Murders changed three families forever

Friends and families of murder victims, and the daughter of the convicted killer, speak at his sentencing

By WARREN BLUHM

Editor-in-chief

Forty-five years of lingering grief was laid bare Aug. 26 as friends and family of David Schuldes and Ellen Matheys addressed the court before Ray Vannieuwenhoven was formally sentenced to life in prison.

Representatives of three families, plus a best friend, took the opportunity to talk about the impact of the two brutal murders in 1976 and the arrest of the man who committed them 43 years later.

"It was like a boulder dropped in a pond," said Judge James A. Morrison about the ripple effect of the murders on so many lives.

The Aug. 26 hearing was mostly a formality, since the double-murder conviction carried a mandatory life prison sentence for Vannieuwenhoven, of Lakewood, who had escaped suspicion for the shooting deaths until DNA analysis matched him to a specimen found on Matheys' body in 1976.

Joanne Mikulsky, David Schuldes' sister, said their mother is the only surviving parent of the Green Bay couple.

"When David and Ellie were killed, it brought her to her knees," Mikulsky said. "She faltered but not for long, because she had a husband and four adult children who needed to be lifted up and prodded to put one foot in front of the other and keep moving forward."

For 45 years, Schuldes' mother has "has lived with her heart shattered," she said. After a jury found Vannieuwenhoven guilty July 27, Mikulsky asked her mother how the verdict made her feel.

"She said, 'I know it won't be over for me until he's in prison for the rest of his life,'" Mikulsky said, noting that the convicted murderer is 84 and apparently in poor health. "The rest of his life in prison wouldn't be much justice for what he did to David and Ellie and for the 45 years he stole from them, but at this point it's the only justice that's left for them. ... We all just need to finally, finally find some peace."

'She always wanted to help'

Morrison next heard from two of Matheys' nieces. Cindy Chizek was a little girl when the murders happened.

"I may have been very young; however I clearly remember the horrific pain in my family's voices, seeing the anguish and sorrow written on their faces, seeing tears that I thought would never stop," Chizek said.

Matheys was a caring woman who served as a Big Sister in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program, she said.

"She cared so deeply for other people, and she always wanted to help," she said.

For more than four decades, Chizek said, she was filled with questions and driven to find closure, even visiting McClintock Park to try to make sense of what happened.

"This has hung over our heads for so, so long. I cannot even imagine the torture Ellie went through in her last moments on this Earth, and this pains me to this day," she said.

Laurie Smith, who was 13 years old when her aunt was raped and murdered, remembered a smart and giving woman who helped her understand a geometry problem.

"I think often how if she had been allowed to live her life, what a great mother she would have been," she said.

Smith, a former Girl Scout, said she stopped camping after that day in the summer of 1976.

"I'm not sure I'll ever be able to enjoy nature like I used to. Nature was my comforter normally; now it's a reminder of an act so horrific and terrifying that 45 years later it still impacts me," Smith said.

Smith said she has struggled with depression and sleep issues her entire life, and the trauma has had an impact on her own two daughters.

"I am a strict and overprotective mother and grandmother," she said. "I would never let my girls go camping when they were young. Now when they go camping as adults, I worry the entire time they are gone."

A best friend grieves

Finally, Lynn Baumgartner, who described Matheys as "my very best friend, and Dave was the love of her life," said she suffered sleepless nights and nightmares for 42 years not knowing who had murdered them.

"How could you have done this? As far as I'm concerned, you have no soul and no regard for human life," Baumgartner said, addressing Vannieuwenhoven directly. "My God, Dave didn't know what hit him. You dropped him like an animal, and I know Ellie knew what was coming. I can't begin to imagine how scared she was, how you made her feel at that time."

Vannieuwenhoven "denied us the right to write our story together into old age," Baumgartner said.

"They were innocent young adults just starting out together, and you took everything. I'm angry that you showed no remorse, taking everyone through this trial and didn't own up to what you did," she said. "I'm angry that you got 42-plus years of freedom with your family and friends, while leaving me to wonder, 'Why? Why, why did you do this?' I want and pray that you remember your horrendous action every moment of every day that you have left on this earth. I hope you live many more years, so you can be as miserable as possible locked up where I think you belong."

Baumgartner concluded by thanking the Marinette County investigators for sticking with the case until its end, as well as the prosecutors, the judge and jury.

"Now it's time for our healing. I know Ellie and Dave want that for all of their family and friends, and I hope that can be achieved," she said.

Another family torn

The only person who spoke for the defendant, other than his attorneys, was his youngest daughter, Dorothy Vannieuwenhoven.

"No disrespect to any of the family, I can't imagine what any of you are going through at all, but 'innocent until proven guilty.' In my mind, the only thing you proved is that Dad had an affair, in my opinion," she said to the prosecutors. "Your case was all DNA; DNA doesn't prove anything other than that, again in my opinion. Even if it wasn't my father sitting in that chair, I don't think you have the right guy. I really don't."

She then turned to her father and spoke about the last time they were together, a fireman's association dinner on his 82nd birthday.

"You were my date for that day, the best date I could have had, with my dad," she said. "We laughed. We joked around; we smiled. It was an all-around great night, you know, us being us."

A month later, Vannieuwenhoven was arrested, and the family fell into a state of disbelief.

"They wouldn't let us talk to you. They wouldn't let us see you, and then I found out it wasn't anybody there. It was you. You didn't want to see any of us; you didn't want to talk to any of us," his daughter said. "That hurt. That hurt a lot. I don't know why; we all stood by you this whole time, believing our dad couldn't have done anything like this, and I still believe that."

Ray Vannieuwenhoven is the only person who can say what happened that day, his daughter said.

"All I know for sure is you are my dad. You always will be my dad, and I love you, and I always will love you," she said. Her father made no discernible response.

The day after the sentencing hearing, Vannieuwenhoven's attorneys filed a notice of intent to file post-conviction relief.

Elderly killer sentenced to consecutive life terms

By WARREN BLUHM
Editor-in-chief

Ray Vannieuwenhoven's actions on July 9, 1976, were "cold, calculated and absolutely brutal," the Marinette County district attorney said Aug. 26, and for that he will spend what is left of his lifetime under the care of the Wisconsin prison system.

The Lakewood man, 84, was sentenced to consecutive life sentences for the shooting deaths of David Schuldes, 25, and Ellen Matheys, 24, at McClintock Park in the Town of Silver Cliff.

Matheys had been raped, then shot to death, after witnessing the shooting death of her fiancé, and DNA preserved from her body was linked to Vannieuwenhoven in March 2019, nearly 43 years after the murders.

