DHS announces vaccine plans for Wisconsin

Health care workers getting first doses, followed by essential workers, high-risk people

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

COVID-19 Journal

—NEW Media—

State health officials are expecting that, if things go on schedule with potential vaccines getting approved by the federal government, the coronavirus pandemic should be pretty much a memory later in 2021.

A briefing held Tuesday for the media by the Wisconsin Department of Health Services revealed doses of COVID-19 vaccinations from Pfizer and Moderna could arrive in the state as soon as next month, as long as the vaccines receive approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Both companies are expected to make emergency applications for quick approval later this month.

Julie Willems Van Dijk, DHS deputy secretary, is hopeful that it will happen sooner, rather than later, as the spread of coronavirus continues unchecked in Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin is in a crisis," Van Dijk said. "Cases are high and rising, hospitalizations are high and rising, and COVID-19 deaths are high and rising. We all need to do everything we can to prevent further infections."

Van Dijk previously worked for the Marathon County Health Department and noted that the county put together a pandemic plan in 2006, but COVID-19 has proven to be more complicated than anyone could have thought.

"We spent over a year collaborating with neighboring counties and tribal health organizations to develop a pandemic preparedness plan," Van Dijk said. "Part of that plan included practicing mass vaccinations. Since that time, local and tribal health departments and their community partners have continued mass vaccination planning and exercising to be prepared for a moment just like this."

The initial doses the state receives will be limited to health care providers and long-term care providers, according to Stephanie Schauer, one of the leaders in the state's COVID-19 vaccine response efforts. Schauer anticipates there will be more health providers than available doses, which is expected to be 340,000, about 1.7% of the 20 million expected nationwide in the first wave.

"As supply increases, we'll widen the criteria for vaccination to other essential workers and people at high risk for getting sick from COVID-19," Schauer said. "It will take several months before vaccine supply will meet the public's demand."

Schauer said DHS plans to provide regular updates on when certain segments of the population can receive the vaccination, which will require two doses to receive potential immunity. The second dose will need to be administered 21-28 days after the first.

"While we are looking forward to having a safe and effective vaccine in the coming months, we still need to continue taking steps to protect ourselves, our families and our communities — both now and when the vaccine becomes available," Schauer said. "Stay home, wash your hands, wear a mask and physically distance if you have to go out."

She also recommended residents get a flu vaccination. While it doesn't protect from COVID-19, she said, having the flu will make people more susceptible to getting coronavirus, as well.

All of this will depend on whether or not the vaccines get FDA approval, according to Van Dijk.

"To qualify, the COVID-19 vaccine will need to meet safety and efficacy standards, and it will need to be closely monitored throughout its dissemination," Van Dijk said.

Van Dijk and Schauer did not have specifics on how the vaccine would be distributed once there is enough for the general public, but community-based clinics, both drive-in and walk-in, could be part of the equation.

Rural areas will be able to get doses just as easily as urban areas, according to Van Dijk.

"We're really confident that, with the array of vaccines that we will have, we will have an opportunity to get vaccines across the state," she said. "Our testing program, which we are going to model much of our vaccine program after, has touched all corners of this state, and we are fully committed that, no matter where you live in Wisconsin, you will have access to this vaccine."

Schauer noted there is no magic number as far as immunity levels needing to be reached to end the pandemic, but she noted that the goal during flu season is usually 80% of the population.

"We know that we want a fair number of people immunized, and more is better than less," Schauer said. "I think it's a lofty goal, nevertheless. If you look at last year's flu vaccinations, we were at 42%, so we definitely need to do better."

If things go according to plan, there's no reason to expect that Wisconsin won't be healthy again later next year, but Van Dijk said she doesn't expect society will ever return to "normal." In fact, she thinks many of the protective measures preached by health officials during the pandemic should still be practiced once it comes to an end.

"I think this pandemic, however, will change us forever in thinking about infection control, in thinking about many of the protective elements that we've taken," Van Dijk said. "I hope we're all much better about washing our hands and thinking about how close we have to be to people and even perhaps wearing facial coverings when we're out in public, particularly during cold and flu season."

Shawano schools staying closed another month

District praises staff for extra work during pandemic

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Shawano School District announced that it will remain in full virtual learning mode through Jan. 4, extending its closure for at least another month, as school officials are claiming they're going above and beyond to make sure students are learning and getting any help they need.

Superintendent Randi Anderson said Tuesday in a letter to families that, upon looking at the local health data and reviewing its re-entry plan, it was necessary to extend its virtual learning situation, which was originally due to expire at the end of November.

"We also know it is difficult to see smaller schools in our area return to in-person instruction and want to reassure you that returning our students to in-person learning is our priority as soon as it is safe to do so," Anderson wrote in the letter. "We are monitoring recent developments in rapid testing availability and vaccine rollouts in the near future."

Anderson praised her staff during Monday's school board meeting, saying teachers and other employees have conducted home visits, helped out with internet issues and more.

"We've done over 150 home visits just in one of our buildings," Anderson said, not specifying which school has done that.

She noted that the school district has offered internet cafes for families dealing with poor or nonexistent internet connections, even having a dinner event at Hillcrest Primary School to encourage families to reach out.

Anderson said that the special education and pupil services departments have worked hard to bring in students with special needs on an individualized basis to get the in-person attention they need while minimizing the risk of spreading the coronavirus. She also praised the food services department for providing free breakfasts and lunches seven days a week.

The district has brought in more than 200 students individually on a weekly basis to make sure they don't fall through the cracks academically, according to Anderson.

"As we move forward in this virtual environment, please reach out and get the support you need from the district," Anderson said. "I know how hard this is. I know how difficult this is. We're going to continue to assess where we're at, looking at our numbers and our gating criteria that we established back in August."

Board president Tyler Schmidt, speaking as a parent, said that teachers have made themselves available as much as possible during virtual learning, even late at night. He encouraged other parents to reach out, too.

"If your child has an issue, if there's something they're not getting, we've been having conversations with teachers early in the morning, later in the evening," Schmidt said. "They've been available anytime for us. We even did a Google meet right from my machine at work while I was loading a semi."

The virtual learning is not setting well with at least one parent outside the schools. Jim Davel, speaking during the board's community comments portion, told the board he has children in fifth and eighth grades, and having students learning virtually for three months last spring and more than two months currently is not helping them learn what they need to.

"The virtual learning, honestly, is not doing it," Davel said. "I think you're fooling yourself if you think it's working well, and I think the board needs to focus its efforts and prioritize getting these students back in school."

Davel noted the students won't be able to get that time back. He believes it is necessary for staff to take more precautions to avoid falling ill so that they can safely teach students in a classroom again, adding that the company he works for is not seeing a high rate of absenteeism.

"The most we ever had out at one time is 13," Davel said, noting that his company has 500 people. "All of the things that people have been talking about in terms of hand washing, no gatherings, etc., needs to be reinforced."

Cancer survivor fights triple negative with positive attitude

If you have the opportunity to spend a few minutes with Rita Moede, you'll likely walk away feeling uplifted, inspired and grateful.

"I always keep a positive attitude," she said. "Just take life one day at a time and try to be happy."

That positive attitude helped her through difficult times over the past few years. In late 2018, the 64-year-old was diagnosed with breast cancer.

"I found a pea size lump," she recalled. "So I scheduled an appointment and had a biopsy. That's when they told me it was triple-negative breast cancer."

According to Dr. Alexander Starr, an oncologist and hematologist at the Regional Cancer Center who treated Moede, "Triple-negative breast cancer has fewer treatment options than other types of breast cancer. This is because the cancer cells do not have the estrogen or progesterone receptors or enough of the HER2 protein to make certain therapy or drugs work. Surgery or chemotherapy is often an option instead."

"Triple-negative breast cancer accounts for about 10-15% of all breast cancers," said Starr. "Triple-negative breast cancer can have the same signs and symptoms as other common types of breast cancer."

Moede, who has three children and four grandchildren, explained while the diagnosis was difficult, she knew she had to fight.

"I have too much wonderful to live for," she said. "I knew I needed to be here to see my grandchildren grow up."

Moede's treatment included chemotherapy and surgery. After that, she underwent novel chemotherapy and immunotherapy. Starr said she progressed through that treatment. It was then they began another chemotherapy and progressed again. After that, Starr recommended rounds of high-dose radiation.

Teams tested Moede's tumor and it was found to have a mutation in BRCA2 gene. Because of that mutation, Starr determined it was best to begin using PARP inhibitors, which are a type of targeted therapy that

FYI

Experts recommend speaking with your provider about your risk for cancer and developing the best screening plan for you. The American Cancer Society offers these breast cancer screening recommendations:

- Women ages 40 to 44 should have the choice to start annual breast cancer screening with mammograms (x-rays of the breast) if they wish to do so.

- Women age 45 to 54 should get mammograms every year.

- Women 55 and older should switch to mammograms every 2 years, or can continue yearly screening.

- Some women — because of their family history, a genetic tendency, or certain other factors — should be screened with MRIs along with mammograms. (The number of women who fall into this category is very small.)

Talk with a health care provider about your risk for breast cancer and the best screening plan for you.

inhibit the PARP protein in cancer cells. PARP is responsible for repairing damaged DNA, and without repair, the tumor cells will die. Since these agents are so specific in the way that they work, they typically do not impact other cells in the body.

"After we began the PARP inhibitors, everything changed," said Starr. "The advanced treatment that has improved over time is incredible. To think just a few years ago this treatment would not have been possible is encouraging for cancer care."

Moede is still receiving treatment. She describes herself as treatable, not curable. She said she's forever grateful to the care team in Shawano and the Regional Cancer Center.

"The team became like a new family," she said. "They never treated me like a number, always a person. I cannot say enough about Starr and his team. They're so friendly and loving."

Moede is a strong advocate for screenings and early detection. For her, breast cancer was a family journey, as her mother passed away from the same disease. And just one month after Rita was diagnosed, two of her sisters were also told they had breast cancer.

