the World Series.

Knebel struck out 214 in 131 1/3 innings during that two-year stretch. Milwaukee's bullpen wasn't quite as effective without him last year.

Having both Hader and Knebel as part of a deep bullpen could make it tough for anyone to come from behind against the Brewers in the late innings this season.

"Those two guys, they're different animals," pitching coach Chris Hook said. "I've said this before. It's an uncomfortable at-bat (against them). Those guys give you a different look that you don't normally see. Of course, the stuff piled on top of that makes it very difficult for a hitter."

Knebel said he was throwing pretty much 92-94 mph Friday after hitting the upper 90s before his injury, but he believes the velocity will come around as he continues his comeback.

"I'm right where I need to be right now, just trying to throw and get comfortable with it all," Knebel said.

Big Ten eliminates nonconference games for fall sports

By JOHN ZENOR
The Associated Press

The Big Ten Conference announced July 9 it will not play nonconference games in football and several other sports this fall, the most dramatic move at the time by a power conference because of the coronavirus pandemic.

The league cited medical advice in making its decision and added, ominously, that the plan would be applied only "if the conference is able to participate in fall sports."

"As we continue to focus on how to play this season in a safe and responsible way, based on the best advice of medical experts, we are also prepared not to play in order to ensure the health, safety and well-ness of our student-athletes should the circumstances so dictate," the league said.

Besides football, the sports affected include men's and women's cross country, field hockey, men's and women's soccer, and women's volleyball.

"By limiting competition to other Big Ten institutions, the conference will have the greatest flexibility to adjust its own operations throughout the season and make quick decisions in real-time based on the most current evolving medical advice and the fluid nature of the pandemic," the Big Ten said.

The announcement came a day after the Ivy League called off fall sports and Stanford announced it was cutting 11 varsity sports as it struggles with the financial impact the virus outbreak is having on its budget.

The marquee nonconference matchups in the Big Ten this season included Notre Dame vs. Wisconsin on Oct. 3 at Lambeau Field, home of the NFL's Green Bay Packers. A handful of teams were scheduled to play two Big Ten opponents, including Bowling Green, Central Michigan and Northern Illinois.

The Big Ten said it would release detailed schedules later and continue to evaluate other sports. The league said its schools will honor scholarships for athletes who choose not to compete in the upcoming academic year because of concerns about the coronavirus.

Indiana athletic director Scott Dolsen said he and his Big Ten colleagues "know that there remain many questions that still need to be answered, and we will work toward finding those answers in the coming weeks."

Wisconsin, Northwestern football game moved to Ryan Field

Wisconsin's football game against Northwestern scheduled for Nov. 7 at Wrigley Field in Chicago is being moved to Ryan Field because of uncertainties due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Northwestern announced the decision July 8 after consulting with the Chicago Cubs, state and local authorities and the Big Ten Conference. Athletic director Jim Phillips cited the possibility of a limited crowd at the famed ballpark even if fans were allowed.

Donald Driver Charity Softball Game won't be played on July 26

The organizers of the Donald Driver Charity Softball Game have announced that the game will be postponed due to concerns over the COVID-19 outbreak.

The game was to be held July 26 at Neuroscience Group Field at Fox Cities Stadium and would have featured a Super Bowl championship reunion as part of the game. The organizers are hoping to announce a date on which the game can be safely held for everyone in the future.

The game will raise money for the Donald Driver Foundation. The mission of the foundation is to display strong hands, strong minds, and loving hearts to serve as a hand up, not a hand out.

Tickets that have already been purchased for the game will be valid for the to-be-determined rescheduled date. However, space will be limited due to social distancing restrictions and some ticket locations will have to be changed.

Fans who are unable to attend the game on the rescheduled date due to conflicts, inability to travel, or concerns about COVID-19 may receive a refund for their tickets. Please contact the Wisconsin Timber Rattlers ticket office at 920-733-4152 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Driver bobblehead that was to be an all-fan giveaway for the game was unable to be finalized prior to the initial COVID-19 outbreak and will no longer be available for this game. Fans to attend the game when it is rescheduled will receive a pair of Driver's children's books instead.

Bartz captures first career IMCA Modified feature

Berna, Van Straten, Schmidt, Westphal also victorious

By DAVE BUSS

Special to NEW Media

Drivers start to separate themselves from the pack as the auto racing season nears the mid-season point.

With the shortened season, recovering from a bad night becomes very difficult. Ron Berna, Travis Van Straten, Jayden Schmidt, Tanner Westphal and Jordan Bartz began their run to the finish with wins on Saturday at Shawano Speedway.

The IMCA Modified feature saw Jesse Peebles take the early lead and he was leading when a nasty wreck featuring multiple cars brought out the caution on lap two.

Mark Weisnicht unsuccessfully tried to avoid a spinning car and ended up rolling in corner two. Joel Seegert collected Weisnicht as he rolled, and both were knocked from the event with heavy damage. Both drivers were OK.

Peebles briefly maintained the lead on the restart but Bartz scooted by on lap four. Bartz built a sizeable advantage over Marcus Yarie and Lucas Lamberies as the race neared the halfway point.

It got interesting on lap 18 when caution again flew over the field, but a perfect restart by Bartz resulted in her first career feature win in the Modifieds. Lamberies grabbed second with Jerry Wilinski third, Troy Wilson fourth and Yarie fifth.

Dan Michonski took the lead from Harley Simon on lap four of the Stock Car feature and looked to rebound after a rough finish the week prior. Simon maintained the runner-up spot until lap nine when Van Straten, after starting 12th, got by him.

Van Straten then began to reel in Michonski and on lap 15 he powered by. Van Straten cruised to victory with Michonski second, Rod Snellenberger third and Chucky Forstner fourth.

With many of the normal drivers testing their skills against the World of Outlaws, the Late Models were led to the green by Tom Naeyaert and Chris Engels. Naeyaert led lap one but Berna took the top spot a lap later.

Berna rode the berm to perfection for the final 19 laps to grab the win. Naeyaert held on to the runner-up spot with Troy Springborn finishing third. Mike Mullen and Engels rounded out the top five.

Dylon Waldvogel took early control of the IMCA Sport Mod feature with Tyler Sobiesczyk holding on to second. A lap six caution changed everything as Jayden Schmidt used the restart to his advantage and grabbed the lead. Jeff Schmuhl moved to the runner-up spot on that same restart.

Waldvogel regained the runner-up spot on lap 12, only to be overtaken by Schmuhl on lap 19. While those two sorted out the second spot, Schmidt powered to another feature win.

Schmuhl claimed second with Waldvogel third. Jeffrey Teske and Mathew Radtke, both having started deep in the pack, took home fourth and fifth, respectively.

Tanner Westphal once again proved to be the driver to beat after taking the lead from William Hoefs on lap seven of the Mighty Four feature.

Westphal led the final six laps to pick up the win, with Brad Wedde taking second from Hoefs on lap 10. Hoefs held onto third with Clint Malueg coming in fourth.