A jury deliberated a little more than an hour before finding Vannieuwenhoven guilty July 27 after a seven-day trial.

The couple was engaged to be married Sept. 10, 1976, and they were starting a weekend camping trip when the attack occurred, District Attorney DeShea Morrow said.

"They had their lives completely in front of them, and he took that from them," Morrow told Judge James A. Morrison.

After being caught and charged in 1957 for attempting to drag a girl into a cemetery, the defendant made sure he wasn't going to be identified when he struck again 19 years later, she said.

"And through this whole process, there's really been no sense of remorse from Mr. Vannieuwenhoven," Morrow said. "Certainly when it was brought up in the visit that was recorded, there was laughter, maniacal laughter, no remorse."

Three family members and Matheys' best friend made statements describing the impact of their loved ones' deaths, all of them saying the murders had irrevocably changed their lives and haunted them 45 years later.

"The image of my grandmother holding the coffin and sobbing uncontrollably is etched in my mind and will be there forever," said Laurie Smith, Ellen Matheys' niece who was 13 years old when the murders happened.

Given a chance to speak before the sentence was imposed, Vannieuwenhoven said, "The whole damn works has been rigged, everything, right from the word go when they put me in that jail," and launched into a mostly unintelligible speech for two minutes.

"I think Mr. Vannieuwenhoven was claiming some sort of wrongdoing on the part of the district attorney - I think," Morrison said. "I reject that out of hand."

Before imposing sentence, Morrison said the defendant's actions were "like dropping a boulder in a pond," affecting the lives of the victims' friends and families forever.

"This is the impact of these two senseless, awful, heinous, idiotic, unspeakable crimes," he said, his voice rising with each adjective.

"I don't think there was any reason to believe that Mr. Vannieuwenhoven even knew these two young people. From what I can see and tell, they were selected at random, even less understandable than if he had killed somebody with whom he had a dispute. Now that would not be acceptable, but at least we could get our brains around that and understand somehow how that could happen ... It's unfathomable, I do not have words to describe how horrible this is."

Morrison said the message of Vannieuwenhoven's arrest, trial and sentencing should be that people understand that when unspeakable crimes are committed, the system will not rest until justice is done.

"You are never safe when you've done something evil," the judge said. "Nor should you be."

OBITUARIES

On Aug. 23, 2021, Electa "Tammy" Fox, 78, of Sobieski, drew her last earthly breath. She was born in 1943 in Gary, Indiana, to Theodore P. Fox and Sadie Helen (Shier) Krubsack Fox. After graduating from high school, Tammy enlisted in the U.S. Navy, joining its Medical Corps and studying to become a physician assistant. After nine years of proud military service, Tammy moved to Mountain, where her father resided. She then passed her medical boards and became one of the first PAs to work in northeastern Wisconsin. Her first job was with Dr. Ken Strebe; and her medical career spanned more than 50 years during which she worked at the Dousman Clinic and for Oneida Health Care Services where, for four years, she was its director. She finished her career in 2013 after working for Community Memorial Clinic in Oconto.

Tammy was a born caregiver to others, notwithstanding her own medical issues which she struggled with over the years, always pushing forward despite her pain and disabilities and always willing to lend a helping hand and share her knowledge with anyone in need. Her caregiving extended to all living creatures. In 1968, a fellow Naval corpsman gave Tammy a dachshund whom Tammy named "Jackie." Thus began her love affair with this breed of dog. Over her lifetime, Tammy loved and cared for 12 dachshunds, six of whom were rescues.

Tammy had a full and happy life that included her love for her family. She is survived by sisters-in-law, Dorothy Krubsack and Joan Fox Penix (Daryl); nephews and nieces, William Sniff (Rebecca), Cathy Shaller (Mickey) and Michelle Sehmer (Steve); and numerous grandnephews and nieces. Tammy was also blessed with wonderful friendships, including with best friend, Gail Coleman, whom Tammy knew for more than 50 years. Tammy was preceded in death by her parents; brothers, Jack and Cliff Krubsack, and Theodore Fox Jr.; sister, Patronella Sniff; brother-in-law, Dick Sniff; and nephew, Paul Fox.

Visitation was held Friday, Aug. 27, 2021, at Church of the Holy Apostles (2937 Freedom Road) in Oneida from noon until the funeral service at 2 p.m. with Rev. Rodger Patience presiding. Military honors followed the service. Masks were requested. Gruetzmacher Funeral Home in Suring is assisting the family with arrangements. Online condolences can be expressed at www.gruetzmacher-funeralhome.com.

In lieu of flowers, please make a donation in Tammy's name to your local humane society or to the American Heart Association.

Tammy's loved ones extend a very special thank you to the staff of the ICU at St. Mary's Hospital and to the caregivers at Woodside Rehab. Tammy was grateful to all her wonderful caregivers over these past several years and to all of her friends, especially Gail whom she could always count on. Tammy wanted to remind everyone to be kind and to adopt a rescue animal.

Eugene "Gene" E. Spreeman, 89, De Pere, passed away Aug. 28, 2021, peacefully with his daughter at his bedside at St. Vincent Hospital. Gene was born in Breed on May 10, 1932, to the late William and Mildred (Lemke) Spreeman.

He proudly served his country in the U.S. Army from 1952-1956 in Alaska. Gene enjoyed his cabins on and near Anderson Lake, supper clubs, playing cards, watching the Packers and Brewers and most of all helping friends and family in any way he could. His generosity and kindness were unequalled. He was employed by Nicolet Paper in De Pere for over 25 years.

Survivors include his daughter, Lynn (Nate) Jacobs; his wife, Della (Thomson); stepdaughter, Mary Jo

(Bill) Diedrick; stepsons, Peter (Luann) Thomson and Bob Thomson; and his loving step-grandchildren, and step-great-grandchildren; brothers, Verlyn

Spreeman, of Suring, and William Spreeman, of Breed; brother-in-law, Roger (Elaine) Hendricks, of Wrightstown; sisters-in-law, Bernice Fye, Shirley Hendricks and Mary (Ron) Timm, of De Pere; close family friend Judi Thomson; nieces, nephews, other relatives and many friends.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his first wife, Elaine (Hendricks); brothers, Carlyle (Marie) Spreeman and Earl (Sally) Spreeman; sisters Althea (Floyd) Peters, Shirley (Eugene) Baeten, Elaine

Thank you for always reminding all of us to stay positive. Thank you for being the best father, friend, teacher and mentor a person could have. Thank you for showing us what unconditional love really means. Thank you for hoisting your daughter up on your shoulders and keeping her there for 53 years. It was a blessing having you on this planet for 89 years.

