Threat is real, Prevea CEO warns

Rai 'extremely concerned' about infection trend

By DAVID WILHELMS
Correspondent

Even after six months since the COVID-19 pandemic arrived in the U.S., there is still a problem "with getting people to see it's real and focus on control," Dr. Ashok Rai, chief operating officer of Prevea Health, said on Monday afternoon.

To reach that conclusion, Rai said he looks at numbers on the pandemic over a seven-day and 14-day period and doesn't get concerned about numbers reported on a single day.

The Hospital Sisters Health System (HSBS) in Prevea has four hospitals covering Oconto and Shawano counties and the Menominee Indian Reservation, Rai explained. The hospitals, three in Green Bay and Oconto Falls, are seeing record numbers of patients of all kinds making capacity really tight, he said.

Rai was speaking about the experience of St. Vincent Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital Medical Center in Green Bay and Prevea Health is the physician partner of the two hospitals, Angela Deja, Prevea public relations manager, explained.

The Wisconsin Hospital Association (WHA) reports that, from Sept. 14-28, "Total COVID-19 patients hospitalized per day" went from 341 to 574.

During the same period, the Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) reported the number of new, confirmed cases per day went from 771 to 1,726.

DHS on Monday reported that 19% of all hospital beds in the state were available.

With that perspective, Rai said, "The trend is extremely concerning."

He declined to comment on the pandemic's trends a month into the future, saying "getting through the next two weeks is going to be really hard."

While he allowed everything about the pandemic keeps him awake at night, Rai said he has two main areas of concern.

Community education is one of those concerns. Rai said he compares the current trends in the percentage of positive cases to a tsunami, "It's just hanging over you."

If numbers continue in their present direction, it's not impossible to "see critical infrastructure come crashing down" while hospitals struggle to try to take care of patients, Rai said.

Taking the recommended common-sense precautions, such as wearing masks, observing social distancing, staying home if you don't feel well and getting help when you need it, will make a difference, Rai said. If community education efforts are successful, "We hope to see a trend down," he said.

Rai is also concerned about staffing levels and keeping employees healthy and on the job, meaning hospitals stay open.

"You never want to turn anyone away, but it's getting harder and harder every day," Rai said.

One of the reasons for uncertainty as an administrator is that "nothing is benchmarked with this experience," such as gauging whether supplies of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) are adequate, he said. Administrators and other officials have very little history to draw on to compare decisions, he added.

PPE, including masks, shields, gowns and gloves, are at a reasonable level in Prevea facilities but definitely not a surplus, Rai said. However, system buyers are "looking all over the world" for some types and sizes of masks and gowns, he added.

There are still hospital and Intensive Care Unit (ICU) beds available, Rai said but he added availability is at a critical level and "that can change in just a few hours." As of his conversation on Monday, patients have not been transferred from Prevea facilities due to capacity.

Rai said he meets with his management staff at least once daily, reviewing availability of beds, staff and equipment.

Shawano County has over 900 COVID-19 cases

Shawano County's COVID-19 cases rose by 175 last weekend.

The total as of Sept. 28 was 945 confirmed cases in Shawano County and 83 cases in Menominee County, according to the Shawano-Menominee Counties Health Department.

In that weekend, Wisconsin topped 2,000 new COVID-19 cases for fourth consecutive day, according to the Associated Press.

Wisconsin health officials reported 2,217 new cases of the coronavirus Sept. 27, the fourth day in a row the state has confirmed more than 2,000 positive tests.

The update showed a positivity rate of 27.6% for the more than 8,000 COVID-19 tests results processed in the last day. A single-day record of 2,817 cases was reported Saturday.

The death toll remained at 1,281 people as no new fatalities were reported Sunday.

Wisconsin ranks third in the country behind North Dakota and South Dakota in the number of new virus cases per capita in the last two weeks, according to The COVID Tracking Project. The rolling average number of daily new cases has jumped by 967 — an increase of nearly 93%, according to figures compiled Saturday.

Over the course of the pandemic, 115,862 people have tested positive for the coronavirus in Wisconsin. About 82% of those people have recovered, while more than 19,000 have active infections.

For most people, the new coronavirus causes mild or moderate symptoms, such as fever and cough, that clear up in two to three weeks. For some, especially older adults and people with existing health problems, it can cause more severe illness, including pneumonia and death.

Stockbridge-Munsee issues new COVID-19 health order

Shelter-in-place, social distancing, masks mandated

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

The Stockbridge-Munsee Community issued a new health order due to the recent surge in COVID-19 cases that mandates face masks, social distancing, curfew and limits on gatherings.

The order is in effect until Nov. 30.

"The Stockbridge-Munsee Tribal Council recognizes this tribal community is also seeing a surge in positive COVID-19 infections like surrounding areas are experiencing," Tribal President Shannon Holsey said in a statement.

"The recent public health conditions caused by the COVID-19 virus, a communicable disease, require this community to implement stricter protective measures until infection rates are better controlled."

The new order directs people who live on tribal lands, as well as tribal employees who are on leave from work, to isolate and shelter in place at their home.

People are permitted to travel to the extent necessary for medical care, for essential work or to purchase necessary supplies.

The Oct. 10 tribal election remains scheduled, and tribal members are permitted to travel as necessary to vote in the election.

The following guidelines have been posted online by the Stockbridge-Munsee tribe.

Along with the requirement to shelter in place, the community is required to comply with the following measures in order to limit opportunities for infection:

1. Use face coverings over the nose and mouth when in indoors and in the presence of other individuals.

All persons age 5 or older must wear a face covering when indoors or in an enclosed space, other than a private residence, and another person not from the same household is present in the same room.

Exceptions described under the Wisconsin emergency orders shall apply.

2. Use social distancing of at least six feet.

3. Gatherings should be limited to 10 persons or less.

4. If open, public buildings — not including health care facilities and residential buildings — occupancy shall not exceed 50% of capacity.

5. A curfew requiring persons to shelter at home from midnight to 5 a.m. is established.

Persons who are away from their homes during curfew hours are considered to be trespassing on tribal lands and subject to enforcement action(s).

This curfew does not apply to law enforcement, emergency responders, persons traveling for medical care or persons permitted to travel for legitimate business purposes.