"It's so important to know your family history," she said. "At times, it can be scary, but stick with those recommended screenings."

Again, Moede credits her outcome with a good attitude and help from loved ones.

"When I found out I had cancer and shared the news with my family and friends, I was overwhelmed with all the love and support," she said. "My faith in God, and prayers from all over the country helped me. The outpouring of love, cards, ride offers, help with anything and everything was amazing. All I had to do was concentrate on getting better and staying positive."

Now, the Shawano resident who finds joy in baking, is back in the kitchen. She is also celebrating the small moments that make her life wonderful.

"I have always felt the love, kindness and warmth from everyone I have encountered during this journey," she said. "I'm going to keep giving this old cancer a run for its money."

OBITUARIES

Vincent L. Zehren

Vincent Leo Zehren, 96, a world-renowned cheesemaker and dairy scientist, died of natural causes on Thursday, Nov. 5, 2020, at his home in Green Bay, where he lived for 66 years.

He was born Nov. 19, 1923, in the living quarters of the family's Belle Plaine and Richmond Cheese and Butter Association factory located between Shawano and Pella to his parents Leo and Agnes (Loughrin) Zehren. Part of a line of award-winning Wisconsin cheesemakers whose history stretches back to the early days of the state's industry, he grew up working side-by-side with his father, receiving his cheesemaking license on Oct. 19, 1942, shortly before his 20th birthday.

After graduating from Shawano High School in 1941, he interrupted his studies at St. Norbert College in De Pere on Dec. 4, 1942, to voluntarily enlist in the U.S. Army amid World War II. Assigned to the 328th Regimental Antitank Company of the 26th Infantry Division in General Patton's 3rd Army (the Yankee Division), he was in combat in the Battles of Northern France, Ardennes (the Battle of the Bulge), Rhineland and Central Europe.

In all, he was in combat for 222 days, surviving many near brushes with death. For his service he earned numerous awards and medals, including four Bronze Battle Stars and a Purple Heart. Upon honorable discharge from the Army on Jan. 2, 1946, he returned to work with his father in the family cheesemaking business before returning to St. Norbert College, from which he graduated with a degree in chemistry in 1948.

He went on to attend the University of Wisconsin-Madison where he earned a master's of science in dairy industry in 1950 and a Ph.D. in food science and biochemistry in 1954. The first University of Wisconsin student to be awarded a Fulbright Grant, he studied under the Fulbright Research Scholarship program at Massey Agri-

Kentucky Western University.

Upon completion of his doctoral studies and travels, he married his fellow Ph.D. student and research collaborator Virginia Mularz, a former scientist at Kraft Foods in Chicago. The couple moved to Green Bay where, in November 1954, he began his long and successful career with Schreiber Foods Inc., which grew into one of the world's largest private dairy companies.

Joining 12 other employees in purchasing the company in 1962, he served as technical director, director of manufacturing practices, vice president of industrial affairs, a member of the board of directors since 1988 and in other senior corporate capacities throughout his entire adult life until shortly before his death. In 1992, he authored the book "Process Cheese," which chronicled his contribution to the invention, development and manufacture of the now popular food staple. His partner in scientific research and life, Virginia was the driving force behind his personal and professional success.

A global industry leader and respected scientist, he literally traveled the world — South and Central America, Europe, Russia, China, India, Africa, the Middle East, the Arctic and Trans-Arctic — often with Virginia and his children, advancing the growth of Schreiber Foods, the U.S. dairy industry and American science, spending considerable time helping modernize and upgrade product quality, facilities and public health.

For 10 years, he was research chairman of the National Cheese Institute, which provides major recommendations to U.S. policymakers. He also played an important role cultural College of the University of New Zealand and traveled the world from 1952 to 1953. At the age of 75, he earned a master's degree in business administration from in helping build Green Bay's modern business community and spur local economic development from his post as chairman of the Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce Biotechnology Subcommittee.

In 1977, Vincent became the first recipient of St. Norbert College's Distinguished Achievement Award in Natural Sciences. Vincent was also honored to receive the St. Norbert College Alma Mater Award in June 2005, and in 2016 he was awarded a LLB honorary degree from St. Norbert College.

In 1986, Schreiber Foods established the Vincent L. Zehren Award for Excellence in Applied Technology, making him the first recipient. That same year, he received the Outstanding Contribution to Agriculture in Brown County from the Green Bay Chamber of Commerce. He was a member of the Governor's Council on Biotechnology and, in 1989, the National Cheese Institute honored him as the first recipient of its Laureate Award. The United States Information Agency honored him in 1997 for training the Russian Dairy Products Delegation in Wisconsin.

Active in his community, he also served as president of the Downtown Kiwanis Club, president of the Resurrection School Board and supported the Boy Scouts of America. A man of profound Catholic faith including serving as Knight Commander of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem, expansive charity and personal and professional accomplishment, his greatest attribute was his ability to form lasting bonds of friendship with people throughout the world from all walks of life.

A wonderful son, brother, father, uncle, colleague and true friend to many, he dedicated his later years to caring for Zachary, his youngest son with special needs. The familiar pair formed a deep bond and grew to be well-known and embraced by the Green Bay community.

In addition to his wife Virginia, who passed away in 1993, he was preceded in death by his sister, Maribeth

Shelendich, who is survived by her husband, John Shelendich, of North Oaks, Minnesota; his brother, Roger, husband of his sister-in-law, Peggy (Kallin) of Winona, Minnesota; and his brother-in-law, Howard Jacques, husband of his sister, Joan, of Green Bay.

He is survived by his brother, John Zehren, and his wife, Ruth (Dillenburg), of Green Bay; his brother, Leo Zehren, and his wife, Janet (Ebert), of De Pere; and his sister, Catherine, and husband, Harry Mueller, of De Pere.

His immediate survivors, daughter, Margaret Zehren Moores, and her husband, James Moores, and her son Matthew Barry, of Beaufort, North Carolina; his daughter, Maria Zehren, and her husband, Don Salmon, of Green Bay; his son, Charles V. Zehren, and his wife, Patricia Kean, and their children, Benjamin and Ethan, of New York City; his son, Christopher Zehren, and his wife, Andrea Baier, and their children, Simone and Spencer, of Washington, D.C.; his son Craig Zehren, of Ocean Springs, Mississippi; and his son, Zachary Zehren, of Green Bay; mourn the loss of a beloved father and grandparent.

The entire family extends their most profound thanks and gratitude to the dedicated caregivers, especially Nancy Close, who gave so deeply of themselves in attending Vincent during his later years.

A Mass of Christian burial was celebrated at 11 a.m. Monday, Nov. 16, 2020, at Resurrection Catholic Church, 333 Hilltop Drive, Green Bay, with the Rev. Tom Reynebeau as celebrant and the Rev. Paul DeMuth as con-celebrant. A graveside service and burial occurred after the funeral Mass at Allouez Catholic Cemetery, 2121 Riverside Drive, Green Bay, with full military honors.

To leave an online condolence for the family, please visit www.NewcomerGreenBay.com.

In lieu of flowers, memorials directed to St. Norbert College or to the Virginia Mularz Zehren Scholarship Fund at Bellin College in Vincent's name are appreciated.

Dennis W. Rogge

Dennis W. Rogge, 76, of Bowler, died Nov. 10, 2020, at home. He was born June 8, 1944, in Bowler to Orville and Elizabeth (Dahl) Rogge.

Dennis was a truck driver. Dennis was always telling a good story or a funny joke; he had quite a personality and a deep love for his large family. He loved good food, and he would make a friend anywhere he went.

He never hesitated to voice his opinion anytime. His big, loud voice helped with that. He will be deeply missed by many family and friends.

Survivors include his wife, Pamela; five sons, Christopher (Beth), Brian, Jeremy (Karen), Kurt and James (Sarah); grandchildren, Christopher Jr., Rebecca (Jose), Kassandra (Franke), Jessica, Peyton, Jesse (Tasha), Tanner (Holly), Krystal and Will; great-grandchildren, Luis, Rilee, Brayden, Chase, Derek and Briella; sister, Sharon Miller; and sister and brother-in-law, Paula and Tom Dirks; and sister, Roxanne.

He was preceded in death by his parents, in-laws, a sister and two brothers.

There will be no service or visitation, per Dennis' request.

Randal 'Rudy' E. Roehl

Randal "Rudy" E. Roehl, 64, of Shawano, passed away at his home Monday afternoon Nov. 9, 2020, under the care of Unity Hospice and his loving family.

Randal Eugene Roehl, later known to most as "Rudy," was born July 17, 1956, in Oshkosh as the son of Eugene and Jean (Reinke) Roehl. Rudy graduated from Clintonville High School with the Class of 1974, where he was a member of the curling team. Following high school, he enjoyed playing softball in area bar leagues and worked for Peterson Built Products in Embarrass as a mechanic for a couple of years.

Rudy spent most of his working career as a truck driver, working for Badger Transport, Holman Trucking and Retzlaff Transport out of Berlin prior to retiring in 2019. He was united in marriage to Fay (Yaeger) Shepard on Oct. 22, 2009, in Shawano. Fay and Rudy loved camping, whether it was camping locally with their trailer or at their permanent site on Fawn Lake. Rudy proudly served as a volunteer firefighter for the Village of Embarrass for over 21 years. He was a current member of Resurrection Lutheran Church in Shawano and had faith in his Lord. Rudy's soul was at home in the outdoors, and he loved to hunt and fish for just about any wild game over the years. His love for his family ran deep, as he was loved and will be missed by them all.

Survivors include his wife, Fay

Roehl; children, Brittney Roehl, Adam (Ashley) Roehl and step-daughters Erin, Amber and Kimber Shepard; grandchildren Alex, Allie, Kaden, Deja, Hunter, Briell, Kamiya, Addisyn, Knox, Zeraya; parents, Eugene and Jean Roehl; mother-in-law, Carol Yaeger; brothers, Dennis (Elaine) Roehl and Brian (Diane) Roehl; brothers-in-law, Steven (Julie) Yaeger, Ken (Lisa) Yaeger and Guy Yaeger; nieces and nephews.

