Grass restrictions could be suspended in May

Council talks about program allowing grass to grow for a month and entice bees

By LEE PULASKI

City Editor

Shawano residents might be able to give their lawnmowers a vacation in less than two months as the city considers adopting a “No Mow May” policy.

The Shawano Common Council discussed the concept, brought up by Alderman Kevin Barkow, during its March 9 meeting as a way to help bring a more robust bee population to the area. The city would suspend its rules on mowing grass and keeping it at a certain length for the entire month to allow bees to do what they do best — pollinate flowers.

“What a lot of other communities have done is kind of like No Shave November — if you want to participate, you can participate,” Barkow said. “If you choose to participate in this event, neighbors are not going to be able to complain about your lawn being a little longer during the month of May.”

The idea came up later in the meeting after the council voted to change its fines for lawn violations and charge $150 for the first offense and $170 for every subsequent offense.

Barkow spoke with Appleton Alderman Alex Schultz and said that the program has been a success for that city, aside from some initial resistance from its public works department in the first year.

“Instead of picking up grass clippings once a week, with everyone’s out there in small amounts, you have a month’s worth of grass clippings,” Barkow said. “After the first year, they got the hiccups worked out. They got the public works director on their side, and everything was fine.”

Other cities that participate in the program, according to Barkow, are

DID YOU KNOW?

When people hear the word “bee” they often think of a single bee species, the European honey bee (Apis mellifera). However, the United States is also home to just over 3,600 native (wild) bee species such as bumble bees, leafcutter bees, sweat bees, mason bees, longhorn bees, and mining bees.

Native pollinators are particularly important because they evolved alongside native plants and in many cases are the most effective pollinators — and in a few cases, the only pollinators. Pollinators are keystone species in essentially every terrestrial ecosystem on earth, assisting in plant reproduction and supporting other species of wildlife.

Pollinators touch people’s lives in numerous ways each day, including being responsible for approximately one third of the food and drink they consume. The value of crop pollination has been estimated between $18 and $27 billion annually in the U.S.

Research has shown significant declines in native pollinator population sizes and ranges globally. In fact, up to 40% of pollinator species on earth may be at risk of extinction in the coming years as a result of habitat loss, pesticide use, and climate change.

Source: Bee City USA

Stevens Point, Wausau, Oshkosh, Little Chute and Kaukauna. He referred to the Bee City USA website to point out that the program works.

“Not only were there an abundance of bees higher in the yards participating in No Mow May, but they were way higher,” Barkow said. “Participating yards had three times as many bee species and five times bee abundance as neighboring yards that had been mowed. If you have a flower garden in your yard, or if you have a vegetable garden in your yard, obviously those are all dependent on bees. The bee population is dwindling very, very quickly.”

City Clerk Lesley Nemetz said the program would not be subject to monitoring by the city.

“We’re not going to go after you for grass during the month of May,” Nemetz said. “There are other municipalities who provide some boundaries, so to say, to require that you register with the clerk’s office by a certain date, and then print off a placard like we do for a building permit, and you would place it in your window.”

Nemetz added that some cities only allow backyards to have higher grass during No Mow May, cutting down on the eyesore factor for some neighbors.

“I know that there will be some residents who will not enjoy this,” Nemetz said. “We will take those as they come.”

Mayor Bruce Milavitz agreed with the concept and felt it was not necessary to hobble residents with conditions or restrictions.

“If somebody participates, fantastic, and if they don’t participate, fantastic,” Milavitz said.

Alderdwoman Rhonda Strebel liked the idea, as well, but questioned if the mowing hiatus should happen earlier.

“It seems like our seasons are coming so much quicker, so much faster — it’s supposed to be 50 (degrees) next week — I just wonder if No Mow May should be No Mow April,” Strebel said, acknowledging that April doesn’t have the same ring to it as May does.

Barkow noted that May tends to be the month when a lot of flowers bloom, so bee pollination would be essential at that time.

“You’re not really getting the blooming flowers in April, except dandelions,” Barkow said.

Nemetz suggested that, even though it would still be called No Mow May, establishing a hiatus earlier and still have it go until the end of May might be the way.

“If you’re going to have restrictions for three weeks in April, and then they’re going to go away in May, and then they come back (in June), it might be a little confusing,” Nemetz said.

Barkow noted that this is an ideal time to do this, as the city celebrates Arbor Day on April 30 and then can go into No Mow May the next day.

“It seems to coincide, having the two work together,” Barkow said.

A formal resolution to establish a No Mow May program in Shawano for 2022 will come back before the council in April. It’s possible an annual resolution might be required to initiate the program, just in case the city decides one year not to do it.

ELECTION 2022 — SHAWANO SCHOOL BOARD

In the April 5 general election, voters in the Shawano School District will be deciding on three seats for the Shawano School Board.

Incumbents Mart Grams, Chris Gull and Diane Hoffman will be defending their seats from challenger Jeana Winslow to serve another three-year term on the board.

NEW Media sent questionnaires to the candidates to provide readers with the candidate's views on some key issues the district has dealt with in recent years. Gull and Hoffman did not provide answers by press time.

What qualifies you to be a member of the Shawano School Board?

Grams: As a second term is what I'm looking at, I see as a former teacher and seeing our decline as a district that used to be the cutting edge of staff, curricula and technology. All are declining rapidly.

Winslow: I think what qualifies me to serve on the school board is that I have an open mind and am willing to listen. I also feel that I am able to work well with others.

The pandemic has dealt education a hard blow in terms of teaching tomorrow's generation and has put children behind. What should Shawano School District do to get learning back on track?

Grams: First off, the pandemic is being used to cover the failure of leadership to fix the problems that were there beforehand. Our test scores are horrendous compared to the rest of the state, and they went through the same pandemic. It was our response to the pandemic that is causing the decline.

Winslow: Put faith and trust in our teachers. The teachers are the ones spending most of the time with the students and are seeing those possible gaps and shortfalls. I feel empowering teachers and relying on their expertise is the best way to help students get back on track.

The school district is looking at continued declining enrollment numbers. What do you think should be done to try and encourage people to enroll their children in Shawano's public schools?

Grams: I don't know if that should be our goal. Rather give the community kids what they need to succeed after we are gone. A good solid liberal arts education with practical, financial, historical discernment and true critical thinking skills which all require a rigorous curricula based on longstanding traditional knowledge. Gimmicky is experimenting with children, has never worked and costs dollars we cannot afford to waste. Many parents, as are teachers, are going elsewhere, enrolling online or homeschooling.

Winslow: There's not a whole lot that the school board can do about declining enrollment when it comes to numbers. Declining enrollment isn't just a problem in Shawano, it's a problem everywhere. There is just a lack of population. What we can do is keep our current student body. When students and parents have issues, whatever the reason, and those issues go unresolved or unheard, that gets people frustrated and they look elsewhere for education. Being able to listen to community members about issues and creating policies and procedures to fit the ever changing needs is a way to do that.

There has been some criticism that the school district has not been communicating effectively to parents, students and the community as a whole. What steps should the board take to make sure that the work of its schools is open and transparent?

Grams: It's not just poor communication with community and families. Staff know little about what's going on, and we board members are kept in the dark as well. Admin feels disdain for this community in many ways. Few are asked their opinions, and when they are asked, it's a select group handpicked to rubber stamp already set policy.

Winslow: An important piece of being transparent and communicating to everyone would be through board meetings and committee meetings. Letting people know when and where those meetings are happening and then what happened in those meetings. With such an easy tool like Facebook, why wouldn't the district make a post on the Mondays and Wednesdays of those meetings stating when the meeting is with a link to the agenda? When you make people have to search and dig for information, sometimes they give up.

What is the most positive thing that the school district is doing, and what do you think should be done to keep it alive and well?