6. Comply with quarantine and isolation orders.

Persons who fail to comply with such orders are considered a public nuisance and subject to enforcement action(s).

7. Stay home when you have COVID-19 type symptoms, except to seek medical care.

8. Use good hand hygiene practices. Wash hands when returning home and after touching commonly touched public surfaces like door-knobs.

Use an alcohol-based hand wash when soap and water is not available.

Shawano police rescue man from house fire

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Shawano police rescued an unconscious man from a house fire in the 900 block of East Maurer Street Monday morning.

Officers Scott Ruen and Heidi Cartwright were dispatched at 8:54 a.m.

Within minutes, the officers arrived to find heavy smoke coming from the house. They found a 40-year-old woman and a 32-year-old man who had gotten out of the house.

The woman told Ruen her husband, a 57-year-old man, was still inside the house.

Ruen and Cartwright went to the front door, and as they entered the house, they saw a man on the floor a few feet inside the door.

Ruen was able to get to the unconscious man, arouse him, and assist him outside.

The man and his wife were taken to ThedaCare Medical Center-Shawano for smoke inhalation. The other man was not injured.

Shawano Area Fire Department personnel were able to rescue two dogs from the residence.

The cause of the fire appears to be from a burning candle. No damage estimate is available.

"I commend the officers' quick actions, which very likely saved a life," Police Chief Dan Mauel said. "Their response to this critical incident is indicative of the quality of all our personnel."

OBITUARIES

Lynne A. Kuepper, 85, of Shawano, passed away peacefully to walk joyfully with God on Sunday, Sept. 6, 2020, following a long battle with Alzheimer's. Filled with the love and power of music all her life, she'd play from memory any song requested without hesitation — even far into her battle with Alzheimer's. She shared her gifts and played the piano until God called her home to accompany the heavenly choir.

Lynne was born Aug. 8, 1935, to Anders and Esther (Chronquist) Folsstad. She lived her early life in Barron, moving across the border to graduate from the University of Minnesota with a degree in music education. She met her husband, Richard Kuepper, when both were counselors at Camp Lannon Fields Farm in Lannon. She was the archery instructor (it seemed to her like it was something she should be able to do).

The couple were married on June 13, 1959, in Barron. They raised two daughters and were blessed with two granddaughters whom she often lulled to sleep singing "You Are My Sunshine," a happy memory they carry with them today.

Lynne shared her love of life and music with others freely, whether through teaching, friendship, or playing piano at the hospital to brighten the day of anyone who happened to walk by. Starting her teaching career in Beloit, Lynne also taught in Madison and Clintonville, eventually settling her family in Shawano in 1970, teaching elementary music and taking on individual piano students. She taught cooking in summer school and was known for her pies, even selling one at auction for $300.

Lynne tried retiring once but didn't like it, so she went back to work teaching in Gresham for a few years. She was the first to call on new neighbors, and she belonged to the bridge club but didn't really like bridge. It was the people (and the dessert) she enjoyed. The Corning-ware coffee pot was always on for any who stopped by unexpectedly.

While soft spoken, Lynne had a quick wit. When greeting John Rutter, her favorite composer, she simply said, "I like most of your music." Lynne always had a dog with her on her daily walks, keeping in shape by running after them. She was always moving and traveled whenever possible, traveling to Brazil, Scandinavia and Germany for a tour of J.S. Bach's homeland. Where she couldn't go, she and Richard brought to them by hosting exchange students: Karen Israelsson from Sweden, Marcia Costa from Brazil, Astrid Solberg from Norway and Jussi Toivonen from Finland.

Lynne is survived by her husband, Richard, of Shawano; her daughters, Wendy (Jon) Kofoot, of Savage, Minnesota, and Kathy (Dan) Braun, of Shawano; her granddaughters, Haanah Braun, of Northfield, Minnesota, and Maris Braun, of Seattle, Washington, and her international family who loved her dearly. She was preceded in death by her parents, Anders and Esther Folsstad.

Due to the coronavirus, a memorial service will be held at a later date. Memorials to honor Lynne are preferred to the Alzheimer's Association or Heartland Hospice.

Mickelson Funeral and Cremation Service of Shawano is assisting the family with arrangements. Please share online condolences at www.mickelsonfs.com.

The family would like to extend a huge thank you to those who cared for Lynne during her journey with Alzheimer's — Jean Lamers and Brandon Wegner for their loving care while she was still able to be home, the staff at the Cottages Memory Care Unit and the staff of Heartland Hospice.

Entrepreneur and builder David G. Wenz passed away peacefully with his wife Royola by his side, at his home in Port Richey, FL on Thursday, Sept. 17, 2020. He was 76 years old.

Born on July 29, 1944 to Samuel and Edna Wenz in Algoma, he went on to study mathematics, at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and later graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. After his graduation from college, he went to work for IBM for the next 21 years as a computer programmer and architect. During his time at IBM Dave amassed more than 50 invention and patent awards earning him an Outstanding Technical Achievement Award as well as a fourth level Invention Achievement Award from IBM.

Dave, along with some of his fellow IBM co-workers, left the company to start ShowCase Corporation. Showcase grew to become a leading provider of business intelligence and data warehousing solutions that were used by some of the world's largest corporations. Showcase employed hundreds of people across the US and throughout the World. The company went public in 1998, allowing Dave to retire.

Although Dave was a successful businessman his greatest accomplishment was helping to raise his two sons, Scott and Gregory, whom he had with his first wife Joyce (Geminer). Dave also put his creative energy into building several lake cabins from scratch. A lifelong avid woodworker, he especially enjoyed building furniture out of cherry wood, and he even carved and painted decoy ducks. He also loved golfing, fishing and cheering on the Packers, traditions his sons continue to carry on.

Dave is survived by his wife

Royola, whom he loved for the last 15 years, his two sons, Gregory (wife Erin) and Scott; one stepdaughter, Nicole; four grandchildren, Sarah, Jack, Julian, and Katrin; two step granddaughters, Anastasia and Evelyn; and a sister June (husband Michael) Delwiche.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Samuel and Edna (Meyer) Wenz; sisters Donna (husband William) Wenthon, Carol (husband LaVerne) Yero, Betty (husband Roger) Swado and brother Richard (wife Jean) Wenz.