Rudy was preceded in death by his father-in-law, Herman Yaeger; his brother Kevin Roehl; and his sister-in-law Marylu Roehl.

Rudy's memorial service will be held privately at the Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home and Crematory in Clintonville with the Rev. Steve Conradt officiating. Inurnment will be at Graceland Cemetery in Clintonville. A public visitation was held at the funeral home on Monday, Nov. 16, 2020. Rudy's family asked attendees to consider wearing a flannel shirt in his memory.

Rudy's family would like to thank the kind staff of Aurora Medical Center and Unity Hospice for the wonderful care and guidance they provided. www.eberhardtstevenson.com

Paul Neja Jr.

Paul Albert Neja Jr., 87, of Galion, Ohio, passed away Monday, Nov. 9, 2020, at the Avita Health Systems Galion Hospital.

Paul was born in Marinette on Jan. 7, 1933, to Paul Albert Neja Sr. and Margaret (Schneider) Neja. He married Monica Ann (Kopish) Neja on July 18, 1959, and she survives him.

Paul was a psychotherapist and founding administrator for the Mental Health Centers of Shawano/Waupaca Counties in Wisconsin. After moving to Ohio in 1978, he worked as an executive administrator for the ADAMH Board of Marion/Crawford Counties. He received his bachelor's degree from St. Norbert College and his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Paul was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church of Galion, Ohio.

In addition to his wife, Monica, Paul is survived by a son, Timothy (Cathy) Neja, of Galena, Ohio; his daughters, Cathy (James) Vasconcellos, of San Diego, California, Michele (Scott) Williams, of Logan, Ohio, and Cindy (Michael) Nielsen, of Winter Springs, Florida; and seven grandchildren, Nic and Ansley Vasconcellos, Mariel and Anthony Neja, Chase Williams and Bryce and Sophia Nielsen.

Paul was preceded in death by his parents, Paul Albert Neja, Sr. and Margaret (Schneider) Neja; and seven siblings, Anthony, John, Michael and Patrick Neja, Sr. Virginia Neja, Margaret Patrick and Rosemary Archambault.

A memorial mass will be announced at a later date. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Galion St. Joseph School and Parish Fund.

Those wishing to share a memory of Paul or to the Neja family may do so by visiting www.masfh.com.

The Schneider-Gompf Funeral Home, 303 Portland Way North, Galion, Ohio, is honored to serve the family of Paul Albert Neja Jr.

Philip D. Hellestad

Philip D. "Phil" Hellestad, 90, of Plymouth, passed away Nov. 5, 2020.

Phil was born Jan. 14, 1930, in Shawano County, a son to Elmer and Mildred (nee Danielson) Hellestad. He graduated from Wittenberg High School in 1947 and continued his education at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he received his Bachelor of Arts in 1951.

He served in the United States Air Force during the Korean War from 1951-1955.

Phil taught and coached at high schools in Potosi and Albany and then at Plymouth High School from 1959 until his retirement in 1994.

On March 24, 1951, he married Janet Hanson in Wittenberg.

Phil was a dedicated husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather. He enjoyed all sports as well as the activities of his family. He enjoyed traveling with Jan to Tampa, Florida, in winter for 20 years, visiting many states and Norway.

He was a member of Redeemer Lutheran Church for many years, was a Sunday School superintendent, usher, reader and was involved in many other church activities. Phil also belonged to "The Sons of Norway," many card clubs, golf, softball, basketball and bowling leagues.

Survivors are his beloved wife, Jan; two sons, Mark (Cheryl) and David (Carrie); daughter, Merrie (Jack) Novak; seven grandchildren and their spouses; 13 great-grandchildren; numerous nieces and nephews; and a brother-in-law; Lee (Sandy) Hanson.

Phil was preceded in death by his parents, Elmer and Mildred Hellestad; his parents-in-law, Henry and Myrtle Hanson; and brothers, Victor (Melda) Hellestad, Leland (June) Hellestad and Kenneth Hellestad.

Due to COVID-19 restrictions, a private memorial service will be held for immediate family members only.

In lieu of flowers, memorials can be given in Phil's name to the charity of your choice.

The Suchon Funeral Home and Cremation Service is serving the family. For online condolences, please visit www.suchonfh.com.

Rogean L. Ehlert

Rogean L. Ehlert, 93, of Shawano, passed away Monday, Nov. 9, 2020. Rogean was born Jan. 27, 1927, to the late Gustav and Adelia (Schultz) Berndt in Embarrass. On May 20, 1950, Rogean was united in marriage to Lloyd George Ehlert; they made their home together in Shawano. Lloyd preceded Rogean in death on July 21, 2009.

She was a member of St. James Lutheran Church of Shawano. Rogean enjoyed outdoor activities by gardening and camping. She was a homemaker all of her life, taking care of her family. Rogean loved her family dearly, especially enjoying the time that she spent with her grandchildren. She will be missed dearly by all of those who knew and loved her.

Rogean is survived by her sons, Bruce Ehlert, of Anderson, South Carolina, Larry (Carol) Ehlert, of Antigo, and Richard Ehlert, of Shawano; grandchildren, Daniel (Beth) Ehlert, Mirjam (Mark) Breazeale, Rebekah Ehlert and Joshua Ehlert; and four great-grandchildren. She is further survived by nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband; parents; and siblings, Carl Berndt, Vera Smith, Myra Vomastic, Betty Nolandberg, Evelyn Schmidt and Beatrice in infancy.

Funeral services for Rogean were held Thursday, Nov. 12, 2020, at St. James Lutheran Church in Shawano with the Rev. Steven Schauder officiating. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to St. James Lutheran Church.

The family of Rogean would like to extend a special thank you to all of the staff at Evergreen for all of the wonderful care that they had given.

Menominee County election lawsuit dropped

By NEW MEDIA STAFF
and THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three people in Wisconsin who filed a federal lawsuit alleging widespread fraud in absentee voting, including in Menominee County, have dropped the lawsuit.

A court filing Monday didn't give a reason. Attorney James Bopp said he could not say why the lawsuit was dropped because of attorney-client privilege.

The lawsuit had sought to exclude election ballots in Milwaukee, Dane and Menominee counties. All three went strongly for President-elect Joe Biden, who defeated Trump by about 20,500 votes in the state.

The lawsuit had alleged voters in the three counties may have bypassed state law requiring voters to provide a photo ID by declaring themselves "indefinitely confined" due to the coronavirus pandemic. The suit also took issue with clerks' abilities to take corrective actions to correct errors related to witnesses' addresses on absentee ballots, the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel reported.

The Wisconsin Elections Commission has said there's no evidence of any fraud or irregularity in the state's presidential election. Counties were expected to finish certifying the results this week. When their canvass is final, Trump has a one-day window to request a recount that he must pay for.

Menominee County's Clerk, Laure Pecore, had been named as a defendant in that suit.

"Menominee County wants to ensure our constituents that we believe any allegation challenging the manner in which the election was conducted in this County is unfounded. Local officials have followed all laws and regulations and have worked tirelessly to ensure that the unique difficulties presented by this election have not affected the validity of its results," a statement from the Menominee County and Town of Menominee Board of Supervisors said.

The plaintiffs alleged without evidence that absentee voting is rife with widespread fraud and that votes in those counties should not be included in the state's final election certification, which would then give Wisconsin to President Donald Trump.

DMV uncovers more than $4 million in title fraud

A Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) Division of Motor Vehicle (DMV) investigator uncovered a string of fraudulent vehicle titles worth more than $4 million. His efforts were recently recognized with a Fraud Prevention and Detection Award for 2020 from the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA).

In spring 2019, Wisconsin DMV noticed a trend of counterfeit replacement Mississippi titles being submitted to Wisconsin DMV Customer Service Centers. The counterfeits were discovered by several different units within DMV and forwarded to DMV's Field Investigation Unit investigator Joel Ingebrigtsen.

After reviewing the transactions, Ingebrigtsen found that people with no ties to Wisconsin were submitting applications to obtain titles. Ingebrigtsen's efforts to identify counterfeit documents led to the recovery of 16 stolen vehicles valued at more than $500,000. The total value of the vehicles associated with the 112 fraudulent documents was more than $4 million.

The WisDOT Dealer and Agent Section licenses and regulates the motor vehicle industry and resolves disputes about dealership sales and warranty repairs. They also investigate complaints about odometer tampering involving dealerships and private sellers.

Wisconsin DMV tips to prevent fraud include not keeping the title in your car; having the owner sign the title before buying it; checking that the owner's odometer mileage matches the vehicle's condition.

Couples celebrate diamond anniversaries in style

Martin Jewellers surprises shoppers with $1,000 shopping sprees

By CAROL RYCZEK
Editor-in-chief

The traditional gift for a 60th wedding anniversary is a diamond.

For two Shawano couples celebrating 60 years in October, the traditional gift blossomed into something much more — an entire jewelry store.

The couples, Ted and Barbara Storheim and Jerry and Beverly Strong, were each surprised with $1,000 shopping sprees from Martin Jewellers in Shawano.

Heather Pahl, who co-owns the store at 148 S. Main St. in Shawano with her husband, David, said they had been planning their own 60th anniversary of the store's founding. Plans for a traditional celebration were put on hold due to COVID-19, she said, and though they had online events and sales, the festive spirit they anticipated didn't quite measure up to their anticipation.

Then in October, Ted Storheim came into the store to buy an engraved locket for his bride of 60 years. His anniversary story seemed to echo the store's.

Although they had planned for a celebration to mark 60 years of marriage, the pandemic put a stop to those plans. Barbara Storheim said they had expected to have an event that would have brought friends and family from Legend Lake area and Racine but found there was no way to get together.

