Oconto Falls wins home scramble

Bonduel's Garside, Tauchen duo post top score

By MORGAN RODE

The Oconto Falls and Bonduel girls golf teams got their fall seasons off to strong starts during a two-golfer scramble on Aug. 11 at River Island Golf Course in Oconto Falls.

It was Oconto Falls that won the scramble with a score of 92 to edge Bonduel's score of 93, but the Bonduel duo of Sarah Garside and Thea Tauchen posted the top mark of 42 on the day. Luxemburg-Casco and Oconto also competed at the scramble, posting team scores of 98 and 103.

It was a strong team showing for Oconto Falls, with the duos of Kate Pytleski and Kenadee Seidl, and Kloeigh Seidl and Lexi Nelson each posting scores of 46.

"Today was a great start to the season," said Pytleski. "Just being back out on the course competing with my teammates and my best friends was the best, especially with it being my last season. Starting off the season with a win was awesome, even if it is just a scramble. These little victories will give the team more confidence moving forward."

Kenadee Seidl said that while she and Pytleski posted a strong score, things still could have gone better, noting that the duo got better as the day went on.

"I feel as the season progresses we will continue to work on our mistakes and do well as a team," said Kenadee Seidl. "It just felt really good to be competing again, getting back out there and having fun."

Garside and Tauchen were both happy to post the scramble's top score.

"I'm really happy about our score of 42," said Tauchen. "Considering there was no driving range and it being the first meet of the season, I think we did great."

Kerry O'Harrow and Raina Dworniczak turned in a score of 51 for the Bears, while Karlee Ziemer and Charlotte Trudell posted a 56.

"It was really nice just to get out and see the other teams and how they're golfing, and how my new teammates would react to the golfing scene," said Garside.

Both Oconto Falls and Bonduel were fairly pleased with their play off the tee box, but noted that work in the short game and on the greens was needed.

"I think the girls were great off the tee box today. We pounded the ball," said Pytleski. "However we could definitely clean up our short game moving forward; lots of practice on the putting greens is needed."

Even though the scramble format makes things a little more favorable for the golfers, there was still plenty of learning lessons from the day.

Tauchen noted that it's important to not always rely on scramble partners and try to make good shots themselves.

"I think we all sort of learned that we just need to think positively to do well and to just have fun with the game," said Garside.

Kenadee Seidl echoed a similar thought, saying, "Some things we learned today was that even if you have a bad hole, it doesn't define the rest of the match for you. Just leave it in the past and keep moving forward and continue to better yourself."

16 area grads make WIAC Scholastic Honor Roll

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Suring High School graduate Ryan Mahoney, a senior for the Ripon College men's basketball team, earned a spot on the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Honors Court.

To receive the recognition, a student-athlete must academically be a junior or second who has a grade-point average of 3.2 or higher.

This was the guard's first season earning the honor. Mahoney majored in exercise science with an emphasis on human performance.

The Ripon men's basketball team also earned the NABC's Team Academic Excellence Award, which requires a team cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better during the 2021-22 school year.

WIAC Scholastic Honor Roll list

Several area graduates earned spots on the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Scholastic Honor Roll list for their work in the classroom during the 2021-22 academic year.

RYAN MAHONEY

To make the list, student-athletes needed to achieve a 3.00 GPA or better.

Five Bonduel graduates earned spots on the list, with Parker Bohm and Isaac Garside (Eau Claire football), Jessie LaBerge (Whitewater women's golf), Breanna Schnell (Stevens Point track and field) and Brody Wussow (Stout football) recognized.

Four student-athletes from Shawano and Pulaski were honored.

Baylie Hansen (Whitewater volleyball), Ben Smits (Stevens Point football), Crede Timm (River Falls football) and Morgan Weinig (River Falls track and field) were the four Shawano grads.

Vanessa Grunwald (Eau Claire women's soccer), Maggie Hernandez (La Crosse women's soccer), Mackenzie Niespodzany (Stevens Point softball) and Kevin Ruechel (Stout track and field) were the Pulaski athletes recognized.

Wesolowski joining UW-River Falls football team

Flak also playing collegiate football

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School graduate Ben Wesolowski is set to play collegiate football after a sensational senior season for the Chargers.

Wesolowski will join the UW-River Falls football team.