Grams: Our kids are great and can achieve much more. Great staff struggles with hopscotch gimmicks, poorly implemented and usable technology, a central office sinking in deep water. A change of coaches is essential.

Winslow: The most positive thing about Shawano schools is our amazing teachers and staff and the passion they have to continue doing their best. When we have counselors reaching out to students they haven't seen at school, teachers spending extra hours on how to reach a student so they learn something, aides who show extra love and patience to students, teachers teaching new classes they've never taught, staff listening to students when they're having a rough day and the countless other acts that go unnoticed — those are the positive things that are going on in our district.

Ferfecki remembered as fair, firm leader

Shawano County supervisor passes away at the age of 84

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

Richard Ferfecki, a Krakow native and a member of the Shawano County Board of Supervisors, passed away March 8 at the age of 84.

Two of Ferfecki's fellow county board members reflected on what it was like to have a relationship with Ferfecki.

Board Chairman Tom Kautza said that Ferfecki was diagnosed with cancer last summer.

"Unfortunately, it was aggressive," said Kautza.

Kautza noted Ferfecki's dedication to the board.

"He was a very level-headed individual who would not immediately jump to conclusions when he was presented a problem or situation," said Kautza. "He would do the research and gather the facts before making a decision."

He added that Ferfecki was a very good example to look up to as a father figure.

"He was never too loud or obnoxious or any characteristic like that," said Kautza. "I have a lot of respect for Richie."

Kautza also noted that Ferfecki gave back to his community in more ways than just serving on the board.

"He was very active in the community," said Kautza. "He was on the health and human services committee. He was on the public safety committee, and he was also on the executive committee."

According to Ferfecki's obituary, he also served as chairman of the Town of Angelica and had been part of the zoning commission since 1996. Further, he was a longtime member of St. Casimir Church in Krakow.

Supervisor Jerry Erdmann said that every experience that he had with Ferfecki was positive.

"I could tell from the first time that I met Richie at the county board level that he was going to be a positive person for me on the board," said Erdmann. "I was the chair when he came on the board, and I knew that I had to get him on some committees."

Erdmann elaborated on why he wanted Ferfecki on various committees in the county.

"I felt that Richie was a quality individual who would speak his mind, but would always put what was best for Shawano County first," said Erdmann. "Richie just kind of stood out to me."

Erdmann confirmed what Kautza said about Ferfecki, in terms of listening to both sides of the story before making a decision.

"He wanted to hear what both sides were and then make the decision to do what was best for Shawano County," said Erdmann. "Richie was a good man and a good friend."

Officers honored for stopping bank robbery

Buettner also recognized for taking action to help others during 39-vehicle crash near Wausau

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Shawano Police Chief Bradley Rabideau presented commendations to three of his officers March 9 during the Shawano Common Council meeting for exemplary work in and out of the city.

Rabideau honored officers Brent Dilge, Jeff Buettner and Ronald Frechette for taking action on Valentine's Day to apprehend a woman who held up the Capital Credit Union that afternoon. The chief noted the police dispatch received a call around 2:50 p.m. to report the robbery in progress, and Dilge, Buettner and Frechette arrived in time to see the suspect leaving the credit union and walking west toward Buss Motors.

She was given "verbal commands, but the subject failed to comply with the officer's directives," Rabideau said. "The subject did not remove her right hand from her pocket and continued to try to leave the area."

The officers followed the suspect to the parking lot of another business nearby, according to Rabideau, and verbal commands continued to be ignored, which prompted the use of a Taser by Buettner. A struggle ensued, and Dilge and Frechette got the suspect under control. The officers located a knife in the suspect's jacket pocket, along with a clear bag containing money from the credit union.

"Due to the quick response and the keen observation of the officers, a suspected bank robber was taken into custody without injury to citizens, officers or suspect," Rabideau said. "These officers are commended for their service to the community."

Buettner was also recognized for his quick actions during a snowstorm on Feb. 18. When he was returning for what Rabideau called "a special duty assignment," he and his squad vehicle were involved in a 39-vehicle crash on state Highway 39 near Wausau.

"Officer Buettner encountered a white-out blizzard, with zero visibility," Rabideau said. "Despite comprehensive damage to the squad (vehicle), blinding snow and high winds, Officer Buettner was able to exit his squad and begin triaging the occupants of other vehicles. This act of service to others while disregarding his safety exceeded the highest expectations of the Shawano Police Department."

Rabideau added that Buettner's actions show an intense desire to help others.

While the three officers went above and beyond the call of duty, they're not necessarily the exceptions to the rule, according to Rabideau.

"It should be pointed out that every day, Shawano police officers do many things to meet the mission of the Shawano Police Department to protect and serve those who live, work and visit the city of Shawano," Rabideau said. "Occasionally, and moreso than we recognize, officers go above and beyond and do some really heroic things."

Alderwoman Sandy Steinke commended the officers for their actions, but she also took a moment to thank the families who were in attendance.

"They have to worry and give up their days to be behind these wonderful officers, never knowing what's going to happen every day they walk out the door," Steinke said.

Vi's first job in Shawano was at Montgomery Ward. In 1953, she started working at Citizens State Bank. Four years later, Earl and Vi started a salvage yard, Shawano Auto Parts. In 1961, they signed a franchise with Chrysler Corporation. Vi and Earl worked in the business together for several decades. After Earl passed, Vi worked at Shawano Auto Sales until she turned 87. She loved her work and always wanted to keep her fingers on the checkbook.

Vi loved to travel and enjoyed all her trips. Earl and Vi traveled throughout the United States and many places abroad. One of her most memorable trips was to Scotland for upland game hunting, where she was the only female gun. She also enjoyed many trips to Las Vegas with Earl and other family members. Our family was given the gift of a long goodbye for the past seven years while she fought cancer. She left this earth having made a positive impact in so many ways.

Honoring Vi's wishes, there will be no service. Vi asked to remember her by teaching someone a life skill, such as sewing, to host a game of bowling or simply to enjoy her favorite beverage — a good cup of coffee. Memorials can be directed to Navarino Nature Center or St. James School in remembrance of Vi.

The family would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to Matt Skalitsky for his compassion, kindness and conversation to Vi, and to all the nurses with ThedaCare Hospice for their kindness, support and expertise.

Richard J. Ferfecki

Richard "Richie" John Ferfecki, 84, Krakow, passed away peacefully, Tuesday, March 8, 2022, at St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay. The son of John and Lucille (Liss) Ferfecki was born at home Sept. 4, 1937, in Little Suamico.

Richie graduated from Pulaski High School with the Class of 1955.

Following high school, he helped out on Mama and Tata's farm. On Sept. 9, 1961, Richie married Judy Blohowiak at Assumption BVM Church, Pulaski. He served in the U.S. Marines starting in 1960 — six months active duty and then the reserves.

In 1964, Richie purchased the Lowland Dairy Farm in Krakow and was very proud of his red and white herd of Holsteins. He farmed until 2004, when he semi-retired from farming. Other jobs Richie held included being a shop foreman at Woosencraft Auto; he sold machinery for Trout Creek Implement and the Pulaski Chase Coop and was a board member there for 20 years; sold Vigortone Mineral; and worked at Vern's Hardware in Pulaski until his cancer diagnosis.

Richie was active in his community serving on the Shawano County Board for almost 20 years. He was the chairman of health and human services and also an ADRC member. He was very involved in the rebuilding of the Lakeland Center in Shawano. Richie was the Angelica Town Chairman and has been part of the zoning commission since 1996. He was a longtime member of St. Casimir Church in Krakow.

Richie enjoyed refinishing antique tractors, hunting, music, art work and sketching. He was especially proud of the barn he refinished on the family land. As a grandpa, he loved dressing up as Santa Claus at Christmas and surprising his grandkids.

