Teachers, support staff get 4.7% raise

Administrators wind up with no pay increase after lengthy, confusing discussion

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano School Board signed off on a pay raise for teachers and support staff May 2, although it was far from unanimous and far from easy.

The board voted 4-3 for a 4.7% increase across the board for everyone in the Shawano School District except administrators. New board president Mike Musolf cast the deciding vote and was joined by board members Mart Grams, Jeana Winslow and Jamie Beyer. Board members Michael Sleeper, Chuck Dallas and James Davel cast the votes against. Alysia Pillsbury was absent from the meeting, while Chris Gull abstained from the vote due to having a family member being affected by the raise.

However, that vote took some time to reach — not just because of the discussion, but because of confusion about where the voting stood. The board had tabled the action from its April 18 meeting, and it took reading the minutes from that meeting to determine where the motion was.

Originally, a motion had been made to give the 4.7% increase to all employees, including school principals and other administrators in the district. An amendment was made to make that effective only for professional and support staff. There had been discussion about tacking on an additional 2% for support staff, but the motion, made by Musolf, was withdrawn.

Winslow, the newest board member, tried to make the motion again, but it failed for the lack of a second.

Once the final vote was cast on the original motion, amended to exclude the administrators, attempts were made to approve a separate raise for those administrators. First, an effort to give the administrators a 2.7% hike failed 5-2, with only Winslow and Beyer in favor. Sleeper made a motion after that to give the 2.7% hike plus an additional 2% in the form of a stipend, but that failed due to the lack of a second.

Although the recommendation on April 18 by district officials had been to give the straight 4.7% raise, that recommendation shifted in order to save the district money. Business manager Josh Swanson said that the new recommendation was to give a 2.7% increase to staff members' base salary, and then the remaining 2% would be given as a stipend or bonus.

"As I dug into the numbers and saw what other school districts are doing, no one wanted to make cuts this year (to address a $2 million budget deficit in the 2022-23 school year)," Swanson said. "All that's going to change next year. It would be a little more responsible to approve a 2.7% increase and approve the additional 2% as a bonus. That frees up $300,000 in our 2023-24 budget."

Davel saw giving a 4.7% raise, whether across the board or only for certain groups, as an issue over the long term. The district is looking at using Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief funds to partially cover the budget deficit for this year, but those are one-time only funds from the federal government that run out in 2024. The district will still need to continue to provide salaries at that level even after the funds are gone, he said.

"When you take that much money for the future, that is not sustainable, in my opinion," Davel said.

He added that some administrators did not get a raise last year and, with the recent resignations of principals at Shawano Community Middle School and Shawano Community High School, he believes it would be difficult to recruit administrators if it appeared the district was unwilling to keep their pay up to date.

Grams dismissed Swanson's recommendation of the 2.7% increase across the board. He recalled that the previous pay increase given by the board was only 1.23%, which did not keep up with inflation. He noted that inflation is more than 8% at the moment, and even a 4.7% raise would not completely help, but it would be a start.

"This would be the last straw," Grams said. "The doors would not stop swinging if we didn't offer at least a 4.7% increase."

Winslow said she remembered seeing the 1.23% increase last year and thought that was a "slap in the face."

"I am very much in support of the 4.7 for professional and support staff," Winslow said, indicating she also favored at least a 2% increase for administrators.

When it came time to discuss giving administrators a raise, Davel continued to voice opposition on the grounds that it would increase any potential deficit in the 2023-24 budget.

"For the last couple of weeks, all I've been hearing is where we're at in the district in terms of our financial ledger. We're not good," Davel said. "This has added a tremendous debt that we are going to have to dig ourselves way the hell out of. We've got the illusion of these ESSER funds that are covering this stuff, and it's a one-time thing."

The district is discussing the possibility of asking for a five-year operational referendum in November, depending on whether the results of an upcoming community survey are favorable, but no final action has been taken on asking voters to exceed state-mandated salary caps. Board members have previously expressed concerns that an operational referendum could fail if the district asked for one.

Trees planted at dog park for Arbor Day

Shawano gives out awards, promotes importance of trees in community

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Two trees were planted April 27 at Shawano's Animal Recreation Facility during a ceremony in observance of Arbor Day and to honor the two award recipients deemed to be friends of nature.

"Every year, we plant a few trees to take the place of the ones that get older," said Ross Langhurst, chairman of the city's tree advisory committee.

Jeff and Marlene Bowan received the residential Nature's Friend award for the beautification of their property on Wescott Street, while the commercial award went to Shawano Ambulance Service for the trees planted at its new facility on Main Street.

Langhurst said the Bowans' property originally had 12 varieties of trees and 20 varieties of shrubs when they purchased it. They planted other varieties over the years to help keep the yard green and prevent a massive assault if disease should infect a particular species of tree.

"It takes a lot of maintenance and a lot of pruning," Langhurst said. "They take a lot of time taking care of their trees, and it helps, because healthy trees mean better health for people. The trees and shrubs provide food and shelter for many birds and other creatures and insects."

Regarding the ambulance service, Langhurst said the new location is where the Auto Prep business used to be, and most of the property at the time was pavement. Efforts were made to make the grounds suitable for planting again, he said.

"They planted four royal maples, three autumn blaze maples, one Colorado spruce, 10 summer wine ninebarks and 12 quickfire hydrangeas," Langhurst said.

During the ceremony at the dog park, Mayor Bruce Milavitz read a proclamation showing Shawano's support for Arbor Day.

"Wherever they are planted, trees are a source of joy and spiritual renewal," Milavitz said. "Trees help build communities and beautify neighborhoods."

Matt Hendricks, park and recreation director, said that the Animal Recreation Facility is a valued part of the city, and like other parks, it needs trees to make it a beautiful place for residents to bring their pets. He noted that the new trees planted were small, but in the decades to come, they would look like the "80-foot monsters" that residents see in Memorial Park.

"The truth is, more and more families are living with dogs, and it's a part of their life," Hendricks said. "It's a pet. It's not a working animal like some of the cattle dogs they used to have, so people want places to recreate with them."

The city received several awards from the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. Tracy Salisbury, regional forester, told the crowd that Shawano is in its 28th year of being a Tree City, its 19th year of being part of the Tree Line program with Shawano Municipal Utilities, and its 10th year of receiving the Growth Award for its tree efforts.

Salisbury noted that, among the city's work with trees, it did an inventory of all the trees on publicly owned facilities in Shawano.

"They measured them. They checked them to see if they had any insects or diseases, mapped where they were located, what species of tree they were, if there was overhead utilities, if there are sidewalks," Salisbury said. "What's important about a tree inventory is that it helps the city manage the trees in the community. It's a very useful tool."

SMU also donated $2,000 to the city public works department to plant more trees in the community, and fourth- and fifth-grade students from Olga Brener Intermediate School, St. James Lutheran School and Sacred Heart Catholic School each received red pine tree seedlings to take home and plant in their yards.

Sleeper apologizes for limiting comments

School board president admits last two months have been 'contentious'

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Shawano School Board President Michael Sleeper admitted he made a bad decision when he limited community comments at a school board meeting two weeks ago.

Sleeper made the admission April 28 during a community meeting held at Life Church in Shawano. The meeting was the first event held by CLASS, which stands for Citizens Listening and Advocating for Shawano Schools.

"I'll acknowledge, right up front, that I didn't have my finest moment last time. We'll do much better moving forward," Sleeper said. "The other night, I was thinking of doing what was best for efficiency and so forth, and obviously, it didn't go well."

At the April 18 board meeting, 20 people had signed up to speak during the community comments. Sleeper said that the board would not be listening to all of the speakers, and he chose which ones could speak — sparking irritation in the audience.

Sleeper said that, despite the negative tone that has been taken during board meetings and other community listening sessions, he appreciates that people are taking an active interest in what the district is doing.

"Unfortunately, these last 60 days

Pastor Michael McKinnies, foreground, introduces Sheila Aumann with Citizens Listening and Advocating for Shawano Schools during a meeting April 28 at Life Church. Aumann presented on what she has learned about communicating with the Shawano School District during the last two months.

LEE PULASKI | NEW MEDIA

have been contentious at times, but it is good — and I mean this sincerely — to have people there, to have people paying attention and to have people be interested," Sleeper said. "Hopefully, this initiative (CLASS) keeps the community involved much more moving forward, and that's good for everybody."

Sheila Aumann, a member of CLASS, facilitated the Life Church meeting as a way to educate the public about what she has learned about school board meetings, the committee meetings that feed into it, and how she has conducted research to learn more about the current state of the district.

Aumann said she's hoping to further improve communication with board members. She said something simple as a message that says "Got it" would make people realize they are looking at community concerns.

"When I send an email to nine people, but I only hear back from one, it's kind of like, 'Do they even hear me?'" Aumann said. "There's definitely room for improvement when it comes to communication between the board and the community."

Christine McKinnies, another member of CLASS, said that the community should keep in mind that the comments portion at the beginning of the board meeting should not just be for complaints. Once everything stabilizes, she hopes people will comment on agenda items that they believe should be approved.

"I had never thought of community comments being a proactive kind of thing, because right now, we're in a district that's very much reactive and very much in a volatile environment," McKinnies said. "Moving forward, as the district gets healthier, the community comments can be used to move the future of the district in the right direction."

2 arrested in drug bust on Highway 29

Two people were arrested April 27 after the Shawano County Drug Task Force found heroin in a vehicle on state Highway 29.

Members of the Shawano County Drug Task Force attempted to stop a vehicle around 10:45 a.m. near County Road K in the town of Waukechon. The vehicle initially pulled over, but then accelerated at a high rate of speed westbound and a short pursuit ensued, according to Detective Craig Rekoske.

A tire deflation device was deployed successfully, and the vehicle entered the median area of Highway 29, turned around, and continued to flee eastbound while the occupants threw items out of the vehicle, according to Rekoske.

Members of the Shawano County Drug Task Force were able to take two individuals into custody when the vehicle stopped just east of state Highway 22. After searching the vehicle and the highway area, about 32 grams of heroin were recovered. Two suspects were booked into the Shawano County Jail for charges that included possession of heroin with the intent to deliver, according to Rekoske.

The Shawano County Drug Task Force is comprised of members from the Shawano County Sheriff's Office, Shawano Police Department, Stockbridge-Munsee Police Department and the Tigerton Police Department.

This case involved several members of law enforcement acting in cooperation to include the Shawano County DTF, Wisconsin Department of Justice Division of Criminal Investigation, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, Wisconsin State Patrol, Menominee Tribal Police Department, Forest County Drug Task Force and the Kenosha Drug Task Force.