Motorcyclist dies in crash near Townsend

A New London man died Aug. 26 in a motorcycle crash north of Townsend.

Oconto County Sheriff Todd Skarban said the 63-year-old man was traveling south on state Highway 32 near North Surprise Lake Road at about 6:48 a.m. when he apparently failed to negotiate a curve and crashed. Alcohol and speed are believed to be factors, Skarban said.

The man was later identified as Brad L. Scheibe. The accident report indicates that the motorcycle traveled about 250 feet after it left the roadway, striking a utility box. Scheibe was pronounced dead at the scene.

Skarban said his office was assisted by Lakewood Townsend Ambulance, Townsend Fire Department and the Brown County Medical Examiner's Office.

Mask debate heats up in Gresham board meeting

Community, board members exchange words about mandate

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Angry words were exchanged by parents and members of the Gresham School Board on Aug. 31 as the board debated whether to reinstate a masking policy that was rescinded in June one day before the new school year was to begin.

No action was taken to change the district's current stance on recommending masks but not mandating them. However, parents in the audience were baffled as to why requiring masks was even being considered, especially when Superintendent Newell Haffner said there were zero cases reported of COVID-19 within the district, although there were cases in surrounding school districts.

"It doesn't mean it's not there," Haffner said. "It just means we haven't had a reported case, so I'm saying, based on you guys giving me the power, we're mask-optional. To me, nothing has changed."

Board member Doug Huck said that the power to change the mask requirements in the district should fall to the board, claiming it was unfair to put the burden on Haffner's shoulders. He noted that when the data in June showed COVID-19 numbers statewide were dropping, the board made the decision to drop its mask mandate in the hopes of attracting people for summer school.

Now, the state numbers are trending upward, so Huck feels requiring masks for a short time would be a safe option.

"Last year, when we were in school, everybody was masked, and I think that's a reasonable course," Huck said. "I think the most effective way we can control the COVID disease is to mask up for a while. If the numbers continue to stay low in the district, then we can take a look at it."

Board member Joe Ejnik disagreed with the idea, noting that the board gave Haffner the power to decide on masks for a reason, and it shouldn't be going back on its word. He said the statistics and science can be interpreted different ways, with different studies saying differ-

Gresham School Board member Joe Ejnik is visibly unhappy that the board is considering taking away the authority of the superintendent to determine mask requirements, depending on the available data. As board president Alpha Creapeau listens, Ejnik said the consideration of making it a board decision is akin to the board going back on its word.

ent things about the same issue.

Ejnik noted that 91% of the deaths from COVID-19 in Wisconsin have been people over the age of 60. He said the school is the most controlled environment in the community, and maybe there should be more concern about letting kids pig out on candy bars instead of the chance of getting the coronavirus.

"We need to worry more about our elderly folks than pushing it onto our kids," Ejnik said. "Our kids have been shown to handle it very well. I don't know why we have to keep going after the kids. I don't see why we have to hit the panic button right now."

The masking issue has polarized the community, according to Haffner, to the point where people he once liked and respected called him vulgarities because the district was requiring masks last year.

"The only thing that's driving me nuts right now is that people can't have a decent discussion about it," Haffner said. "We get mad. We start hating people all because of a piece of cloth. That's bull. We're better people than this. Our community is better than this."

Haffner noted that available substitute teachers are few and far between, which prompted concern from board president Alpha Creapeau about what would happen if a teacher contracted the virus, and a classroom had to be shut down.

"We better pray that a teacher doesn't get it," Haffner said.

Parent Amber Fischer feels the decision about whether children should have to wear masks should be determined by parents, not the school district.

"This is enough with this controlling our kids and our families," Fischer said. "Enough. Let's get back to normal."

Some of the community statements did not sit well with some board members. Board member Jim Hoffman lashed out at one of the speakers, noting he'd known the person for over 30 years, but he wasn't too accommodating to threats.

"I'm going to do what I think is best on one issue," Hoffman said. "If anything starts to slide, I'm going to be one of the first ones to say we've got to put masks on so we can keep the school open."

Shannon Holsey, president of the Stockbridge-Munsee Tribal Council, said her tribe was ready to help out with whatever the district needed, whether it was providing masks and hand sanitizer or helping to provide COVID-19 testing and vaccines. She noted that there are currently 85 active COVID-19 cases in the county, and community transmission risk is high, adding that the tribe is requiring face masks within its boundaries.

"We know it offers a level of safety for everybody," Holsey said. "We're here for you. We are good stewards, and we want to have a meaningful and robust relationship because we do care."

Community member Deanna Bisley argued that masks should be mandatory, noting that Shawano County's vaccination rate is very low at 40%.

"Right now, the state of Mississippi has a similar vaccination rate, and I think we all know what's going on in the southeast," Bisley said. "Thirty-four counties are experiencing very high COVID-19 cases, with nine of them around us."

The district will look at a COVID-19 plan first at its policy committee, which meets Sept. 7, and then the full board is expected to vote on the issue Sept. 13.

Landscapes enjoy a hibiscus extravaganza

One of the most flamboyant and extravagant landscape plants for our area is the incredible hardy hibiscus. With massive blooms that may reach 10 inches across, colorful and decorative foliage, and over-the-top size, hardy hibiscus shrubs are becoming more and more popular in local gardens.

Unlike tropical hibiscus, which will not tolerate winters here in Wisconsin, hardy hibiscus, also known as rose mallow, do quite well in our area in zone 4 and 5 gardens.

Hardy hibiscus feature massive, tissue paper-like blooms in shades of pink, red and white. In many of the hybrid varieties that are available, these colors are swirled together like peppermint candy, creating a spectacular effect in the late summer and fall garden.

It is their massive, dinner-plate-sized blooms that draw gardeners to these easy to grow and easy to care for perennial shrubs. Nothing else compares to the massive blooms of hardy hibiscus throughout late summer and fall.

Even before and after their bloom season, hardy hibiscus are attractive specimens in the garden and feature incredible foliage. Some varieties boast bright green foliage and heart-shaped leaves, while others feature foliage that is deep maroon or purple in color and heavily laced, almost like a Japanese maple. There are even a few varieties that are variegated in color with leaves that are green, pink and white.

Hardy hibiscus are very easy to grow in our area and normally do not require any winter protection. Be sure to select varieties that are hardy in zone 4 or 5, depending where you are located.

One caution about these giant specimen plants is that they come up quite late in the spring season, often not sending up shoots until June 1. It is important to be patient in the spring. Many gardeners, inspecting their garden plants in April and May and don't see shoots coming up yet, assume that the plant has died. However, hardy hibiscus are simply extremely late in emerging.