Delphine M. Yunk, age 88 of Shawano, passed away peacefully on Sunday, Sept. 20, 2020. Her illness came on suddenly, but her family was able to spend time with her before her passing. Delphine was born on June 15, 1932 in Milwaukee to the late Frederick and Joanna (Brzezinski) Drezdson. She had nine siblings, four sons, and two daughters.

She graduated from an all-girl high school, Girl's Tech, in 1950. Delphine loved high school and was the editor of the senior yearbook. She met our father, Walter Yunk, and moved to Philadelphia to be with him on the base before he left for the Korean War. They returned to Milwaukee after the war. Because of her love of camping (we may be lying) and her love of Shawano, she moved her family there in 1969. After a short time, they purchased a cottage resort.

It was lots of work, but a great place to raise a family. Delphine provided her children with the ultimate playground living on Shawano Lake. She was a stay at home mom for most of her life, there was always a hot dinner at night and dessert! Delphine loved giving gifts at Christmas. She was an accomplished seamstress and a pro at crossword puzzles. Delphine was a faithful member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Once her children were grown, Delphine moved to California for several years before returning to Shawano. She loved football (including college) and the Green Bay Packers. She ran the Packer pool at the apartment complex where she lived. She loved to gamble and enjoyed going to the casinos in Las Vegas.

She is preceded in death by her parents; Auntie Martha and Uncle Clem; and siblings, Myron Drezdson, Freddy Drezdson, Ruthie Gambino, and Pat Dent; one son, Steven Yunk; and grandson, David Martens.

A memorial service will be held for Delphine at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3, 2020 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Visitation will be held on Saturday at the church from 10 a.m. until the time of service.

The family of Delphine would like to extend a special thank you to the doctors and nurses at The-daCare in Shawano and Neenah, we will forever be grateful by your direction and kindness.

Menominee County joins community services agreement

Oconto and Marinette counties have been working together since 2015

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Menominee County has agreed to become part of the comprehensive community services intergovernmental agreement that also includes Marinette and Oconto counties.

The Oconto County Board unanimously approved the agreement between the three counties during its Sept. 24 meeting. The Marinette and Menominee county boards had already approved.

Chris Hanke, manager of the county's Community Services Division, said the program provides case management services for both adults and children with mental health issues. Marinette and Oconto counties first formed a partnership in 2015 with Marinette County serving as the administrative body.

"Each county operates independently as far as providing services to their community and their citizens," Hanke said, and funding is provided by the state through Medicaid.

The state encouraged Menominee to join with Marinette and Oconto to regionalize the service, Hanke said. The agreement is effective Jan. 1, 2021.

Isaiah Buhrke, an organist totally blind from birth, who is offering an organ concert, "Prelude to Christmas," Oct. 11 at 3 p.m. at Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, N4431 County Road F, Zachow.

SAM25 shelter renovation nears completion

Virtual grand opening set for Oct. 17, auction opens Oct. 10

By DAVID WILHELMS
Correspondent

Renovations for Phase One of the new SAM's House at 105 E. Richmond St. in Shawano are nearing completion.

SAM's House, the city's homeless shelter, is under the care of the Shawano Area Matthew 25 (SAM25) organization.

Although the shelter renovation had a number of challenges, including materials shortages due to the COVID-19 pandemic, SAM25 is back on track with its original plan to move to the new shelter in October, according to Jen Bisterfeldt, shelter executive director.

Bisterfeldt said she didn't have the total cost for the construction, but the renovation will take all of the $410,000 in capital improvement funds raised to date and more.

The new facility has about 8,000 square feet, the director continued. It's not just the amount of space, but the Richmond Street shelter space is more flexible and adaptable for their uses than their previous location, she said.

The new shelter will be able to accommodate up to eight households or as many as 25 people, Bisterfeldt. The current shelter on East Green Bay Street can host up to 15 people, she said. The shelter is expected to be open for clients this year in November.

SAM25 normally supports the homeless shelter with its annual Empty Bowls, Caring Hearts fundraiser this time of year, but that event has been replaced by a week-long silent auction, Oct. 10-17.

The 47 auction items, including a signed helmet from Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers and a 12-bottle wine survival kit, can be viewed on the organization's website, <https://www.sam25.org/virtualgrandopening>. The site includes a form for making a bid.

Other items include a Harley-Davidson zippered bag with wine glasses, tall glasses, a pad and two plastic "Drinx" bottles; a Milwaukee Brewers-themed gift basket; jewelry from Shawano artist Cindy Weisflock and a "quarantini" basket.

The auction's proceeds are going further this year with two unnamed donors putting a dollar-for-dollar match up to $10,000 for all donations made during the week of the silent auction.

Muffy Culhane, SAM25 board president, said auction winners will be announced at 10 a.m. Oct. 17, followed by a virtual grand tour of the new facility. The video tour is dubbed "Hope Restored."

Steps for joining the tour will be posted on sam25.org and its Facebook page, Bisterfeldt said. The video, now being completed, will also be posted on YouTube.com and Facebook for people who can't participate Oct. 17, the director said.

Adam Derozier checks the plans for his next task in renovating the building at 105 E. Richmond St. in Shawano to become the new home of the SAM25 homeless shelter. The renovation is nearing completion and the organization plans to hold a virtual grand opening Oct. 17.

New quilts added to Shawano County scenery

Barns beam with new bright colors

Stories and photos BY JIM LEUENBERGER

Apple Creek Whitetails sponsors three barn quilts

Shawano County's 361st, 362nd and 363rd barn quilts have been sponsored by Apple Creek Whitetails, 14109 County Road VV, Gillett.

Owned by Scott Follett and his family, Apple Creek Whitetails encompasses about 1,700 acres in Shawano and Oconto counties. It was started in 2008 when the Folletts moved to the area from Texas after purchasing the land and several herds of whitetails with 30 generations of breeding "big on big." Considered the No. 1 trophy-guided whitetail buck hunting in the United States, it has over 2,500 deer and also offers pheasant hunting and trout fishing.

The Follett family came from the food business and, in 2020, launched the Primal Meats food branch, which ships Wisconsin food all over the U.S. Keeping the ingredients natural is the key to the goodness of their the retail store to taste the products and see the massive whitetail mount displays.