Anyone with information about drug activity in the county can contact the anonymous drug tip line at 715-526-9200.

Sturgeon make a splash in Shawano

Spawning fish put on a show on Wolf River for community and visitors

By GREG SEUBERT
Correspondent

They're called lake sturgeon, but last week, they were the kings and queens of the river.

The prehistoric-looking fish arrived along the shores of the Wolf River near New London and Shiocton April 25 for their annual spawning run, with many of those fish eventually working their way up to the dam in Shawano.

Several people showed up below the dam April 29 to get a close-up view of the fish.

The crowd included Joe Keuler and his daughters from Madison, as well as Joe's father, Bill Keuler, who made the trip from Wild Rose.

Joe Keuler said his family has a connection to sturgeon.

"He's been sturgeon fishing all his life," he said as he pointed to Bill Keuler. "My cousin recently proposed to his girlfriend in a sturgeon shack."

Joe Keuler said he enjoyed the opportunity to get close to the sturgeon. Several of them leaped out of the murky waters of the river, while others slapped their tails near the rocky shoreline.

"It's amazing," he said. "They're magnificent fish. They're very prehistoric, and the girls love science and dinosaurs. They're happy to see them."

"This is the first time I've been to Shawano," Bill Keuler said. "Last year, I went to Shiocton. We saw the adult females, and I've never seen so many huge sturgeon. Back in my younger days, if you got a 100-pound sturgeon, wow. Now, the fish are bigger and there are more of them. There are fish in here that are probably more than 200 pounds."

Big crowds also showed up to see the fish in Shiocton and New London, but no one was more excited than Margaret Stadig, the state Department of Natural Resources' new sturgeon biologist.

She joined two crews of DNR employees and college students that began capturing fish April 26 at Bamboo Bend on Shiocton's west side, just off state Highway 54.

"This is completely new to me and Margaret Stadig, a sturgeon biologist with the state Department of Natural Resources, helps measure a male lake sturgeon captured from the Wolf River in Shiocton. Male and female sturgeon began their annual spawning run in the river April 26. Crews from the DNR also headed to Shawano to capture fish below the Shawano dam.

definitely very unique to Wisconsin," Stadig said. "Where I've worked with sturgeon before, they spawn deep in the water column, so you can't see them. There are no crowds because there's nothing to see. The fact that they're here, they're on the rocks and you can see them is so unique to anywhere else I've ever been working with this type of fish."

Stadig helped measure and weigh fish.

"It is better than I could have imagined," she said. "I could have never imagined this number of fish this close to the surface and the public out here so excited."

Sturgeon enter the Wolf River from Lake Winnebago each spring. The fish are able to swim nearly 100 miles upstream to Shawano. Others head up tributaries of the Wolf, such as the Little Wolf, Embarrass and Shioc rivers.

"They are just so different than any other fish species," Stadig said. "You pull them out of the water and they instantly look like a shark, but they're so different from sharks because they don't have teeth and they're gentle giants. They've been around since the time of the dinosaurs. You guys are so lucky to have a population that has been managed so well. You have such a robust population that allows for the harvest you have during spearing season."

Stadig said she and her team were surprised to see large males early in the run, which can last for a few days to a week.

"What's surprising us is that a lot of the very long, big fish we're seeing are males," she said. "Usually, the really big fish are females and this year, we're seeing a lot of big males."

Males spawn every two years, while females make the trip upstream from Wisconsin's largest inland lake every four years.

"Because of that, there are more males in the system," Stadig said. "Females spawn every four years, so we just don't see them as frequently. For every one female we see, we'll see three to five males."

A lot of the fish crews netted in Shiocton had tags, which means they had been captured in previous years.

"It's a little less than 50%, particularly yesterday, the first day we were here," Stadig said. "We're also seeing a lot of really big fish that we've never seen before. We measure them, we take sex and check for a tag. If they don't have a tag, we give them a tag. If they do have a tag, we write it down. We use all of the information to get a population estimate."

Stadig has worked with sturgeon in Michigan and Texas before accepting her new job earlier this year and admitted she wasn't prepared from her first experience on the Wolf River.

"It blew me away," she said. "I was just flabbergasted. I don't think you can wipe the smile off my face right now."

Bill Keuler shared Stadig's excitement.

"This should be a celebration of what's possible," he said. "We're very lucky to have this. This is the largest population of lake sturgeon in the world. It's a world-class thing — something we should take some pride in."

Motion to reduce Retzlaff's bond denied

Defendant still without an attorney; DA questions her mental competency

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

An effort by Ann Retzlaff to lower the $25,000 bond she's currently in jail on was denied May 2, and a planned preliminary hearing was delayed after Retzlaff revealed she was, once again, without an attorney present.

Retzlaff continued to rail against the court, "objecting to all charges against me," claiming she's only making a "special appearance" and that she is appearing "under duress." After an arrest on May 15, 2021, following a high-speed chase, Retzlaff was charged in Shawano-Menominee County Circuit Court with fleeing and eluding officers and two counts of second-degree recklessly endangering safety, as well as a misdemeanor count of resisting or obstructing an officer. She also faces misdemeanor charges through Menominee County for resisting and failing to stop.

Retzlaff was arrested again April 20 in Wittenberg after skipping two court appearances that ultimately resulted in body-only warrants being issued. Two counts of disorderly conduct and two counts of bail jumping were added to the charges.

Retzlaff claimed she has been unable to secure legal counsel while she is incarcerated in the Shawano County Jail.

"I'm in here," Retzlaff said. "I don't have access to a secure line. I can't make 1-800 numbers out, and I'm not able to use the 411 information line."

Retzlaff, who owns a campground near Gresham, also claimed she does not have the money to pay the cash bond currently facing her, pointing out that she'd already paid $7,500 in bonds when she was arrested the first time and arrested again in October 2021 after she first missed a court appearance.

"I stash away a little bit of money in the winter so I can pay the bills," Retzlaff said. "The revenue stops about the middle of October, and it doesn't start again until springtime. This year, we're delayed because of the weather."

She added that she also had to pay a $20,000 mortgage payment April 1, further contributing to her lack of funds.

District Attorney Greg Parker had planned to call deputies to testify at the preliminary hearing, both regarding the initial arrest on state Highway 29 west of Shawano and her most recent arrest at the Harvest restaurant in Wittenberg, but that was delayed due to Retzlaff not having an attorney to speak for her.

"I've looked at all of the information in both of these cases," Parker said. "I've looked at the body cameras for the arrest back in May 2021. I've reviewed a phone call the defendant had with the Menominee County Sheriff's Department with the fleeing and obstructing an officer that turned into an eluding in Shawano County."

Parker said he was not making a motion for it, but he suggested that the issue of Retzlaff's competency might be explored.

"None of this is making sense," Parker said. "I'm not sure if the defendant is understanding things, or if she's just obstinate."

Parker was opposed to lowering Retzlaff's bond amount, noting that his office had advocated that the bond originally be between $50,000 and $75,000, due to the defendant's previous actions of leaving the state for West Virginia and Florida.

Marathon County Circuit Court Judge Mark Moran, who took on the case after Shawano-Menominee County Circuit Court Judge William Kussel recused himself earlier this year, said he was not convinced that Retzlaff would remain in the state if he lowered the bond amount.

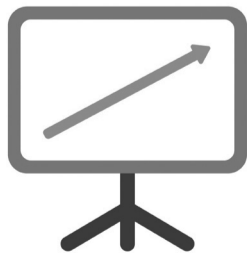

"You don't recognize that this court has any jurisdictional situation over you," Moran said. "I'm struggling with the idea of, 'Will you come back to court?'"

A status conference on Retzlaff's case is scheduled for 11 a.m. May 9 in Branch 2 at the Shawano County Courthouse.

Leadership Shawano County hosts recovery celebration

Event helps raise funds, awareness of mental health and addiction recovery

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

Recovery was at the forefront of a Franklin Park celebration on May 1.

Leadership Shawano County hosted a recovery celebration and awareness walk in the hopes of educating more people in the community about addiction recovery and mental health resources.

"This is our first annual recovery awareness walk," said Vicki Weaver, a member of Leadership Shawano County. "It is an event to help recognize the people that are struggling with addiction and to honor those who have lost family members that have struggled with addiction."

The idea came from employees of the Shawano County Drug Treatment Court — a program that aims to treat non-violent drug offenders and help them overcome their addictions outside of prison.

"Members of the drug court came to us, did a presentation and asked if we wanted to host this," said Kevin Barkow, another member of Leadership Shawano County.

The event included resources so visitors could learn more about addiction and recovery, as well as an awareness walk for participants to trek around Shawano. More than just a walk, however, Leadership Shawano County also used this event to raise funds for a recovery house for drug court participants.

"We need community support for that," said Shawano County Sheriff's Chief Deputy George Lenzner.

Barkow estimated that close to 300 people were signed up to participate in the walk and help spread awareness of addiction recovery.

"We want people to know it's OK to ask for help and to help those who are struggling with addiction," said Weaver. "We want people to know that the community will support you."

The event featured many organizations that sent representatives to talk with visitors about addiction and recovery.

"I am working a table here for The daCare Health in Shawano and trying to spread the word for the behavior services that we offer," said ThedaCare Substance Abuse Counselor Vince Long. "This is a really underserved community. The rural areas are really something that we are trying to focus on."

Debbie Passehl, who was representing the Fresh Hope Group in Shawano, said she was trying to bring awareness of mental illness support during the event.

"This event is very important to me," said Passehl. "As time has gone on through COVID-19, there are things that have come up in people's lives that have pushed them to situations or thinking patterns that are not healthy for them."

She said she hopes participants come away from the event with the message that they are never alone in their struggles.

"I want people to leave here knowing that there is help," said Passehl.

"They need to reach out to others and find the different outlets that they may need."

Weaver said this cause is important to Leadership Shawano County because it shows that business leaders support the initiative.

"This is a community effort," said Weaver. "In order to help recovering addicts, it takes a community. It is more than just resources; different businesses need to be involved."

"I never realized that drug and alcohol addiction was such a big thing in Shawano," added Barkow. "You don't think of Shawano as being that community, but it is a bigger problem than some people realize."

Lenzner spoke on those bigger addiction problems from the sheriff's department's point of view.

"In 2016, we knew we had a drug problem that was rising in Shawano County," he said. "A few of us met and talked about different programs that we could implement. One of the things that we came up with was drug court."

Lenzner said that since the drug court was implemented in Shawano County, the results have been positive.

"We have had 25 participants, and right now we have 13," said Lenzner. "What works with drug court is that it keeps people accountable. If you screw up and do drugs, you end up back in prison. Before drug court, we knew that 95% of the people who went to jail for drugs would get out and start using again. We were also finding out that 80% who were in treatment went back to using drugs."

