Shawano, Bonduel girls rack up five first-place finishes

Area teams have strong showings at round robin

By MORGAN RODE

Area high school girls wrestlers put their talents on display and turned in positive results against some of the state's best during the Shawano Round Robin on Jan. 27 in Shawano.

In an effort to get wrestlers three matches each, weight classes were limited to four wrestlers max and filled out by girls at the closest weights. That meant wrestlers went up against others that might not otherwise be at their weight class, creating some big-time matchups along the way.

Shawano, Bonduel, Oconto Falls, Suring/Gillett and Lena all had at least one wrestler in action. Shawano and Bonduel combined for five of the 13 overall first-place finishers.

Shawano

Jenna Moede, Caitlyn Moede, Macey Nelson and Hatty Fritz all placed first for Shawano on the night.

Nelson turned in arguably the best performance of any wrestler in attendance, pinning her three opponents at the 126-128 weight class in a total time of 1 minute, 39 seconds. The next closest mark was three pins in 3:17.

Her night began with a 51-second pin before ending on 19- and 29-second pins. Nelson, ranked as an honorable mention at 132 pounds in the latest state girls rankings by www.wisconsinrappler.com, had three of the top-15 fastest pins on the night.

"It always feels good to win but it's an even better feeling to go 3-0."

said Nelson. "Having these wins after tonight is a real confidence booster, which hopefully will carry on through the next couple weeks.

"With the postseason around the corner in the next couple weeks is huge, and having the confidence and knowing what I can do will make it that much easier to do my best. For it being my first year wrestling, I'm happy with how it has been going and I'd like to thank my coach and teammates that having helped and supported me in starting a new sport. With it being only my freshman year I am excited to grow my skills and see the wrestler and athlete I become in the next three years."

Caitlyn Moede, ranked 10th at 126 pounds, had three pins in her 118-128 weight class.

Her night began with a hard-fought pin in 5:04. She then pinned her second opponent in 1:31 and final opponent in 1:11.

"Well, a lot of the success we had tonight goes back to the practice room," said Caitlyn Moede. "Especially my first match, against Emily McCarthy from Kimberly, I was really able to maintain control in difficult situations and was able to walk away with a win in the books.

“The matches I wrestled tonight are serving as a baseline — I was able to find things to improve on as well as things I had success with. I hope to continue building on those skills as the season winds down, and hopefully continue to have success. I plan to continue working on techniques throughout the postseason to continue making progress in my wrestling.”

Jenna Moede competed in the 105-114 weight class, with all three of her wins by pin as well.

She opened the night with a pin in 4:42. It took Jenna Moede just 15 seconds to earn her second pin before a tough pin in 5:01 in her final match of the night.

Fritz only had one other wrestler with her in the 180-202 class. She needed just 21 seconds to win that match and finish atop the class.

Shawano's Hallie Wondra competed against two other wrestlers in the 100-105 weight class. Wondra was pinned in the third period of both her matches.

Onna Hermann went 0-3 in a tough 118-122 weight class. Her night began with a late rally, but she was topped 9-7 in the sudden victory situation. She was defeated by technical fall in round two before being pinned in her final match.

In another tough weight class, Courtney Schenk went 0-3 against her 138-152 weight class opponents. She was pinned in her first and third matches and dropped a 9-2 decision in the second.

Vivian Waldburger took fourth in the 143-156 weight class. She was pinned in her first two matches before a tough 5-3 decision loss in her final match.

Bonduel

Maddy Sokolski continued an impressive sophomore season for Bonduel with a first-place finish in the 138-152 weight class.

Sokolski, the top-ranked 138 wrestler in the state, pinned her first opponent in 2:28. After a tough 3-0 win in round two, she pinned her final opponent in 54 seconds to complete a perfect night.

“After weigh-ins, seeing I was bumping up two weight classes told me I needed to be strong today,” said Sokolski. “It was a good experience to utilize moves that I don’t do often.”

“My first match I got the pin, and I knew my second match would be tough. I came out on top with the win 3-0 and got a pin my last match. I’m grateful all the boys on my team came to support, they really help keep the energy flowing.”