Richie is survived by his loving wife of over 60 years, Judy; his four children, Kevin (Terri) Ferfecki, Karen (Mark) Gall, Keith (Cindy) Ferfecki and Kurt (Susan) Ferfecki; eight grandchildren; Taylor Gall and her husband Tommy Swartz, Alex (Sam) Gall, Montanna, Mason, Jackson, Nathan, Whitney and Kaylee; a brother, Danny (Barbara) Ferfecki; and a sister, Sharon (Dale) Krumrai. He is further survived by his sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law, Vanice Ferfecki, Audrey Ferfecki, Jim Saindon, Rose and Ken Rothe, Darlene and Dick Albers; and 13 nieces and nephews and their families.

In addition to his parents, John and Lucille, he was preceded in death by his siblings, Paul Ferfecki, James "Skippy" Ferfecki and Gladys Saindon.

The funeral Mass was celebrated March 12 at Assumption BVM Church, 119 E. Pulaski St., Pulaski, with the Rev. James Esser, OFM, presiding and the Rev. James Gannon, OFM, concelebrating. A private family burial took place in St. Casimir Cemetery, Krakow.

Richie's family would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to the Unity Hospice Team, the ninth floor nurses at St. Vincent Hospital and Green Bay Oncology for their care and compassion. They would also like to thank their great neighbors for their support.

Memorials will be designated to organizations that are important to the family, including the Lakeland Center in Shawano and Unity Hospice.

To leave the family a condolence, please visit www.marnochafuneralhome.com or the funeral home Facebook page.

Council approves paying more for plaza work

Strand Associates seeks $80K above and beyond; city agrees to $55,500

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano Common Council approved amending an agreement March 9 with Strand Associates, the firm working to develop the downtown plaza, to pay an additional $55,500 for extra services rendered.

Strand sent an invoice to the city for $80,000 above and beyond the $199,400 the council agreed to in March 2021. The firm is doing design and engineering work for the plaza, which is set to break ground this spring and be ready for residential and visitor enjoyment in the fall. City Attorney Keith Steckbauer said that representatives of Strand told the city that the scope of work for the project turned out to be significantly greater than the firm had expected when it bid for the contract.

Steckbauer said that some of the items listed were already part of the contract, but there were enough items there to warrant the city paying about $55,500 more. He called it a reasonable compromise between the city and Strand.

"We basically went back and forth a little bit and, through the process, came to the suggestion of $42,000 for past work that was more than anticipated and then $13,500 for additional work that would be expected to be done," Steckbauer said. "What we wanted to be able to do on that was that it's a change order, but we wanted to, if we get to the point where we don't think we don't need to do those specific items (for the future), we can remove those."

Steckbauer noted that, when the contract was established, the total cost of the project was about $1.4 million but has since swelled to $2.3 million.

"The scope was bigger, and they did more work," Steckbauer said. "Looking at it, it's (City Administrator) Eddie (Sheppard) and my position that this is a reasonable approach. We think it matches a good faith perspective of what they've done."

Mayor Bruce Milavitz expressed appreciation that the city worked to bring the costs down to a manageable level and not just give the $80,000 invoice to the council for approval.

"You actually looked at the meat and potatoes of it," Milavitz said. "We certainly have the A-team with them, and I'd like to be able to continue working with the A-team."

Flashing pedestrian beacons going on Main Street

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano Common Council approved spending almost $20,000 for a rectangular rapid flash beacon pedestrian crossing signals for Main Street where the Mountain Bay Trail intersects, the same system in place on Green Bay Street at the trail junction.

The city is getting a $15,000 donation from Shawano Pathways to install the beacons, which means it will only need to pay for about 25% of the project from its own coffers. According to Scott Kroening, public works director, Shawano Municipal Utilities will not be charging the city for its time to install the lighting and the poles.

Kroening noted that the poles won't go up right away, as the wait is three months from the time of ordering the equipment, but the beacons should be in place sometime during the summer.

"It's a great way to get some new signals across Main Street," Kroening said. "I've had nothing but positive comments about the one on East Green Bay Street. They seem to really work over there."

Before the beacons were installed on Green Bay Street, the intersection was one of the most dangerous for pedestrians to cross due to the heavy amounts of traffic on it daily. Even with setting up orange flags for pedestrians to use so motorists could see someone was crossing, there were still times when traffic ignored the pedestrians.

"I've definitely seen the difference on Green Bay Street," said Alderwoman Rhonda Strebel. "For any pedestrian or biker crossing, people do see it and know to stop. The flags help, but the flashing really makes a difference. We definitely welcome it."

Mayor Bruce Milavitz agreed that something similar needed to be installed on Main Street to allow Mountain Bay Trail users to cross safely.

"It's definitely long overdue," Milavitz said.

Drama club's production absolute murder

OFHS takes on Agatha Christie's 'Murder on the Orient Express'

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Oconto Falls High School's drama club will be looking into a murder written by one of literature's greatest mystery writers for its spring play at the end of this month.

The students will be taking the train to entertain audiences as they present "Murder on the Orient Express" by Agatha Christie. The book was established for the silver screen in 1974, with a new adaptation coming out five years ago. OFHS is performing the Broadway show version of the story adapted by Ken Ludwig, which started in 2017.

The story features Belgian detective Hercule Poirot, one of Christie's most beloved fictional characters, who must take a train from the Middle East to London for another case. Heavy snowfall stops the train dead in its tracks, and the passengers must wait for it to be cleared to travel home, and during that time, American businessman Samuel Ratchett is murdered. Among the suspects are a British colonel, a Hungarian countess, an English governess, an American widow and a Russian princess, among others.

"Murder on the Orient Express" is considered by many to be the best of all Christie's novels, inspired by the author's journey on that very train in 1928 and a snowstorm marooning the train less than a year later. Besides the films and Broadway show, the novel has been adapted for television and even a board game.

While many have read the Christie novel, OFHS director Gayle Gander admitted it was not foremost on his reading list, although he noted that he's used other Christie tales like "And Then There Were None" in his English classes. He noted that more research was done via the recent movie than with the book.

"This actually came from a request from the students, especially the seniors," Gander said. "We'd been talking about what we should be looking when we were done (with our last show) and do for the spring. What haven't we done — we asked that, too."

The Oconto Falls community tends to gravitate toward the comedies that the high school does, according to

In the foreground, Countess Andrenyi, played by Paityn Keller, Greta Ohlsson, played by Savannah Long, and Princess Dragomiroff, played by Raina Coopman, celebrate the discovery of who the killer is in "Murder on the Orient Express" along with, from left, background, Esther MacQueen, played by Ashlynn Vanderheyden; Helen Hubbard, played by Jessie Pumplun; Mary Debenham, played by Ana Feliz; and James Arbuthnot, played by Matthew Ogan.

Gander, but the students were interested in pursuing this drama, but the director noted the show has its hints of humor, too.

"I feel like I need to expose them to some other genres, as well," Gander said. "The story is serious, but the person who adapted it, it's got its little twist of humor in it, if it's presented right."

The students have been preparing well for the show, Gander said, and the challenges have been more with how the set is going to look.

"Once we get into working, a Broadway stage has a lot more capability," Gander said. "I figure, we'll do it this way, and then it's not working, so part way in, we had to turn it all around because basically it takes place on a train, and you're confined to certain space sizes. You've got 12 people in the cast, and most of the time, they're all together."

Gander credited the actors for being flexible, and he noted the cast has also adapted to speaking with a variety of different accents.

"We've got Hungarian, French, Scottish, English — it's a little of everything," Gander said. "We told them when they auditioned, 'Are you willing to put the time in on the accents?' They've done a nice job with that."

The closing monologue from Poirot should be the most meaningful to audiences, in Gander's view, because it'll give people a feeling of peace.