As the community continues to raise funds for a place to house drug court participants after their treatment, Lenzner said he hopes local residents will educate themselves to better understand the challenges these individuals are facing.

"Please take the time to learn about the disease of addiction," Lenzner said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We need to return to common values

To the editor:

The actual issues facing America today are not being responded to with civil discourse and respect for the truth. We are seeing the unraveling of our democracy and a growing support for autocracy in our government. One political party doesn't have a platform stating its positions on actual issues. The party is becoming a white, phony Christian party that is hedonistic and is generating a culture of, "I got to be me, I got to be free, beefsteaks, gadgets, cars and frivolity," and to heck with society's common good.

America needs to embrace a set of common values which are moral and directs attention to the needs of all Americans. The former speaker of the house, Tip O'Neill, in his autobiography, presented a values statement that most people should embrace.

He believes that every family deserves the opportunity to earn an income, own a home, educate their children, and afford medical care. That is the American dream and it's still worth fighting for.

The government has the obligation to help you along the line until you achieve that dream; and, when you do, you have an obligation to help out the next group that comes along.

In recent years, this idea has fallen out of favor. Today, there are those who argue that the way to achieve the American dream is to go it alone. The new morality claims that the young should forget about the old, that the healthy should ignore the sick, and that the wealthy should abandon the poor.

This is an alien philosophy in our country. While we, Americans, certainly believe in getting ahead through education, sacrifice and hard work, we also believe in looking out for the other guy. From our earliest beginnings, we have insisted that the individual human being is of fundamental value, and that even the humblest, meekest person has the right to be treated with dignity and respect.

Herbert J. Grover, Gresham

Censorship in Little Suamico unacceptable

To the editor:

Censorship means suppression of speech, public communication or other information. Censorship is going on in many towns in Oconto County, specifically, Little Suamico. The Little Suamico Town Board, specifically Town Chairman Elmer Ragen, needs to understand Little Suamico is the place we call home.

This is our town, not just the town chairman's or supervisors'. When a town chairman/board censor public comment at monthly meetings, as Little Suamico has for the past five years you ignore the people who live in our town to have a voice what they would like our town to be.

Public comment was shut down because when R&R Assessing did a maintenance assessment in Little Suamico and ended up with five allegations against them, which were proven. The Department of Revenue sent their outcome of their investigation to Little Suamico and Ragen refused to have the letter read as correspondence.

Michael Trudell read the letter at the monthly town meeting during public comment. After Michael read the letter the town chairman and board censored their citizens and shut off public comment at meetings. When a town board censors its constituents, they lose trust and credibility.

Little Suamico needs a change, which is long overdue, to include an administrator and/or complete town board change. The Little Suamico board has a choice to either let its citizens again have a voice with public comment at meetings or be replaced.

Beth Trudell, Sobieski

OBITUARIES

Diane Mary Risch (Johnson), 69, of Manitowoc, passed away unexpectedly on Friday, April 8, 2022.

Diane was born on March 30, 1953, in Manitowoc, daughter of Lillian Mae (Vernon) Lawerentz and the late Jim James Johnson. She graduated with the class of 1971 from Manitowoc Lincoln High School.

On May 31, 1975, Diane married Paul Tom Risch who recently passed on Jan. 2, 2022, in Manitowoc.

Diane was an elementary teacher for over 25 years, teaching primarily within the Manitowoc Area Catholic School System, ultimately finding her home at Holy Innocents (now Roncalli Elementary) until she decided to move on to a new chapter of her life. She had incredible patience and love for a game a cribbage, even teaching her fourth-graders for many years that the skill of counting and strategy was an important part of life. Her love for cooking was unmatched, with desserts being her specialty. She also enjoyed gardening, fishing, getting together with her friends for lunch, sharing stories of years gone by; especially during deer hunting season. Diane's latest pastime was keeping her beloved dog Chance close by her side until it was time for him to move on this past March.

Diane will be missed by many and forgotten by none.

Survivors include her two daughters and one son, Nicole (Patrick) Sullivan, Oshkosh, Jeff (Nicole) Risch, Manitowoc, and Cassie (Tim Satterthwaite) Risch, Madison; nine grandchildren, Sophie (who tragically left us on Easter morning) and Tristan Sullivan, Ethan, Ellisen, Eden, Emerson and Evyon Risch, Waylon and Emma Satterthwaite; numerous nieces and nephews, other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by her sisters Sharon and Barb, and her brother David.

A prayer service was held April 30, 2022 at the Pfeffer Funeral Home in Manitowoc.

David D. Degener

David "Digger" D. Degener, 65, of the Town of Matteson, passed away unexpectedly at his home on Tuesday, April 26, 2022.

David was born on Feb. 25, 1957, in Shawano as the son of Sally (Krause) Degener and the late Roland Degener. David served in the Army National Guard and was united in marriage to Mary Wollenberg on May 20, 1978, in Sherwood. The couple had a daughter, Kristine, and later divorced.

As a young man, David lived in Sherwood, where he worked for Mader Implement and after its closure went to work for the Mader family on their farm. David spent many years working for Brillion Iron Works and in 2016 moved back to the area and was currently employed at Arrowcast in Shawano.

David was affectionately known as "Digger" by his buddies. He looked forward to sturgeon spear- ing every year on Lake Winnebago with his friend and hunting buddy Glen Brandenburg. Digger also enjoyed working on cars over the years with another close friend Jeff Kalies.

David had a love of the outdoors. Whether it was camping, hunting, or fishing he loved spending time with his family. It could have been on his hunting land, up on Pine Lake near Hiles, or just sitting around with a can of Old Style in his hand, but David enjoyed nothing more than sharing his love of the outdoors and life knowledge with his grandchildren.

Survivors include his daughter, Kristine (Jeff) LaViolette; grandchildren, Chase and Madelyn LaViolette; mother, Sally Degener; sisters, Sue (Wayne) Malliet and Donna (Kevin) Huebner; numerous nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.

He was preceded in death by his father, Roland; a brother, Keith; and a sister, Shirley (Bill) Buschel.

David's funeral service was held Saturday, April 30, 2022, at the Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home and Crematory in Clintonville with the Rev. Todd Jerabek officiating. Interment will take place at a later date at the Friendship Cemetery in the Town of Belle Plaine.

OBITUARIES

Jerry A. Grosskopf, 60, of Bowler, passed away on Friday, April 29, 2022, in Madison. Jerry was born in Shawano on Jan. 6, 1962, son of the late Harvey and Rita (Greskoviak) Grosskopf. He graduated from Bowler High School and went on to attend the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science in dairy science from the School of Agriculture. During his undergraduate years, he had many fond memories of the brotherhood shared at Babcock House.

Shortly after graduation, he returned to the family farm in Bowler. Jerry loved his work as a dairy farmer and was truly a man of the outdoors. More than anything, he loved his family.

On April 10, 2006, Jerry was united in marriage to the love of his life, Joann Kekula, at the Little Church of the West in Las Vegas. The depth of love these two shared was cherished by all who witnessed it. Their uncanny ability to communicate without words was truly remarkable.

One could argue that the second love of his life was London, his princess and golden retriever. She could do no wrong in Jerry's eyes.

He also adored his only child and son, Everett.

Watching Everett play hockey was one of Jerry's favorite activities. The substantial bond between these two was undeniable. They could not only get lost in hours of conversation, but also lost while staring together at a map.

Jerry's selflessness extended beyond his family to his community as well. He served on the Bowler School Board for over 20 years and also pulled a number of people out of the ditch who were going to and from the casino. In his free time, he enjoyed bowling, cheering for UW-Madison Badgers sports and traveling throughout the United States and Europe. His ingenuity, patience, compassion and witty sense of humor will be deeply missed by his family and friends. Most of all, we will miss Jerry's infectious positivity, which inspired so many to be better versions of themselves.

Jerry is survived by his wife, Joann; his son, Everett (Julie) Grosskopf, of Greenville; his two beloved dogs, Buddy and London (his princess); and his siblings, Gail (Jay) Jaeger, Cathy (Pat) Spice, Jeanne Wudtke, Jay (Annette) Grosskopf and Curtis (Mary) Grosskopf. He is further survived by numerous nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

He is preceded in death by his parents and a brother-in-law, Donald Wudtke.

A funeral Mass for Jerry washeld at St. Francis Solanus Catholic Church in Gresham on Saturday, May 7, 2022, with the Rev. Charles Hoffman officiating. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery in the Town of Almon.

It was Jerry's wish that any memorial tributes be made in the form of charitable donations for a scholarship fund to support Bowler High School students interested in music and/or agriculture.

Debra Singer-Hanson

Debra Singer-Hanson, 68, of Kansas City, Kansas, passed away April 29, 2022, in Austin, Texas. She died of a very rare cancer called chondrosarcoma. Debra was the beloved wife of Charles "Chuck" W. Hanson, also of Kansas City. They spent the past 24 years together and married in Cortona, Italy, on April 22, 2006. Deb always shared that their life together was a treasure.

Debra was the third of five children of Edward and Faye Singer, of Shawano. She graduated from Shawano High as the top female student in her class. She graduated summa cum laude from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, twice, with both an undergraduate degree in journalism and a graduate degree in counseling psychology/counselor education.

In her young adult life, Debra worked in banking and brokerage services. She became a top trader for the stock market industry and obtained her Series 7 and Series 63 licenses. Later, after pursuing a master's degree, she became a licensed psychotherapist and worked for GHC in Madison. In 1997, she moved to Dallas, Texas, to be close to her brother, Brian; sister, Mary; mother, Faye; and nephew, Jackson.

While in Texas, Debra began building a career as a certified employee assistance manager, first for Humana, and then for BNSF Railway, an occupation she loved. She trained, consulted, case managed, counseled, organized and managed peer responders. She also maintained a couple's therapy with a special mission to serve Wyandotte County in Kansas.

She felt a deep calling to help others on a path of personal growth. She retired from her practice at 66.

Debra was curious about the world and never stopped learning. She was especially interested in spiritual growth and neuropsychology. She loved her family, her grandchildren, reading, singing, cooking, dance, art, writing and speaking French.

She was a pet lover. She also was well-traveled and often went on extended vacations to foreign cities. Her favorite places were France and Santorini Island in Greece.

Debra was preceded in death by her two brothers, Alan (1969) and Brian (2019); and her father, Edward W. Singer (1990).