"Apple Creek Whitetails Ranch exists to enhance the whitetail hunting experience, and Primal Meats was born to feed your instinct for game and wild products," Scott Follett said.

When hunt customers come to Apple Creek, they are amazed by the beauty of the woodlands and the elegance of the Whitetails.

"Stepping into the massive, middle-of-the-woods lodge, we aim to make our customers feel at home and treat them like a family member we've been waiting to see again," Scott said.

The entire Follett family is involved in Apple Creek Whitetails, including Scott's wife, Sally, and their children Isaac, Ethan, Simon and Emma.

The three barn quilts were painted by the Shawano County barn quilt committee and were put on display by LeRoy and Keenan Raddant of Raddant Electric in Shawano.

Quilt honors 100th birthday

Barb and Gary Behnke are shown with Barb's mother, Emma Rowell, in whose honor their barn quilt was named "Emma." Rowell will celebrate her 100th birthday on Dec. 1. Their barn quilt is Shawano County's 360th to be put on display.

'Garrett's Star' aligns with new barn quilt

Shawano County's 359th barn quilt is on display on a farm owned by Douglas and Cindy Breyer and their sons, Dillon and Derek, at W17584 Church Road, Birnamwood.

The quilt, named "Garrett's Star," was sponsored by Doug and his three sisters, Paula Vander Grinten, Lisa Fischer and Karla Willcome, in honor of Doug's late son, Garrett. He died in 2019 at the age of 30 from colon cancer. The barn on which the quilt is mounted was built in the early 1900s.

Townline Acres Registered Holsteins was founded in 1928. The Breyers milk 150 registered Holsteins and farm 400 acres of corn and alfalfa. In 2019, a new free stall barn featuring two Lely A5 robotic milking systems was built, with every aspect of the new barn designed around cow comfort. The goal is to create the greatest cow comfort possible to allow the cows to reach their full genetic potential.

"We are proud to be producing a high-quality product while doing what we love every single day," Doug Breyer said. "It makes us proud to watch a baby calf develop into a cow that makes a lasting impact on the herd."

The farm was purchased in 1928 by Alvin and Elfriede Breyer, who moved to Birnamwood from the Marion/Dale area.

They had five children — Lloyd, Richard, Glen, William and Rosemary. Glen and his wife, Virginia, who took over the farm, had four children — Paula, Doug, Karla and Lisa. Once Glen and Virginia decided to retire, Doug was ready to take over. Now Doug and Cindy are in the process of turning over the farm to Dillon and Derek.

The Breyer barn quilt was painted by the Shawano County barn quilt committee and was put on display by Rich and LeRoy Raddant of Raddant Electric in Shawano.

Shawano County's 360th barn quilt is on display on a barn owned by Gary and Barb Behnke, N2827 County Road F, just east of Bonduel. The quilt pattern they chose is of a horse because Barb has always liked horses.

"When I was younger, I used to ride horses with some of my friends, but I never had one of my own," Barb said. "Now I do, and I love it!"

The Behnkes have named their quilt "Emma" in honor of Barb's mom, Emma Rowell, who will celebrate her 100th birthday on Dec. 1. "She is just amazing," Barb said. "She still lives in her own house, has her own little garden and is just doing great. So it's appropriate that we name our quilt in her honor."

Rowell, who grew up in Iron Mountain, Michigan, moved to the Green Bay area in the early 1960s. When asked about her long life, she said, "I've always just taken it one day at a time and know God has always had his hand on my shoulder." Upon seeing the barn quilt, she said, "It's really nice."

The Behnkes both grew up in Green Bay and moved to the Bonduel area after buying 40 acres and the barn in 1993. The barn was built by Ed Elm in the late 1940s or early 1950s. Previous owners included Alfred Peterson and F. Deininger, who used it as a dairy barn for their milking herd.

After the Behnkes purchased the property, they built a new house in 1995-96 and put a new roof on the barn in 1998. Another unique feature is that Gary built a wooden spiral staircase inside the 40-foot silo and put windows at the top. "It's a great place to go and look at the beautiful countryside and just relax," Gary Behnke said.

The barn on which the barn quilt is mounted has been photographed many times because of its picturesque appearance and the American flag displayed on its side. "Now, with this beautiful barn quilt, I expect even more people will be stopping to take pictures," he said.

The quilt was painted by the Shawano County barn quilt committee and was put on display by LeRoy Raddant and Jerry Timm of Raddant Electric in Shawano.

Shawano schools approve same-level levy

By CAROL RYCZEK
Editor-in-chief

The Shawano School District board approved a $14 million, mill rate-neutral tax levy for the 2020-21 school year at its first-ever online annual meeting.

The board approved a levy of $13,973,173, which leaves the mill rate at $9.58 per $1,000 equalized valuation. This means that on every $100,000 of property value, taxpayers pay $958 toward Shawano district schools.

The mill rate is the same as last year, which means that if property values do not change, the taxes for schools will remain the same.

Nick Curran, business manager for the district, said the number reflects a balanced budget, an increase in state aid, and an opportunity to reduce some of the district's debt. The approval is based on budget estimates and the board's final adoption of the budget is set for Oct. 26.

Overall, the district's general fund is anticipated to be $30,724,167, he said. The budget also reflects CARES funds, a federal COVID-19 relief fund and a commitment to invest in technology, he said. CARES funds support mental health services, internet hot spots and personal protective equipment and supplies.

Curran noted that the district is facing challenges in budget planning caused by the current COVID-19 pandemic and state budget uncertainty.

With COVID-19, he said, uncertainty comes from questions about the cost of transportation, personal protective equipment, food service, the need for substitute teachers, the impact of summer school and uncertain enrollment numbers.

State budget questions are based on the effects of the upcoming election and the state response to COVID-19.

Other items approved by the board included authorization for the board to serve school lunches and to identify, lease or provide for construction for buildings for the district to use.

In the virtual Zoom format, the board did not discuss the budget items. They viewed slides of the budget items and a presentation by District Administrator Randi Anderson on the mission and goals of the district.

Included in the model she presented was an emphasis on individual learning plans.

She said that when the school closed last March, the district was in what she called "survival mode," trying to retool lesson plans for a virtual environment. Since then, she said, district staff have been improving the approach.

"We have been really fine tuning in whatever we can do in the technological platform," Anderson said.