Once they do emerge, these are fast-growing shrubs that bloom on new wood, or new branches, each year. They quickly shoot up 3 to 5 feet in height and begin to form massive flower buds that begin to bloom in late July and August. Established shrubs may contain hundreds of flower buds that will continue to bloom even into October.

Hardy hibiscus also transform into incredible fall colors, making them even more valuable in the garden.

Leaves may turn rich purple, red, orange and gold throughout September and October.

I usually recommend to gardeners that they leave the branches standing throughout the winter season so that they are able to locate the plant in the spring. As previously noted, these are incredibly late in emerging in the spring season and the branches or stubs help gardeners remember where the plant is located even when its new growth has not yet emerged.

Hardy hibiscus are generally pretty easy to find at area garden centers. They are often available in large, blooming size 2- or 3-gallon pots. They may also be sold as one-gallon perennials. Be aware that these are smaller and may just send up a few blooms the first year, taking three to five years to reach their full size of 4 to 6 feet high and wide.

Most of the hardy hibiscus hybrids should be planted in full sun to maximize bloom count. However, a few varieties do well in shade or part shade. Be sure to read the individual tags that indicate if your variety needs sun or can handle some shade.

GRACE trail opens at Alpine Shores Park

Project brings together city, Pathways, ThedaCare, other community partners

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

One of two unique trails opened to the public Aug. 26, with the particular trail adding some depth to an otherwise undeveloped park.

With Shawano Pathways, ThedaCare and other community partners, the city of Shawano opened its GRACE (Grateful, Release, Acceptance, Challenge, Embrace) trail at Alpine Shores Park on the north end of town. Another one is opening in the Navarino area.

"It's just been a great project of collaboration and absolute excitement," said Matty Mathison, who spearheaded the project on behalf of Pathways.

The ¾-mile trail not only provides another recreational opportunity for community members, but it also provides a source of healing as it helps people who have lost a loved one or are at risk of losing someone. Mathison could sympathize, noting how the COVID-19 pandemic gave her a scare when her 96-year-old mother was diagnosed with the virus in November 2020.

"I did two daily window checks on her every single day and reported how she was to my eight siblings and to all of the people who were concerned about her health and safety," Mathison said. "On Thanksgiving Day, two weeks later, she felt well enough to have something to eat, despite the fact that, before that, she was very, very sick."

Mathison noted that visiting her mother in person wasn't an option at the time, so she ordered Thanksgiving dinner for two and sat outside her mother's home in 40-degree temperatures eating cold turkey. Mathison's mother, whom the daughter described as a "stubborn Norwegian," survived COVID-19, and the word that came to her from the experience was "grateful," and she came home to read her mail and learned about GRACE trails.

"This was what I needed in my life," Mathison said. "I have no doubt this is what other people need in their lives. When I realized how significant this trail could be for our community, I decided I wanted to create two of them."

Once Mathison was able to secure

Eve Hendricks, daughter of Shawano Park and Recreation Director Matt Hendricks, helps Matty Mathison of Shawano Pathways to cut the ribbon dedicating the new GRACE trail at Alpine Shores Park. The girl was the first person to donate to the project, emptying out what she'd saved at home to help create the trail.

funding, she went to Matt Hendricks, park and recreation director for the city. Hendricks said he didn't know what a GRACE trail was, but once he learned about it, he tried to figure out a way to get it to fit in Shawano.

"This park was established when this residential plat was dedicated decades ago," Hendricks said. "For decades, this park has sat here and been a wooded area. All by itself, that's fine, as environmental protection comes through parks and natural areas."

Hendricks noted there were plans to have a wooded walking area at Alpine Shores long before Mathison walked into his office, but once she came in, he felt like the GRACE trail was meant to be. He also expressed his appreciation to ThedaCare, which contributed $10,000, or $5,000 per trail, to the project.

"After that, things just fell into place," Hendricks said.

Paula Morgan, ThedaCare director of community health, noted that the project's existence was due more to the people committed to making it happen than it did from her organization's monetary donation.

"This community has such an incredible wealth of talent, of passion, of people who want to continually improve," Morgan said. "This is the kind of work we're trying to do across all of the communities that we serve across nine counties. If we had people like you in every one of the communities we're serving, thinking about how to make this community better — mostly to keep people healthy in the first place — this GRACE trail is a perfect example of where we want our community to go."

Mayor Bruce Milavitz agreed that having organizations and people willing to help on projects like the trail is a good thing.

"When we talk about gratefulness, we're grateful for these community partnerships going on," Milavitz said. "I look back in 1996 and 1997 with my young family at the time, and we were looking for a community to move to, and I am so fortunate that this is the one community that stood out. Now, to look at what it's growing into in 2021, it's fantastic."

Fast-paced comedy coming to Abrams

'Forum' is a rare musical farce, not politically correct

Abrams Spotlight Productions Inc. invites the community to its fast-paced comedy, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Tickets are on sale for this PG-13 show to be presented Sept. 16-19 and Sept. 23-26 at the Nancy Byng Community Theater in Abrams. The show, directed by Wayne Strei, is one of the few musical farces in Broadway history.

"Perhaps the most recent show in that category is 'The Producers.' Both are fast-paced, irreverent and bawdy," Strei said. "The comedy is straight out of vaudeville and certainly not politically correct. It's a very entertaining evening in the theater."

The show features local actors from their teens to their 60s.

"Everyone gets a few chances to strut their stuff. I am thrilled that at every rehearsal, someone else gets a new laugh or a different response to their line that sets us off on a new adventure on stage," Strei said.

The music and lyrics were written by a young Stephen Sondheim, and the script was written by Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart. Gelbart wrote many of the television scripts for "M*A*S*H."

Opening night of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is Thursday, Sept. 16, with a 7 p.m. show and celebratory gala. The audi-

Additional performances are at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 23, 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17-18 and Sept. 24-25 and at 1 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19 and Sept. 26. All shows will be performed at the Nancy Byng Community Theater, 5852 Maple St., Abrams.

Tickets can be purchased online at AbramsTheatre.com or by calling the box office at 920-826-5852.

"If you are looking for a joyful and colorful evening in the theater, this could be just what the doctor ordered — if your doctor is one of The Three Stooges," Strei said.

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is presented through special arrangement with Music Theatre International and produced by After Dark Productions, a division of Abrams Spotlight Productions Inc. Some material might be unsuitable for children.

"The comedy is straight out of vaudeville and certainly not politically correct."

ATHLETE PROFILE: DYLAN THOMSON

Panther senior off to strong start on ground

The Oconto Falls High School football team came into the fall season hoping to build on the success of last year's campaign. With the help of senior Dylan Thomson, the Panthers are doing just that and are off to a 2-0 start.