She is survived by her beloved spouse, Chuck Hanson; her mother, Faye Singer; her sister, Mary Singer (spouse, Jim Rubalcaba and nephew, Jackson Singer); her brother, Jon Singer (niece, Abby Singer; nephews Jacob Singer and Nicholas Singer), half-sister, Judith Dankmeyer; and half-brother, Wayne Singer. She is also survived by her stepchildren, Renee Hanson Malone (Michael Malone) and Joshua Hanson (Shallyn Hanson).

Debra has requested to be cremated and, in lieu of flowers or cards, please donate to Gilda's Club in Kansas City, Missouri, <https://givebutter.com/gildas-club-kansas-city>.

Public Notice, Invasive Plant Control Project

The Department of Natural Resources plans to treat approximately 7.6 acres of European frogbit (Hydrocharis morsus-ranae) in wetlands, rights-of-ways, waterways, and private lands where permission from landowners has been received in Oconto County along the west shore of the Bay of Green Bay. Landowners who have European frogbit reported on or adjacent to their property have been sent letters to see if they are interested in being included in the project. For the project to proceed, the DNR must issue an aquatic plant control permit to wetland invasives staff, county personnel, and any contractors the Department selects. European frogbit is an NR 40 Prohibited species that supplants native vegetation by forming dense mats in slow moving water. This project is an attempt to control (mostly pioneer) populations to prevent large-scale spread. Treatment would be done chemically with a commercial herbicide containing the active ingredient Imazapyr in an aquatic formula, along with an aquatic-approved surfactant. The treatment would occur between June and the end of July 2022.

A public information meeting on the proposed herbicide application and this project can be requested by local landowners or others with an interest in this project. The request must be made in writing within five days of this notice. Send request to: Department of Natural Resources, Lakes and Rivers Section (WT/4), PO Box 7921, Madison WI, 53707-7921.

Comments and questions may be directed towards Matt Puz, Wetland Invasive Plant Specialist, (608) 471-0479 or matthew.puz@wisconsin.gov.

Tigerton pulls away for win over Menominee Indian

Tigers score 18 runs in 4th

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Tigerton High School softball team eased to a 26-6 Central Wisconsin Conference crossover victory in five innings over Menominee Indian on April 26 in Tigerton after tallying 13 hits and taking advantage of nine hit batters.

Tigerton scored at least two runs in each of its four innings at the plate, including an 18-run fourth to pull away.

Abby Swartz was at the center of the Tigers' offensive outburst, driving in six runs on a double and triple. Swartz also scored four runs, stole a base and was hit by a pitch.

"It's been a struggle getting the bats going in the first few games that we've had. Now some of us are starting to get in a groove, so it's just helped getting those runs," said Swartz.

She believes the outburst should also help as the team's season moves forward.

"In a game like this, where we have really good hits, we have people stealing all the time, it just brings up people's moods and helps with feeling confident," said Swartz.

Tigerton finished with 18 stolen bases in the contest, doing most of that damage early on before primarily going base to base in the big fourth inning.

Angel Welch had a big double in the fourth, and finished with four RBIs on two hits and a hit by pitch. She stole five bases.

Welch also earned the win in the circle after pitching all five innings and was appreciative of the run support. She struck out eight batters.

Menominee Indian scored three runs in the top of the first, but Tigerton answered with three runs of its own in the bottom half before tallying two runs in the second and three more in the third.

"Well, the girls keep you in it. They show so much support toward everybody and then practicing, the coaches the team altogether, once we work hard together it's so much easier on the pitcher and it's nice to have behind you," said Welch.

Bethany Jobe, the Tigers' cleanup hitter, finished the contest with three RBIs on three hits. She also scored twice and stole one base. Skyler Hausler posted two hits and was hit twice on her way to scoring four runs.

McKenzie Hoffman scored five times for Tigerton. She drove in a run on two hits and stole three bases. Maycee Carlson finished with two RBIs on two hits, while stealing four bases and scoring three runs. Izzy Zychowicz tallied two RBIs, scored twice and stole a base after being hit by a pair of pitches.

being hit by a pitch. Elizabeth Steuck drove in a run, stole a base and scored once after being hit by two pitches and walking once. Jess Burayi also drove in a run for the Tigers.

Along with Menominee Indian's three first-inning runs, the Eagles scored three times in the fifth, highlighted by a two-run homer from Shauna Madosh.

"It felt good. You know, we were starting to not really play well but it hyped everyone up and got them back in the game," said Madosh of her home run.

Madosh finished with two of Menominee Indian's six hits. She also scored twice.

Anisa Peters drove in two runs for the Eagles, walking with the bases loaded in the first inning and doubling in a run in the fifth. Alexis Wilber drove in another run for the Eagles, and the other run was scored by Wilber on a passed ball.

Aniya Peters was dealt the loss in the circle after getting the first nine outs. Four of those outs came on strikeouts. Wilber got the final three outs.

Michaelis pitches Tigers to home win

Tigerton topples Menominee Indian

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Asher Michaelis turned in a strong start on the mound to lead the Tigerton High School baseball team to an 11-2 Central Wisconsin Conference crossover win over Menominee Indian on April 26 in Tigerton.

Michaelis' bid at a complete game was ended because of pitch count restraints. He was still able to record eight strikeouts across his 6 1/3 innings while allowing just seven batters to reach.

"I've just really been developing my curveball. Other than that, just get (the ball) over the plate, letting my defense help — just throwing strikes," said Michaelis on what made him successful during the contest.

His teammates gave him a boost by scoring a run in the first inning and then adding four runs in the second. The early lead gave Michaelis "a lot of confidence. Really was joking around with my teammates and was able to stay confident through the whole thing."

Gabe Dahlstrom came on in relief after Michaelis hit the pitch count limit of 100 and got a strikeout before a groundout ended the contest.

Colby Wanta was at the center of the Tigerton offense on the night, finishing with two hits, a walk, three RBIs and two stolen bases. He scored the team's run in the first inning before singling and scoring again in the second frame.

Joey Zimdars, Omarion Ramsey and Loghan Wanta also scored in the second for the Tigers. Both Wanta boys and Gavin Laatsch all had key hits.

Zimdars and Ramsey scored again in the third inning to boost Tigerton's lead to 7-1. Much like the previous inning, after the bottom of the order got on via walks, the top of the order was able to drive them in. Colby Wanta delivered again with a single.

"Just having fun out there and having a good time with the team," said Colby Wanta. "Basically, (we) tried to get the bats going right off the bat and have a good cushion so we can feel safe when we're out in the field."

After Laatsch scored after walking in the fourth, Menominee Indian scored its second run to make it 8-2. Tigerton got the run right back in its half of the fifth, with Colby Wanta crossing the plate again. Tigerton tacked on two more runs in the sixth to cap the scoring.

Laatsch finished the game with three RBIs, while Loghan Wanta tallied two RBIs on his three hits while also stealing two bases. The Tigers walked eight times as a team, with Zeke Griepentrog and Ramsey each having three.

Maech Corn was tagged with the loss on the mound for Menominee Indian after working the first four innings. Pearson Denny finished the game on the hill.

Corn and Josh Besaw Jr. scored Menominee Indian's two runs.

Corn doubled in the second inning and then scored on a Besaw Jr. single in the next plate appearance.

Besaw Jr. walked in the fifth and came around to score without the benefit of another hit, with Bryce Dixon later reaching on an error.

"Don't come into a game too high on yourself," said Corn on what the team will take away from the game.

Earlier, Corn said, "It's just a mental game, to be honest. Come in here thinking it was going to be a cakewalk, obviously not."

ATHLETE PROFILE: ANDREW POPP

Shawano senior a big reason behind team's success

The Shawano Community High School baseball team enjoyed a strong 2021 season and is off to another impressive start this spring. Senior Andrew Popp has played a big part in the team's success during that span.

As a junior in 2021, Popp helped the Hawks place second in the Bay Conference and was named to the all-conference first team. Through May 1 of this year, Shawano has had just one loss.

Popp helped the team to a non-conference win over Antigo on April 28 when he drove in four runs on three hits. He drove in a run in both games of a Bay doubleheader sweep over Xavier on April 23.

The senior earned the win on the mound when Shawano topped West De Pere on April 21. He allowed only one run across five innings.

Popp came on in relief and stranded a pair of baserunners to help preserve a tight conference win over Menasha back on April 18. He picked up the win on the hill in a Bay win over New London on April 11, allowing just one run over four innings.

Q: When did your interest in baseball begin?

A: When I was about 4 years old, my dad (Justin) started to teach me how to throw and hit, and that's when my interest began.

Q: What is your favorite part about the baseball season?

A: There's lots of stuff I love about baseball, but I'd say my favorite part of the season is the middle of the year when I start to get into my groove and I feel that everything starts to come together.

Q: What has the game of baseball taught you over the years?

A: It's taught me how to deal with my emotions and also how to clear my mind. It's also taught me how to get people like my teammates excited. I've also learned how to rise up to occasions.

Q: What is your favorite position to play on the diamond and why?

A: Pitching for sure, because I like to screw around with the batters and people on the bases. Also I'm always doing something, so I'm never bored.

Q: How did playing football and competing on the wrestling team get you ready for the baseball season?

A: Both sports helped keep me in good shape for the baseball season. Both sports kept me in the weight room so I could get stronger.

Q: After you turned in a strong junior season, what things do you want to individually accomplish this spring?

A: I'd like to become a better pitcher this year and throw a lot more strikes than I did last year. I'd also like to be a lot more selective at the plate and take more walks this year instead of swinging at bad pitches.

Q: Before a game starts, do you or the team have any routines or rituals you go through?

A: Me and Zac Jurmu talk like pirates and argue over which one of us has scurvy. We also talk about our golden dabloons.

Q: What are the keys to success for your team as the season winds down and postseason play begins?

A: The main key to success is making sure everyone is still having fun playing baseball. We play a lot better when we have good energy and are just overall enjoying playing. We also have to not get complacent at practice.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Shawano baseball team?

A: I'm not really sure, to be honest. I have a lot of great memories associated with baseball. One of my favorite memories though is when we beat West De Pere for the first time in a long time this year. That

ATHLETE PROFILE: GABRIELLE DECLEENE

Pulaski senior having another monster season

The Pulaski High School softball team is in the thick of the Fox River Classic Conference title hunt again. Senior Gabrielle DeCleene is part of the reason why the team is in contention, batting in the heart of the Red Raiders' lineup and also chipping in from inside the circle as a pitcher at times.

DeCleene was a Co-Player of the Year in the FRCC last season and should be one of the top candidates for that honor again as she's produced monster numbers for Pulaski.

Through May 1, DeCleene had homered eight times, including three times against Sheboygan South on April 23. She homered once in each of the team's four games that followed. DeCleene also had driven in 26 runs on 21 hits.