Despite the challenges facing students today, she said, she sees "high levels of student engagement."

Gillett schools go virtual

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Students in the Gillett School District were switched to a virtual learning environment Tuesday after a number of positive tests for COVID-19 within district buildings.

"After consulting with the Oconto County Public Health Department, the Gillett School District will be going all virtual from Tuesday, Sept. 29 through Monday, Oct. 12," the district announced in a message to the community. Athletics will also pause during that period.

Gillett's in-person and optional virtual classes have been using parallel curriculums based on the Acelus online learning platform. School officials said during the summer that this plan would allow for a seamless transition should it become necessary to close school buildings for a time.

"We need to band together and continue to take the necessary safety precautions like masking, quarantining when exposed, not attending large gatherings, etc.," the announcement said. "If after the 14 day period that we are all virtual and we have reduced our positive cases, we can resume with in-person learning starting Oct. 13."

Several Packers showing value on offense

Green Bay's defense still a work in progress

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Green Bay Packers offense has a couple of star position players leading the way, but like any team that hopes to hoist the Vince Lombardi Trophy at the end of the season, several other players will need to step up at some point along the way.

The Packers proved they weren't just a star-driven team after Sunday night's 37-30 win over the New Orleans Saints.

With receiver Davante Adams out with a hamstring injury, many people expected the Packers to lean on running back Aaron Jones to try and outscore the Saints explosive offense. Jones did manage 69 rushing yards and a touchdown on just 16 attempts and added two catches for 17 yards, but it was still a far cry from his 236-total yard outburst against the Lions a week prior.

The Packers won the contest on the back of another big performance from quarterback Aaron Rodgers. With Adams out, the Saints gave Packers receiver Marquez Valdes-Scantling the coverage Adams usually gets, which led to a personal best game from receiver Allen Lazard, and tight ends Robert Tonyan and Jace Sternberger chipping in along the way.

Lazard was targeted eight times, hauling in six for 146 yards and a touchdown. Receptions of 48 and 72 yards by Lazard sparked a pair of touchdown drives for the Packers.

"This is everything I've been preparing for," said Lazard, who went on to say how last year's individual success and his offseason work led to his productive night.

"I've really just waiting for my opportunity to be able to step up today and I think I did that pretty well."

Tonyan caught a touchdown pass for a second straight game and finished with five catches for 50 yards. Sternberger bounced back after dropping a couple passes against the Lions, recording three catches for 36 yards.

To cap the effort of the tight ends, veteran Mercedes Lewis hauled in an 18-yard touchdown pass.

By the end of the contest, the Packers proved they could put up points with a number of players leading the charge.

"I don't think many teams look at us and think we have a number of stars that they're really worried about," said Rodgers.

"But you never know whose day it's going to be, you really don't. Obviously, week one was Davante, week two was a number of other guys — Aaron Jones obviously had a big one — and then today it was kind of all over the place. Obviously, Allen had a big game, but Bobby Tonyan made a number of catches, Jace had the next most yards."

Rodgers went on to praise the play-calling of coach Matt LaFleur and offensive coordinator Nathaniel Hackett, all with a big smile on his face, something that could also be seen several times during the game against the Saints.

It's pretty clear that the veteran quarterback is enjoying the game of football more than in the past several years, and it's led to the team scoring a league-high 122 points.

Dropped passes and red zone efficiency, two areas of concern for the Packers offense going into week three, were also improved. Green Bay was not marked down for any drops and the team scored touchdowns on four of its five red zone chances.

With the offense putting up three straight weeks of big numbers, including the last one against a solid defense, the unit needs to keep executing and finding new ways to probe defenses.

On the defensive side of the ball is where the Packers are still trying to find their groove. A week four Monday night matchup against the winless Atlanta Falcons could be perfect chance for the defense to start moving in a positive direction.

With the Packers offense humming along, the Packers defense has only needed to make a handful of stops each game in order to come out on top.

Green Bay's defense turned the tide of Sunday's game when outside linebacker Za'Darius Smith forced and recovered a fumble near midfield, right after the Pack's offense failed on a fourth-down opportunity. It was just the team's third time in the contest it didn't allow points on a drive. The unit also forced a punt on the drive after that, and that helped the offense create some separation to squeak out the win.

Without defensive lineman Kenny Clark in the middle, the Saints gashed the Packers for 122 rushing yards, and New Orleans took advantage of some poor tackling to amass 275 passing yards despite most of the passes being thrown near the line of scrimmage.

The defense will try and right the ship as Atlanta comes to town. The Falcons rank third in the league in passing yards per game (309.3) and are about at league average in terms of rushing yards per game (109.7).

Scoring points (30.0 per game) hasn't been an issue for Atlanta. The issue has been trying to put games away.

Atlanta surrendered a 16-point lead against the Chicago Bears on Sunday, a week after letting a 15-point fourth quarter lead against the Dallas Cowboys melt away in unbelievable fashion.

The Falcons led 20-0 early against Dallas, and 16-3 against Chicago, so slowing Atlanta down early will certainly be a focal point for the Packers defense, which has struggled early in games before making some key second half stops.

On paper, the Monday night matchup might look like a one-sided one, but in order to keep its perfect season alive and go into its bye week on a positive note, Green Bay is going to need to play a complete game.

Rodgers, Packers stay unbeaten with high-scoring victory over Saints

Lazard records 146 receiving yards, TD with Adams out

By BRETT MARTEL
The Associated Press

Green Bay quarterback Aaron Rodgers sounds increasingly enamored with the scheme and play-calling philosophy of second-year head coach Matt LaFleur.

The Packers are unbeaten and putting up some of the best offensive numbers in the NFL. So why not?

Rodgers passed for 283 yards and three touchdowns, and the Packers scored 10 points in the final nine minutes to pull out a 37-30 victory over the New Orleans Saints on Sunday night.

"We've gotten in a good flow," Rodgers said. "I feel so much more comfortable in the offense this year, and I think Matt has really settled in to the rhythm of the play calling, and it's made my job a lot easier."

With Packers top receiver Davante Adams unable to play because of a hamstring injury, Rodgers nonetheless found ways to attack New Orleans (1-2) with a variety of passes, short and long.

Allen Lazard caught six passes for 146 yards for Green Bay (3-0), including gains of 48 and 72 yards on throws deep downfield that each set up touchdowns.