Even without a party, the occasion merited a gift, which is what brought Ted Storheim to Martin Jewellers.

"It was a sweet, little gold-filled locket," Pahl recalled.

After chatting a bit, she realized that just as the store couldn't celebrate its 60 years, the Storheims couldn't celebrate in the way they had hoped. She suddenly offered him a $1,000 store shopping spree.

"I think he thought he heard me wrong," Pahl said. "He had to ask, 'What did you say?'"

Pahl said she really hadn't planned on making the gift. "It was a spontaneous gesture," she said. "Then, it's crazy but as chance would have it, another gentleman came in and bought a little something. For his wife. For their 60th anniversary," she said. "So I did it again."

CONTRIBUTED

With prints of diamond patterns in the background, Jerry and Beverly Strong take a moment at Martin Jewellers during their 60th anniversary shopping spree.

CONTRIBUTED

"Sometimes you just have to do something that feels good, is good news," Pahl said.

The Strong family also were feeling the effects of the pandemic. Pahl said Beverly Strong told her, "We couldn't do anything. He bought me a chicken dinner."

Watching the couples use their shopping "sprees" was a joy, Pahl said.

"Watching the men watch their wives pick out whatever they wanted was so special," she said. "The wives would say, 'Pick out something for yourself,' but the men wanted most of the spree for their wives.

"Jerry stood back and watched with joy as Beverly picked out a gorgeous emerald and diamond necklace, as well as a few With You lockets for their children."

"It was fun watching their faces,"

she said. "I love it that we could randomly surprise people."

She added that both women needed some encouragement to pick out items they wanted. They wanted to do some Christmas shopping, picking out items for nieces or children first.

Martin Jewellers first opened its doors on Oct. 31, 1960.

"Uncle Herb came home from work and said he was laid off, with all his staff. He told my aunt, 'I'm done. We're starting a place in our own home.'" Pahl said.

That decision started a family business, and the Pahls kept it in the family when they purchased it in 2017.

Like the couples they honored, the store has gone through many changes but retains a loyal customer base and longtime employees. That may be another way that the family business echoes the experiences of a long marriage.

Barbara Storheim said she and Ted were married at age 17 and 19.

"Everybody said it wouldn't last," she said.

Sixty years later, she said, they remain happily together.

Dog park opens with leash-cutting

About a half dozen dogs, with their owners, attended the leash-cutting ceremony Saturday.

Zeke, a German shorthair pointer owned by Vicky Styka, and Kona, a chihuahua/dachshund mix owned by Krista Winsand, chase each other in pursuit of a stuffed octopus.

Two long leashes were separated as Shawano's Animal Recreation Facility was formally opened Saturday.

Animal recreation facility honors donors, dog-lovers

STORY AND PHOTOS BY CAROL RYCZEK • EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Dogs ran, jumped, did a little ear-nipping and rolled in the snow. Humans applauded, ran after the dogs and picked up what needed to be picked up.

All in all, everything that was needed for a successful launch of the Animal Recreation Facility or ARF, Shawano's new dog park, was in place in Shawano's industrial park Saturday.

Surrounded by donors and dog lovers, Mayor Ed Whealon and Nora Jende officially cut a piece of red ribbon that connected two long leashes. The leashes were not damaged and were given to two dog owners in attendance.

ARF, located at the corner of Industrial Drive and Jaycee Court in Shawano, quietly opened for dogs and their humans earlier this fall.

The park currently features perimeter fencing, double-gate entry, separation between large and small dog areas, benches and waste bag dispensers.

"The city of Shawano would like to thank the Nora Jende Charitable Fund for their $15,000 donation, the Matt's Memorial Muskie Tournament (Triple MT) group for their $2,000 donation, the family of Diana Whealon (Sorenson) for their $1,000 donation in her memory and all other various individuals that provided additional funding for this project. These donations combined with city funds are what made this highly anticipated development a reality," a statement released by the city noted.

Matt Hendricks, parks and recreation director, said the cost was held down by having some of the work, including fencing and signage, done by parks department employees.

A dog's reach should exceed his grasp ... or what's a big ball for?

At the leash cutting, Whealon presented an additional donation for the project.

The city put up $30,000 toward the facility in its capital improvement projects budget and asked for help from the community to support the additional features in the park.

The parks and recreation department plans to plant some trees in spring. Other items on the future wish list include a water source, dog agility components and small structures to provide shade.

A metal picnic table on the site was already put to use as a place to hold a bucket of water, and as a place for dogs to climb.

The city has asked that visitors obey the rules posted at the park, including that dogs be legally licensed and vaccinated. Owners are also asked to pick up after their dogs. Waste receptacles are available on site.

Dotcom Branding covers it all in downtown Shawano

Business provides custom design, instant apparel

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Want a custom T-shirt? Kasey Hohn can take care of that.

Want a custom look for your car? He's got that for you, too.

Some cool design for your windows? How about your skateboard? Your cornhole board? Whatever your mind can think up, Hohn can print up and sell with his business, Dotcom Branding, which has recently set up shop in downtown Shawano. In fact, it's safe to say he's got you covered — literally.

"In general, you'd be able to pick a shirt here off the shelf and tell me to design or make you something instantly," Hohn said. "It's all instant design work and printing on the spot."

Where Hohn said he differs from others who print on apparel is that he doesn't require bulk orders. If someone wants a custom designed T-shirt or hoodie right away, it will cost the same per item if the person orders one or 100, he said. Other companies "might not be able to make it right away, or it's the same designs you see everywhere else," he said.

Hohn said he has a knack for reading people and understanding what they want in their design.

"It's just the ability to interact with the customer and make them like what you're doing," he said.

The ability to customize is something that is needed in the area, Hohn said. He noted going to the malls in Green Bay or browsing Amazon and not finding clothing that suited him.

"I just didn't like wearing other people's clothes," Hohn said. "I thought it was more unique just wearing your own thing."

Some of Hohn's work includes T-shirts in memory of people who have passed, as well as many of the shirts and hoodies sold by Twig's at its Sun Drop Museum, designing shirts for Misfit Mutts in Green Bay, and creating things for both the Brother's Pub and Stubborn Brothers Brewery in Shawano.

"It's not just apparel. There's canvasses," Hohn said. "I print cornhole board wraps and canvas wraps. We can do full sublimation, so those sweatshirts, you can fully change the whole color."

Creating designs has been something Hohn has done at night or on weekends for years while working for other businesses in the community. In 2020, he decided to take the plunge and turn a lucrative hobby into his livelihood, moving into the building at 142 S. Main St. and purchasing a 60-by-60-inch heat press, which he said is the only one in central Wisconsin.

In a year when most businesses were seeing losses due to the coronavirus pandemic, Hohn was still getting plenty of demand for his services. He'd been designing and creating custom designs for the last seven years when he decided the time was right to work for himself.

"My Facebook goes crazy, and I just got sick of working for somebody," Hohn said. "I worked at Belmark for six years, and then I would go home and do this all the time. All of this stuff was literally in my basement, so this was nothing new."

Hohn had actually planned to start his full-time business in 2019, but a house fire during the summer set back his plans.

"I lost everything, so then it took a little bit longer to figure it out," Hohn said.

Hohn uses Adobe Illustrator, Corel Draw and Adobe Photoshop to work on his special designs. He can create blankets and full flags with intricate designs, as well. Once a garage door is installed at the rear of the building later in November, Hohn will be able to do custom tinting and wraps for vehicles.

The business name, Dotcom

Branding, stemmed from a nickname Hohn earned during his college years.

"When I was in college, that's what people called me, because I was always on the internet," Hohn said. "They just called me Dotcom, and then I made a website and it stuck."

Hohn moved to Wisconsin from Florida 12 years ago when he was in high school, graduating from Bowler and settling down with his family.

Hohn is eager to take his business from a small circle of friends and colleagues to presenting it to all of Shawano County. He believes there is sufficient foot traffic in the downtown area of Shawano to keep him designing and creating for years.

"I feel it's going to give people a whole new avenue of thinking, getting things instantly instead of having to wait," Hohn said. "I'm going to be slammed busy."

Valdes-Scantling giving Green Bay another option in passing game

Return of Lazard will boost WR corps

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Green Bay Packers decided not to bolster their receiving corps at the trade deadline, which meant guys already on the roster needed to step up to give quarterback Aaron Rodgers more options in the passing game outside receiver Davante Adams.

In the team's two games since the deadline, third-year wideout Marquez Valdes-Scantling has stepped up in a big way.

On the team's third possession against the San Francisco 49ers on Nov. 5, Valdes-Scantling dropped a pass that would have helped the team convert a third-down opportunity. Drops have plagued MVS early in his career, but he responded in a big way.

It took a couple drives for Rodgers to look the wideout's way again, but when he did, MVS delivered. Coming out of the two-minute warning in the second quarter, Valdes-Scantling used his top-end speed to outrun a defender before settling under a deep ball from Rodgers, and he hauled it in for a 52-yard touchdown.

On the first possession of the third quarter, Valdes-Scantling caught another touchdown. That one was a 1-yarder as Rodgers scrambled to his right. Valdes-Scantling broke free from his defender before making a sliding catch in the back right corner of the end zone.

"To see somebody be resilient and be tough-minded, that's what we're looking for on this football team," said coach Matt LaFleur after the Niners game when asked about Valdes-Scantling.

"It's always fun to see a guy come through. I thought he played an outstanding game. Yeah, he had the drop, but again he bounced back, scored two touchdowns and (I'm) really happy overall with his effort and his ability to respond."

Over Rodgers' career, typically when a receiver starts making catch-

Green Bay Packers wide receiver Marquez Valdes-Scantling runs with the ball during Sunday's game against the Jacksonville Jaguars in Green Bay. Valdes-Scantling has put together two solid games in a row and will look to keep things going this Sunday against a strong Indianapolis Colts defense.