Thomson battled an injury during the team's season-opening win over Oconto on Aug. 20, but he still managed to rush for 61 yards on 10 attempts. He also contributed on defense, tallying four total tackles.

Thomson had a monster game to help the Panthers to a 34-22 win over Clintonville on Aug. 28. He carried the ball 19 times for 189 yards and three touchdowns. He finished with two total tackles.

The senior tied the game at 14 after breaking free for a 65-yard rushing touchdown in the second quarter. He tied the game again in the third quarter on a 14-yard touchdown run and then also powered in on a two-point conversion run. He helped seal the win with a 1-yard rushing score in the fourth quarter.

As a junior, he made the Northwoods Conference second team as a defensive back and was an honorable mention pick as a running back.

Lena/STAA scores 26 unanswered points to top Suring

Big plays accounted for all of the second half scores

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

The Lena/St. Thomas Aquinas Academy Titans traveled to Suring and was able to pull out on top 32-6, scoring 26 unanswered points after Suring tied the game in the second half.

“Basically, what we did was we came out in the second quarter a little flat,” said Lena/STAA co-head coach Dale Lange. “At halftime we made a couple of adjustments, we made some offensive and defensive adjustments, as well as changed some blocking schemes. I think maybe its the condition that our guys are in, we were able to handle the heat.”

Temperatures of 80 degrees and higher led referees to periodically give each team a water break throughout the game.

The teams combined for 12 points in 22 seconds in the third quarter, as Suring senior Gavin Fredenburgh’s 70-yard receiving touchdown was followed up by a 75-yard kick return touchdown by Lena/STAA senior Logan Shallow, in which he bobbled the kickoff.

“All I thought about after I dropped that ball was get up and make a play,” said Shallow. “I wanted to get some yards for our team so we get fired up and get down there. I saw the defender crashing hard from the outside, so I took the outside and did what I could do. My guys blocked amazing and we broke it free. It was just great teamwork.”

Shallow followed up his kick return by scoring a 50-yard rushing touchdown almost four minutes later.

The story of the second half came down to running versus passing as Lena/STAA finished the game with 278 rushing yards, while Suring threw for 112 yards.

The Titans controlled the clock the whole second half, culminating in two fourth quarter rushing touchdowns, a 22-yard run from junior quarterback Sam Marquardt and a 17-yard run from senior Lane Whiting.

On Aug. 27, Lena/STAA started the game with the ball on their own 35 yard-line. The Titans ran the ball 13 straight times until Marquardt ran in the 14th play of the drive, a 5-yard quarterback power play for the first touchdown of the game.

The Eagles responded with a three and out. When the Titans took over, the game was put on halt due to lightning after one play. The game picked back up at 3 p.m. on Aug. 28.

The second quarter started off with Suring riding on the back of senior running back Taron Haak. The drive stalled after a holding call set up a third and long for the Eagles. In an effort to get the first down, senior quarterback Jeremy Hensel’s pass was intercepted by Marquardt.

The two schools then traded possessions during the second quarter. As the first half came to an end, Titans’ junior running back Josh Kristof and Whiting made receptions to bring the team to the red zone. Eagles’ junior defensive back Ashtyn Edwards then intercepted Marquardt’s pass and Suring went into half down 6-0.

Suring evened up the score of the game after Hensel connected with Fredenburgh on a 70-yard touchdown, only to have Lena/STAA take the lead right back with the 75-yard kick return touchdown by Shallow.

Players and coaches on both teams were excited that they were able to get back on to the field after having their season altered last year.

“Last year we had that shortened season,” said Shallow. “We played well as a team and that really got us excited and fired up for this year. We carried that fire from last year into this year. We are confident and we are ready to come out and play with these good teams. Suring is a tough team, they fought, but we fought a little harder.”

“It is exciting for a lot of us to get back out onto the field,” said Suring’s Hensel. “A lot of our seniors are excited — we are just happy to get back. We are more excited this year than usual years. Us seniors now really feel the push to step it up this year.”

Lena/STAA takes on Florence on Sept. 2, while Suring travels to Sevas-topol on Sept. 2.

“We can get back (rebound from the loss) by watching film and practicing,” said Hensel. “We will be able to see what we did wrong. As a team, we will regather and regroup and work together to get after it.”

Jude Wachtel named new head coach at Shawano

Jude Wachtel has been hired as the new varsity softball head coach at Shawano Community High School.

"I am very excited to be named the new varsity softball head coach," says Wachtel. "I would like to thank coach (Brian) Johnson for everything he did for this program. Being able to coach with him for the last two years at the high school level and learning from him will help me keep up the strong program he has built."

Wachtel has been the head coach of the Shawano JV1 team for the past two seasons. He has also been a coach in the community youth softball program, coaching teams from 10U to 14U for six seasons. His coaching background includes coaching teams at SCHS in other sports, including five seasons as an assistant football coach and one season as the head coach of the JV2 girls basketball team.

Wachtel views his local coaching experience, especially in softball, to be an important asset.

"I think I have an advantage going into this position. With coaching JV and youth softball, I have familiarity with the players and families in the program," says Wachtel.

"We are excited to have coach Wachtel take over the leadership of our softball program," said Joel Wondra, Shawano Community High School activities director. "Jude and his staff take over a program with a solid foundation and a rich history. We look forward to the continued success of the program under Jude's leadership."

Wachtel will begin preparation for the spring season by planning open gyms for his athletes and assembling his coaching staff. The season begins with the first practice on March 12, 2022.

School board approves $20K for SCMS fix

Broken pipe found in wall after major upgrades completed

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano School Board signed off Aug. 27 on what board president Michael Sleeper called a “critically important issue on our infrastructure” at Shawano Community Middle School.

The school had been undergoing some updates with its drainage systems, some of which were damaging the foundation of the school and leaving some parking areas flooded after rain fell. However, an issue was discovered during the updates that needed to be fixed right away, and the board approved spending up to $20,000 for Elexco to fix it.

Shawn Mathwich, the district’s maintenance director, said that water was still coming through the tunnel and into the school’s boiler room, even after all the proposed fixes were in place. Elexco officials said they would investigate the issue gratis and discovered after putting some holes into a tunnel wall that there was a broken pipe underneath one of the school entrances, according to Mathwich.

“We immediately put a hole in the wall and fixed the pipe,” Mathwich said.

The measure the board approved would repair the wall that had to be opened to fix the broken pipe with a slurry mix to solidify it. The special meeting was called because district officials wanted to get the work done before school opened on Sept. 1. Mathwich noted that plans were in place in case the work could not be done early in the week.