DeCleene has also pitched seven innings for the Red Raiders, not allowing an earned run during that span while striking out eight batters. She also earned one win.

Q: When did your interest in softball begin?

A: I've been playing softball since I was 5, and I never stopped playing and loving the game.

Q: What is your favorite part about the softball season?

A: My favorite part of the softball season is spending time with all of my teammates and seeing great things happen with the team.

Q: What has the game of softball taught you over the years?

A: The game has taught me a tremendous amount. Softball has taught me both physically and mentally that materialistic things don't define you. One bad game doesn't define your skills or you as a person. Just like in life, one bad day doesn't rewrite your story.

Q: After a big junior season in which you earned Co-Player of the Year honors in the FRCC, what individual goals do you have for this spring?

Pulaski's Gabrielle DeCleene prepares to swing at a pitch during the team's conference game against Green Bay Preble on April 14 in Pulaski.

MORGAN RODE | NEW MEDIA

A: My individual goals for this spring is to be the best player I can be. I hope I can be as successful as last year and receive recognition again, but ultimately with it being my senior year, I want to have fun playing the game I love.

Q: As the season continues on, what are the team's keys to success?

A: Mental toughness, selflessness and passion for the game.

Q: How did you prepare for the softball season?

AT A GLANCE

A: Throughout the offseason I prepared by getting a lot of reps in, and I also worked on the mental aspect of the game as well.

Q: As a senior, how do you lead the rest of the team?

A: As a senior, I want to be that teammate that they look up to. I want to make sure they know that in serious situations they can depend on me, and I want them to know I believe in them. I also think that leading a team comes from not only being a teammate, but growing friendships in the process.

Q: Before a game starts, do you or the team have any routines or rituals you go through?

A: When the visiting team is warming up in the field, we play hacky sack. We like to think we are the best sackers in the FRCC.

Q: What's your favorite memory of competing on the Pulaski softball team?

A: Going to state my freshman year of high school.

Q: Favorite movie, TV show and musical artist?

A: Movie — "Leap Year." TV show — "New Girl." Musical artist — CAAMP.

Q: Name one thing about yourself that not many people know.

Luepke helps Bonduel win home invite

Lena grabs 3rd, Witt-Birn takes 4th

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Led by a strong day from Reed Luepke, the Bonduel High School boys golf team turned in a first-place finish at the Bonduel Invite on April 29 at Golden Sands Golf Course in Cecil.

Luepke fired an 18-hole round of 79 to finish as the invite's medalist.

"I hit really well off the tee and didn't find myself in much trouble, also my short game saved me a lot of strokes, especially on the back nine," said Luepke.

Bonduel finished with a team score of 338, well ahead of second-place finishing Oconto, which had a score of 369. Lena placed third with a mark of 377, while Wittenberg-Birnamwood claimed fourth with a team score of 384.

Marion's score of 433 was good enough for 10th, with Menominee Indian/Gresham a shot back at 434 to place 11th.

Along with Luepke's top finish, Bonduel had two other golfers place in the top-10 finishers on the day. Jake Dreyer fired a round of 83, while Cooper Uelmen posted a round of 85.

Reece Stoltenow and Colin Margelofsky also turned in solid rounds for the Bears, with scores of 91 and 95, respectively.

All in all, it was another strong day for Bonduel, which has placed first as a team several times already this spring.

"We have six or seven golfers that could golf in the 80s on any given day that put in countless hours in the offseason," said Luepke. "We are also a close team and I think that plays a huge role in our success."

Braden McVane fired a round of 89 to lead Lena on the course and finish 10th as an individual. He credited his putting for helping him to the strong round.

Lena's Mason Simonson was just a shot back of McVane at a 90. Mason Spice fired a round of 95.

K.C. Miller (103) and Evan Vander Zanden (110) were Lena's other two golfers.

"I do think that our team in all did pretty good, but I think that this third place will kind of push us to do a little better next time and hopefully win our next match," said McVane. "But overall it was a pretty solid day for Lena."

Calvin Scheurer and Nolan Fraaza led Witt-Birn on the course, tallying rounds of 83 and 87, respectively.

"Personally, it was a pretty steady day. It seemed whenever I was in trouble, I was to escape pretty well," said Scheurer, who tied for fifth as an individual.

Owen Schultz (104), Joey Seegmiller (110) and Dylan Resch (115) capped Witt-Birn's team.

Sam Gueths led Marion on the course with a round of 100. Quinn Tolan and Isaiah Gueths weren't far behind, carding rounds of 107 and 109, respectively.

Kasey Roethle (117) and Owen Spiegel (141) capped the Mustangs' five-golfer team.

Menominee Indian/Gresham had both Corbin Welch (90) and Saswaen Shawanokasic (99) turn in rounds under 100 on the day.

"It obviously always feels good to turn in a good scorecard," said Welch. "I'll take what I've learned from today's mistakes and try to learn from it. I think it will also help my confidence every time I stand over the ball to hit a shot."

Jack Haffner (120), Fynn Bennett (125) and Ayanna Smith (133) rounded out the co-op lineup.

St. Norbert College

Pulaski High School graduate Kendall Karcz was invited to the Green Bay Packers rookie minicamp following the 2022 NFL Draft.

KENDALL KARCZ

According to multiple sources, including CBS Sports Packers beat writer Zachary Jacobson and Synergy Sports — where Karcz does workouts — Karcz earned a tryout with the green and gold.

This past football season, Karcz intercepted seven passes for St. Norbert, returning two for touchdowns. The defensive back also had 51 total tackles, 2½ tackles for losses, one sack and two pass breakups through 10 games. He also scored on a punt return.

Wittenberg-Birnamwood graduate Simon Stewart, Bonduel graduate Noah Beilfuss and Oconto Falls graduate Mason Sefcik all pitched for the St. Norbert baseball team last week.

Stewart got an out during the team's win over Rockford on April 27. He then allowed two runs over two innings in a loss to Marian on May 1.

Beilfuss also pitched in the May 1 loss, surrendering four runs over two innings.

Packers take 3 WRs in draft

By STEVE MEGARGEE

The Associated Press

Green Bay's greatest position of concern heading into the draft remains a bit of a question mark even after the Packers selected three candidates to catch passes from reigning MVP Aaron Rodgers.

The Packers added North Dakota State's Christian Watson in the second round, Nevada's Romeo Doubs in the fourth and Nebraska's Samori Toure in the seventh as they attempt to restock at wide receiver after trading All-Pro Davante Adams to the Las Vegas Raiders.

"We're certainly very much of the belief that competition's going to bring out the best, and the cream's going to rise," Packers general manager Brian Gutekunst said April 30.

"That's something that we needed to do, and I think we accomplished that."

The three-time defending NFC North champions still will have less proven talent in their receiving group than just about any other Super Bowl contender. They'll need one or two of these rookie wideouts to contribute immediately.

"You always feel good right now," Packers coach Matt LaFleur said. "But the bottom line is you've got to get these guys in here and see what they can do. And a lot of it's going to be, 'How fast can these guys pick up the offense?'"

Armed with two late first-round picks, the Packers opted against trading up to get one of the top receiving prospects in this class as six wideouts went among the first 18 selections.

The Packers also didn't follow the lead of the Philadelphia Eagles or Arizona Cardinals by trading a first-round pick to land a veteran receiver. Philadelphia acquired A.J. Brown from the Tennessee Titans and Arizona got Marquise Brown from the Baltimore Ravens.

Green Bay instead boosted its defense and took two Georgia teammates in the first round, with linebacker Quay Walker going 22nd overall and defensive tackle Devonte Wyatt 28th.

The Packers took Watson in the second round and UCLA offensive lineman Sean Rhyhan in the third round.

On the final day of the draft, they selected Doubs (134th overall) and Wake Forest offensive lineman Zach Tom (140th) in the fourth round, South Carolina outside linebacker Kingsley Enagbare (179) in the fifth and Georgia Tech safety/linebacker Tariq Carpenter (228th), Miami defensive tackle Jonathan Ford (234th), Penn State offensive tackle Rasheed Walker (249th) and Toure (258th) in the seventh.

Waiting on a pass rusher

The Packers needed to find an outside linebacker to complement the duo of Rashan Gary and Preston Smith after the cap-related release of Za'Darius Smith, but they didn't draft anyone at that position until taking Enagbare with the final pick of the fifth round.

"He's got great length, good hands, good power in his hands," Gutekunst said.

Upgrading special teams

Green Bay picked plenty of players who figure to help out a special teams unit that ranked as the league's worst last season, according to Football Outsiders efficiency metrics.

Watson had 52 career kickoff returns and scored on two of them during his college career. Doubs scored on a punt return the first time he touched the ball for Nevada. Carpenter filled a variety of special teams roles at Georgia Tech.

Versatile blockers

The Packers traditionally have valued offensive linemen who could play multiple positions, but lost two players who fit that profile now that Billy Turner's with the Denver Broncos and Lucas Patrick has joined the Chicago Bears.

But they found guys who could pick up the slack.

Rhyhan was a left tackle at UCLA but also could play guard. Tom played both center and left tackle at Wake Forest.

Personal connections

Watson's father, Tim Watson, was drafted by the Packers in the sixth round in 1993, but never played for Green Bay during an NFL career that included stints with the Kansas City Chiefs, New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles.

Ford says he went to middle school with Packers defensive tackle T.J. Slaton. Doubs said his mother is a longtime Packers fan.

Making moves

The Packers opened this draft with two second-round picks at No. 53 and No. 59, but traded both for the opportunity to take Watson at No. 34.

Reading with a nightcap and chicken slippers

Principal comes to kids' homes, reads them books to encourage literacy

By LYNN ZAFFRANN
Correspondent

On a cold, dark winter's night, if you see a large man shopping at a local grocery store dressed in flannel pajamas, a robe and nightcap, wearing crazy chicken slippers, consider yourself a witness to Principal David Kaiser from St. James Lutheran School in Shawano preparing to venture into the homes of preschool students to boost their interest in reading.

Armed with cookies, cocoa and milk and an assortment of preschool books, Kaiser visits students in their homes to read books to them.

"We start doing this in the winter, starting in January and ending in March," Kaiser said. "The end date is planned for around Dr. Suess's birthday. This is an incentive to get these preschoolers interested in reading."

Kaiser brings an assortment of books with him and each student chooses two books to read that evening, which they get to keep.

"We have 60 students in the preschool program and I do roughly three readings per night," he said. "Roughly 65-75% of our students participate. It is completely optional for students."

Kaiser applied for and received a Thrivent Charitable Impact and Investing grant.