"It's kind of a roller coaster throughout, and once everything comes to a close, the detective says something like 'It's done,'" he said.

The show has a student director, Kleo Van Dornick, who also plays Poirot for "Murder on the Orient Express." Being able to have more of a say in how the show is shaped was an exciting prospect for her.

"I was very nervous, definitely, at first, but I know all these people, and it's really fun working with them all. The good outweighs the bad," Van Dornick said. "It's nice because you can have your vision and see things your way. It's not under anyone else's influence. It's how you want it to go."

Van Dornick said she's had a hard time finding the novel version of "Murder on the Orient Express," so she's had to do other things to research her character and prepare for the show.

"I've been looking in the library and stuff," she said. "We've all been watching the movie together. I looked up everything that I could about it — the characters and stuff — so that when people came in to audition, I would know a little bit of who each character was. I was definitely into it in the beginning."

Van Dornick has also enjoyed researching the time period and finding out how people lived more than 90 years ago.

"I looked up the '30s hairstyle and the '30s clothing, and it's very interesting," she said, noting that audiences should enjoy a feeling of nostalgia from watching the show. "I hope to leave people feeling more engrossed in the story than they have before than just reading it or watching the movie, because we're up there and it's more of an experience this way."

CMN breaking bread with distant neighbors

Much can be gained from breaking bread with those half a world away. At the College of Menominee Nation's Sustainable Development Institute, the meal is metaphorical but the knowledge it fosters is what provides sustenance. With the goal of sharing global perspectives on Indigenous issues, SDI holds monthly "International Breakfast/Dinner Virtual Meetings" — joining together faculty and students who reside in time zones up to 12 hours apart. The gatherings' host, SDI's Sustainability Coordinator Rebecca Edler (Menominee) explained: "When you meet with individuals from an Indigenous community from across the world, the people become real to you. They become your friends. You form a bond with them and learn from their perspectives."

Sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture-Native Institute of Food and Agriculture and the United States Department of Education through the National Resource Centers of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, RSVPs for the gatherings are sent to CMN faculty and SDI staff, UW-Madison project collaborators, and academics and activists from Southeast Asia.

This academic year, the meals are held with Indigenous people from Indonesia. Dr. Rahmat Hidayat, a Fulbright Visiting Scholar at UW-Madison, discussed his talk "Exploring Relationship Building Opportunities with Indigenous Communities Around the World," leading to fruitful conversations about how Native people fight against oppression.

"We discussed how the Menominee retained their voice at the time of treaty making, as well as how we sustained ourselves during termination and how our restoration came to be," Edler said.

The hope is that the story of Menominee perseverance can fortify others during troubling times.

"Currently, in Indonesia, Indigenous people are losing their resources and not keeping their voice," Edler said. "The more we share about our story, the more we can become a light that encourages others in their struggle."

Edler was quick to express that the meetings are about "listening as much as sharing," with an eye on how this work can benefit CMN students.

The Menominee Theoretical Model of Sustainability is an invaluable, adaptable tool that can help any community work through the tensions that occur when developing a project.

"Visitors can learn from the model, but our story isn't the only story," Edler said.

"Every community has its own culture and language, and we wanted to bring their knowledge to CMN."

Before COVID-19, SDI had in-person meetings to learn from the Menominee Language and Culture Commission, the Menominee chairperson and the Menikanaehkem Community Rebuilders group. The exploration of Indigenous knowledge will ideally enable the CMN faculty to expand their classroom pedagogy.

"Learning and sharing with others who are different from you can open individuals' minds to other possibilities," Edler said.

Part of CMN's mission is to prepare students for "advanced studies in a multicultural world." The school challenges students to think globally, and Edler sees SDI as playing a role, asking rhetorically: "How can you have a global perspective without exploring what other perspectives are out there?"

Continuing to strategize with UW-Madison's Associate Director of Latin American, Caribbean and Iberian Studies Program, Dr. Alberto M. Vargas, the group hopes to plan future meetings with the Sámi people inhabiting the region of Sápmi, which today encompasses large northern parts of Norway, Sweden, Finland and of the Murmansk Oblast in Russia.

"They are an Indigenous group whose lives center on following the reindeer," Edler said.

Much like the Menominee learn from the forest, the Sámi have gleaned wisdom from their natural world. Edler wondered: "What can we learn from them? How can their traditions and ways be used to influence our classrooms?"

Netaenawemakanak translates to "all my relations" in Menominee, and CMN's Sustainable Development Institute is showing ways in which wisdom can be shared around an extended family's virtual table.

Ryan Winn teaches communication, English and theater at College of Menominee Nation. For information about the school, visit www.menominee.edu.

Rebecca Edler, sustainability coordinator at the College of Menominee Nation's Sustainable Development Institute, invites guests to a virtual table to talk about culture.

Homeowner gets no response regarding complaint

Garcia sent correspondence to Shawano County regarding violations on shared property

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

One Shawano County resident said that she has not been able to get into contact with the county in regard to reported violations.

Carney Garcia was one of the people who reported violations to Shawano County regarding a shared property lot in July.

"I have a cottage on Washington Lake, and there are 15 homeowners who share 200 feet of lake frontage," said Garcia. "Two of the homeowners built into the shared lot."

Garcia explained the two homeowners never pulled permits and are using 2-foot step backs, as opposed to 25 feet.

"Another homeowner and I turned in the violations to the planning department," said Garcia. "They forced one of the homeowners to take a structure of his down and didn't do much else."

Garcia said that she had been trying to get in contact with the committee about the matter, but she's been hearing no response.

"I had called the planning department four times, and they deemed me a nuisance," said Garcia.

At the Dec. 1 planning, developing and zoning committee meeting, Garcia requested that their situation be put on the January agenda. Due to reportedly contracting COVID-19, the homeowners could not be present at the January meeting and, according to Garcia, the parties were told that they would not be able to virtually attend the meeting.

According to Garcia and the homeowners, the board agreed to move their agenda item to the February meeting.

"Contrary to what we were told, the item was not postponed, but rather it was discussed without our presence in both January and February's meetings," said Garcia in a complaint she filed to the county. "No one contacted us. We discovered it when viewing the meeting minutes. As a result, the board was given false and inaccurate information."

Garcia said that this continued into March as their complaint was discussed under the topic "Discuss Any Operational Issues Within the Department As Needed." She said that this was too vague.

"We did not know that we were going to talk about our issue, so we did not attend," said Garcia, who had sent proof of the law that prohibits having vague wording in an agenda item. "So, even after showing them proof that they cannot do that, they did it anyway."

Garcia said that because the department once again discussed the matter under vague terms, she sent in a complaint to the Wisconsin Department of Justice.

"It is very specific," said Garcia. "Their corporate council should see that what I am telling them is very verifiable. They did it again, and it is a slap in the face."

She added that she does not believe it is right for her neighbors to be getting away with ordinance violations, while others are going through the permit process.

"Every other honest person has to get conditional use permits and apply for variance and pay the money," said Garcia. "It is not fair."

According to Garcia, her records request to the county show that she was not constantly emailing the department. She added that there were dozens of emails and calls from her neighbors in regards to the violations.

"The planning and development department decided to give them four extensions to correct their violations," said Garcia. "They could have easily avoided this if they had simply held them to the original date to comply."

NEW Media contacted the county's planning department for comment and was told there would be a response from Shawano County Corporation Counsel Larenda Maulson; however, a response was not provided by press time.

Packers release Za'Darius Smith, Turner

Green Bay re-signs Preston Smith

The Green Bay Packers have released outside linebacker Za'Darius Smith and guard/tackle Billy Turner while signing linebacker Preston Smith to a contract extension.

General Manager Brian Gutekunst announced the transactions March 14.