"We have the best deep ball thrower in the league, if not NFL history," Lazard said. "To be able to go out there and connect on those plays I think is huge. It's demoralizing for the defense."

Rodgers' scoring passes went for 5 yards to Lazard, 18 yards to tight end Mercedes Lewis and 1 yard to tight end Robert Tonyan. Lazard's longest catch set up Aaron Jones' 1-yard TD run.

"I really like the timing on certain calls," Rodgers said. "Sometimes, you've got to kind of dig deep at certain times and hold on to something and trust the players. I really appreciate the flow that we had tonight and the trust in us to make the plays."

The decisive drive got going when Rodgers hit tight end Jace Sternberger for a 23-yard gain and later drew a pass interference call in the end zone on a third-down play, which set up the Tonyan TD with two minutes left.

Saints running back Alvin Kamara built on a sensational start to the season, gaining 197 yards from scrimmage and scoring twice on short passes from Drew Brees, with shifty, tackle-slipping runs after the catch.

Kamara's scoring plays included a 52-yarder in which he took a pass near the line of scrimmage and broke four tackles, including one that forced him to balance along the sideline before he cut back inside for the final yards.

That play, which tied the score at 27, might have wound a typical Superdome crowd into a wild, stadium-vibrating frenzy. But the stands were virtually empty, with the exception of fewer than 1,000 Saints player and staff guests.

Brees completed 29 of 36 passes for 288 yards and three TDs. Emmanuel Sanders caught a 10-yard scoring pass at the end of the first half that gave the Saints a 17-13 lead.

Scoring machine

Green Bay nearly scored 40 in New Orleans after eclipsing that mark in each of its first two games, with 43 against Minnesota and 42 against Detroit.

"A big reason why we've been able to generate points is, No. 1, we do a great job of taking care of the football," LaFleur said. "Our quarterback is as good as anybody, ever, at just making great decisions, throwing with great accuracy and timing. I think our offensive line has done a great job."

Turning point

The game featured a quick sequence of defensive highlights while the game was tied at 27 early in the fourth quarter.

Just two plays after Saints defensive backs Malcolm Jenkins and Marshon Lattimore combined to stop running back Aaron Jones short on fourth-and-1, Za'Darius Smith stripped Taysom Hill on a read-option run and recovered the fumble to give Green Bay possession again near midfield.

The Packers parlayed the turnover into a go-ahead, 49-yard field goal by Mason Crosby with 8:47 to play.

Wil Lutz' third field goal of the game in the final minute allowed the Saints to set up an onside kick in hopes of recovering and driving for a tying touchdown, but the kick went out of bounds and the Packers were able to run out the clock.

Injuries

Packers LB Christian Kirksey injured his shoulder during the second quarter and did not return.

PACKERS NOTEBOOK

By BILL HUBER
Correspondent

Another star missing

The Green Bay Packers have had some good injury fortune to start the season. In week one, Minnesota was without defensive end Danielle Hunter. In week two, Detroit was without receiver Kenny Golladay. In week three, New Orleans was without receiver Michael Thomas.

When the Packers host the Atlanta Falcons on Monday night, could they miss an elite receiver for a third consecutive week?

Julio Jones was inactive for last week's loss against Chicago with a hamstring injury. Jones no doubt would like to return to face a team he's dominated, and the winless Falcons no doubt would want him back in what might be a do-or-die game for their season.

Jones has demolished the Packers in the past. In 2014, he caught 11 passes for 259 yards and one touchdown at Lambeau Field. In the 2016 NFC Championship Game, he caught nine passes for 180 yards and two touchdowns. In six career games, he has 37 receptions for 698 yards and five touchdowns. He's gone over 100 yards in four of six games.

"We're going to have to prevent explosive plays," cornerback Chandon Sullivan said. "Julio Jones, Calvin Ridley, these are really talented guys. We're going to have our hands full. We know they like to throw the ball a lot. We're going to get our opportunities. We just have to make the plays and limit theirs."

Winless Falcons

The Packers are 3-0 after a big win at New Orleans. The Falcons are 0-3, having blown big leads the last two weeks. Against Dallas, Atlanta led 20-0 in the first quarter and 39-24 midway through the fourth quarter, only to lose 40-39. Against Chicago, the Falcons were outscored 20-0 in the fourth quarter to lose 30-26.

With that, Atlanta made some dubious history. It became the first team in NFL history to give up fourth-quarter leads of at least 15 points in consecutive games. For Packers coach Matt LaFleur, the message will be to watch all the things the Falcons did well but to ignore the standings.

"I don't think you can ever be comfortable in this league," he said. "It's way too competitive. You can look at the game (on Sunday) night. I mean, it's 27-27, we go for it on fourth down, get stopped and our defense makes an incredible play. Za'Darius (Smith) makes an incredible play and we're able to go down the field and score to go up by three points and then they come back with a three-and-out.

New Orleans Saints running back Alvin Kamara, left, eludes Green Bay Packers linebacker Ty Summers on a 52-yard touchdown run in the second half of Sunday's game in New Orleans. Missed tackles was an issue for the Packers through the first three games.

BRETT DUKE | THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"So, it's always only a couple plays here or there that can alter the outcome of the game and we know this: We're going to have a very hungry Atlanta Falcon team coming in here that, no doubt about it, should be 2-1 right now. And they're not, but that's life in this league. Every game comes down to just a couple of plays here and there that can really change the outcome."

The Falcons have a couple obvious strengths that will test the Packers. Offensively, they are sixth in scoring with quarterback Matt Ryan throwing to Jones and Ridley. Defensively, it's fourth in the league in quarterback hits and ninth on third down.

Tackling woes

LaFleur counted 13 missed tackles against the Saints. According to Pro Football Focus, Green Bay has 23 misses on the season. For contrast, Seattle and Chicago are the NFC's other undefeated teams. The Seahawks have missed 15 and the Bears have missed only eight.

"We have to look at what we're asking our guys to do and make sure that we're trying to put them in the best position possible," LaFleur said. "But to your point, that's something we work on every day is tackling. We have to make sure we're doing a great job of all 11 giving that great effort, straining for each other, getting guys, multiple players at the point of attack, at the ball, so that it's not one-on-one tackling in space.