"That is how this entire program is paid for," he said. "With the Thrivent action grant cards, I'm able to purchase bundles of books, preschool and kindergarten age-range and from there I go and show the kids what variety of books there are, from princesses to dinosaurs to super heroes, and they get to pick two books for me to read and for them to keep."

Kaiser said it was the third year St. James has done the reading program, and it's fun to see what excitement the young students have.

"Hey, if a 4-year-old wants me to read that way, then that's what I'm going to do and I put my chicken slippers on and do it," Kaiser said. "I've been through town and some people don't even bat an eyelash.

David Kaiser wears his now-famous preschool reading program garb, showing off his chicken slippers while reading to Waylon Williams, a St. James Lutheran School preschool student. CONTRIBUTED

They know that I'm going shopping for milk and cookies before a home visit."

"The original plan was intended to provide a weekend, weeknight kind of thing, that the students and parents could share that joy of reading," Kaiser elaborated. "We would provide them with a coffee mug, a sleeve of cocoa and then they could pick out books."

Many students get anxiety pangs and shaky knees when they are called down to the principal's office. Learning that the principal is actually coming to a student's house can double or triple those fears, but not for the 3K and 4K students of St. James. A visit from Kaiser brings lifelong learning and memories that puts smiles on their faces.

Amy Vue, mother of Frankie, the first child out of four to attend St. James and as a 4K pupil, said her daughter was ready in pajamas before Kaiser came to the door.

"It was cute," Vue said. "She changed out of her school clothes right after she got home. She picked her own books; her mind was made up what she wanted him to read."

The visit lasted about 20 minutes and Vue noted that "Frankie was all smiles and glowing and couldn't wait to tell her class about it the next day."

Vue said that early in the school year, Frankie knew that Kaiser would be visiting and at first, she thought that she was in trouble. That impression changed after she heard stories from her classmates, and met Kaiser when he came to read in her classroom. Then she couldn't wait for her turn.

"The best part is driving up to their houses," Kaiser said. You see the noses pressed on the front windows, and when I get out and they see me with my hat on, they know it's time to run and get the door. They have to show me their bedroom, introduce me to the dog or cat.

"Some are hiding, and I have to find them, but it helps when you have cookies, because it gets the noses to peek out from the hiding spots," Kaiser chuckled.

Bobby Jo Ladwig, mother of Georgia, a 4K pupil, said that the reading program is wonderful and shows Kaiser's love for children.

"It's so cute, kids stick to the front windows waiting for him. He comes in his get-up and it's amazing. His ministry and love for kids keeps us in the school."

Kaiser noted that when he visited the Ladwigs and started reading to Georgia, her older sister, Emma, came up and sat next to him, while their 1-year-old sibling, Finley, crawled over and plopped right in front of him.

"I read for three kids and they all enjoyed it," Kaiser said. "I had done visits with Emma when she was in 3K and 4K, so this has now become a family tradition."

In an age where technology is captivating children's attention, Kaiser feels it's more important than ever to expose children to books at a young age.

"I feel that we've come to the point where our kiddos have lost the desire to recreational read, and that to me is sad," Kaiser said. "I remember as a child growing up, our parents would take us to the public library for readings and activities. Even then, there was someone who inspired me to read. It's one of those times now where we have become addicted to screens. I wish more parents would limit the amount of screen time, but it's truly a different culture than what it was many years ago. This is what I plan to do with this, to rekindle that desire to read and let them use their imagination."

Crêpes come together as fun sandwich

French delicacy delicious for students when combined with ham and cheese

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

There are many ways to combine ham and cheese, but students at Gresham Community School recently got to enjoy the two staples at lunch with a French twist.

Josh Good, regional chef with Taher, introduced the students to croquet monsieur crêpes, and several of the students went up to Good after lunch and told him that they were delicious.

That's always a good sign that what he makes will be good for families.

"For me, it's really important, because it's part of my job to give them something they normally wouldn't get every day and wouldn't be available in the area," Good said. "Typically, you'd have a crepe for dessert or for breakfast. It's not something you'd typically find around here."

Crêpes have had an interesting history and tradition. The French have traditionally served crêpes on Candlemas on Feb. 2, a day celebrated in the Catholic Church as the Virgin Mary's Blessing Day, but is now France's Le Jour des Crêpes, translated to "The Day of the Crêpes."

Historically, Roman Pope Gelasius I first offered crêpes to French pilgrims who were visiting Rome in the year 472. Those pilgrims brought back the tradition along with a superstition that holding a coin in one's left hand while holding a crêpe in the right hand would make a person rich for a year.

"They were one of the basics before there were pancakes," Good said.

Josh Good, regional chef with Taher, shows off a croquet monsieur crêpe with ham and cheese that he recently served up for students at Gresham Community School. Good noted that the particular crêpe recipe can easily be made at home.

LEE PULASKI | NEW MEDIA

"Unlike a regular pancake, it's not just carbs and sugar. It's very thin, so it's not a dessert (on its own). You're getting proteins. You're getting grain out of it, and the kids are getting something that doesn't have 50 grams of carbohydrates like pancakes."

He added that, while eating a stack of pancakes could leave a person feeling full and having their blood sugar spike, crêpes break down a lot easier when digesting.

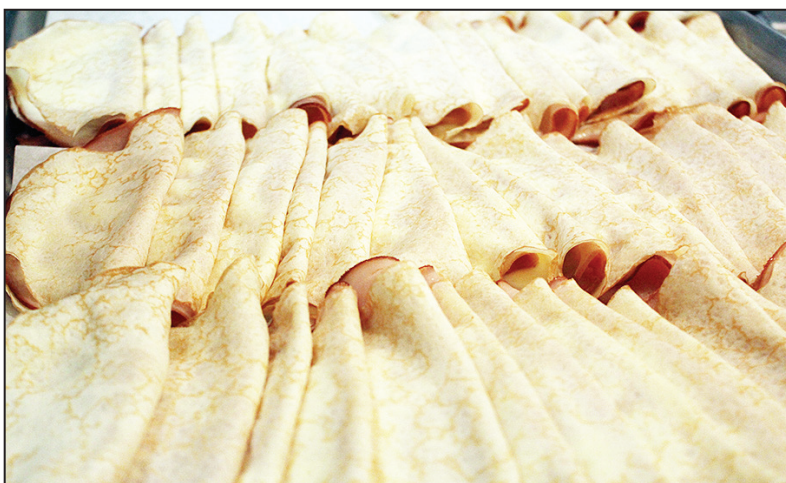

"You can do them however you want," Good said. "That's what's great about them."

Good said he hasn't prepared a French meal in a long time, so he thought using the crêpes to make a ham and cheese sandwich would be an interesting way to introduce students to them.

Crêpes can be made like pancakes on a cast-iron griddle, but Good recommends that folks who want a consistently thin product purchase a crêpe maker. He noted they usually cost around $50 but said it's a good investment in terms of kitchen gadgets.

"It's super easy," Good said. "When you do it in a pan, you have to make sure the pan's the right size, but it's harder to scrape off than it would if you had a griddle. The griddles kind of make it foolproof."

Good said his repertoire of food comes from him being a military brat, constantly on the move and visiting other countries. He said he's glad to be able to share his experiences and meals with the students.

CROQUET MONSIEUR CREPES WITH HAM AND CHEESE

Crepe

2 eggs 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 cup flour
1 1/4 cups 2% milk Melted butter

Whisk eggs and salt in large bowl. Gradually whisk in flour, then 1 1/4 cups milk. Strain into medium bowl. Let stand 1 hour.

If necessary, add more milk by tablespoonfuls to batter to thin it to the consistency of heavy whipping cream. Heat small nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Brush with melted butter. Pour 3 tablespoons batter into skillet and swirl to coat bottom evenly. Cook until top appears dry, loosening sides of crepe with spatula, about 45 seconds. Turn and cook until brown spots appear on second side, about 30 seconds. Turn crepe out onto plate.

Swiss Dijon Béchamel Sauce

2 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons flour

1 cup milk 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1/2 pound Swiss cheese

In a double boiler, melt butter. Slowly add in flour while whisking until your rue forms. Stir this for about 2 minutes. While whisking, slowly add in milk until you see steam rising off it. Slowly add cheese while stirring, until cheese is completely incorporated into the sauce. Add Dijon mustard, and salt and pepper to taste.

Croquet monsieur

8 crepes 1 pound thinly sliced ham
2 cups Swiss Dijon Béchamel Sauce

Heat oven to 350 degrees. On a baking sheet lined with parchment paper, lay out crepes. In each crepe, put two slices of ham. Fold over once and bake for 3 minutes in the oven. Lay crepes on a plate, spoon an ounce of sauce over each crepe and serve.

FARM LIFE FROM A FARM WIFE

Lessons can be learned by dining with Amish

The Amish community has always held a special charm in my heart. Yearning after a simpler way of life, I daydream living that lifestyle, but I'd need electricity and a refrigerator with a freezer and a Mixmaster. I'd negotiate, but no radio, television, cellphone or computer? I think I could do it.

My husband had, at one time, worked with an Amish fellow and had struck up a grand friendship. This guy and his family have butchered our chickens, have purchased beef from us, and through the years, my husband and I have become very fond of them.

KAY REMINGER

"Let's go to the Amish breakfast!" my husband exclaimed one day. We had always wanted to go, but I never could. Saturdays were work days for me. Getting to the event, we saw horse and buggies parked side-by-side all over the yard, in addition to vehicles. Striking up a conversation with those in line helped take my mind off my grumbling belly.

Once inside the huge shed, I was assaulted with the delicious aroma of pancakes, scrambled eggs, sausages, ham slices and mouth-watering glazed donuts. We were handed a plate just after placing our donation into the waiting bucket. No one was charged a thing for this delicious, homemade meal. All they asked was a freewill offering to be used toward the maintenance of their school.

We were served by bearded men dishing up with a smile and a "little more?" There were cups of steaming coffee and on the table, pitchers of orange juice, butter cups and jars of homemade maple syrup or Dutch honey to slather on your pancakes.

Later, as we were finishing, our good friends pulled up a chair to pleasantly visit. Asking about the turnout of this fundraiser, they figured they'd be feeding approximately 600 people when done. On June 4, they're also having a quilt/consignment auction with a pancake breakfast from 6:30-9 a.m. and a school bake sale. The consignment auction starts at 8:30 a.m. This event is located at E6778 Neitzke Road in Marion.

We enjoyed the great food and welcoming fellowship and so many sweet smiles. The Amish community is a very gentle and charming sort. It's calming to be in their presence. After reluctantly pushing away from the table, our friends invited us to their place for a homemade pizza supper. We bid a fond farewell and a promise to see them soon.

Later we stopped at their Country Store. I picked up an Amish book, "Home Remedies from Amish Country," and bulk roasted/salted pumpkin (Pepitas) seeds.