JEFFREY PHELPS | THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

es on scramble plays, it shows that a connection is building and usually big things follow. It certainly came true for MVS this past weekend.

The receiver backed up the two-touchdown performance with arguably his best game as a pro, hauling in four passes for a career-high 149 yards and another touchdown against the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday.

His first catch of the game was also a touchdown, as he again used his speed to burn past the defender before catching the ball and eluding a pair of defenders on his way to a 78-yard touchdown.

After the game, MVS said the deep play was set up by the previous one, when he didn't feel his defender was respecting the deep ball. "I went back to the huddle and told Aaron 'I can get by him.'"

That's exactly what the receiver did on the next play.

"I expected the ball to kind of float to the right a little bit (in the wind), and Marquez did all the separation at kind of the 20-yard mark, and then did a nice job catching it, switching field and kind of using the ref to get in the end zone there," said Rodgers of the long touchdown.

Valdes-Scantling's next three catches all resulted in first downs, which was key with Adams sidelined for a bit.

Facing third-and-6 and trailing by three, MVS caught a 22-yard pass. Later in the drive, the Packers scored to take the lead.

On the drive where Rodgers was intercepted, a 31-yard catch and run from Valdes-Scantling got the offense going.

Down three points early in the fourth quarter, MVS came through again, hauling in an 18-yard pass. The next play resulted in a 6-yard touchdown to Adams, but it was actually a play drawn up for Valdes-Scantling — a sign he's gaining the trust of Rodgers, LaFleur and offensive coordinator Nathaniel Hackett.

In his press conference Monday, LaFleur said he was most impressed with Valdes-Scantling after the catch, when he showed some elusiveness and broke a couple tackles for some additional yardage.

Should Valdes-Scantling be able to keep building on his recent success, the Packers offense could be on the verge of reaching another gear, as receiver Allen Lazard is also expected back in the lineup. LaFleur hopes Lazard can play this Sunday against the Indianapolis Colts, which boast a defense that ranks near the top of the league in several statistics.

Before getting hurt, it was Lazard who had been stacking up big performances.

In his three games, Lazard had no fewer than three receptions or 45 receiving yards. He also had a pair of touchdown grabs.

In the game he was injured, Lazard caught six passes for 146 yards and a touchdown.

Solid play out of Valdes-Scantling and Lazard could force defenses to take some of the attention off Adams, which could be the key to more consistent play on the offensive side of the ball.

Throw in tight end receiving threat Robert Tonyan, and the Packers passing game suddenly looks like it has enough pieces to carry the offense by itself.

Add in what running backs Aaron Jones and Jamaal Williams can do as ball carriers and as receiving threats, and the Packers' offense looks that much more difficult to keep down.

Should the offense start clicking, it could be the team's ticket to becoming the favorite in the currently wide-open NFC.

This week's test will be a good gauge, and if the Packers' offense leads the team to a big road win, look out.

Packers avoid disastrous loss, edge Jaguars

The Green Bay Packers held on in the final seconds for a tight 24-20 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars on Sunday at Lambeau Field in Green Bay.

The Packers' defense turned in one of its best showings of the season and capped it by posting a couple of sacks on the game's final drive to help the hosts hold on and move to 7-2 overall.

Green Bay's offense racked up nearly 400 total yards of offense, but two costly turnovers — and a special teams touchdown allowed — allowed Jacksonville to hang around. The Pack took the lead for good on a 6-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Aaron Rodgers to receiver Davante Adams.

"Obviously, we're happy with the win, although we didn't play our best and we all know that," said Packers coach Matt LaFleur. "I think we recognize that. We didn't play to our standard. There's a lot of improvement out there for us.

"But anytime you win in this league you've got to enjoy that. You've got to give a lot of credit to the Jacksonville Jaguars. They came ready to play. They showed more emotion than we did. They battled and you've got to give them a lot of credit."

It was a slow start to the contest for the Packers' offense on a cold and windy day from Lambeau.

After accumulating just 51 yards in the first quarter, the Packers flipped the script in the second quarter. With the wind at their backs, Rodgers unleashed a deep ball to receiver Marquez Valdes-Scantling, who made the catch and then eluded a pair of defenders — getting some help from a referee who got in the way — on his way to a 78-yard touchdown.

Later in the quarter, a booming but line drive 59-yard punt from Packers punter J.K. Scott gave Jaguars returner Keelan Cole Sr. a chance to make a play. The receiver broke through the Packers coverage and eventually got past Scott for a 91-yard touchdown to give the visitors the lead again.

Green Bay's offense responded with a 13-play, 81-yard scoring drive to get the lead right back though.

Valdes-Scantling caught a 22-yard pass to convert one third down on the drive before running back Jamaal Williams converted two others — one on a 12-yard pass and the other on a 1-yard run. The drive was capped by a 5-yard touchdown run by Rodgers.

The Packers defense got their offense the ball right back, as safety Adrian Amos intercepted a pass from Jacksonville rookie QB Jake Luton.

Green Bay had to settle for a 39-yard field goal from kicker Mason Crosby and took a 17-10 lead into the break.

Green Bay's defense forced a punt to open the second half. On the first play of the ensuing drive, Rodgers hit Adams for a 20-plus yard gain before the receiver fumbled and the Jaguars recovered.

It led to a 12-yard touchdown pass from Luton to Cole to tie the game.

A couple possessions later — when Adams was out of the game with an ankle injury — Rodgers threw an interception while targeting Valdes-Scantling on a third-and-eight play.

That turnover led to a Jacksonville field goal, which put the visitors up 20-17 early in the fourth quarter.

Rodgers and the offense bounced back in a hurry though, putting together a 75-yard drive in just over three-and-a-half minutes.

Rodgers found tight end Robert Tonyan for a big third-down conversion before running back Aaron Jones broke off a 20-yard run and Rodgers found MVS for an 18-yard completion. Rodgers then found Adams on first-and-goal off a nice play fake.

Green Bay's defense continued its strong game by forcing a punt on the next possession, but the offense couldn't seal the game up, so the defense stepped back onto the field.

The Jaguars got all the way to the Green Bay 36-yard line before outside linebacker Rashan Gary sacked Luton to bring up third-and-16. Fellow OLB Preston Smith then sacked Luton to make it fourth-and-26 and the rookie threw an incomplection the next play after more pressure from the Packers.

"We had to get the win," said Amos of the late stop. "We (weren't) always in situations where we wanted to be but those are the type of games where defense has got to show up and make those stops."

PACKERS NOTEBOOK

By BILL HUBER

Locking up Bakhtiari

Quarterback is the most important position in football. That's why 23 of the 32 starters were taken in the first round. Left tackle is the most important position in keeping the quarterback healthy. That's why 19 of the 32 starters were taken in the first round.

David Bakhtiari was not among them. In fact, the Green Bay Packers selected him with a fourth-round pick in 2013. That was the year when they moved Bryan Bulaga from right tackle to left tackle to protect Aaron Rodgers' blind side. Instead, everything changed on Family Night. Bulaga suffered a torn ACL. Bakhtiari, who was battling Marshall Newhouse to start at right tackle, was moved to left tackle.

The rest is history.

The four-time All-Pro is considered the gold standard among left tackles. With Bakhtiari headed to free agency at the end of the season, the Packers signed him to a contract extension Saturday that ties him to Green Bay through the 2024 season. The new money totals $92 million (and up to $94 million with incentives).

Now comes the big challenge for general manager Brian Gutekunst. Because of COVID-related reductions in revenue, the salary cap is expected to fall from $198.3 million this year to $175 million next year. Bakhtiari's contract, as expensive as it is, will help navigate those stormy seas.

"This gives us a little bit more flexibility moving forward," Gutekunst said Sunday. "Obviously, David is a very important part of our team. I think he approaches it the right way — takes care of himself, works really hard. It's very important to him. I think he really wanted to be here. It actually gives us a little more flexibility to move forward."

Bakhtiari's contract includes three hefty roster bonuses due in March 2021, March 2022 and March 2023. The Packers will take the 2021 roster bonus and turn it into signing bonus, which will move some of his contract onto future caps. According to a source, that will make Bakhtiari's cap charge for next season about $11.143 million.

Based on OverTheCap.com's projections, the Packers will be about $16.3 million over the 2021 cap. How can they deal with that reality? Releasing outside linebacker Preston Smith, safety Adrian Amos and right tackle Rick Wagner would take care of that with a few dollars to spare, though not nearly enough to re-sign the likes of running back Aaron Jones or center Corey Linsley, or to make any outside additions to the roster.

JEFFREY PHELPS | THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One option — perhaps even a necessity — would be to hammer out an extension with receiver Davante Adams, who will be entering his final season under contract in 2021. Adams is due a base salary of $12 million with a cap charge of $16.6 million. Extending Adams would be a win-win, as it would keep a premier player while creating badly needed cap space for 2021.

Gutekunst called the upcoming offseason a "unique" opportunity. A dozen other teams are projected to be over the cap, meaning there will be a lot of veteran players on the market and not a lot of teams with money to spend. At that point, the economic laws of supply and demand will kick in and there could be some quality values.

"The players that might become available to us during the March period may be a little different than it has in the past, and we want to have some flexibility to do those things if we can," he said.

Strength vs. strength

When the Packers face the Indianapolis Colts on Sunday, the big matchup will be Rodgers vs. Indianapolis' pass defense.

Rodgers leads the NFL with a 116.4 passer rating. In the team's nine games, he has eight games with at least two touchdown passes and a 100-plus rating, marking the fourth time that a quarterback has done so in eight of his first nine games of a season in NFL history. Rodgers did it in all nine games in 2011. His counterpart on Sunday, Philip Rivers, did it in eight games with the Chargers in 2018.

Indianapolis ranks No. 1 with an opponent passer rating of 78.9. It's been even more dominant at home with a mark of just 58.5.