"Because if you give a guy like (the Saints' Alvin) Kamara one-on-one opps, he's going to hurt you sometimes, and that came true this past game. We will continue to work on those fundamentals and we need to see improvement."

Season of Summers

When linebacker Christian Kirksey sustained a shoulder injury at New Orleans, Ty Summers was summoned from the bench. A seventh-round pick last year, Summers was a hit on special teams but didn't play a single snap on defense. He didn't play on defense to start this season, either. That meant his 44 snaps in relief on Sunday night were the first of his career.

Summers tallied a team-high nine tackles in his defensive debut. He probably will start on Monday.

"It's time to go, you know?" Summers said of his mindset on Sunday night. "It's the stuff we practiced in practice. We've been over this. So, for me, I was like, I didn't feel surprised, I didn't feel nervous. I've been looking forward to an opportunity like that my whole life, so, it was pretty incredible to get the opportunity. So, for me, I was just like, 'All right. Here's a chance to show 'em what I've got. Let's go have fun.'"

Summers will be coached up on his miscues against the Saints. He's also getting coaching at home from his wife.

"I was like, 'Ah, I could have done better,'" Summers recalled. "She was like, 'Hey, stop it.' She's like, 'This is your first opportunity, you went out there, you made some great plays, don't focus on the bad stuff. You can't change it now, just go learn from it, move on. Go do it again.' I was like, 'I mean, you're right, no point on harping on it now.'"

"Watching film, especially when you're watching as a whole defense, you hate seeing a bad play up there and you know it was you and just like, 'Ahh.' But for me, I can't change it, it happened. We won. Just got to make sure and go make the proper adjustments so that I don't have any plays like that again."

Free plays

Taking advantage of empty stadiums in Minnesota and New Orleans, Rodgers' cadence has been a major weapon. After coaxing the opponent offside, he hit Marquez Valdes-Scantling for a deep completion in week one and set up the clinching touchdown last week against the Saints.

"It's huge for us in more ways than one," center Corey Linsley said. "It's obvious that we capitalize on them jumping offside and are able to get free plays, obviously we can get a good look at the defense, as well, even when they don't jump offside. Even more than (that), it forces the defensive linemen to play just a tick bit slower, a tick more hesitant, knowing that they can't just tee off, and there's always the possibility of the hard count."

"With regards to the cadence in general, it's very, very complex. It's not like we're sending rockets up into space or anything, but it's complex enough to where being on the same page as him takes a lot of time and effort. It takes a concerted effort to get used to his cadence. David (Bakhtiari) and I were just talking about this, about how we can kind of anticipate what he's going to do. Just the way his mind works, it's impressive for him to be able to conduct everything like he does and then, on top of that, be able to use the cadence."

KEYS TO THE GAME

By BILL HUBER

Correspondent

The Green Bay Packers (3-0) host the Atlanta Falcons (0-3) at 7:15 p.m. Monday at Lambeau Field in Green Bay. ESPN televises the game.

Coaches

Green Bay — Matt LaFleur, second season (16-3). Atlanta — Dan Quinn, sixth season (43-40).

History

Packers lead 18-14 overall, including a 34-20 win in Green Bay on Dec. 9, 2018.

When the Packers have the ball

On paper, this is a colossal mismatch. Driven by quarterback Aaron Rodgers, Green Bay is No. 1 in the NFL in scoring (40.7 points per game) and yards per play (6.86), No. 3 in rushing per attempt (5.54), and No. 5 in passing per play (8.15) and third down (50.0 percent). Atlanta's defense is No. 32 in scoring (36.0 points per game), No. 27 in yards per play (6.41), No. 26 in passing per play (7.79) and No. 28 in the red zone (78.6 percent).

"The reason is the efficiency of Rodgers and his ability to make plays on the run," Quinn told reporters on Monday. "He's got all of the throws and a full complement of offense to go with it. At the end of it, we'd still want to make sure our football is aligned right like we want. I think that's where you go to first."

"That's really what I challenged the team on today. Before we even get into the Green Bay prep, let's make sure whatever topic, whether it's individually from one player or a position group or a unit, let's make sure the thing that we want to improve on heading into this game, we spend the time and the attention on that. It could be something individually or something that takes place within a position group. Before any Green Bay preparation takes place, it definitely starts with us."

The strength of the defense is the front, with Takk McKinley and Dante Fowler as the ends and Grady Jarrett and Tyeler Davison as the tackles. End Steven Means and tackle John Cominsky play a lot off the bench. Jarrett is one of the best interior defenders in the league. He has team highs of 2.5 sacks and four tackles for losses. McKinley is fourth in the NFL with seven quarterback hits.

Deion Jones and Mykal Walker are the linebackers. Jones, with a team-high 23 tackles, is a true three-down player.

With rookie A.J. Terrell on the COVID-19 list, Isaiah Oliver, Darqueze Dennard and Blidi Wreh-Wilson were the corners against Chicago. Dennard and Wreh-Wilson have the interceptions and Oliver has a team-high four passes defended. Damontae Kazee and Keanu Neal are the safeties. Neal is the enforcer; he is second with 22 tackles. Kazee is a ballhawk; he led the NFL with seven interceptions in 2018.

When the Falcons have the ball

Green Bay is in the middle of quite a gauntlet of quarterbacks. After facing Minnesota's Kirk Cousins in week one, Detroit's Matthew Stafford in week two and New Orleans' Drew Brees in week three, the Packers will face Atlanta's Matt Ryan in week four and Tampa Bay's Tom Brady coming out of the bye in week six.

Ryan isn't off to his best start, but the Falcons are sixth in the NFL with 30.0 points per game. Atlanta has a tremendous receiver corps and a fast-improving running game.

It starts with Ryan, whose play has been sliding the wrong direction. When he won NFL MVP honors in 2016 – LaFleur was his quarterbacks coach – he completed 69.9 percent of his passes with 38 touchdowns, seven interceptions and a 117.1 passer rating.

In three games this season, he's completed 62.5 percent of his passes. In 2016, he threw 5.43 touchdowns for every interception. In three-plus seasons since, he's thrown 2.51 touchdowns. He has 961 pass yards in three games – a robust 320.3 yards per game.