As a senior, the dual-threat quarterback threw for 1,967 touchdowns and 29 touchdowns while rushing for 1,847 yards and 20 more scores. He even caught a touchdown pass on his way to earning the Offensive Player of the Year honor in the Central Wisconsin Conference-Large Division.

He also earned a spot on the Wisconsin Football Coaches Association honorable mention all-state team and played in the WFCB All-Star Games this summer.

Wesolowski accumulated 47 total tackles on defense as a senior, with five going for losses. He also intercepted three passes to help him also make the CWC-Large first team on defense as a defensive back.

Despite the impressive season, Wesolowski said his recruitment process started late in his senior season. He said he had coaches reach out to him via Twitter.

"After visiting multiple schools, I liked the facilities and the coaches at UW-River Falls the best," said Wesolowski, who added he chose playing football over basketball and baseball in college because of his love for the sport.

Wesolowski said that he's had plenty of conversations with coaches and teammates at UWRF and is ready to take his game to the college level.

"I'm very honored and excited to have the opportunity to be able to play at the next level," he said.

Wesolowski had several memorable moments and feats during his senior football season, but it was a two-point conversion run he had against Amherst in the playoffs that stood out.

Trailing by one with just under 90 seconds to play, Witt-Birn decided to go for the win instead of tying the game up. The coaching staff told Wesolowski to "run around and find someone," and he did just that. He first scrambled to his left, and then back right before hitting Jack Fraaza on a pass to give the Chargers the lead.

Witt-Birn held on for a 29-28 win to advance to level four of the playoffs (state semifinals).

Flak headed to Northern State

Witt-Birn grad Ben Flak will also play football at the college level. He will play for Northern State University in South Dakota.

Flak is listed as a defensive lineman on the team's football roster, which can be found at nsuwolves.com/sports/football/roster.

During the 2021 season, he was credited with 121 tackles, including 16 sacks and 13 tackles for losses. He also forced three fumbles and recovered another. For his play, he was named to the CWC-Large first team.

Flak did not answer a list of questions, which was sent to all athletes playing collegiate sports, before press time.

Shawano trio moving on to college athletics

All 3 staying in state

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Shawano Community High School graduates Gabi Bukoski, Elizabeth Kary and Abigail Rabideau are all eager to continue playing the sports they love at the college level.

Bukoski is set to join the Ripon College swim team. Kary will play softball for Milwaukee Area Technical College, while Rabideau is on the soccer and cheer teams at St. Norbert College.

Gabi Bukoski

Bukoski said she was getting interest from teams across the country. She had heard good things about Ripon, so Bukoski decided to pursue things further.

"I had many phone calls with the coach, and I decided to tour and have a meeting with him," said Bukoski. "After my tour and meeting, I knew right away that Ripon was the school I wanted to attend. Over the summer and during the high school season I stayed in touch with the coach, and he came to watch me swim at club and high school meets."

Bukoski also enjoys Ripon's smaller size, and she added that "it is a perfect distance from home."

"I also fell in love with the swim program and everything that the coach said," she said. "The main thing was that the coach said we are students first and athletes second. So I knew if I needed to take a day to study or get help with work, I could. Ripon is also very good with letting the students participate in all the things they want to. With this, I am able to play in orchestra and be on the swim team."

Bukoski, who has been swimming since she was 9 years old, said it's been a goal of hers to swim at the college level.

The team doesn't have any specific long-term plans for Bukoski, but she's already gotten quite familiar with the team and its coaches.

"I've had multiple meetings in person and over the phone with the coach," said Bukoski. "I've also met some of the swimmers at one of their meets and at summer orientation, and I really enjoyed meeting all of them."

When thinking back on her favorite high school swim memory, a tight race early in her senior season came to mind. Bukoski ended up winning the race and beating her personal best time in the process.

"The best part of that was my team yelling and running to me to give me hugs and congratulate me," she said.

Elizabeth Kary

Kary didn't always have a goal of playing collegiate softball, but she couldn't turn down the opportunity after being approached by a college coach during a club tournament of hers.

"The idea of college for me was it is a way to further my education," said Kary. "MATC offers all of the things I need for the career I want, and the idea of playing softball was just another perk added to the school."

Kary served as Shawano's catcher over the past few seasons. She made the Bay Conference's honorable mention team this spring after earning first-team honors as a junior.

Despite some memorable individual and team moments over her high school career, Kary had a difficult time singling out a favorite memory.