Mathwich said the school’s pipes had filled with sand over the years on lower levels, due to high amounts of water from rainfall. This, he added, put stress on the pipes and caused the one pipe to break over time.

Board member Mart Grams expressed concern that, given the age of the middle school, other repairs might be discovered, causing the district’s maintenance budget to swell.

“Is this giving us some indication that we need to bulldoze that damn building and think about building another one?” Grams said. “Are issues going to come up? Is this a Band-Aid, or is this a fix?”

The district had previously asked Kraus Anderson to assess the status of all of its facilities, according to Mathwich, and the middle school still has about 20-30 years of life left to it — especially since the district plunked $9.25 million into renovations and upgrades in 2016.

Sleeper indicated that he was not worried that the district might be making major repairs continuously on the middle school.

“It’s an appropriate and necessary investment to keep the building functional, a building that is overall sound in its structure,” Sleeper said.

GUEST COLUMN

All should do their part to keep schools open

Our schools unite us. They are the bedrock of our communities and are where our children grow as individuals. They are a place where kids of all backgrounds are accepted. There is no doubt that our students learn best and our educators are most effective when they are both physically inside a school. That's why it's imperative our schools stay open to in-person instruction. To keep our schools open, we must do our part to keep them safe and healthy.

The asks are simple, and the rewards are great. Wear a mask when inside buildings. Get vaccinated if you're able to. Maintain safe distancing where possible. If we agree to collectively use these mitigation strategies, our school buildings remain open. Kids learn to read, do math, interact with their friends, play sports and become well-rounded youth.

A year ago, we were facing a great deal of uncertainty about the impacts of COVID-19. Our schools and their staff rose to the occasion in that moment, serving as first responders who went above and beyond to make sure students were fed, kept learning and had equal access to things like technology. This year, we are far more confident in the ways we can work together to defeat the virus.

That's why it pains me to see and read about the divisiveness and hostility that planning for a safe return to school for the 2021-22 school year has caused. As a former school district leader, I know firsthand that reaching universal consensus on any issue, in any community, is challenging.

As our nation and state experiences another surge in this COVID pandemic, we need to give school staff and school board members some grace as they make these important decisions. Let me remind you of this: They are doing what is best for our children and are working hard to keep them safe and avoid disruptions in learning.

This pandemic has greatly affected many parts of our daily lives, but especially our education system — and we aren't out of the woods yet. Children 12 and under, who amount to almost 500,000 of the students in Wisconsin schools, are still unable to get vaccinated. The number of children hospitalized for COVID-19 across our country have hit record highs in recent weeks. Data is proving that children are more vulnerable to infection from the Delta variant than past strains of COVID-19.

As a parent, I understand the concern and hesitation many families may have about sending their children to school in this climate. I hear you. That is why I continue to implore our schools to take every measure possible to ensure all students remain safe, and that we have a successful, uninterrupted school year.

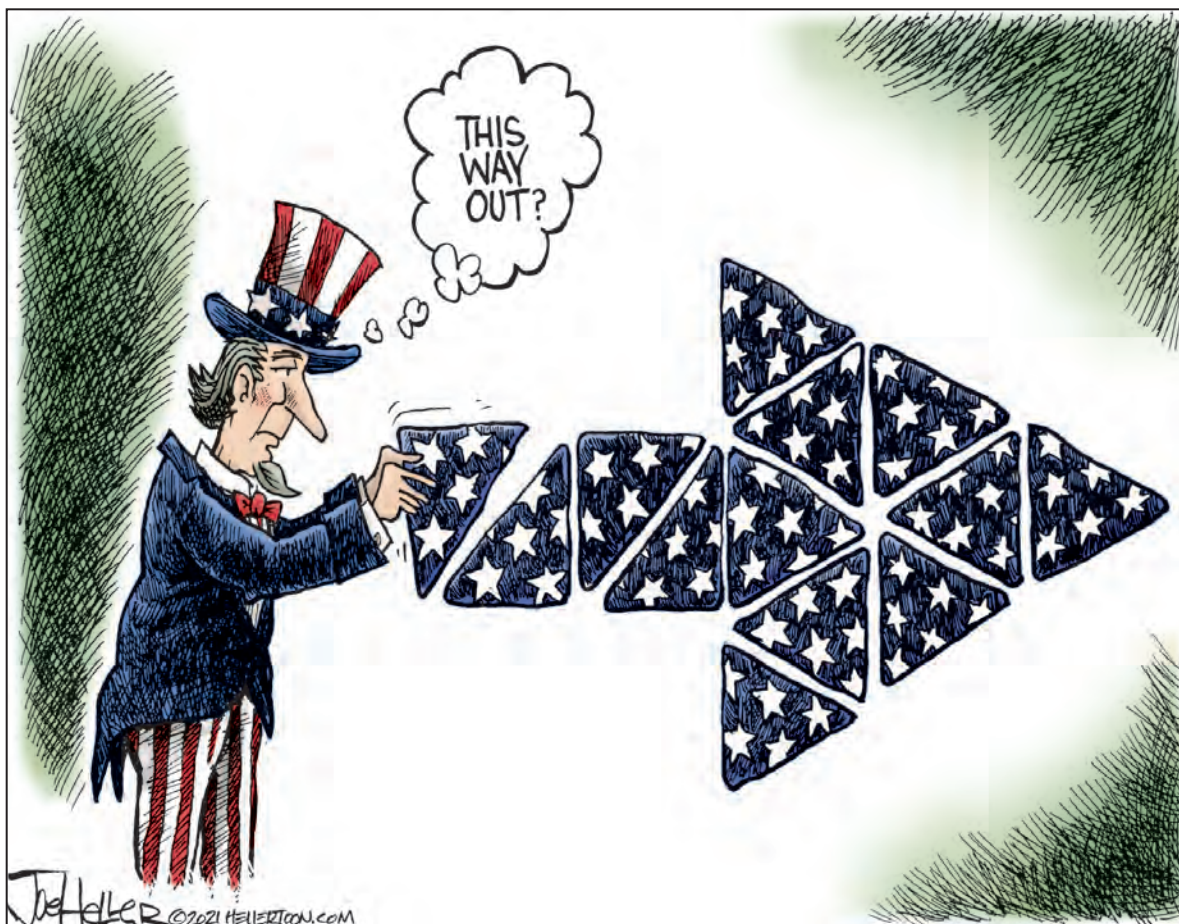

Across the nation, we've watched schools open with limited mitigation measures in place be forced to close just weeks — or even days — into the new school year. We all want our schools open. We must collectively do our part to make sure that is possible.