That night, I looked through the book and discovered many simple cures, for example, for upset tummies. "Mix some warm water and nutmeg and drink the mixture."

For sunburns, they suggested, "Applying some Aloe Vera from the plant, full strength, onto the affected area. This also applies to flash burns from a welder. If the eyes become burned, squeeze the juice from the plant into the eye. Put two drops in each eye. This is a good remedy for all kinds of burns." Such simplistic methods readily available to all.

The night rolled around when we were to have a meal with our friends. Arriving at their home, the children welcomed us with warm smiles, Mom and Dad following suit. Learning they like ice cream with their pizza (and I mean as they eat it!) we brought along a gallon and another treat for them, a 12-pack of Sundrop. Sitting in the comfortable, spacious home with a hardwood floor throughout, the living room, dining room and kitchen all flowed together to give one an ambience of inclusiveness. "All are welcome here," it seemed to say.

While the wife prepared our pizza, rolling out the crust and frying the sausage and chicken, I played with the little girls. Their family consisted of Mom and Dad and five children, ranging in ages from 11 to 2, with only one boy in the mix of four girls.

The children go to school from grades one through eight, and after that, a graduation is planned with all the families gathering at the school for singing, a potluck meal and games afterward. The children learn English at school, along with basics, and before that only speak Pennsylvania Dutch English, which I've learned from Wikipedia, is a "dialect of English that has been influenced by the Pennsylvania German language."

The home we visited that evening spoke Pennsylvania Dutch fluently. I was interacting with one little girl as we played with plastic eggs. She'd giggle, running to get all manners of things to fit inside, making them rattle. As we were leaving, I turned to momma asking how to say "thank you for playing" in Pennsylvania Dutch. When I spoke, her eyes twinkled, her face breaking out into a radiant smile. I left teary-eyed and humbled.

The Amish community with their straightforward way of life can teach us much, if only we shut off our electronics and quietly listen.

("Be beautiful inside, in your hearts, with the lasting charm of a gentle and quiet spirit that is so precious to God." 1 Peter 3:4)

Kay Reminger was born and raised on a dairy farm, and she married her high school sweetheart, who happened to farm for a living in Leopolis. Writing for quite a few years, she remains focused on the blessings of living the ups and downs of rural life from a farm wife's perspective.

Extend vegetable garden season with help of containers

An assortment of herbs and edible flowers is striking in a container planting.

ROB ZIMMER

Containers make vegetable gardening fun. Here, colorful lettuces are grown in a collander.

ROB ZIMMER

Have you tried growing vegetables, fruits and herbs in containers? For many reasons, growing edible plants in containers is becoming more and more popular. Make this year your year for trying this fun and simple way to grow more food.

There are many benefits to growing edible plants in containers. For starters, if you have poor soil — either too dry, too much clay or too wet — containers are a simple solution. Perfect soil every time. Using a high-quality potting mix is all it takes to get started growing amazing tomatoes, peppers, lettuces, herbs and more in convenient containers.

For those with small spaces or even no yard space to garden, containers make the ultimate solution. You can grow a variety of edible plants in containers of all shapes and sizes. Plus, they are portable, so you can place them wherever sunlight is best. You can even move them indoors, if needed, on frosty spring or fall nights.

Another benefit of growing edibles in containers is that it pretty much eliminates the need for weeding. Keeping up with weeds in the ground garden is a chore that often tires out gardeners, or they simply give up by midsummer and let the weeds reign. However, growing in containers means very few weeds, if any, since you are using fresh potting mix and planting your edibles quite closely.

Gardening in containers is easy and fun for all ages, as well. A great way to get children interested in gardening, let them have the freedom to plant their favorites together and create their own mini vegetable gardens.

Hanging gardens are also a joy and easy to maintain. There are a number of edible plants that do wonderfully in hanging baskets. Fill a hanging basket with cherry tomato plants, strawberries, herbs, lettuces or a combination of all and let them do their thing. Many garden centers sell pre-planted hanging tomatoes, peppers, strawberry planters and more.

ROB ZIMMER

Herbs make excellent container plants, and it's easy to create some beautiful — as well as practical — container creations. Combine colorful basil, variegated sage, thyme, lemon balm, mints and more to create amazing container gardens.

Lettuces of all shapes, sizes and colors combine to create beautiful and useful container gardens as well. Lettuces can be grown in sun or shade, making them a great choice for container growing.

Containers make it easy to grow root crops, as well. If your soil is too heavy or dry for root crops, try growing these delicious crops from seed in containers.

For carrots, depending on the size, use deeper containers. For radishes and beets and onions, shallower containers may be used. Simply fill the container with a high-quality potting mix and sow your seeds. You can grow in traditional rows, as you would in the garden, by using window box-style planters, or you can scatter into round pots or other shapes and sizes.

Tomatoes and peppers, even cucumbers make excellent container plants. A trend you can find online is growing larger varieties of these plants in 5 gallon pails. Five-gallon pail gardening is a simple, easy and space-saving method of vegetable gardening. Check out some examples of this gardening method with a simple online search.

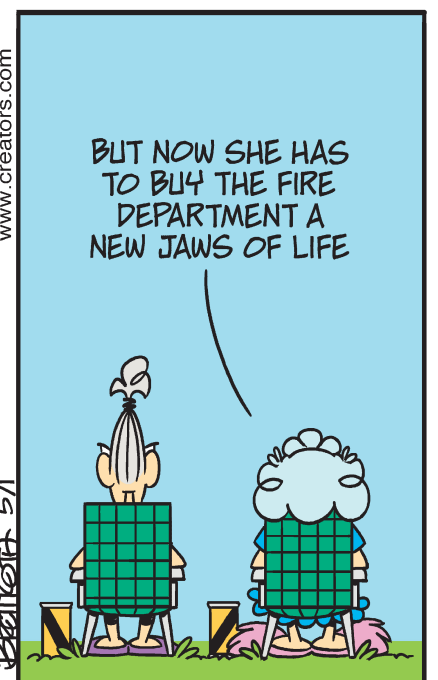

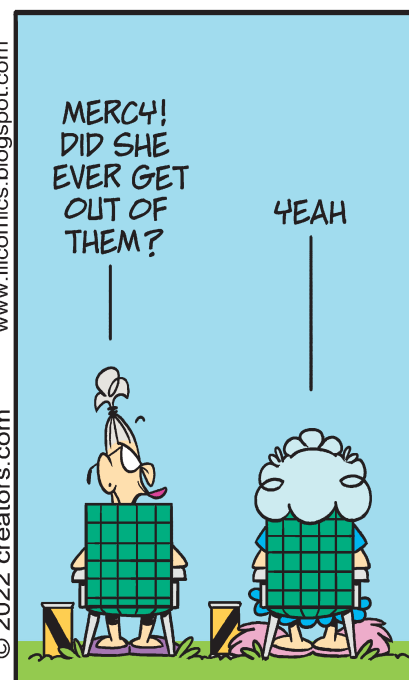

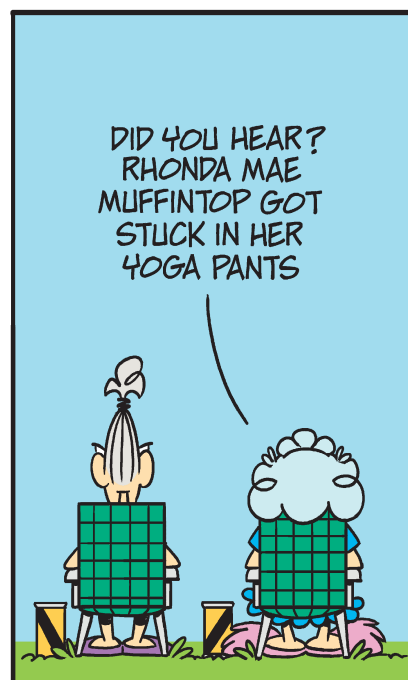

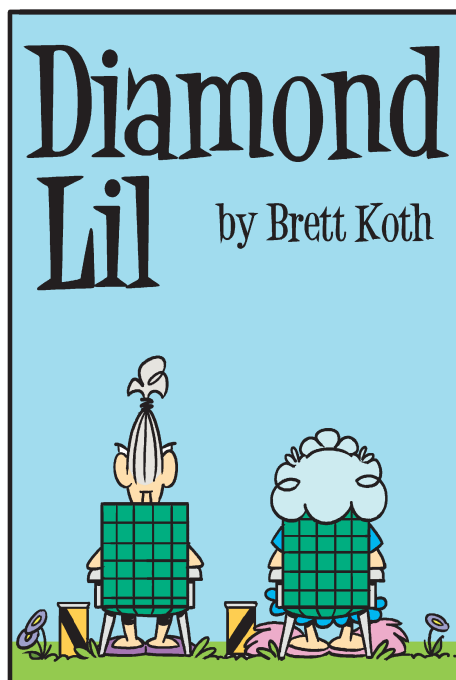

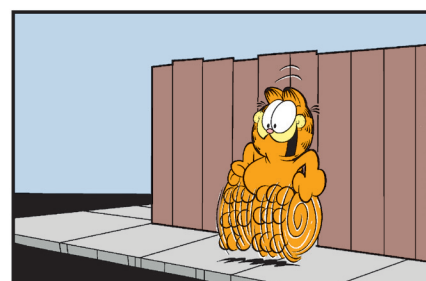

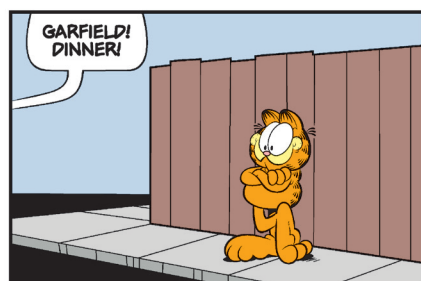

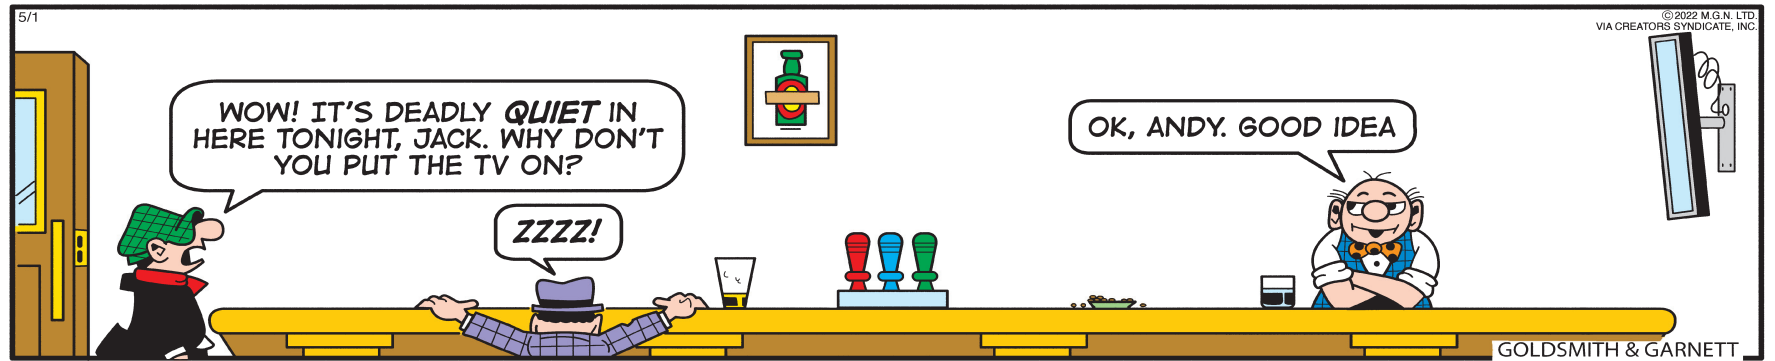

It is important that whatever containers you use have proper drainage. Be sure to drill holes in the bottom if your container has none.