"There are way too many good memories. I love every girl I've ever played with," Kary said. "I think I'm going to miss camping during tournaments the most though. It was always such a happy atmosphere, and everyone got along great."

She played under a new head coach

as a senior in high school and will be under the direction of a new coach at MATC as well. Despite not playing a game for the Stormers yet, Kary already feels like a part of the team.

"I have had contact with a few girls from the team, and so far they are all super, super sweet," she said. "They've been super inclusive, and the new coach has been amazing. He already has given me so much guidance on my intended major, and I'm so happy to know I have a supportive coach."

Abigail Rabideau

Rabideau was in a similar situation to Kary, not anticipating to play collegiately. She chose St. Norbert "for education purposes first" and was encouraged to try out.

She chose to attend the college in November before contacting the cheer and soccer coaches. She tried out for the cheer team in April and made the roster before finding out in May that she'd also get the chance to play soccer as well.

"After talking to the soccer coach many times, he had went to a couple of games to scout me," Rabideau recalled. "He had told me there was only one open spot on the team, and I was one of three recruits. He then offered me the spot. Kind of a simple recruit decision."

"I feel beyond lucky to not only play soccer but cheer as well. It is not often that people are able to play at the next level after high school, but I am able to continue both. I know that the game is going to be completely different from high school but I am ready for that change and I am ready to better myself and my game."

The Shawano grad said that as a high school freshman, she never would have thought she could play soccer collegiately. Rabideau talked with Shawano girls coach Emily Stepanek about playing in college and thanked her for all her help in helping her earn the opportunity.

Rabideau called Stepanek her role model, adding that "I've looked up to her since she walked into this program." She added that Stepanek's guidance gave her confidence to keep playing soccer at the college level.

Rabideau said Stepanek and the rest of the team surprised her with a college signing day. "They went out of their ways to make me feel special and included with the other collegiate athletes. It is not something that they had to do, but my coach thought it felt necessary. I am very appreciative of that team, and I am going to miss them a lot."

Rabideau said she's pretty much in constant contact with her new team at St. Norbert.

"I feel like this team and coaches really only have our best interest at heart, and they are here to better us," she said.

Rabideau was voted the Hawks' MVP of the spring season and helped lead the team to 12-9-1 season.

Oshkeshequoam named Menominee Indian AD

Raasch retired from position

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Menominee Indian will have a new athletic director for the first time in over two decades as the 2022-23 school year begins.

Longtime AD Chuck Raasch retired from the position, and James Oshkeshequoam was tabbed as his replacement.

Oshkeshequoam is no stranger to athletics, with a hand in several sports at the school or in the area.

He's served as the varsity boys basketball coach for eight seasons and will continue to lead the team. He also was a softball assistant coach for a season.

Oshkeshequoam also has coached elementary softball for two years and elementary girls basketball for a year. He led the North American Indigenous basketball team in 2017 and 2022.

When the AD position opened up, Oshkeshequoam decided he wanted to pursue it and feels he will excel in the position because of the things he learned from Raasch.

"Chuck Raasch has been an amazing ally and mentor to the athletic department. So while he was here, we were able to soak up a lot of knowledge while we could," said Oshkeshequoam. "The position was open, and it was an opportunity I wanted to endure."

While there are some coaches who take on the athletic director title and step down from coaching, Oshkeshequoam still intends to keep coaching some of the school's teams.

"Menominee has a great team. It's been a blessing working here with the group we have," said Oshkeshequoam. "We're able to work together and lean on one another when needed."

"Leadership, coaches and staff are always stepping up, and it has been an honor to work alongside one another. With this in mind, we have a great support system to assist in every way possible."

With that team mentality in mind, the new AD said that any changes that are made when he's in charge will be done collectively. He added there's always room for improvement, and that he and the rest of the athletic department will meet frequently to keep finding ways to get better.

James Oshkeshequoam is the new athletic director for Menominee Indian.

"Like any athletic director hopes, my hope is that our teams, coaches and players conduct themselves like they always have — that is representing themselves in a first-class manner," said Oshkeshequoam. "Throughout the years, we have received so many compliments from other host schools, traveling referees/umpires and even to the extent of host spectators. Our compliments have always circled back to how respectful our athletes have been, and how much it has been appreciated to see how our athletic teams conducted themselves. The hope is to continue this, build on it and recognize these words of encouragement."