"Rodgers is unbelievable," Colts coach Frank Reich said. "I thought Jacksonville really played lights out. They really played hard. That's what stuck out to me, is how hard Jacksonville played. I really felt like it was Jacksonville playing a great game and doing some good things. On the other side of the ball, we just know that Green Bay is one of the top teams in this league, has been for the last couple years and a very dangerous team. I just think the world of the Rodgers. I just think he's a unique player."

The Packers potentially will get receiver Allen Lazard back in the lineup. He's missed the last five games following core-muscle surgery.

Playoff standings

Obviously, there's almost half a season to be played, but the Packers are in first place in the NFC and in control of the No. 1 seed and the only first-round bye in the expanded playoffs. NFC-North leading Green Bay and NFC-South-leading New Orleans are 7-2, with the Packers winning the tiebreaker based on the week three victory.

"It is a big deal to potentially receive a bye, but that's the furthest from our mind right now," coach Matt LaFleur said. "We know we have a great football team in front of us, and we've got to handle our business and make sure we prepare the right way and come in with the right mindset and get to work on Indianapolis."

The Packers haven't been the No. 1 seed since going 15-1 in 2011. Playing at Lambeau Field under normal circumstances is a big advantage, but these aren't normal circumstances. With no fans in the stands, the Packers struggled at home in their past two outings. With surging COVID rates in Wisconsin, they might not be hosting fans anytime soon.

"Are we going to have fans or not?" Rodgers said. "The biggest difference is the conditions. Obviously, having a loud fan base is important and feeling the energy, especially for the defensive players is very important. But getting warmer-weather or dome teams up here in December and January has always been, I feel like, a good advantage for us."

"We've thrown the ball well in bad weather; we've won big games in the bad weather. I think it does even some things out because everything just kind of moves a little bit slower. But getting a home game in January, with or without fans — hopefully with — would definitely be an advantage for us."

The Golden Boy

A Packers legend, "Golden Boy" Paul Hornung, died Nov. 13 at age 84.

Hornung, the No. 1 overall pick of the 1957 NFL Draft, was a driving force behind Vince Lombardi's "Glory Years" teams. His 176 points scored during the 12-game 1960 season stood as the NFL record for 46 years. The Chargers' LaDainian Tomlinson broke the mark with 186 points in 2006, though that required 16 games.

At Notre Dame, Hornung won the Heisman Trophy in 1956. The Fighting Irish went just 2-8; Hornung is the only player to win the Heisman while on a losing team. He even played on the basketball team as a sophomore, scoring 6.1 points per game.

It's been an awful year for the heroes of the 1960s.

"The Packers have lost another legend," said LaFleur, who spent the 2014 season at Notre Dame. "That's four for the year with him, (Herb) Adderley, Willie Wood and Willie Davis. Anytime you lose legends like that, it's always a sad day. They're a big reason why the Green Bay Packers are the Green Bay Packers."

KEYS TO THE GAME

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

The Green Bay Packers (7-2) travel to take on the Indianapolis Colts (6-3) at 3:25 p.m. Sunday at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis. FOX televises the game.

Coaches

Green Bay — Matt LaFleur, second season (20-5). Indianapolis — Frank Reich, third season (23-18).

History

Colts lead 23-20-1. The Packers are 0-4 all-time in Indianapolis; their last road win came at Baltimore in 1974.

When the Packers have the ball

This will be the biggest test of the season for Aaron Rodgers and Co. by a wide margin. The Colts enter week 11 ranked fourth with 19.7 points allowed per game, first with 290.4 yards allowed per game, third with 3.53 rushing yards per attempt, first with an opponent passer rating of 78.9, second with an interception rate of 3.85% and seventh with a sack rate of 7.34%.

Or, put another way, running backs aren't finding any room, and quarterbacks aren't finding anyone open. Needless to say, after a spotty offensive performance vs. Jacksonville, the Packers will have to play with much higher efficiency.

The Colts run a 4-3 scheme under coordinator Matt Eberflus. It's the best tackling group in the NFL. While the whole is greater than the sum of its parts, there is one star at each level.

The defensive line is led by tackle DeForest Buckner, who was acquired in a trade from the San Francisco 49ers. He has 2.5 sacks and a team-high 16 quarterback hits. The other tackle is Grover Stewart, who relishes the dirty work vs. the run.

The defensive ends are Justin Houston and Denico Autry. The underappreciated Autry, who mostly will face right tackle Billy Turner, leads with six sacks and seven tackles for losses. Defensive end Tyquan Lewis has 3.5 sacks off the bench.

At linebacker, Darius Leonard might be the best in the business. In six full games, he's tallied 10-plus tackles three times. For the season, he has 60 tackles, one sack, four tackles for losses, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. As a rookie second-round pick in 2018, he led the NFL with 163 tackles and added seven sacks. In 2019, he had five interceptions and five sacks. In two-and-a-half seasons, he's produced 17 turnover plays with his seven interceptions, seven forced fumbles and three recoveries.

He is joined by Anthony Walker and Bobby Okereke. Okereke has broken up four passes.

Former Vikings cornerback Xavier Rhodes has had a rebirth in Indianapolis. The other corner is Rock Ya-Sin, with Kenny Moore manning the slot in the nickel package. The safeties are Khari Willis and rookie Julian Blackmon. Rhodes, Blackmon, Moore and fourth corner T.J. Carrie have two interceptions apiece. Rhodes leads the way with 10 passes defended. According to Pro Football Focus, he's allowed only 18-of-42 passing.

"We talk a lot about the cumulative effect," Reich said. "When you take every guy on the roster and you count guys on the practice squad and the cumulative effect of who has the best team — now, do I think we have some star power? Yeah, I think we have some star power, but it still comes down to the cumulative effect of the whole team."

When the Colts have the ball

Slowly — perhaps frustratingly slowly for fans — Green Bay's defense has shown signs of rounding into form. It enters this week ranked 15th with 24.9 points allowed per game but ninth in total defense. The Colts' offense is good but not great, ranking 14th with 26.9 points per game.

Veteran quarterback Philip Rivers has lit up the Packers during a Hall of Fame-worthy career that has him fifth all-time in passing yards and sixth in passing touchdowns. His average performance in four games while with the Chargers is 29-of-44 passing for 373 yards, with 2.3 touchdowns vs. 1 interception. In year one in Indy, Rivers is on pace for his eighth consecutive season of 4,000 passing yards but is only 22nd with a passer rating of 93.6.

Rookie second-round pick Jonathan Taylor, the record-breaking back from Wisconsin, is the starting running back. While he leads the team with 428 rushing yards, he's averaging just 3.8 yards per carry, and his playing time has decreased. In week two, he rushed 26 times for 101 yards and one touchdown vs. Minnesota. In his last three games combined, he's carried 24 times for 61 yards. He played a season-low 17 snaps last week vs. Tennessee and averaged 1.7 yards on seven tries.

In that same game, Nyheim Hines, a fourth-round pick in 2018, played 39 snaps and averaged 5.8 yards on 12 attempts while adding five catches for 45 yards.

Rivers spreads the ball around. Hines leads the team with 33 receptions and four touchdowns. Receivers Zach Pascal (26 receptions, 330 yards), T.Y. Hilton (26 receptions, 291 yards) and Michael Pittman (21 receptions, 236 yards), Taylor (22 receptions, 203 yards) and tight end Mo Alie-Cox (20 catches, 293 yards) all have 20-plus catches.

Fellow tight end Trey Burton, a Super Bowl hero with the "Philly Special" while with the Eagles, has 18 receptions in his six games since starting the year on injured reserve. While Hilton, a four-time Pro Bowler who led the league in receiving yards in 2016, is the big name, rookie second-round pick Pittman is the player to watch with seven receptions for 101 yards last week.

The Colts are No. 1 in sack percentage allowed, and Pro Football Focus has charged that group with just three sacks. Continuity has been huge; they've started eight of nine games together. It's a highly regarded unit but the Colts are a woeful 29th with 3.76 yards per carry and 30th on third down.

Special teams

If the challenges on offense and defense aren't enough, the Colts boast one of the top special teams in the league, as well. Green Bay's kicking units, which have allowed a blocked punt and a touchdown return in recent weeks, will have to step up its game in a big way.

Punter Rigoberto Sanchez has a strong leg. He's averaging 47.5 yards per punt with a net of 41.1, as the coverage unit has allowed just 5.2 yards per runback. He has had one kick blocked.

Rookie kicker Rodrigo Blankenship is 19-of-21 on field goals. He doesn't have any attempts from 50-plus yards this year but was 6-of-9 from long distance at Georgia.

This would be a good week for Packers kicker Mason Crosby to return to kickoff duty so he can blast the ball out of the end zone. Isaiah Rodgers is averaging a whopping 29.8 yards per return and has a 101-yard touchdown. The do-it-all Hines is averaging 8.9 yards per punt return.

Shawano honors veterans

Names of veterans laid to rest in the Shawano area were read to a crowd outside of the Shawano County Courthouse on Nov. 11 as part of a Veterans Day observance. The program also included a presentation by U.S. Rep. Mike Gallagher, who is a veteran representing the 8th Congressional District.

Woman pleads guilty to booster club embezzlement

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

A Sobieski woman pleaded guilty Friday to stealing more than $6,000 from the Shawano Community High School Music Boosters while serving as treasurer for the organization.

Aleta C. Young, 48, is facing a felony count of theft in a business setting for taking money from the boosters organization between October 2016 and March 2019. She could face a maximum six years in prison and $10,000 fine.

According to the criminal complaint, the boosters organization alerted police to inconsistencies in the student music group's checking and savings accounts. The group provided police with a list of suspicious withdrawals from both accounts.

Young was the sole person authorized to make withdrawals and write checks during the time the alleged offenses took place. The complaint alleges Young also failed to deposit money from the sales from concessions at certain events.

The total amount of unaccounted for money from the boosters club totaled $6,170.76, according to the complaint. Young is scheduled for sentencing on Feb. 19.