"We want to thank Za'Darius for his contributions to the Packers over the past three seasons," Gutekunst said. "He came in and made an immediate impact on this football team, helping the team win three straight division titles. We want to wish Za'Darius and his family all the best moving forward."

Za'Darius Smith played in 33 games with 32 starts over the last three regular seasons for Green Bay and started four of five postseason contests he played in. He was named to the Pro Bowl twice (2019-20), earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press (2020) and was named to the All-NFC team by the Pro Football Writers of America (2020).

"We want to thank Billy for the big contributions he made to the Packers both on the field as well as in the locker room since signing in 2019," said Gutekunst, of Turner. "He is a true professional whose work ethic and leadership were big factors in the team's success over the last few years. We wish Billy and his family all the best in the future."

Turner started 43 games during the regular season and all five postseason contests over the last three seasons (2019-21) for Green Bay.

While primarily playing right tackle for the Packers, he also started games at right guard and left tackle.

"We are excited to have Preston continue his career with the Packers," Gutekunst continued. "Since coming to Green Bay, he has not only contributed with production on the field but has been a great presence in the locker room and a leader for this team."

Preston Smith has played in 48 regular season games with 45 starts for Green Bay over the past three seasons while also starting all five postseason contests. He was the only player in the NFL with 25-plus sacks (49½), five-plus INTs (five) and four-plus forced fumbles (seven) from 2015-21.

Last season, Smith (nine) teamed with Rashan Gary (9½) to become just the second linebacker duo in team history (since 1982) to both register nine-plus sacks in the same season. Despite missing the first game of his career last season (week seven), Smith registered a team-best nine tackles for a loss and ranked No. 2 on the Packers with 17 QB hits.

Smith ranked No. 2 on the team in tackles for a loss (seven), tied for No. 2 in QB hits (11) and tied for No. 3 in sacks (four) in 2020. He was named a Pro Bowl alternate in 2019 after ranking No. 8 in the NFL with a career-best 12 sacks and finishing No. 2 on the team with 29 QB hits and 43 QB pressures. He teamed with Za'Darius Smith (13½) in 2019 as the only duo in NFL history with 12-plus sacks each in their first season as teammates.

Wisconsin men earn No. 3 seed in Milwaukee

Marquette a No. 9 in Texas

The Wisconsin men's basketball team received the No. 3 seed in the Midwest Region and will face 14-seed Colgate in the first round of the 2022 NCAA Tournament on March 18 in Milwaukee.

The Marquette men earned a No. 9 seed and will face No. 8 seed North Carolina in an East Region matchup on March 17 in Fort Worth, Texas.

The Badgers are making their 26th trip to the Big Dance overall and are one of five schools to appear in 22 of the last 23 NCAA tournaments.

Wisconsin and Colgate have met once before, when the Badgers pulled out a 68-41 home win in 2011. Wisconsin has faced two Patriot League opponents in the NCAA Tournament, defeating Bucknell, 71-62, in the second round of the 2005 Tournament and knocking off American, 75-35, in the opening round of the 2014 Tournament in Milwaukee.

Wisconsin is 39-24 (.619) all-time in the NCAA tournament, reaching four Final Fours and 10 Sweet 16s. The Badgers have made the Sweet 16 in six of the last 10 NCAA tournaments, reaching the NCAA tournament's second weekend in 2011, 2012, 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 during that stretch.

The winner of the first-round matchup will face the winner of a game between No. 6 seed LSU and No. 11 seed Iowa State in the round of 32 on March 20.

Marquette last faced North Carolina last season on Jan. 24 at Chapel Hill, which resulted in an 83-70 Marquette victory.

This will be the third meeting between the two teams in the NCAA Tournament. In their first matchup, the Golden Eagles defeated the Tar Heels, 67-59, to win the 1977 national title game. North Carolina defeated MU, 81-63, in their most recent postseason meeting back in 2011 in the Marquette is making its 34th appearance in the NCAA tournament and first since 2018-19. The program, which claimed the national title in 1977 under legendary head coach Al McGuire, also owns 16 trips to the Sweet 16 and has participated in the Final Four on three occasions (1974, 1977, 2003).

The winner of the Marquette/North Carolina game will face the winner of the No. 1 Baylor and No. 16 Norfolk State matchup on March 19.

Robaidek named CWC-East Player of the Year

Other Bonduel, Wittenberg-Birnamwood and Menominee Indian athletes also honored

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Several players from the Bonduel, Wittenberg-Birnamwood and Menominee Indian girls basketball teams earned spots on the Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division all-conference teams.

Bonduel senior Allaina Robaidek was the conference's Player of the Year. She was joined on the first team by senior teammate Brenna Hertzfeldt and Wittenberg-Birnamwood junior Reese Rogowski.

Bonduel sophomore Ella Hischke made the second team. Bonduel senior Kylie Hoffman, Witt-Birn senior Kaylee Schram and Menominee Indian junior Mariah Fish were all honorable mentions. Bonduel's Jerry Reinke was the Coach of the Year.

In conference play, Robaidek averaged 15.6 points a game. She hit 24 free throws and 27 3-pointers.

The senior guard also averaged 1.6 assists, 1.9 steals and 1.3 rebounds in conference games.

"Being named Player of the Year for my final basketball year really put an amazing ending to a career," said Robaidek. "It was a nice way to look back over the last 10 years and feel accomplished with my career. Thank you to my teammates, family, and coaches over the years and thank you to the Bonduel community for their support also."

Hertzfeldt averaged 6.8 points a game in conference play. She also finished with averages of 5.7 rebounds, 2.4 steals and 1.8 assists.

"Honestly, it's really special," said Hertzfeldt of the conference honor. "I knew coming into my senior year that I was going to have to step it up and help lead my team. So knowing that I did, just that to be recognized, means a lot."

Rogowski had a special junior season, scoring 18.4 points per conference.

She also dished out 5 assists, pulled down 4.8 rebounds, tallied 2.9 steals and blocked 1.2 shots per CWC-East game.

"I'm excited to build off my successes this year and continue to work harder on the things that I need to improve on for my final season in high school," said Rogowski of how the honor would motivate her going into next year.

Hischke was a consistent contributor for Bonduel in her sophomore season.

In CWC-East action, she averaged 10.8 points, 2.8 rebounds, 2.7 assists and 1.8 steals.

Hoffman led the Bears in assists per game (3.2). She also averaged 4.2 points, 2.2 rebounds and 1.8 steals in conference play.

"I am truly thankful for being named to the honorable mention team my senior year," said Hoffman. "I am very happy to be recognized for the type of player I am since I am more defensive and focus more on facilitating."

Schram averaged 9.7 points in conference play in her final season. She led the team in rebounds (5.2) and had a steal a game.

"I think that it is super cool to be named an honorable mention," said Schram. "This isn't really the type of stuff that I am thinking of when I am playing, but it is very nice to be given the honor. Even though our season didn't end the way that we wanted to, it is really nice to be able to end my basketball career on a high note."

Fish was Menominee Indian's leader on the court this winter. The junior averaged 16 points per game.

Reinke picked up the Coach of the Year honor after guiding the Bears to an 11-1 record and a tie for first in the conference with Amherst. Bonduel went on to win a regional title and finished one win shy of state.

"With the quality of coaches in the CWC-East I consider it an honor being voted Coach of the Year by my colleagues," said Reinke.

"That being said there are a lot of factors that contribute to the success of every program. We have great support from community members, parents, coaches at all levels and most importantly great student athletes. We certainly have been blessed at Bonduel with very talented players who love to compete and the Coach of the Year award is a reflection of just that. I am very thankful to be the coach here at Bonduel."

Witt-Birn tied for third in the conference with a 6-6 record, while Menominee Indian went 3-9.

7 Panthers honored at signing event

All but 2 athletes attending Wisconsin schools

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Seven Oconto Falls High School senior athletes were honored during a signing event on March 7.