Hailey Berg was the second-place finisher in the 118-122 class after going 2-1.

Berg, the sixth-ranked wrestler at 120 pounds, was pinned by second-ranked Caitlyn Kelley of Florence/Niagara in round one. Berg bounced back with a 17-1 technical fall win and 7-4 decision win to top off the night.

Kaitlyn Kroening was part of a three-wrestler 90-100 class, going 1-1 to take second. Both her matches ended in pin, with her win coming in 1:35 in her final match of the evening.

Oconto Falls

Three Oconto Falls girls competed at the round robin, with Taylor Whiting earning two of the team's three Faith Thurman was the third Panther in action, taking third at 118-128 pounds. All three of her matches ended in pin, with her win coming in 1:39 in round one.

Suring/Gillett

Parker Zahn and Shylah Hisey each wrestled for the Suring/Gillett co-op and came away with third-place finishes.

Zahn, the eighth-ranked wrestler at 152 pounds, was pinned in both her losses in the 138-152 weight class, while her win came in a 9-2 decision.

Zahn said she wasn't expecting to face the wrestlers she did but trusted what her coaches told her, which was to “work my shots and setups.”

Zahn is hoping to use the experience to improve as the season winds down.

“Wrestling people that have more experience but sticking with them will help me by identifying my strengths and weaknesses I need to work on, to get down to state,” said Zahn.

Hisey was part of a three-wrestler 159-163 weight class, going 0-2. She dropped a 19-8 major decision in round one and 18-2 technical fall in round three.

Lena

Miriam Alberts represented Lena well, finishing 2-1 in the 143-156 weight class to take second.

After being pinned in the second period in her first match, she won by injury default in round two before claiming a 5-3 win in the third round.

wins on the night.

Whiting, the top-ranked wrestler at 107 pounds, finished 2-1 to take second at the 108-117 weight class.

Whiting opened the night with an 8-2 decision win before a 13-1 major decision win in round two. Whiting was pinned in her third match by the sixth-ranked wrestler at 114 pounds.

Jocelin Martinez made up the other half of the 180-202 weight class. She was pinned in her lone match.

Witt-Birn tops Bonduel in CWC dual

Bears also fall to Shiocton

By MORGAN RODE

The Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School wrestling team picked up a 52-21 dual win over Central Wisconsin Conference foe Bonduel on Jan. 26 in Bonduel.

Bonduel later wrestled conference-leading Shiocton, falling 72-9.

The Witt-Birn vs. Bonduel dual began at 106 pounds, with Bonduel's Kaitlyn Kroening earning a forfeit win.

Witt-Birn claimed the next three weight classes.

At 113 pounds, Witt-Birn's Ben Miller earned a 10-1 major decision win over Jaxon Bogacz. Miller led 5-0 after one period, 8-0 after two and 10-0 in the third before Bogacz earned his point.

Witt-Birn's Easton Davis pinned Hailey Berg in 3 minutes, 20 seconds in a 120-pound matchup. Davis led 5-0 after a period and 7-0 in the second before finishing off the pin.

Devin Wudtke also had a pin at 126 pounds for Witt-Birn, defeating Cooper Salerno in 2:31. Wudtke got four takedowns in the opening period to lead 8-3 before getting the pin.

Bonduel's Matthew Walenta broke Witt-Birn's streak of wins by pinning Luca Pelusi in 3:37 at 132 pounds. Pelusi had the lone points in the first period with a takedown, but Walenta started the second period in the top position and was eventually able to secure the pin.

Witt-Birn took control of the dual by taking the next three weight classes.

Andres Sanchez got the first win at 138 pounds, pinning Maddy Sokolski in 1:26. Sanchez had an early takedown before working toward the pin of the top-ranked girls wrestler in the state at 138 pounds.

Witt-Birn's Nico Pelusi then topped Colin Fischer in an 11-5 decision.

Pelusi had the first takedown before each wrestler had a reversal. Pelusi led 4-3 after one period. Pelusi worked his lead up to six after a reversal and nearfall in the second period and then each wrestler had a reversal in the third to cap the scoring.

Chase Kitsemble earned a forfeit win at 152 pounds for the Chargers.