Raasch said he's been a part of the athletic department at Menominee Indian on and off for about 25 years.

He began working in the district back in 1990 and served as a teacher, administrator and coach along with serving as the AD.

He said he'd miss the kids — watching the progress they made as athletes and people and the relationships he's built with athletes, coaches and others along the way.

"I see a lot of my former students who are now parents of current students," said Raasch while chuckling. "It's all been good."

As of now, Raasch does not anticipate getting back into athletics, aside from watching his grandson's sporting events, but he didn't rule out the possibility completely should the right opportunity come around.

The outgoing AD had high praise for his replacement and expects Oshkeshequoam to do a great job leading the department.

"His ability to cultivate (and) maintain relationships, I think that's what the whole gig is about — in education, not just athletics and life," said Raasch. "I think that will serve him well. He's pretty soft-spoken but I do believe that when, not an if, he has to have those difficult conversations, either with coaches or athletes or parents, I think he'll be able to do that to the best of his ability."

Several Pulaski grads ready to play collegiately

Each athlete competing in a different sport

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Pulaski High School's Class of 2022 has several athletes that are moving on to college athletics in the coming years.

Aaron Hawpetoss, Gabrielle DeCleene, Connor Heezen, Ella Sasse and T.J. Shaw are all set to play collegiate sports, with each playing a different spot.

Aaron Hawpetoss

Hawpetoss will compete on the football and track and field teams at the University of Dubuque.

Hawpetoss was looking at multiple schools and made sure to check them all out before making a decision. He landed on Dubuque.

"The first thing I noticed was the coaches," said Hawpetoss of Dubuque. "I've been in sports since I was a little kid, and in my personal experience, coaches that see me as a person more than just a player on their team are the most beneficial. This was exactly how they reached out to me.

"The atmosphere within the school is very connected by sports, clubs and other extracurriculars. The biggest thing for me about Dubuque was it's academic support. They reached out to me based on my high school GPA and wanted me to be a part of their program. It made me feel accepted in a way I didn't have in high school, which I believe will lead to my success."

Hawpetoss had dreams of playing at the next level and put in lots of work to try and make that a reality.

That dream came true, just in two sports instead of one.

"I'm very grateful for my opportunity to play not only one, but both sports," he said. "I give credit to my coaches, my family, the Pulaski community and everyone else who helped me get to where I am today."

Hawpetoss said he's had positive conversations with both the football and track and field coaches at Dubuque and that they've been supportive.

AARON HAWPETOSS

As a senior on the football field, Hawpetoss earned a spot on the Fox River Classic Conference first team unanimously as a defensive end. He was credited with 35 total tackles — nine of which went for losses — two fumble recoveries and a team-high four sacks.

His favorite memory playing high school football came as a senior during the team's deep playoff run. "I was surrounded by people I called my brothers, and we were doing what we loved as a team," said Hawpetoss. "More specifically, our second playoff game against Slinger where our team was playing as a whole. Offense, defense and special teams were connected, and that's what ultimately gives me the love for the game."

Hawpetoss was a thrower for the track and field team. Ironically, his favorite memory came when he and three of the team's other throwers got to run in a relay. "To be able to participate in another event as throwers is something I won't ever forget."

Gabrielle DeCleene

DeCleene was a star for the Pulaski softball team over the past few years, and now she's set to join the team at Carroll University.

The two-time Co-Player of the Year in the FRCC said she emailed a list of schools she was interested in. Carroll was one of her preferred destinations, and she immediately got a response from the team's coach expressing interest in having her.

"I was primarily looking at what they offered for education," said DeCleene. "I'm majoring in physical therapy, and they have an awesome program for that."

Along with getting a degree, DeCleene hopes to help the softball team out, too.

"I think that I will have a lot of fun playing at the college level," she said. "Just being able to meet new teammates and getting to play for a new coach. I'm excited to grow as a player and teammate."

Along with her interactions with the coach, she's also met some of her teammates at a softball camp Carroll hosted. "I really enjoyed the atmosphere that the team had."

While DeCleene's Player of the Year nods came as a junior and senior, her favorite memory during high school came as a freshman when the team made it to state.

In her final season with the Red Raiders, it was more likely that DeCleene got on base than made an out at the plate. She had a .549 average and .605 on-base percentage while clubbing 11 homers and driving in 37 runs in 22 games.