OPINION

YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW

DOC should be more open about COVID-19

In late October, the Wisconsin Department of Corrections finally disclosed the number of COVID-19 deaths among people incarcerated in state prisons.

That's good news, but it's troubling that this disclosure — which revealed that at least five state inmates have died — came only after months of delaying, obfuscating and covering up.

The DOC is still trying hard to hide information about the COVID-19 pandemic.

Under the leadership of Secretary Kevin Carr, the agency previously refused to release the numbers because, it said, to do so would violate federal privacy laws.

That excuse was transparently weak and baseless. Other states, after all, were already releasing this information. Using the DOC's logic would mean fire departments could not report fire fatalities, and the Department of Transportation could not report highway deaths.

The DOC now says it will only report deaths once the cause is confirmed, which could take weeks or months, according to the Wisconsin State Journal. The mere fact that inmates die after contracting COVID-19 will not be enough to trigger disclosure.

Still, it's a start. The information absolutely should be in the public domain.

It helps to show how well the people in charge of controlling the pandemic are doing, and it provides accountability for a system that is mostly inaccessible to the general public.

It's just a start. The DOC's track record on providing pandemic-related information is spotty at best. Yes, the dashboards that report on COVID-19 cases in prison are useful, assuming they are accurate, but they are limited.

My group, the Wisconsin Justice Initiative, filed an open records request with the DOC six months ago requesting information on its pandemic-related policies and how infected inmates are quarantined or isolated, among other things. The DOC has yet to provide a single document.

In addition, the agency's 2021-23 budget request omits any useful description of major challenges faced by the prisons. There is, for example, no discussion of any changes related to or inspired by COVID-19, or even what pandemic-related costs the DOC anticipates for next fiscal year and beyond.

It is difficult to understand why Carr is so reluctant to provide the public with this information. There are tens of thousands of people inside and outside of prisons directly involved — inmates, obviously, but also prison staff, and the families and loved ones of both those groups.

Yes, it is great that the DOC will now tell how many "people in its care" (to use the agency's euphemism) die of COVID-19.

Its transparency comes only after bloviating didn't work. Worse, the agency still is not being open about the pandemic; it is still hiding away too much.

So when the DOC totals up those COVID-19 fatality numbers, maybe it should add one more — its own credibility.

Your Right to Know is a monthly column distributed by the Wisconsin Freedom of Information Council (wisfoic.org), a group dedicated to open government. Gretchen Schuldts is executive director of the Wisconsin Justice Initiative.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pandemic unemployment needs Evers' attention

To the editor:

As a 76-year-old Gillett native and military veteran, I have been suffering from severe asthma for over a decade; and, since 2016, I have had three respiratory failures with emergency room stays in Sheboygan Aurora Hospital's ICU and ventilators.

To compound my problem, I lost my consultant job (after 10 years) with a Wall Street firm on Jan. 1. As an independent contractor, I started to look for employment or starting a 501(c)3 dealing with practical environmental issues that I had been doing since 2001, when I started with Orion Energy Systems as VP of communications: It is a Wisconsin company that went public in 2008. After retiring in 2009 at almost 65, I began consulting as The Word Merchant LLC.

On April 5, I applied for Unemployment Compensation, and on April 23 I began the process of applying for Pandemic Unemployment Assistance. Then, the nightmare began.

I applied three or four more times for PUA, but none of the state PUA advisers or I could figure how to fill out the complex paperwork properly, until early August when I received guidance from an experienced state PUA employee.

After waiting for two more months, on Oct. 11 I was informed by Office of Adjudication that my application was denied with scant reason why.

Immediately, I submitted a request for an appeal, but for the last five weeks I haven't been notified when I can make my official appeal.

In desperation, I joined a Wisconsin Unemployment support group with many thousands of unemployed people: I am finding out that several thousand of Wisconsin's unemployed have yet to have their applications adjudicated. In fact, to this day, I have never been able to get through to their adjudication office, and I have tried many, many, many times.

All said, I have waited for six months for the final word on PUA money, and I have been 10 months without a paycheck. Now, with my creditors hounding me, I am appealing to you, Gov. Evers, and your staff to help me and all other unemployed Wisconsin citizens who need your help.

For the record, like the rest of the U.S., we were all caught off guard by the speed and severity of the COVID-19 pandemic, and Wisconsin was no exception.

Starting in February, the growing unemployment problem in the state demonstrated how ill-prepared the state's technology, software and infrastructure was. There were rumors that the state still had 50-year-old software and its 1990s telecommunication system.

In addition, it was forced to hire thousands of temporary workers to start sorting out the problems that the pandemic brought, like the policies dealing with the Wisconsin unemployment applications and the newly-created federal PUA program, under the CARES Act and its regulations signed into law on March 27, 2020.

Nonetheless, I am a 76-year-old poster child for the PUA Program.

Stephen Heins, Sheboygan

Bonduel rolls past Oconto after falling behind early

Weier, Marohl score 2 touchdowns each

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Bonduel High School football team overcame an early deficit and rolled to a 43-16 Division 5 playoff win over Oconto on Nov. 13 in Bonduel.

It marked the top-seeded Bears seventh win in a row and set up a playoff matchup with second-seeded Manawa. The level two postseason game was played in Bonduel on Thursday and served as the team's final game this season.

"It's just amazing because we didn't even know if we were even going to get the chance to come out and compete this year, and we've been one of the few in the state to actually play every game," said senior Carson Robaidek, of the team's season and what it meant to host and win a playoff game. "It's a great group of guys, and we're happy to have another week."

It was fourth-seeded Oconto that took the opening kickoff and drove down the field for an early lead.

Bonduel's offense answered with a scoring drive of its own, with freshman quarterback Noah Weier scoring on a 2-yard run to cap the possession.

Oconto's offense looked to be on its way to another score, but a diving interception by senior Cole Anderson on a tipped pass got Bonduel's defense back on track — giving it momentum it wouldn't relinquish the rest of the game.

After a couple of punts, Bonduel took the lead after a time-consuming 13-play drive that ended in another Weier touchdown run. Senior Max Sokolski did most of the heavy lifting on the first two scoring drives, carrying the ball a combined 13 times.

Oconto tried to answer in the final minutes of the half, but a sack by Bears senior Max Marohl eventually forced a punt with just under a minute to play.

It appeared as if the hosts were content to take a 14-6 lead into halftime when they handed the ball off to Sokolski on first down, but a 12-yard run from the senior opened up the playbook. On the next play, Weier found Robaidek on a deep pass, and the receiver eluded a couple defenders on his way to a 67-yard touchdown.

The momentum rolled over into the second half when senior Logan Majewski took the kickoff back 77 yards to make it 28-8.

Marohl made his presence felt the rest of the way to help the Bears seal up their win. Marohl was in on seemingly every other tackle while Bonduel was on defense and scored the team's final two offensive touchdowns.

After helping the defense force a turnover on downs, he broke free on a run for a 53-yard touchdown.

After adding a couple more tackles to his stat sheet, Marohl capped a four-play, 41-yard drive with a 15-yard touchdown run.

of my life," said Marohl, who added there was "no better feeling" than scoring the two touchdowns. "I just didn't want this to be over yet as a senior. You just got to leave it all out on the field."

From there, Bonduel was able to rest most of the starters and ease to the win.

After allowing the early score, Bonduel's defense didn't allow another point until the game was in hand and most of the starters were on the sidelines. The starting group on offense scored touchdowns on five of its seven drives — and added the kickoff return for good measure.

Shawano co-op gearing up for tougher season on ice

Team preparing to make jump to full varsity schedule next year

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Shawano hockey co-op enters the season trying to blend its roster while also gearing up for a big transition next year.

Like in years past, the co-op will be an independent this season, but it will join the Badgerland Conference and be eligible for postseason play during the 2021-22 season.

The co-op, which features players from Shawano, Clintonville and Bonduel high schools, has several experienced players back this season, but it also has several underclassmen who need to get adjusted to the game.

Coaches Travis Olson and Lee Davids will try and use this season to help get the team accustomed to taking on varsity programs while trying to build on last season's 6-5-1 campaign.

"We will continue to grow on the path that was started last season," said Olson. "Our numbers are much better this season, and the forecast shows our program is on the rise. This season we looked at scheduling more varsity games in order to continue the growth and success of the program. We will take some lumps along the way, but the only way to truly compete at the varsity level is to take those steps to get there."

Back from last year's starting lineup and ready to take on leadership roles for an otherwise young team are seniors Ryan Wegenke (forward), Andrew Puissant (forward) and Leland Jones (defense, forward) and junior Jack Rusch (defense).

"I have to be a leader and show a positive path for the underclassmen," said Clintonville's Wegenke, who hopes spectators can watch the team this year to see the work they've put in. He also wants to be part of a senior class that lays the groundwork for a successful program in the years to come. "Our team is a younger team this year, so it is very important to lead by example. I want to show these guys how much I love to win, and I hope they follow."

"Since we have a team of almost all freshman, it's about getting the young guys some experience with the big hits and speed that comes with high school," said Shawano's Puissant, who also hopes to teach the underclassmen how to predict things before they happen on the ice.

Juniors Sam Arneson (defense) and Lee Davids (forward) and sophomore Makaila Blanke (forward) also return with varsity experience.

Senior Skyler Webster (forward), sophomores Owen Curran (defense) and Louis Hrabik (forward) and freshmen Dylan Prochaska (goalie), Noah Davids (forward), Bryceon Madison (forward), Max Bechard (forward), Aidan Beaulieu (forward), Hunter Jones (forward), Ticeon Olson (forward) and Karson Stoss (forward) make up the big list of new contributors.

"There are some very good players moving up," said coach Olson. "This year will be a year of adjustment for the underclassmen, so the upperclassman will be looked at on and off the ice to help these young players transition to the high school game."