Bonduel's Donovan Vigue and Witt-Birn's Owen Schultz battled at 160 pounds, with Vigue earning a 7-0 decision win. Vigue led 2-0 after a period before an escape and takedown in the second made it 5-0. In the third, Vigue had another takedown to seal the win.

Witt-Birn's Braeden Groshek then defeated Parker Perry in one of the tighter matches of the night at 170 pounds, claiming a 3-2 decision.

After a scoreless first period, Perry escaped in the second to grab a 1-0 lead. In the final period, Groshek escaped to tie things up, then took down Perry to go ahead 3-1. Perry escaped with about 30 seconds to go to tighten things up, but neither wrestler was able to score the rest of the way.

"My match tonight really came down to who wanted it more, as well as who had more gas left in the tank going into the third period," said Groshek. "I knew going into that match, I was going to have to win to help the team run away with the 'W'."

Bonduel's Tyson Bogacz controlled his 182-pound match against Bryson Schmid, getting a pin in 4:42. Bogacz led 2-0 after a period and 11-0 after two. He tacked on a couple more points in the third before getting the pin.

Witt-Birn sealed up its dual win with pins in the final three weight classes.

Nathan Waupekenay earned the first pin at 195 pounds against Evan Wilcox, getting the pin in 1:15. Dominic Weso pinned Kyler Novitski in 48 seconds, while David Gauderman pinned Willis Bloedorn in 42 seconds.

Each Witt-Birn wrestler got the pin after an early takedown.

After its dual win, Gauderman said the team learned that "you can never stop wrestling. When you stop for a second to catch your breath, it comes back and bites you."

In its loss to Shiocton, the Bogacz brothers were the only Bonduel wrestlers to pick up wins.

Tyson Bogacz won by pin in 1:24 at 182 pounds, while Jaxon Bogacz claimed a 6-2 decision at 106 pounds to cap the night of wrestling.

"I just executed well on every position and just finished it when I got them in spots they were vulnerable in," said Tyson Bogacz, on what he did well during his 2-0 night.

"It helps having these kind of matches so we're ready for that tough competition (conference tournament and postseason) when we get there."

All but one of Bonduel's losses to Shiocton were by pin.

Kroening (113) was pinned in 1:52, while Berg (120) fell in 1:35. Salerno (126) was defeated in 2:36, Walenta (132) in 4:27, Sokolski (138) in 2:49 and Fischer (145) in 1:34.

After a forfeit loss at 152 pounds,

Vigue (160) was pinned in 4:50 before Perry (170) fell in 3:48.

In between the Bogacz wins, Michael Keiler (195), Novitski (220) and Bloedorn (285) were pinned in 4:33, 20 seconds and 2:40, respectively.

"You don't get to see that competition every week," said Bonduel coach Chad Bogacz. "Usually you got a lot of forfeits. We had three full teams going at it tonight, so that was a lot of great wrestling for the fans to see — lot of state wrestlers, ranked, going at each other. It was a fun night."

Along with competing in the two duals, the Bonduel wrestling program also celebrated senior night and hall of fame night.

Seniors Salerno, Vigue, Perry, Keiler, Bloedorn, Tyson Bogacz and manager Emily Hudson were recognized.

Stan Giese was inducted into the team's hall of fame.

The 1998 state championship team — the school's only team state title — also gathered and was celebrated on its 25th anniversary. Only the team's managers and one wrestler from the team were not able to attend.

Wisconsin football program headed in right direction

It's an exciting time to be a fan of the Wisconsin Badgers football team.

During my lifetime, Wisconsin football has spent many weeks ranked in the top 25. They've made bowl games just about every season and have won double-digit games on many occasions.

While that model of consistency was nice to fall back on, the Badgers could never get over the hump and into the upper echelon of teams across the country.

The most recent football season saw Wisconsin fire head coach Paul Chryst and limp to a 6-6 overall record while under interim coach Jim Leonhard. I was in the boat most people were in, in thinking that Leonhard was the guy who was going to be tabbed the head coach and was shocked to hear they instead went out and got Luke Fickell.

My imagination ran wild and immediately began thinking about how Fickell could get the team into that upper echelon finally.