And it's on us to do everything in our power to serve the children, families and educators of Wisconsin. Our schools are the glue of our communities and our economy. They connect us, but most of all, they serve as the bond advancing our successful future.

Finally, to Wisconsin's educators: Please know we have your back. We understand the immense amount of pressure you are under. I've seen firsthand how tirelessly you worked to reinvent your practice throughout this pandemic and watched you go great lengths to focus on your students and their well-being. Please continue to innovate and serve as positive role models for your students.

Do your best to ignore the noise and take a few moments to realize the importance of the impact you make on our kids. You are helping us grow our next generation of teachers, scientists, doctors and leaders. The work you put in today has an immeasurable impact on our future.

Jill Underly is the Wisconsin Superintendent of Public Instruction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Town benefits from state budget

To the editor:

The state of Wisconsin just adopted a great budget for local governments and for rural Wisconsin. As a town clerk for the Town of Morgan, I want to thank our state elected officials for recognizing the needs of local government and providing us with the tools to better serve you.

Much of the state budget process occurs in the Joint Finance Committee of the legislature. We are lucky to have our own Sen. Mary Felzkowski as a member of that committee, bringing our local issues to Madison.

This year's Joint Finance Committee was as supportive of local government as we've seen in recent memory. This is evidenced by the inclusion of numerous local government priorities in the recent budget, such as increased funding for local roads, emergency services and broadband, as well as support for more rural communities where vast purchases of state land has artificially driven down the local tax base.

Thank you to Felzkowski and all of the other state officials who passed the recent state budget. You heard the needs of local officials and provided Wisconsin's local governments with the tools to better serve our communities.

Julie Belongia, Town of Morgan

Sobecks chosen as Lena Dairy Fest parade marshals

A full day of activities is scheduled Sept. 11

The Lena Lions selected Dan and Joan Sobeck as parade marshals for the Lena Dairy Fest parade Sept. 11 down Main Street in Lena.

Dan Sobeck grew up on his family's dairy farm in Lena. He graduated from Lena High School, then farmed with his parents. Joan Sobeck also grew up on her family's farm, located in Beaver. She graduated from Coleman High School. The couple has been married for 51 years, and they are members of the St. Anne Parish in Lena. They have three children: Randy and his wife, Amy; Tim and his wife, Jody; and Chrissy Demmith and her husband, Jamie. The family includes eight extraordinary grandchildren.

The family farm formed an LLC in 2000 and, later, sons Randy and Tim purchased the farm. Dan Sobeck helps on the farm daily, and Joan Sobeck does the bookwork and helps her grandsons feed calves. Producing high quality milk is the family's goal.

Dairy Fest is scheduled for Sept. 11 at St. Anne's grounds on Main Street in Lena. The day will kick off with the Stampede 5K walk-run at 8 a.m., followed by the parade at 10:30 a.m. All events are free, including admission into the farm tractor pull at noon and the truck pull at 6 p.m.; please no pets or carry-ins.

Children's activities include a petting zoo and bouncers all day, as well as face painting by Vickie Magee from noon to 3 p.m.

Food and beverages will be available for purchase all day, including a corn roast by Lena Youth Sports. The Lena Museum will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Live music is scheduled featuring Tim Pszanka 1-3 p.m., Homegrown 3:30-6:30 p.m., and Taste of the Wolf 7-11 p.m.

Dan and Joan Sobeck are marshals of this year's Lena Dairy Fest parade, which will be held Sept. 11.

New Beginnings construction ready to start

Work could be completed next spring

By WARREN BLUHM
Editor-in-chief

Construction of the long-awaited new home of the New Beginnings program is scheduled to begin Sept. 7 on the grounds of New View Industries in Gillett.

Oconto County Health and Human Services Director Mike Reimer said the targeted completion date is April 1, although delays are possible.

"We're excited that it's finally going to begin," Reimer said. "So when you go to Gillett, you can see the construction site starting."

The $1.732 million project is for a 6,000-square-foot facility on West

Park Street for the New Beginnings resale store, replacing the existing store in Oconto Falls, as well as a computer lab, small group meeting rooms, a kitchen commons, multipurpose activity room and a counseling room, along with associated storage and other facilities.

The Samuels Group, the company that guided the $30 million Law Enforcement Center project to fruition four years ago, is overseeing the project. Ziese Construction, of Green Bay, earned the contract with a bid of $1.477 million, to be paid from the county's Community Development Block Grant account.

The county had allocated $50,000 in matching funds and took the extra $350,000 from its federal American Rescue Funds allocation of $7.367 million.

The New Beginnings training program for at-risk youth and its accompanying retail store began 20 years ago in downtown Gillett and relocated in 2013 to its current site at 239 Van Buren St., Oconto Falls.

An artist's rendition of the New Beginnings retail store and training center project in Gillett is displayed at the Feb. 18 Oconto County Board meeting.

DRAWDOWN IN PROGRESS

Normally anglers would be drifting along the Machickanee Flowage off County Road I in the Town of Stiles. However, this year a temporary 5-foot drawdown is in progress upstream of the Stiles Hydroelectric Project. The drawdown is intended to manage aquatic invasive species and excessive plant growth, as well as consolidate flowage substrate to improve waterway navigation. The water level is expected to be maintained at this level for roughly 70 days. Upon drawdown completion, the flowage will be refilled over approximately 10 days to a normal water level. The total duration is planned for approximately three months. WARREN BLUHM | NEW MEDIA

In some ways the year went quickly, and in some ways not so.

We carry you in our hearts, thoughts, and prayers every day. We know without a doubt that you're looking out for us.

Those first months were the toughest. We'd think of something we wanted to ask you, or share some dish we'd made. You were always there for us, and now when we needed you most, you couldn't be there.

We miss stopping for a great cup of coffee/spirits, a good game of 10,000, and conversation, but it was your time to finally rest...and so deserved.

The family had a Celebration of Life on what would have been your 95th Birthday, October 3rd, 2020.

You would have been proud Mom; there was so much love. But then, you always said you were proud of every one of us.

On July 24th, 2021 we got together for a Family Picnic to honor you. We were so happy to share the day with family members unable to get together with us for your Birthday Celebration of Life because of the Pandemic.

At last count, you have 11 children, 29 grandchildren, 53 great grandchildren, and 14 great great grandchildren, plus more extended family members. Again, so much love!!

We'll get through these next years remembering the good times, and knowing you gave us the tools to make us strong individuals.

The year has come and gone. We've lost family and friends dear to us. We knew we would miss you, but never in a million years knew how much. We hold you near and dear in our hearts and minds, it's too hard to let go. We'll never get over feeling how much more we could have done to make your days brighter... but that's because we love you and know how much you've sacrificed for us through the years. A great cup of coffee, listening, sharing our lives up and down. You always said, "boy, if this table could talk!"