After an introduction from athletic director Jerry Moynihan and video showing photos of the athletes, Alexis Euclide, Zach Fonder, Emmie Magnin, Graeson Pankratz, Jake Sager, Dylan Thomson and Clayton Whiting were each honored. While Whiting had an individual signing day earlier in the school year, the other six were able to sign letters of intent.

Euclide is headed to UW-Stout, where she will continue her basketball career.

"It's just kind of like a checkpoint because I've been wanting to play college basketball since I was in tournaments," said Euclide. "It just became something I knew I wanted to do and continue on after high school."

A big determining factor on where Euclide landed was based on which college had her major, construction management.

She said she didn't have a ton of options nearby that offered that major, with just two in Wisconsin and another in Chicago.

Euclide enjoyed the experience she got in Chicago, but visited Stout a few days later and said, "it felt like I was going home. It felt like a small town, just like it is here, so it was a no brainer."

During her time on the Panthers' varsity team, she made all-conference teams three times. She made the honorable mention list as a sophomore before jumping to the second team as a junior and first team as a senior.

Fonder will join the Ripon College football team.

What makes Fonder's journey to college ball unique is he picked up the sport as a sophomore.

"I kinda felt like already an underdog because I started late, and it means so much to get this far, especially with my injury I got this year," said Fonder, who suffered a torn UCL. "It means so much that a college would still want me."

Fonder, who expects to play offensive line at Ripon, suffered the injury this past fall and was emotional when he played in the team's last game, thinking it was potentially his last game ever.

"I thought I was finally done, but then Ripon took a chance on me," said Fonder, who added Ripon felt like home, had an amazing coaching staff and a nice campus. "I'm going to be forever grateful to them."

Fonder made the all-conference second team as an offensive lineman this past season.

Magnin is headed to Carroll University to continue her volleyball career.

"It means so much," Magnin said of the signing event. "Volleyball has been such a big passion of mine — growing up, I've always looked forward to going to practice every day and looking forward to spending time with all my teammates and I just couldn't give it up. Playing volleyball in college has been a goal of mine forever and what I wanted to do in my future."

Magnin said she was interested in attending a smaller school so she'd be able to have better relationships with professors and be able to excel in her academics as well.

"It just felt like home," said Magnin of Carroll. "I stepped on campus, I loved the feel of campus. I met some of the girls on the team and they were so nice and welcoming."

Magnin made all-conference teams in her final two years of high school. She was an honorable mention as a junior before jumping to the second team this past fall.

Pankratz is set to join the UW-Stevens Point wrestling team in the coming years.

"It's just pretty awesome that I get to continue competing — it's not just over after four years, I get four more," said Pankratz. "I'm looking forward to going to Point and wrestling for them and see what that brings."

Pankratz helped bring the Panthers plenty of success over his high school career. While helping the team win duals and regional titles, he finished his final three seasons wrestling at state.

The wrestler's recruitment process took off after his junior season, when he took sixth at state. Several schools took an interest, but it was UW-Stevens Point that won him over.

Along with a natural resources program that he's interested in, Pankratz enjoyed the UW-Stevens Point facility and coaching staff, with the coaches showing him around and giving him a solid picture of what to expect during his time there.

Sager is one of two athletes that is headed out of the state to compete collegiately. He'll join the Bay College baseball team.

"Ever since I was little, I've wanted to play college baseball — watching like Vanderbilt and all them growing up," said Sager. "Now that it's actually coming true is pretty cool. It's going to be a cool experience."

Sager drew interest from some four-year colleges, but ultimately decided to start his college career at the junior college level.

"Bay College sparked my interest, so I decided to go there," said Sager, who added he'd like to transfer to a four-year college to round out his college playing career.

Sager was the only athlete at the signing event to not have played his sport this school year, and he's got a big goal set.

"I got second team all-conference last year so I'm shooting for first team this year," said Sager. "I just want to show that I deserve this spot in college and show that I'm one of the better players in this conference."

Thomson will also play football at the college level, doing so for UW-Oshkosh.

"It's crazy to me," said Thomson of signing to play college ball. "Freshman year, to look at where I'm at right now, I don't ever think it would have been possible. It feels very good to know all the hard work has paid off, so that's honestly the greatest thing ever."

Thomson made the second team all-conference as a defensive back and honorable mention list as a running back in his junior season before enjoying a monster senior season. He was a second team linebacker and unanimous first teamer as a running back this past fall, while also being tabbed the Offensive Player of the Year.

Thomson rushed for 1,445 yards to set a new school record, helping him draw interest from several colleges.

"I chose Oshkosh because it really set apart from all the other schools, as they look for quality over quantity," said Thomson. "I think it's a really good fit for me because it's close and I really love their program — I've got a lot of friends that go there and they say it's really good."

Thomson said the plan is to continue playing running back at the college level, adding the coaches enjoyed his running style and that he'd also like to get bigger to play the position.

Whiting had his official signing day back on Nov. 16, signing to join the University of Missouri wrestling team.

Since that day, the senior posted a 50-1 record and won his fourth state title. Before making the trip to state, he became the No. 1 wrestler in the country at the 182-pound weight class, according to FloWrestling.

Gresham's Valarie Cervený named Co-Player of Year

Several other Gresham, Bowler, Tigerton, Marion players honored

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Gresham's Valarie Cervený was named the Co-Player of the Year in the Central Wisconsin Conference-North Division for a second straight girls basketball season.

The Gresham senior shared the honor this year with Manawa senior Mikenna Wegener. Gresham and Manawa shared the CWC-North title with 11-1 records this winter.

"It means a lot to me to be named Co-Player of the Year again in conference," said Cervený. "Honestly I don't deserve this award any more than anyone else that landed on first team.

"If it wouldn't be for my teammates I would not have been able to receive this award, I have to give them a lot of credit for it. In practice we always push each other to improve day in and day out and it's because of them I'm able to receive this award."

In conference play, Cervený averaged 14.9 points a game.

She also averaged 10.1 rebounds, 4.6 assists, 3.6 steals and 1.7 blocks. She led her team in each of those categories.

She was joined on the first team by teammates Hannah Cervený and Maddie Haffner.

Hannah Cervený, a senior, averaged 13.8 points, 2.6 rebounds, 2.6 assists and 3.5 steals.

"It means a lot to me because it shows how hard me and my teammates have worked," said Hannah Cervený. "This year me and my team achieved a lot of goals we had for ourselves. We won our holiday tournament, got a conference championship and I made a dream of mine come true by scoring 1,000pts! I love this team and I wish I could keep playing with them.

"I gave it my all this year and I played the best I could. I'm so thankful that my hard work paid off and I'm so thankful for my parents and all the support everyone has given me. I am also thankful for everyone who has pushed me to be the best I can be. Without them I wouldn't have accomplished this! I'm going to miss playing so much."

Haffner averaged 9.9 points in conference play in her sophomore season.

She also had averages of 6 rebounds, 2.2 steals and 2 assists.

"It is a huge honor to get the all-conference award," said Haffner. "I really enjoy playing basketball so I like to practice as much as I can. I hope that I can get better to be able to help my team in the future."

Bohl was the fourth and final Gresham player named to an all-conference team, making the honorable mention team.

The junior averaged 8 points, 6.7 rebounds and 1.2 blocks in conference action.

Tigerton

Three Tigerton players were honored by the CWC-North.

Senior Elizabeth Robbins and junior Abby Swartz each ended up on the second team for the Tigers.

Swartz averaged 7.9 points, 10.1 rebounds, 1.2 blocks, 1.2 assists and 1.1 steals per game.

Robbins turned in conference averages of 8.6 points, 5.5 rebounds, 2.1 assists and 2.7 steals.