Since the hiring, my expectations have only increased, as Fickell and his strong staff have seemingly turned Madison into a premier college football destination overnight.

Yes, Wisconsin lost a few players who transferred out after Leonhard was passed over for the job, but the

MORGAN RODE

Badgers have more than made up for those losses with a number of incoming transfers.

According to 247sports.com, Wisconsin has landed 13 players in the transfer portal since Fickell was hired as of Jan. 25. It's not just the number that's impressive though, as all but one of those guys are at least three-star players. That has Wisconsin with the 10th-highest 247sports.com transfer ranking in the country, a feat that seemed unfathomable just a couple months ago if you were following the typical standard Wisconsin football had lived by.

Still not convinced that Fickell has really made that big of a difference? Of those 13 transfers, three are quarterbacks — giving the team some much-needed competition at a position that's held the team back for several years.

The transfer portal helped Wisconsin make up for 2023 recruiting class that ranked 60th in the country with just 14 commits.

Of the 14 commits, three are four-star players, with the rest being three stars. Another quarterback is in that mix, meaning there's going to be a ton of options for the upcoming season at quarterback. It also means Fickell and company are determined to not let that position hold the team back any longer.

Overall, the Badgers have the 36th-best overall set of incoming players, a number that I expect to rise each and every season Fickell is leading the charge.

How can I be sure of that? Just take a look at what Fickell was able to accomplish at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati went 4-8 in Fickell's first season in 2017, with the 63rd-ranked recruiting class. His teams won double-digit games every other full season — discounting a 9-1 COVID season in 2020 — with the recruiting class jumping into the top 50 most of those years, and actually ahead of Wisconsin in 2022.

Now Fickell is at a school where athletes should be more inclined to play because there's a better chance for players to get noticed on bigger TV networks and against better competition.

Fickell had nine of his players drafted from a 2021 team that made the College Football Playoff. Coming to Wisconsin, which already had a good reputation of producing NFL players, Fickell's ability to land big-time recruits and churn out some of the best players in the country should only improve.

I understand some people's frustrations when it comes to what college football has become today — with NIL (name, image, likeness) players leaving early for the draft and others transferring out of places year after year — but it's likely not going away anytime soon, so it's best to get used to it.

The Big Ten Conference is often looked to as a league primarily focused on running games and staunch defense, with the only teams bucking those trends being the one in the conversation of making the playoffs every year. I think Wisconsin became the first of many schools in the conference that understands its philosophy needed to change in order to get to where fans only dreamed of.

Gone are the days of running the ball 50-plus times and winning every game in the teens. It might take a bit of getting used to, but be patient and give things a chance. I bet you'll enjoy the results to come.

The way things are trending with Wisconsin's football program, the wait to achieve greatness might come a lot sooner than you think.

ATHLETE PROFILE: KENDRA TROXEL

Senior delivering down the stretch for Bears

The Bonduel High School girls basketball team is eyeing another Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division title. For the senior class, which includes Kendra Troxel, it would be another accomplishment in what's been a special four-year run.

Through 19 games this season, Troxel is averaging just under six points a game. She scored eight or more points on seven occasions, including a season-high 15 points against Iola-Scandinavia back on Jan. 13. Five of those eight-plus points games have come since Jan. 10.

Troxel also was averaging 3.1 rebounds a game, with a season-high eight boards against Menominee Indian on Dec. 2.

Q: When did your interest in basketball begin?

A: I first started playing basketball in first grade. Bonduel's Little Dribblers program is what started my interest for the sport.

Q: What is your favorite thing to do on the basketball court, and why?

A: My favorite thing to do is celebrate on the court or bench with the team. The excitement that the whole team gets when a teammate makes a crazy move and ends up making it is unmatched. No matter how many times it happens, Hailey Zernicke's up-and-under and Audrey Weier's blocks will always get the team riled up.

Q: What has the game of basketball taught you over the years?

A: Basketball has taught me patience. Sometimes you need to wait for the play develop for it to be able to work. Similarly in life, you need to slow down and wait, and good things will come.

Q: You've been a part of some really great basketball teams since you got to high school. Just talk about what that journey has been like overall.