She also earned four wins as a pitcher to add to her incredible season. DeCleene covered 21 innings and struck out 27 batters in those games.

For her efforts, DeCleene was also named to the Wisconsin Fastpitch Softball Coaches Association all-state honorable mention team and played in the WFSCA All-Star Games.

Connor Heezen

After a strong finish to his high school tennis career, Heezen will continue playing the sport at Wisconsin Lutheran College.

Heezen's path to WLC began when his trainer at the Green Bay Tennis Center put him in contact with the coach at WLC. After setting up a meeting with the coach and passing along some film, Heezen decided that WLC was the place for him.

"There were a couple things that led me to choosing WLC," said Heezen. "One was the beautiful campus and really cool environment. It felt just right for me as I wanted a smaller campus."

"Another reason was based on my major. They have a great sports management program there, which is what I want to do with my life."

Heezen said it was always a goal of his to play a sport in college, so getting the chance to do just that is a "dream come true."

When he begins his career with WLC, there aren't any specific goals that Heezen has set for himself.

"I just want to go out and play my best tennis," Heezen said.

Heezen's appearance at state this spring was the highlight of his high school career. He and Eric Sperduto were special qualifiers for state.

Despite falling in three sets in their lone state match, Heezen called the experience "a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Heezen and Sperduto also earned spots on the FRCC honorable mention team this spring.

Ella Sasse

Sasse and the Pulaski girls soccer team also enjoyed a strong spring season, and now Sasse is hoping to also make an impact for the UW-Oshkosh team.

Sasse called her recruitment process "quite stressful, from going to camps, talking to coaches, and having the confidence to get to the level I wanted to be at. I used the recruiting process of NCSA (Next College Student Athlete), which allowed me to reach out and communicate to many schools throughout the divisions and states.

"After much communication to NCAA divisions and NAIA schools, I knew what I wanted in a school and a soccer program. After stumbling across UW-Oshkosh and their women's soccer my junior year, it was one of my top schools to think about."

Sasse first got word that Oshkosh was interested in her after the team's regional final match in 2021. After weeks of communication with the school, Sasse believed Oshkosh would be a good fit for her.

Sasse eventually gave the school a verbal commitment, citing the school's academics and team's coaches, staff and complex as reasons why.

This summer, Sasse got to help run one of the Titans' soccer camps, which allowed her to meet teammates, both experienced players and other incoming recruits.

"After only being with them for a week it truly felt like a home," said Sasse. "We all bonded in a snap, and it felt like a home away from home."

Sasse served as a goalie for the Red Raiders this spring. In 13 matches, she saved 49 shots and helped the team win or tie eight of those matches. She posted seven shutouts.

ELLA SASSE

Sasse and Pulaski made it to sectionals at the end of the year, with a regional title upset win over West De Pere serving as her top high school memory.

"After 90 minutes and one goal ahead of the Phantoms, I raised the ball in the air as soon as I heard the whistle of the ref, displaying a well-deserved win for my team," said Sasse.

"Getting to hold that hardware was a feeling of accomplishment and was a core memory for the team and I."

T.J. Shaw

Like the school's other soon-to-be college athletes, Shaw enjoyed a standout senior year, making it to state in a pair of sports, cross-country and swim. Shaw decided to pursue swimming in college and will join the UW-Stevens Point team.

The main reason he chose UWSP was academics.

can't wait to make more memories swimming at the next level."

At the end of his senior swim season, Shaw placed third at the FRCC Tournament in the 200-yard freestyle.

"UWSP has the best program in the nation for conservation, which is what I'll be majoring in," said Shaw.

"Being able to continue my passion for swimming means so much to me. I

It was the 500 freestyle that he qualified for state in, though, after taking fourth in the event at sectionals.

Shaw placed 22nd at state in the 500 freestyle.

Shaw qualified for state in the 200 and 500 freestyles as a junior, which serves as his top memory from high school. He placed 20th in the 500 freestyle and 21st in the 200 freestyle.

The Pulaski grad said he's met the Stevens Point coaching staff and that they were excited for him to join the team and help out as an endurance swimmer.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Kietlinski takes over as Bowler/Gresham coach

By MORGAN RODE

Sports Editor

The Bowler/Gresham football co-op will have a new coach leading the way when the team takes the field this fall.