"It is special to me because this shows the dedication I had for basketball and the work I put towards it," said Robbins. "Overall, I'm proud of my accomplishments and thankful to have coaches and teammates push me to be the best player I can be on the court."

Bethany Jobe was an honorable mention in her senior season.

"It shows the my dedication to the sport and the team," said Jobe of the honor. "I am grateful I got the chance to play."

She averaged 5 points, 7.2 rebounds, 1.5 steals and 1.1 blocks in conference play.

Bowler

Bowler had three players earn all-conference honors.

Isabella Stevens landed on the second team after a strong sophomore season.

Senior Abigail Chamberlain and junior Brandi Spencer were honorable mentions for the Panthers.

"It's really special to me, it's my second year in a row getting honorable mention," said Chamberlain. "I honestly could've done better but getting a concussion the first game of the season kind of set me back."

Marion

Marion juniors Grace Bradley and Kelsey Zillmer were both honorable mentions this season. Each player averaged over three points a game in conference play.

Zillmer led the team with over six boards a game, while Bradley had over four rebounds. Zillmer blocked over four shots a game.

HIGH SCHOOL WRESTLING

8 Hawks make all-conference list

Novitski on first-ever girls list

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Eight Shawano Community High School wrestlers earned all-conference spots in the Bay Conference this winter.

Six of the wrestlers made the first team after the team won the conference title for the fourth straight year.

Drake Herm, Carsen Herm, Noah Jones, Caden Young and Jackson Smits made the first team with undefeated records in conference duals. Piper Novitski landed on the girls first team list.

Smits went 6-0 in Bay duals, with five pins and a forfeit win. He ended his senior year with a 32-9 record and wrestling at state.

"Earning first team was one of my biggest goals this season," said Smits. "I am very thankful to have had all of my hard work pay off and be recognized."

Jones, another senior, went 6-0 in conference duals with four pins and two technical falls. He eventually qualified for sectionals and finished 35-8 on the season.

"Earning first team recognition is very special to me," Jones said. "Throughout high school wrestling, I have spent countless hours working my butt off — whether it is staying after practices and working the little details, to the afternoons in summer wrestling coach (Jordan) Kust and being the only one up there."

Young finished 6-0 in his Bay matches. He tallied two pins, two technical falls and two forfeits.

Young finished 28-4 on the season, capping his junior year at state.

Carsen Herm, a sophomore, finished 5-0 in his conference duals. He pinned three opponents and got two forfeit wins. He ended his season at sectionals and had a 27-12 record.

Drake Herm, another sophomore, finished 4-0 with three pins and a forfeit. He, too, qualified for sectionals and ended the season with a 15-5 record.

Novitski earned a spot on the first-ever girls all-conference list after a big freshman season.

"Honestly, it feels amazing; having the chance to be a top girl in the first ever girls all-conference just feels like a dream come true," said Novitski. "Finally with the girls division, we have a fighting chance to show that girls in wrestling are worthy to be here."

Novitski placed fifth at the girls state tournament this winter.

Senior Andrew Popp and freshman West Bieber were both honorable mentions for the Hawks.

Popp claimed five Bay wins, with two by pin and three by forfeit. Bieber earned four wins, with three by pin and another by major decision.

Two Shawano boys make all-conference teams

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Shawano Community High School juniors Michael Metcalf-Grassman and Jacob Landon each earned spots on Bay Conference teams after strong winter seasons for the boys basketball team.

Metcalf-Grassman made the second team, while Landon was an all-conference honorable mention.

In 14 Bay games, Metcalf-Grassman led the team in scoring with 19.1 points per contest. He attempted 82 free throws and made 61, while also hitting 31 3-pointers.

Metcalf-Grassman also averaged 5.6 rebounds per game, the second-best total on the team.

To round out his big season, Metcalf-Grassman averaged 1.9 assists and 1.4 steals per conference game.

"It was an honor to be to be named second team all-conference," said Metcalf-Grassman. "This will definitely motivate me for next season, as my goal is to be first team all-conference and hopefully Player of the Year.

"This also motivates me to help lead our team to a conference championship next year," he added.

Landon finished conference play by averaging 11.7 points per contest. He made 35 free throws and 25 3-pointers.

Landon averaged 4.9 rebounds, 3.9 assists and 1.5 steals in Bay action. His assist total was tops on the team.

"Receiving honorable mention as a junior is really just a gauge on how our season went," said Landon. "It shows that I did not work hard enough to take the team where we wanted to go.

"Going into my senior season, I want to be a core leader of our team to take us to the top of the conference," Landon added. "If our main goal as a team is to do that, the personal awards will follow."

Shawano finished 8-6 in Bay action, tying with two other teams for third place. The Hawks finished 16-9 overall and were eliminated from the postseason by Rhinelander in a regional semifinal game.

Pulaski's Simons named FRCC's Player of the Year

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Pulaski junior Lincoln Simons was named the Fox River Classic Conference Player of the Year for his play as the Ashwaubenon co-op hockey team's goalie this winter.

In seven FRCC contests, Simons stopped 195 of the 206 shots he faced for a .947 save percentage. He also posted two shutouts.

The team went 4-3 in conference play.

"To be named the Player of the Year was a great honor to me as I was not expecting to receive that award," said Simons. "Traditionally goalies don't win Player of the Year, as the most recent one to win it in our conference was back in 2013. So when coach (Matt) Golden called to inform me of this, I was surprised but felt great pride and joy to be receiving it."

For the entire season, Simons helped the team finish 18-5. He stopped 503 of the 539 shots he faced for a .933 save percentage. He had seven shutouts, tied for the most in the state this winter.

"Winning this award will really motivate me for next year, because I know that the standard has been raised and more is expected of me now," said Simons of his conference honor. "Next year I know I'm gonna have to have a good season, and hopefully we have some success next year as a team as well."

Pulaski's Kubiak, Wiese make FRCC honorable mention list

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Pulaski senior Olivia Kubiak and junior Ella Wiese earned spots on the Fox River Classic Conference honorable mention team for their play this winter on the girls basketball team.

Kubiak averaged 6.9 points in 18 FRCC games. She also had 38 total rebounds, 15 assists, 26 steals and three blocks.

The senior was one of the top free-throw shooters in the conference, making 34 of her 47 attempts for 72.3%.

"It was special to me to make honorable mention my senior year because I put 100% on the court for the team, and getting the award proved to me that effort doesn't go unnoticed," said Kubiak. "Also, being a senior, it was special because this is my first and last basketball award."

Wiese averaged 7.2 points in conference games. She pulled down 58 rebounds, dished out 20 assists and had 22 steals.

The junior had one of the better percentages from 3-point land in conference play. Wiese made 26 of her 79 attempts for 32.9%.

"It will drive me to continue to work so that I can make first or second team all-conference next year," said Wiese. "Our team had quite a bit of injuries this year, and we didn't reach the goals we set together as a team. In order to achieve our goals next year, we are going to have to keep putting in the work to get where we want to be."

"I missed my whole sophomore season because of injury and did not get cleared until last spring. Everyone knows that you just don't pick up where you left off. So it took me a while to get back to full speed," Wiese continued. "I didn't feel like I really got that chance playing last summer as I was just coming back from injury, so I am excited about getting to play AAU basketball this summer. I'm really looking forward

Bears' Stoltenow, Chargers' Schairer make CWC-East boys 1st team

2 more Bonduel players, 1 from Witt-Birn, Menominee Indian also honored

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

A total of six players between the Bonduel, Wittenberg-Birnamwood and Menominee Indian boys basketball teams landed on Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division all-conference teams.

Bonduel's Reece Stoltenow and Witt-Birn's Simon Schairer each made the first team.

Stoltenow finished the season with averages of 16.7 points, 4.3 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 1.5 steals.