A: The journey has been a crazy ride. From battling injuries to celebrating the winning of high-end games, I will never forget some of these memories I've made with my teammates that act as family.

Q: With your team now leading the conference, what needs to happen the rest of the season to win it?

A: The team needs to stay determined and work hard. The team has seen the potential it has when we give our best effort. If the team plays like we know we can each game, the team will be successful in the long run.

Q: You also run cross-country in the fall and compete for the track and field team in the spring. How do those other sports help you out on the basketball court?

A: In cross-country and track we are taught about how important it is to be mentally tough. Without your mental toughness, your progress that you made in the race will diminish. Similarly, you have to do the same thing for basketball with getting down the court and playing to your best ability each possession.

Q: As a senior, how do you try to lead the rest of your team?

A: As a senior, I try to make practice fun. Practice can be brutal some days after a tough day of school, and trying to bring up the energy in the gym is what makes our team stronger together. Not everything needs to be serious; there's always time for fun.

Q: Before a game starts, do you or the team have any routines or rituals you go through?

A: Usually before every home game the team has some sort of team bonding where we either go out to eat together or have a meal at one of the team members' houses. Directly before the game one of our other seniors, Bella Delzer, leads the team in a prayer.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Bonduel girls basketball team?

A: My favorite memories are the bus rides home. After a big win, we blast music and sing our hearts out whether that's to High School Musical or to the Pitch Perfect songs. No matter the genre, our team finds a way to sing at the top of our lungs and have a good time.

Q: Favorite movie, TV show and musical artist?

A: Movie — "21 Jump Street" or "Need for Speed." TV show — "In the Dark." Musical artist — Morgan Wallen or Kanye West.

Q: Name one thing about yourself that not many people know?

A: One of my biggest fears are clowns.

Q: What are some things you hope to accomplish after graduating high school?

A: I plan on going to St. Norbert College hoping to get a degree in the medical or sports science field as well as minoring in kinesiology. Other than that, I plan to live life and have fun.

ATHLETE PROFILE: LINCOLN SIMONS

Pulaski senior leading state in save percentage

The Ashwaubenon boys hockey team is enjoying another strong season on the ice. Lincoln Simons, a senior goalie from Pulaski, is a big reason behind the team's success, and has become one of the best goalies in the entire state.

Simons landed on the Wisconsin Hockey Coaches Association all-state honorable mention team in his junior season, and hopes to improve on that status by the end of this season.

So far this winter, Simons has accumulated 489 saves and has a save percentage of .939 through 21 games. According to www.wisconsinprephockey.net, that save percentage is the best in the state for goalies who have seen at least 100 shots on goal.

Simons also has eight shutouts to his name this winter.

Q: When did your interest in hockey begin?

A: My interest in hockey began at a very young age. I first starting skating and playing hockey at age 4.

Q: What has hockey taught you over the years?

A: Hockey has taught me many different life lessons. However, the one that sticks out the most to me is no matter how hard you try for something you may not end up getting it, however it's how you react to that that makes you who you are.

Q: You serve as the team's goalie and have become one of the best goalies in the entire state. Talk about the work you've put in to get to this point.

A: To get to the point I'm at in hockey definitely was not easy. But the main thing I did was I was always on the ice practicing. Even when the high school season ends, then it turns to club season, so I play that and soon after that, summer skates start. So while it hasn't been easy practicing year-round, it definitely has been worth it.

Q: As a goalie, you're not always involved with action in a game. For some of those games where shots at you are limited, how do you stay focused?

A: When the action is limited for me in a game it can be hard to stay focused in the game. However, the way I am able to stay focused is by always following and tracking the puck even if there is no threat of a shot. This way if something crazy occurs, I'm always ready and prepared.

Q: Do you have any other individual goals you hope to accomplish by the end of this season, and what will it take to achieve those?

A: With the season coming to an end very fast most of the goals are team oriented, however one goal I'm hoping to accomplish this year is to be first-team all state. To achieve this I know I have to continue to work my hardest day in day out whether it's a practice or a game.

Q: What is like playing for a co-op, where many of your teammates are from a different school?