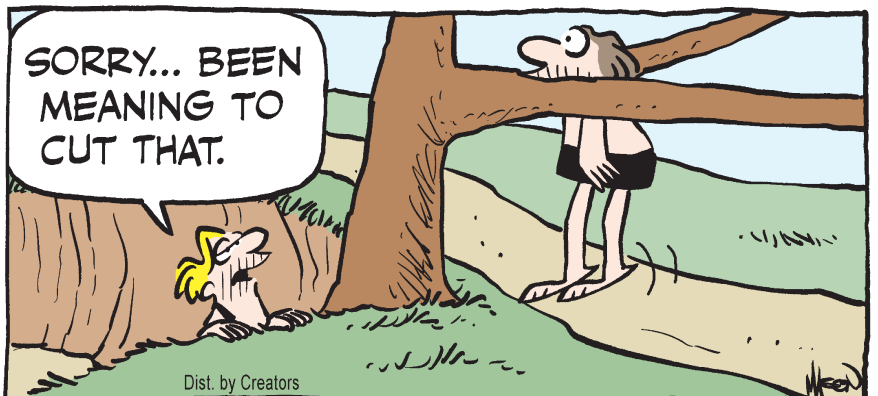

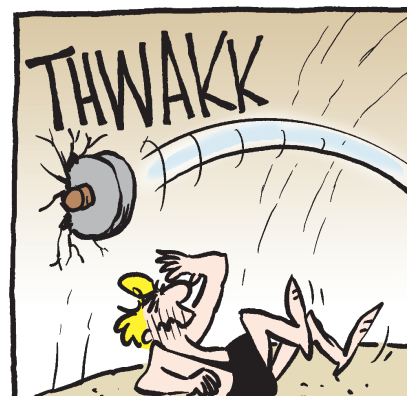

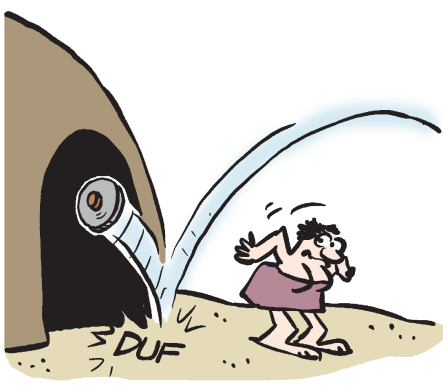

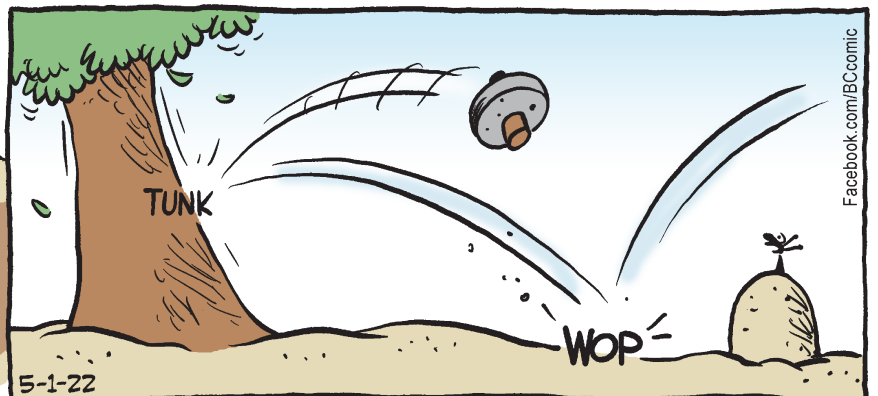

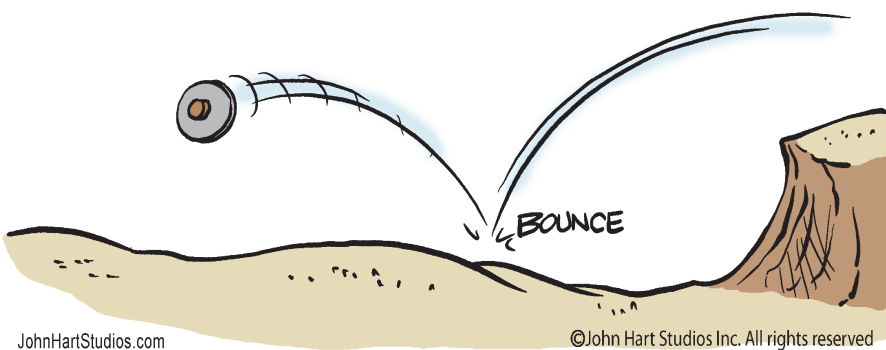

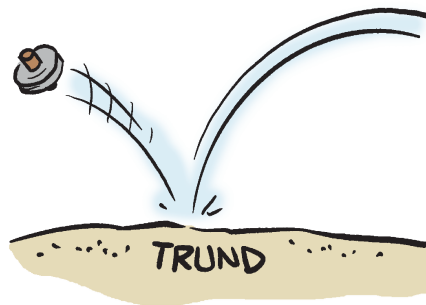

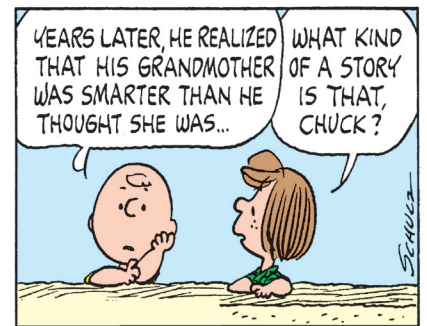

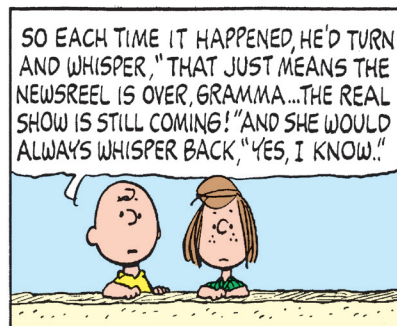

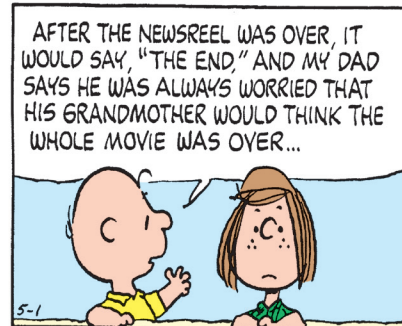

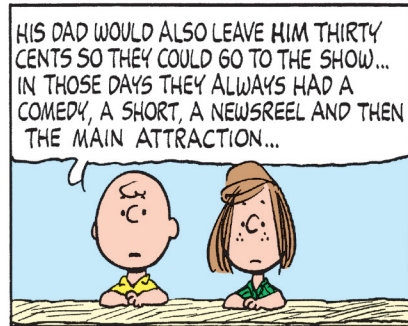

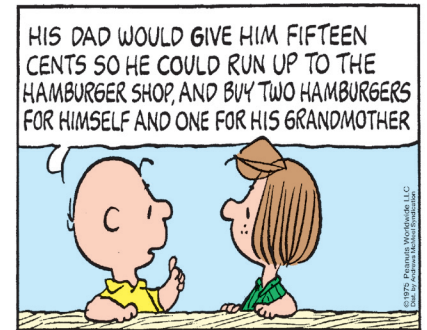

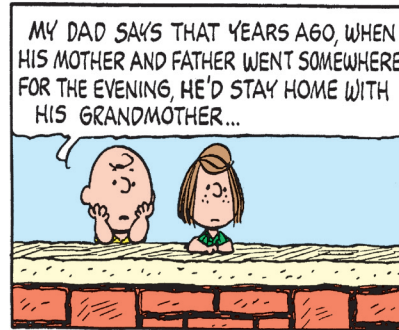

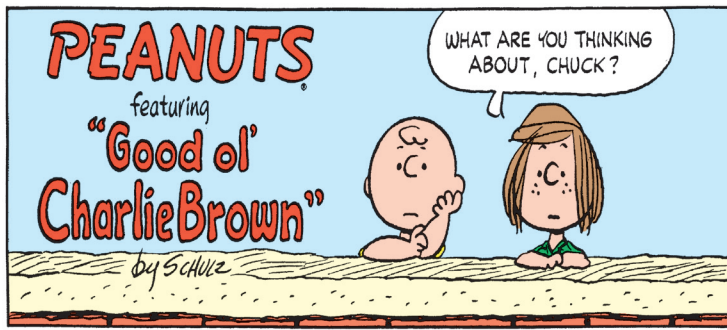

Enjoy planting and growing vegetables in containers.

Hoffman teaches St. James about bullying

St. James Lutheran School recently welcomed Officer Brandy Hoffman, one of the Shawano school resource officers, to talk with the fourth- and fifth-grade students about the idea of bullying.

Hoffman helped the students develop an idea of what is and is not bullying, what steps to take if bullying takes place, and similarly, how to stand up to a bully.

David Kaiser, St. James principal, feels that his school and the surrounding schools are blessed to have Hoffman and Officer Tyler Thornborrow to come and speak with students on topics like bullying.

"This helps build that rapport between the students and the officers tasked to help in conflict situations," Kaiser said. "These officers are making a difference in these students' lives and showing the students they do care for each child."