TED KIETLINSKI

Ted Kietlinski was tabbed the team's new coach, replacing Ralph Smith.

Kietlinski has been assistant in the football program for six years, with an additional two years of experience as an assistant at other schools. Kietlinski also coaches the Bowler boys basketball varsity team and will continue to do so.

"Ted was hired because of his involvement with the football program for the last six years at the middle school and high school levels, as well as his 20-plus years of coaching in our district," said Bowler athletic director Jeff De-

Perry. "Ted knows our kids and will continue to bring passion, insight and leadership to our district."

As Kietlinski takes the reins of the co-op, he has some challenges he needs to overcome — perhaps the biggest being getting enough athletes to join the team.

"For a number of years, the varsity program has struggled with low participation," said Kietlinski. "One of my goals is to continue to encourage kids to give football a try. I want to infuse a sense of pride in the players to keep our team playing every week and every year going forward. We have always had good players, but we need more of them."

While the wins have been hard to come by in recent years, Kietlinski complimented Smith for making the best of things. He also noted that there'd be some changes with him leading the way.

"Coach Smith did a great job keeping the program afloat," said Kietlinski. "As I take over this year, naturally there will be subtle changes. For example, we will incorporate weight training into our weekly practice plan."

"I want our team to highly value dedication, teamwork, sportsmanship and integrity. If these are the pillars of our program, good things are sure to follow."

Granted the team has enough players to field a team this fall, the co-op is set to open its season Aug. 26 at Niagara. The first Bowler/Gresham home game is scheduled for Sept. 2 against Three Lakes/Phelps.

Bowler/Gresham also will scrimmage on Aug. 19 in Gillett.

2 Gillett graduates eager to continue athletic success at collegiate level

Wagner and Mosconi staying in state to run track, cross-country

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Gillett Secondary School graduates Ryann Wagner and Angela Mosconi are both set to run cross-country and track and field at the college level.

Wagner will join the UW-Eau Claire programs, while Mosconi goes to Ripon College.

"I am super excited to be running track and cross-country at the college level," said Wagner. "It will be a bit of a change, since I will be running indoor track in the winter instead of playing basketball. Running cross-country and track is year-round, but I'm excited for this new change. I am excited to continue doing what I love — running. This is such a great opportunity, and I am so blessed to be able to continue running through college."

"It means a lot to me to be preparing to run for a college team," said Mosconi. "When I started running cross-country, I didn't see myself ever becoming a college athlete, but over the past few years, it has become part of my college experience that I am looking forward to. I grew to love running, and I am happy to be able to continue competing in college."

The path to college athletics was different for each runner.

Wagner had been receiving letters from college teams throughout high school before determining she wanted to run in college as a junior.

She had a number of places she could have gone before landing on Eau Claire.

"I choose UWEC because it was a perfect fit running-wise and, more importantly, school-wise," said Wagner. "I was a little unsure on my major, and UWEC had a great program in both of the majors I was looking at. When I visited, I felt like I was at home at UWEC; I loved it there. I am excited to be on a very successful team that will push me to get better every day, as well."

Mosconi used Next College Student Athlete (NCSA) to get her name out there before coaches and teams began contacting her.

"As I narrowed down my college search, I visited the schools I was interested in and fell in love with Ripon," said Mosconi. "During cross-country season this past year, coach (Corey) Bins actually showed up to a couple of my meets. He let me know he was coming to the first one but surprised me at the meet in Pulaski. I think that his dedication to recruits is unique, and it was neat to see him at those meets."

Wagner began her high school career at Suring High School, where she immediately began piling up top finishes in cross-country and track. She began running for Gillett as a sophomore and continued to be one of the area's top runners.

It was all fairly smooth sailing for Wagner until she sustained an injury, then things got a little complicated.

"I was a little nervous that my injury would affect my recruiting process, but I am very lucky that it didn't," said Wagner. "I think having the goal of collegiate sports in mind kept me going through my rehab. I am so very lucky to continue my running in college, especially with my injury."

"My coaches in high school and my college coaches have been very adapting with my running program due to my injury. I can't wait to see what my future holds, as I think I will be even stronger now after going through my ACL injury."

Wagner capped her high school track career with a Marinette & Oconto Conference title in the 3,200-meter run. She went on to qualify for sectionals in the event.