A: Playing for a co-op has been one of the greatest experiences of my life. Being able to meet many different amazing people from different schools has allowed me to make many new friends.

Q: As a senior, how do you try to lead the rest of the team?

A: The main way I try to lead the rest of the team is by example. Every practice I try to be the hardest worker out on the ice in hopes that the younger guys see this and then try their hardest as well.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Ashwaubenon hockey team?

A: My favorite memory with Ashwaubenon hockey was last year, the week we defeated Bay Port, Arrowhead, and Fond du Lac in the same week. The win over Bay Port was definitely very special for everyone because we hadn't beaten them in five years up to that point.

Q: Favorite movie, TV show and musical artist?

Q: Name one thing about yourself that not many people know.

A: One thing that many people don't know about me is that I cracked my chin open in the first couple weeks I tried hockey. However, for some reason I stuck with it and didn't quit, and boy am I glad I didn't.

Q: What are some things you hope to accomplish after graduating high school?

A: After graduating I'm hoping to attend a four-year university and get my master's in accounting, then eventually the goal is to own my own accounting firm.

Bowler girls overcome foul trouble, top Marion

Strong start proves big for Panthers

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Bowler High School girls basketball team overcame plenty of foul trouble while earning a 46-27 win over Marion in a Central Wisconsin Conference-North Division contest on Jan. 24 in Bowler.

Bowler was whistled for 28 fouls and a technical foul in the contest and had two players foul out, but did enough early in the game to still coast to victory.

"We just kept up our persistence. It was a pretty steady game the entire way through," said Bowler's Natalie Rickert. "I mean, we had our low points, but we got back up there and just didn't get in our head."

Bowler opened the game on a 13-0 run, with several players getting into the mix during that stretch.

Steals led to baskets from Paige Treptow and Isabella Stevens. Rickert later scored off an inbound play before another steal led to a bucket from Ava Paiser. A free throw from Stevens was followed by another Rickert bucket to make it 11-0, and Treptow scored on a fastbreak chance with about 7 minutes, 40 seconds to play in the first half to end the 13-point run.

Marion broke its scoreless drought on a Grace Bradley basket about 25 seconds later, but a banked-in 3-pointer from Jasmine Welch started another Bowler run soon after.

A couple of Treptow baskets were sandwiched around a Brandi Spencer free throw for the hosts. Rickert then scored her third basket to make it 23-2.

Dacotah Yonker hit a shot for Marion with about five minutes to play in the half, and Rickert followed with a free throw before being tagged with her second and third fouls.

Marion's Kelsey Zillmer converted a shot for Marion with 2:35 to play in the half, but Bowler scored the final four points to take a 28-6 lead into halftime. Spencer and Paiser scored the final two baskets for the Panthers in the half.

The visiting Mustangs briefly looked like they might make a comeback in the second half after scoring the first five points and getting Bowler into even deeper foul trouble, but the teams played pretty much even after that and Bowler coasted to victory.

Morgan Krueger hit a free throw and field goal in the opening minute of the half for Marion before Alexis Roe connected on a shot, making it 28-11.

"I think we took awhile to get going in general, but once we were able to find the holes in their defense that we were able to break down, we were able to get some really good looks," said Roe.

A basket from Autumn Thiex got Bowler back on track before fouls quickly piled up.

Stevens fouled out with 11:12 to play in the game, at which point Bowler had already been whistled for nine team fouls in the second half.

After Thiex's basket with about 14:30 to play in the game, Rickert was the only player on either team to hit a field goal until less than nine minutes remained. A total of 13 free throws were shot in that span.

"I'm pretty sure we did not use our hands, we had to put them down the entire time for the rest of the second half," said Rickert with a laugh. "But we pulled through. It was kind of crazy — it was definitely in our heads that we cannot foul..."

Roe and Caitlin Keller converted back-to-back shots for Marion to get within 13, 33-20, but Bowler pulled away behind a 10-2 run.

Treptow led Bowler with 12 points, while Paiser had 10 and Rickert nine.

Yonker scored seven points to lead Marion. Roe and Krueger added six points each.

Marion finished made just 11 of its 31 free throw attempts on the night.