Menominee Indian girls ready to roll behind standout senior

Eagles hope athleticism, experience pay off

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Menominee Indian High School girls basketball team heads into the season with high hopes behind some strong returning talent.

The Eagles earned a 12-11 record last winter, going 3-9 in Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division play under coach Mike Skenadore. The team graduated two players from that squad, including one who made an all-conference team.

Senior guard Mimi Beaulieu-

Morgan leads the team back onto the court after leading the conference with 19.6 points per game last year. She made the CWC-East first team for her efforts.

"Being my last year, I'm going to give my all to my team and going to be holding myself accountable for a lot more this year," said Beaulieu-Morgan. "I have high expectations and standards that I will not lower whatsoever as the season continues."

Also back with starting experience are senior JayLynn Martin (forward), junior Alezaha King (forward) and sophomore Kaysha Wilber (guard).

Junior Ella Skenadore (guard) and sophomore Mariah Fish (guard) also are back with varsity experience for the Eagles.

Juniors Tricia Lyons (guard) and Piper Stoeher (forward) are among the players who could also carve out varsity roles this winter.

"I think we bring some athleticism across the board that hopefully we can take advantage of," said coach Skenadore. "We got contributions from our juniors and sophomores with lots of minutes played last year, and hopefully that experience will pay off for us."

Bonduel girls seek state berth behind strong core

Bears will be without key post player

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Bonduel High School girls basketball team is ready to take the next step as a team after falling two wins short of making state last year.

After its season-ending loss to Crandon in a sectional semifinal game, Bonduel knew it would return all of its players with no seniors on the roster. The Bears, who went 22-3 overall and finished second in the Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division with a 10-2 mark, will be down a player from last year though, as senior Madison Kurey is out for the season with an ACL injury.

Kurey made the all-conference honorable mention team as a junior. She averaged just under five points while leading the team with seven rebounds per game.

"Losing Madison was a major loss in our rebounding and post game," said junior Allaina Robaidek, who made the CWC-East second team last year. "We need to work on rebounding and post play to recover from losing Madison."

Bonduel's other all-conference player back is senior Kara Troxel, who was a unanimous first-team selection. Troxel and Robaidek combined to score over 28 points per game last year.

Along with Kurey, senior Breanna

Schnell and junior Kylie Hoffman also started for the Bears last year. Schnell and Hoffman combined for just under 12 rebounds and 10 points a game.

Junior Brenna Hertzfeldt played a big role for the Bears off the bench last year, and she could see an expanded role with Kurey out.

Senior Erin Timler and juniors Meghan Wondra, Julia Lorbiecki and Nicole Koeller are among the players who could help fill out the rotation.

With its returning talent and experience gained over the past couple seasons, the sky is the limit for the Bears.

After back-to-back sectional semifinal appearances, Bonduel will attempt to make it to state for the first time in school history.

"Our goals are still the same as they are every year — state," said Troxel. "That's everyone's goal from the beginning, and that's what every team strives to get to."

The road to state won't be easy, because just like the Bonduel team, the CWC-East returns plenty of talent. Eleven of 17 all-conference players from last year should be back, and coach Jerry Reinke believes the rest of the conference is also improved.

"I feel our schedule will be difficult and demanding, but I am confident the depth in our program will help us in striving for success," said Reinke.

"Our strengths are leadership, experience and we are very unselfish with the basketball, and the kids are looking forward to the season," he added.

Gresham girls eye bigger season with every starter back

Wildcats return 3 all-conference players

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Gresham Community High School girls basketball team heads into the season with high hopes as it returns its entire starting lineup from a season ago.

Led by that starting lineup, the Wildcats posted a 12-12 overall record and 6-4 mark in the Central Wisconsin Conference-North Division under coach Newell Haffner.

Seniors Makayla Belongia (guard), Kaylee Bohm (forward) and Destiny

Reindl (forward) and juniors Valarie Cerveney (forward) and Hannah Cerveney (guard) were the team's starters a season ago.

Valarie Cerveney was a unanimous first-team all-conference selection, while Belongia and Hannah Cerveney each landed on the second team.

"This year we all have set higher expectations for ourselves and as a team," said Valarie Cerveney. "Having all five starters coming back, we built such a strong bond last season and we're all super excited for the season to start this year."

"I think if we all try and stay positive and work our hardest in practice, outside of practice and give it 110%, we will play really well together as a team."

While its starting lineup is all back, Haffner lost most of his bench depth when four seniors from last year's team graduated.

Outside of the starters, sophomore Chloe Bohl (center) is the only other returning player who has significant varsity experience under her belt.

The Wildcats will look to fill out the rotation with a combination of two upperclassmen and several sophomores or freshmen.

Senior Annalisa Petri (guard), junior Caprice Gomeyosh (forward), sophomore Koda Hill (guard) and freshmen Jocelyn Cerveney (forward), Madolyn Haffner (guard), Emma May (guard) and Jessa Jensen (center) will all look to carve out roles.

The team's experienced core will help guide the new varsity players.

"I will help make sure we all keep our heads up no matter what happens in a game because staying positive is the key," said Belongia, who knows the challenge the CWC-North will present.

While the conference graduated a total of eight seniors that made all-conference teams, coach Haffner still believes the conference will be tough to navigate.

"I believe that Manawa is still the team to beat in our conference," said Haffner. "They won the conference championship last year. In order to be the best, you have to beat the best."

TOWN OF ANGELICA ORDINANCE 10-13-20

AN ORDINANCE REGARDING LOT SIZE AND ROAD FRONTAGE

PURPOSE: This ordinance sets the standards for subdivision plat and Certified Survey Map approval and sets zoning guidance for the Town of Angelica Planning Commission and Town of Angelica Board of Supervisors relating to establishment of new lots upon which a building may be placed. The town acts with due regard and consideration to existing land use if the town, with knowledge of increasing development pressure as the metropolitan Green Bay area expands, in consideration of environmental protection, the town board being aware that change to well water quality will require town provision of potable water to the affected owners. Sufficient room is necessary to assure adequate sanitation system success in treating pollutants.

APPLICATION: This ordinance applies to all land in the Town of Angelica that is zoned OAR-Open Lands, Agriculture and Residential District Zone, as defined in Shawano County Zoning Ordinance No. 7-14.

MINIMUM LOT SIZE AND MINIMUM ROAD FRONTAGE: No building or structure shall be erected or moved onto any part of land in the OAR-Open Lands, Agriculture and Residential District Zone that contains less than two acres in size, less than 290 feet of road frontage, less than 290 feet of width at any point of the lot, nor shall any new lot be created under that dimension.

ENFORCEMENT: Failure to comply with this ordinance will result in no building permit being issued for the lot by the town. The decision shall be communicated to the county zoning office so any land use permit will be issued or denied in accordance with the town's position. The town may seek an injunction asking a court to order compliance or halt noncompliance, or direct any action in keeping with the ordinance. The town will oppose any zoning approval to the extent possible for any person not in compliance with this ordinance. The Circuit Court of Shawano County shall have jurisdiction over and be the proper venue for the Town to obtain an order for injunctive relief. If the Court enters an injunction in favor of the Town, a penalty of $500.00 per violation shall be imposed against the violating party and an assessment shall be made in favor of the Town against said party for reasonable attorney fees, court costs, and any additional expenses incurred by the Town to facilitate enforcement. Payment shall be made on such terms as the Court may direct.

THIS ORDINANCE SHALL TAKE EFFECT FROM AND AFTER ITS PASSAGE AND PUBLICATION AS PROVIDED BY LAW.

ADOPTED THIS 13TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 2020

The preceding is a summary of Ordinance 10-13-20. To see the complete ordinance, please contact Town of Angelica Clerk Connie Przybylski at W1583 County Road C, Pulaski, WI 54162 or by phone at 920-822-8191 or e-mail at angelicaclerk@netnet.net.

To Our Fellow Shawano Area Residents:

From March through August, we fared better against the coronavirus than many other parts of the country. We avoided dangerous surges of infections that would have overwhelmed our hospitals and forced small closures of businesses. We kept the spread of the virus under control through rigorous planning, strong partnerships among local organizations, and a real commitment from all of us to move forward safely, together.

During this spring and summer, enough of us were doing the things we have to do to fight the virus: wearing face coverings, avoiding large gatherings, practicing physical distancing and maintaining good hygiene. We saw the benefits of our individual and collective efforts – our economy began to recover, our hospitals resumed services that were temporarily put on hold, and most importantly, fewer people were getting infected.

But things have changed in the last several weeks and now we are at risk of losing all of the valuable ground we held against the coronavirus these past six months. Today, too many are not following the guidelines outlined by local hospitals, public health officials, physicians and nurses, the CDC and other health care experts. Instead we're going in to caution fatigue and putting ourselves and others at risk.

This is dangerous. This is about our friends, family, neighbors, colleagues and others who call the Shawano area home. People are suffering and they don't have to. Our health care workers can help them when they need it, but it's up to each of us to keep our loved ones and others out of the hospital. It's up to us to keep our businesses open and our kids in school.

In order to turn this around and keep moving forward safely, we need to band together again and look at what we are doing. Ask yourself: "What am I doing differently? What manageable changes can I make to help get my community back on track?"

We have a duty to re-double our individual and collective efforts. Let's recommit to protecting ourselves and our community. We need to do what we know works: Wear face coverings. Practice physical distancing. Avoid group gatherings. Maintain good hygiene.

We, as signatories of this letter, have a shared commitment to the health, well-being and strength of our communities. We are like-minded organizations and individuals dedicated to safeguarding our community's health, supporting our economy, and bolstering our economy by emphasizing the importance of a renewed pledge to safe behaviors in the ongoing fight against COVID-19.

Please join us to help our community move forward safely, together. We can do it. We've done it before.

Help spread the word about what we need to do by sharing what you are doing to stay safe using #forwardsafelytogether and/or #besafeshawano. You can also visit www.besafewisconsin.org and like the Be Safe People.