Mosconi's path to college was a little different, as she wasn't a top runner for her team right from the onset of high school. But by the time Mosconi was a senior, she was a big part of the team's success.

She placed third at the M&O Cross-Country Meet and second in the 1,600 at the M&O Track and Field Meet. She qualified for track sectionals in the 3,200 after winning a regional title and finished 37th at the state cross-country meet.

Both Gillett runners singled out their sophomore cross-country season as their favorite high school running memories.

The Tigers qualified for state that fall and ended the season by placing second.

"I had always dreamed of bringing home a state trophy but never really thought it would happen," said Wagner. "I remember the exact moment when we saw we got second on the screen and the amount of joy that we all felt was just unbelievable. That is a memory that I will never forget, and I am so thankful to be a part of that team."

"It was my first time experiencing the state meet, and I thought it was amazing," said Mosconi. "I got a PR (personal record) at the race that lasted until this past cross-country season. My sophomore year in general was a turning point for me because I learned my race rhythm and started turning into the runner I am now."

Both Wagner and Mosconi said that their interactions with their future teams have been top-notch so far, and that they were each excited to begin their college careers.

Trio of Panthers to play collegiate sports

All 3 remaining in the state

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Oconto Falls High School graduates Joe Adams, Noah Hirst and Logan Seymour plan on playing collegiate sports in the coming years.

Adams will compete in both cross-country and track and field, while Hirst and Seymour each play football.

Adams running for UW-Stevens Point

After a strong running career for Oconto Falls, Adams hopes to keep turning in strong finishes as a member of the UW-Stevens Point cross-country and track and field teams.

"I chose UWSP due to the program I am interested in. They are a great school for conservation law enforcement," said Adams.

Adams decided to ask about the cross-country team since he wasn't ready to give up the sport, and said he's been in contact with the coaching staff since. While not having the same communication with the track staff, Adams also hopes to carve out a role on that team.

After finishing fourth at the North Eastern Conference Cross-Country Meet last fall, Adams turned in another fourth-place finish at sectionals to qualify for the state meet. At state, Adams placed 48th.

JOE ADAMS

Qualifying for state as a senior was the highlight of Adams' high school career.

"It was an experience like none other, and I was glad to enjoy the moment with my teammates there cheering me on," said Adams.

Adams also enjoyed a strong senior season on the track team, finishing fifth in the conference in both the 1,600- and 3,200-meter relays. He went on to qualify for sectionals in both events.

Now Adams will turn his attention to trying to continue his success at the college level.

"It truly will be an exciting and new experience to run at the college level," said Adams. "(I'm) Looking forward to getting to be part of a different team and system than I have been with the last four years."

He added that through his communication with the coaches and runners, he's gotten into running and workout programs to "ensure I am ready for the next level."

Hirst to play for WLC

Hirst helped the Oconto Falls football team reach the playoffs for the first time in over two decades with playoff appearances in 2020 and 2021 and now is hoping to make a difference on the Wisconsin Lutheran College team.

"Being able to play college football is a dream," said Hirst. "Ever since I was a little kid, I've always wanted to play college sports and now that I've done that it sometimes still doesn't seem real."

Hirst said his recruiting process "wasn't anything crazy," with a couple coaches contacting him. Cameron Wolf, the defensive line coach for WLC, reached out to Hirst in December and after several conversations, the Oconto Falls athlete had made up his mind.

"Choosing Wisconsin Lutheran felt easy to me," said Hirst. "Everyone there made me feel welcome and are very nice people."

"What eventually led me to choose Wisconsin Lutheran was that it made me feel at home and comfortable. Milwaukee is a big city compared to Oconto Falls so having that feeling when I went on my visit influenced my decision even more."

Hirst said that while there isn't a specific plan laid out for him at WLC, he's ready to put in the work to get on the field in some fashion.

As a senior last fall, Hirst rushed for 176 yards and a score and totaled 75 receiving yards for Oconto Falls. On defense, he finished with 21 total tackles and was named to the Northwoods Conference first team for his play as a defensive back.

His favorite high school memory was his entire senior season.

"The games that we played and the memories that were created I will never forget — not a lot of things better than high school football on a Friday night," said Hirst.

Seymour headed to Oshkosh

Oconto Falls grad Logan Seymour is headed to UW-Oshkosh to join the Titans' football team.