Your family is still growing.

We'll continue to tell our children and grandchildren the stories that have been passed down, and you Mom, will be at the head of that table forever!!!

We love and miss you every day Mom, Grams, Grt. Grams, Grt. Gt. Grams, forever!!!

IN LOVING MEMORY OF EMMA A. B. ANDREWS WHO PASSED AWAY 12 YEARS AGO, SEPT. 7, 2009

In tears we saw you sinking and watched you pass away.

Our hearts were almost broken, we wanted you to stay, but when we saw you sleeping so peaceful, free from pain, how could we wish you back with us, to suffer that again. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone, for part of us went with you, the day God took you home.

If roses grow in Heaven, Lord please pick a bunch for us, place them in my Mother's arms and tell her they're from us. Tell her we love her and miss her, and when she turns to smile, place a kiss upon her cheek and hold her for awhile.

Because remembering her is easy, we do it every day, but there's an ache within our hearts that will never go away.

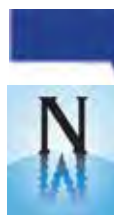

Don't think of her as gone away, her journey's just begun. Life holds so many facets, this earth is only one.

Just think of her as resting from the sorrows and the tears, in a place of warmth and comfort where there are no days and years.

Think how she must be wishing that we could know, today. Now nothing but our sadness can really pass away and think of her as living in the hearts of those she touched, for nothing loved is ever lost and she is loved so very much.

WE LOVE AND MISS YOU VERY MUCH

Shawano County businesses look for employees

Staff shortages attributed to COVID-19 pandemic, housing, lifestyle changes

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

Labor Day 2021 finds many Shawano County businesses putting “help wanted” signs in their windows to attract more people to work for them.

“I am hearing that every employer is looking for workers,” said Peter Thillman, Shawano County Economic Progress, Inc. chief economic development officer.

One reason for the decline in available employees is retirements, Thillman said.

“We have a limited number of people to fill the large number of openings,” he said. “This is part of the demographic reality as we have a large number of workers who will be exiting the job market over the next few years as they retire. The labor market is not growing fast enough to cover the retirements.”

“Many baby boomers are retiring,” said Nancy Smith, Shawano County Chamber of Commerce executive director. “There just aren’t enough qualified workers available. This is not a new issue, but has been magnified by the pandemic.”

Business and county officials said the COVID-19 pandemic has had its effect on employment in the county.

“Some have chosen to stay out of the workforce out of concern with COVID,” Smith said.

“Pre-pandemic in February 2020, Shawano County had 19,941 people employed and 817 unemployed,” Thillman said. “June 2021, Shawano County had 20,543 people employed and 888 unemployed.”

Shawano County Administrative Coordinator Jim Davel also said he is seeing openings for jobs in Shawano County due to the job market changing.

“People are working from home,” said Davel. “People like the ability to be flexible with their hours and work from home.”

One of the county’s larger employers is Aarrowcast, which has continued to work and hire throughout the pandemic, but have still run into problems finding workers.

“We have continued to hire during the COVID-19 pandemic,” said Colleen McInnis, Aarrowcast director of human resources. “The customers demand is very high, though.”

Beginning their work day, Alexander Rodriguez Torres, Jose Caraballo Camacho and Sauk Feliciano prepare for the third shift at Aarrowcast in Shawano. They traveled from Puerto Rico to take an eight-month employment agreement that is arranged through an outside employment agency and Aarrowcast.

She added that Aarrowcast has been unable to produce for customers due to the high demand and staff shortages.

Davel said that, like other businesses, county government has its share of job openings at positions like correctional officer, in the library system and at the highway shop.

“We are having a difficult time finding people for the open positions,” said Davel. “There is an 18% turnover rate in the county.”

Davel said it seems younger generations “job-hop” more frequently than older workers.

As of Aug. 30, the Jobs Center of Wisconsin website listed 364 Shawano County job openings in all realms of business.

“Unemployment remains in the 4% range,” said Thillman. “This is considered full employment. The labor market will continue to tighten if the labor force does not continue to grow.”

He added that the closing of some child care programs has had an impact.

“There is a belief that since the closure of child care facilities and remote K-12 education that some labor force participants withdrew from the labor market to stay home with their children,” said Thillman.

Lucas Heart, marketing and communications manager at Roehl Transport, said that they have had trouble finding truck drivers since before the pandemic.

“We have truck driving positions that have been open for a while,” said Heart. “There are not enough people to fill these trucking jobs.”

He attributed some of the openings to people not wanting to make a lifestyle change.

“People will be away from home and will have to adapt a new lifestyle with these positions,” said Heart.

Housing has also become an issue for county residents, as well as people who are looking to move to

Signs like this are commonplace throughout the area as employers scramble to find workers for their open positions. GREG MELLIS | NEW MEDIA

“There just aren’t enough qualified workers available. This is not a new issue, but has been magnified by the pandemic.”

NANCY SMITH, Shawano County Chamber of Commerce executive director

the county for work.

“It is hard to promote our area as a great place to relocate if they aren’t going to be able to find a place to live when they get here,” Smith said.

Thillman said the county has a housing shortage at all price points.

“Shawano County has a flat-out housing shortage at all levels of the market,” said Thillman. “Wisconsin Realtors put out monthly reports on housing sales, and Shawano County has had a record number of sales and record-high median sale price during the pandemic. That has affected employment in the county.”

He added that sales have started to slow down and prices have started to surge, according to a recent July study.

McInnis said a temp service has assisted Aarrowcast in recruiting for open positions, including hiring workers from Puerto Rico. She added that Aarrowcast has run in trouble finding housing for these employees.

“There seems to be a housing shortage in Shawano County,” said McInnis. “We have had to pay to house these employees in hotels in Green Bay, as well as transport them back and forth.”

Davel said that Shawano County is different from larger counties in Wisconsin, like Brown or Milwaukee.

“Shawano is rural,” said Davel. “People come here for the tourism and schools. There is a different availability of resources here compared to other counties.”

He said that people take the rural lifestyle into consideration when looking for jobs.

With the abundance of job opportunities available, companies are using different strategies to bring more people in for interviews.

“I think what works well for us is that we have paid CDL (commercial driver’s license) training here,” said Heart. “There are a lot of opportunities within Roehl.”

“We are trying to market through the internet,” said Davel.

Peter Thillman, Shawano County Economic Progress Inc. chief economic development officer, says a small number of people are available to fill large number of openings in Shawano County.