"First team has been truly an honor for me," said Stoltenow, a senior. "Looking back into the last season, I got honorable mention all-conference. With the people coming back that were on first or second team, people probably gave me no chance of being a first-teamer."

"Now looking back at the hard work I put in over the summer and the offseason, it means so much to me to receive this award. Experiencing this award and season with my dad and mom by my side has truly been a dream come true. So, I could say this award is very special too me."

Schairer finished the winter season with averages of 17.2 points, 9 rebounds 1.4 assists, 2 steals and 1 block.

"It means a lot to me to be first team all-conference because it has been one of my goals for my high school basketball career, and I have finally been able to accomplish it my senior season with the help of my teammates and coaches," said Schairer, a senior.

Bonduel sophomore Noah Weier, Menominee Indian junior Isaiah Moss and Witt-Birn senior Ben Wesolowski earned spots on the second team.

Weier finished the year by averaging 13.3 points, 3.6 rebounds, 4.2 assists and 1.8 steals.

Moss capped the regular season by scoring 14.4 points a game. He also averaged 6.9 rebounds, 3.2 assists and 2 steals.

Wesolowski was second on Witt-Birn in scoring with 14.4 points a game. He also tallied averages of 5.2 rebounds, 3.8 assists and 3.5 steals per game.

"It means a lot to see my hard work pay off in my final season," said Wesolowski of his all-conference honor.

Bonduel senior Jon Sell was an honorable mention.

Sell averaged a team-high 8.4 rebounds a game. He also averaged 10.8 points, 1.7 assists and 1 steal a game.

"It is special to be recognized for my play on the court," said Sell. "I think my team is a great part in my success, and it is special the opportunities that were presented to us this year. I am grateful for the recognition and hope to see the team succeed even more next year."

Bonduel finished the year with a 15-10 overall record and went 7-5 in CWC-East play to take third. Witt-Birn finished second in the conference with a 9-3 mark and were 16-10 overall. Menominee Indian went 12-13 overall and 1-11 in conference play.

Panthers' Euclide, Peitersen honored in NEC

By MORGAN RODE

Sports Editor

Oconto Falls seniors Alexis Euclide and Hailey Peitersen each were honored by the North Eastern Conference for their play this girls basketball season.

Euclide made the all-conference first team. Peitersen made the honorable mention team, while also appearing on the defensive first team.

In 18 conference games, Euclide averaged 13.1 points per contest. She converted nearly 40% of her shots and made 26 3-pointers and 36 free throws in NEC play.

Euclide also grabbed 68 rebounds (3.8 average), dished out 43 assists and had 52 steals.

"It's a feeling of great accomplishment for sure," said Euclide of her conference honor. "Making first team after making second team last year just shows the progress I have made. I feel like it not only represents my abilities and drive but also represents my coaches and teammates who helped me get there.

"It's definitely something I hope to build on as I go to college and just build on my personal skills. This has been something I've been wanting since my freshman year and I'm just grateful to have the dream come true, even if it's my last year of high school basketball."

Peitersen averaged 10.6 points per NEC game. She made about 30% of her shots, hitting 31 triples and 34 free throws.

She pulled down nine rebounds a game (162 total) and blocked 15 shots. She also recorded 46 steals and 19 assists.

"Making the all-conference honorable mention team is a huge honor for me," said Peitersen. "To make the defensive first team as well is also very rewarding and a great way to top off my senior season!"

Oconto Falls finished the winter with a 15-11 overall record. The Panthers went 11-7 in the NEC to place fourth.

Shaw an honorable mention in FRCC

By MORGAN RODE

Sports Editor

Pulaski junior Derek Shaw landed on the Fox River Classic Conference honorable mention team after leading the boys basketball team this winter.

In FRCC play, Shaw led the Red Raiders with 17.6 points per game. He made 37 of his 42 free throws and hit 52 of his 120 3-point shots for a strong 43.3%.

The junior also averaged 3.3 rebounds, 2.6 assists and 1.1 steals in conference play, good enough for second on the team in each category.

"I think that it has motivated me to get better over the offseason and really prove myself next season," said Shaw of the all-conference honor.

For the entire season, Shaw scored in double figures in all but four of the team's 25 games. During the regular season, he scored over 20 points in 12 games, including nine of the first 10 games.

Pulaski posted a 6-19 overall record and went 2-16 in the FRCC. The team earned a playoff win before being knocked off by Notre Dame in a regional semifinal contest.

Shawano senior Brooke Theis earned a spot on the Bay Conference second team to cap her playing career for the Hawks.

In 12 conference games, Theis put up averages of 12.4 points, 7.9 rebounds and 1.5 blocks per game. All three of those marks led the team.

Theis also had 12 steals and 10 assists in conference play.

"This is extremely important to me because it shows me how highly people think of me as a basketball player and person. I'm excited I can go into college with this," said Theis, who will play at Bemidji State University at the next level.

During the team's 25-game regular season, Theis scored in double figures 16 times. She had over double-digit rebounds in six contests.

Shawano finished the winter season with an 11-14 overall record and 4-8 mark in the Bay. The Hawks were eliminated from the playoffs in a regional semifinal loss to New London.

Shawano's Prochaska earns honorable mention nod

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Shawano sophomore Dylan Prochaska was named an honorable mention in the Badgerland Conference for his play as the Shawano co-op hockey team's goalie this winter.

The co-op was unable to win any games in its first season playing a full varsity schedule.

In conference action, Prochaska stopped 378 of the 467 shots blasted his way for a .809 save percentage.

"This season was tough," said Prochaska. "We faced some pretty good teams throughout the year, and I think that this helped me more than anyone on the team. To them, it was more of a beat down than anything because they didn't get much from it other than playing a higher speed of hockey, in my opinion. I, on the other hand, got to experience quicker movement in the crease, faster shots and different techniques throughout the season.

"This season was hard to stick with, but I just looked forward at what it can bring to me in the future," Prochaska continued. "Getting honorable mention all-conference is something you work towards every game you play. Getting it this year built my confidence, but I don't base my motivation to play well on a high school award. My motivation comes from where I want to see myself in the future."

For the entire season, Prochaska stopped 749 of the 905 shots he saw for a .816 save percentage.

Rodgers' contract details revealed

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

ONLINE

Aaron Rodgers' new contract extension with the Green Bay Packers is now official and signed.

Ian Rapoport, an insider for NFL Network and NFL.com tweeted at 7:42 a.m. on March 15 that, "After a week of going back and forth with the #Packers, Aaron Rodgers' complicated contract pays him $50M per year over 3 years — $150M. Plus there are two low-money option years that will be replaced."

Tom Pelissero, a reporter for NFL Network, expanded on the deal, noting that Rodgers will get $42 million in 2022, $59.515 million in 2023 and $49.3 million in 2024.

"So that's $150.815M over the next three years, and the first two are fully guaranteed at signing," tweeted Pelissero.

Mike Garafolo, another reporter at NFL Network, continued to explain Rodgers' contract, tweeting the Packers quarterback's cap hit would be $28.5 million in 2022, $31.6 million in 2023 and $40.7 million in 2024.

His cap hit of $28.5 million is down from the original $46.7 million, which will help the Packers retain several key players from this past year's team. Pelissero noted that the Packers have cleared over $45 million in the span of a day after extending Rodgers and outside linebacker Preston Smith and releasing outside linebacker Za'Darius Smith and offensive lineman Billy Turner.

While the contract is complicated, it basically boils down to Rodgers being in Green Bay at least for the next two seasons, and then reassessing his future at that point.

The move helps the Packers now as they aspire to win the Super Bowl, but could hinder them in the years to come.

"One source said the dead money cap hit for the end of Aaron Rodgers' contract as it stands now is around $75M. That's when the #Packers go into rebuild mode," tweeted Milwaukee Journal Sentinel reporter Tom Silverstein.