In his senior season at Oconto Falls, Seymour made an impact on offense and defense. He rushed for 97 yards and caught 15 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns. Seymour was credited with 23 total tackles on defense, with four going for losses.

Seymour did not answer a list of questions that was sent to athletes playing collegiate sports before press time.

Heimmermann named Menominee Indian coach

Chris Clache steps down from position

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Nick Heimmermann was named the new Menominee Indian High School football coach, replacing Chris Clache.

While this will be Heimmermann's first year in the Eagles' program, he has an ample amount of coaching experience on his side.

He was a varsity coach at Hortonville for five years, and also coached a seventh grade team in that area for five years. He also coached Pop Warner in Appleton for three years.

As he takes over the Menominee Indian program, there are a few things working against him.

"The program is in the critical stage with low numbers, young and inexperienced players. We also lack size. It's a triple whammy," said Heimmermann.

"The plan, of course, is to build the program to a consistent competitive team," he added. "Recruiting will be key. I was a late summer hire, which made it difficult to reach out to kids."

Heimmermann is impressed with the school's new weight room, saying that it, "rivals any for a school our size."

"However weight rooms don't make a difference if not used by the players after the season."

The new coach added he wants his teams to be built on hard work, ball control and an attacking defense.

Clache said he stepped down from the head coaching role because of medical reasons.

"Long story short, my body could use a break after 20 years of being a head coach," said Clache, who stepped down from the position in the beginning of May.

Along with coaching at Menominee Indian, he also spent a couple years at Shiocton.

"It will be hard but necessary to get myself healthy," Clache said of not being able to coach. "Coaching will always be there. I do plan to coach again someday in some capacity but definitely not right now. I may reevaluate after a year off."

The outgoing coach was most proud of all the relationships he's built with his players and their families over the years. "I will miss that part the most — the sense of family we get as coaches here at Menominee Indian."

"It's been an honor and pleasure to coach here. I will miss it dearly."

Menominee Indian is set to open its varsity season on Aug. 19 at Auburndale. The team's first home game is tabbed for Aug. 25 against Waupun.

Pair of Lena grads to play college baseball

Whiting, Shallow playing at UW schools

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Lena High School graduates Lane Whiting and Logan Shallow are both hoping to play collegiate baseball in the coming years.

Whiting signed a letter of intent to UW-Eau Claire, while Shallow will go through a tryout with UW-Platteville this fall.

Lane Whiting

While he helped lead Lena on the baseball field, Whiting said his play on a travel baseball team is what helped him get noticed by college coaches.

The UW-Eau Claire coach contacted Whiting and set up a recruiting visit.

It didn't take Whiting long to choose the school for his college destination.

"I chose Eau Claire because I really liked the coaching staff and the campus," said Whiting.

"Playing baseball at the college level has been a dream of mine since I was little kid. I'm excited to start my college career."

Lena combined with St. Thomas Aquinas Academy for a baseball co-op until Whiting was a senior. In his final season, he made the Marinette & Oconto Conference second team for his pitching.

He was one of the Wildcats' workhorses on the hill, appearing in double digit games and pitching over 40 innings during the spring season. He averaged about two strikeouts per inning.

Whiting said the plan for him at Eau Claire is to continue pitching.

Should the team need him in the field, Whiting can certainly produce there too. He hit about .350 during his senior season, with over half his hits going for extra bases.

The Lena grad said his favorite memories of high school baseball were winning regional titles in his junior and senior seasons.

Logan Shallow

Despite turning in a strong high school career on the baseball diamond, Shallow said he didn't get recruited at all.

He chose Platteville because of the school's engineering program before reaching out to the baseball coach to see if he could try out this fall.

"It means a lot to be able to try out for the team," said Shallow. "I love baseball and I want to keep playing in college. I'll definitely work as hard as I can to make it. I'd love to represent the Pioneers."

Shallow has said his communication with the baseball coach has been good, and he's even got in contact with a couple other tryout players.

"That will make the adjustment a whole lot easier by knowing some people," said Shallow.

Shallow's favorite high school memories were also winning regionals in his junior and senior seasons.

"It was amazing to see the excitement on the boys faces as well as the coaches," said Shallow. "All around it was a great experience and I'll miss the boys on the high school team a lot."

Shallow made the M&O first team as an infielder as a senior after hitting about .500 for the season. He also pitched in 16 games and covered nearly 50 innings.