Julio Jones and Calvin Ridley form one of the best one-two receiving punches in the league, Russell Gage provides a competent No. 3 and Hayden Hurst is a threat at tight end. The injury report will be worth monitoring. Jones was inactive against Chicago with a hamstring injury and Gage exited that game with a concussion.

On the surface, the Falcons' running game isn't powerful. Todd Gurley leads the way with 197 yards and two touchdowns in three games. However, the Falcons have gone from 21 attempts for 72 yards vs. Seattle to 34 attempts for 113 yards vs. Dallas to 25 attempts for 144 yards vs. Chicago.

The line is left tackle Jake Matthews, left guard James Carpenter, center Alex Mark, right guard Chris Lindstrom and right tackle Kaleb McGary. McGary was inactive last week with a knee injury and could be back. Lindstrom, the team's first-round pick last year, has been the weakest link on a line that generally has given Ryan ample time.

"We've been asked to drop back and throw the ball quite a bit," Ryan said. "They've stepped up to that, but they've also been very efficient in the run game as well and opening up some big holes for us. I really believe that if we keep at it, some of these runs are going to come out the back end and we're going to create some explosive plays."

The key for Atlanta's upset hopes will be situational efficiency. The Falcons are 16th on third down (43.2 percent) and 19th in the red zone (58.3 percent). Defensively, Green Bay is 25th on third down (48.3 percent) and 22nd in the red zone (70.0 percent).

Special teams

Atlanta probably will be breaking in a new kicker, with Younghoe Koo battling a groin injury. He's 8-of-9 on field goals. Green Bay's Mason Crosby is 7-of-7 on field goals.

Sterling Hofrichter, a rookie seventh-round pick, is the punter. He's averaging only 40.9 yards per kick, but his seven punts have yielded only 24 return yards. His counterpart, JK Scott, has punted five times. Four pinned the opponent inside the 20.

Brandon Powell handles the returns. He's averaged 10.0 yards per punt return but just 17.6 yards on kickoff returns. Green Bay's Tyler Ervin hasn't found last year's magic. His two punt returns have gone for 0 yards and his kickoff returns have averaged only 16.4.

Shawano police chief to retire

By TIM RYAN
Reporter

Shawano Police Chief Dan Mauel will retire in January after a 41-year career in law enforcement, most of that time with the Shawano Police Department.

"I really enjoy my job," he said. "This is my passion. I've always enjoyed going to work. I never really didn't want to come to work. I still enjoy coming to work."

Mauel became chief in 2017 after the departure of former chief Mark Kohl.

"I've always been told I'd know when the time was right by other veteran cops and the time is right," Mauel said. "I talked it over with family and friends the past few months and just decided it was time."

Mauel, who turns 60 in December, will retire sometime in the first week of January 2021 but the official date isn't certain yet.

He started with the Shawano Police Department in September 1980 after a summer stint with the State Patrol.

He left in August 1985 for the Green Bay Police Department but came back a few years later.

"I left here to go somewhere else and after four, five years there, I decided this is where I want to work," Mauel said. "(Then-Shawano Police Chief) Don Thaves was nice enough to hire me back. He hired me twice."

Mauel could have retired at age 53 with full retirement benefits but decided to stay on.

"When the previous chief retired, I was kind of thinking of retiring then and then this opportunity came up," Mauel said. "It's a nice cap to my retirement to go out as a chief."

Mauel expects to miss a lot of things about the job.

"What you're going to miss the most, and I've heard from other guys when other people have retired, is you're going to miss the people you work with. You're going to miss the community that you work for. This community is an outstanding community," he said.

"This is a cliché because a lot of other people have said this but you've got a front row seat to the greatest show in the world," he said. "Every day is different. You laugh, you enjoy it, you have fun and there's moments of fear. Even in small towns, there's moments that just come up. You see things that normal people aren't supposed to see."

The Police and Fire Commission will begin discussing Mauel's pending vacancy in closed session at a meeting Tuesday.

Mauel said that process is completely up to the commission.

"My hope is that we promote from within, appoint a new chief from within," he said, "and we've got candidates here that are more than able to do that. But that's a Police and Fire Commission responsibility."

Shawano Mayor Ed Whealon worked with Mauel at the police department and promoted him to lieutenant when he served as chief.

"I worked with him a long time," Whealon said. "He was a good officer. He's done a nice job as chief. He's worked hard and he's moved up through the ranks. I wish him well. He's going to enjoy himself."

OUTDOORS AND RECREATION

DNR offers robust statewide CWD testing

In cooperation with local businesses, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources staff will collect deer heads for chronic wasting disease (CWD) testing during the 2020 archery, cross-bow and gun hunting seasons.

Managing CWD begins with knowing where the disease exists on the landscape, and having this knowledge is only possible with a robust sample size, thanks to deer hunters around the state. Hunters should make plans to visit a sampling station to have their deer submitted for testing.

“Hunters who haven’t had their deer tested before might be concerned about the time involved or just not know what to expect when having their deer tested,” said Amanda Kamps, DNR wildlife health conservation specialist. “We offer a variety of ways for hunters to participate, letting them choose the route that’s most convenient for them.”

New this year, hunters have a digital option for entering their CWD testing information when visiting one of the hundreds of self-service and in-person sampling stations around the state. Successful hunters will find a unique link to the online form in their harvest registration confirmation email or in their Go Wild harvest history.

Testing for CWD is available to hunters statewide. Hunters in northwestern and northeastern Wisconsin are strongly encouraged to participate.

The counties with heightened focus in northwestern Wisconsin are Ashland, Bayfield, Barron, Burnett, Douglas, Iron, Rusk, Sawyer and Taylor.

The counties with heightened focus in northeastern Wisconsin are Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Forest, Green Lake, Kewaunee, Langlade, Manitowoc, Marinette, Marquette, Menominee, Oconto, Outagamie, Shawano, Sheboygan, Waupaca, Waushara and Winnebago.

Clintonville looking to build identity under new coach

By MORGAN RODE

Sports Editor

The Clintonville High School football team heads into the fall season trying to build up its program under the guidance of a new coach and playing in a new conference.

Nick Winkler will serve as the head coach of the team, which is coming off a 1-8 season. The Trickers went 0-8 in the North Eastern Conference but will be a part of the Packerland Conference this year.

The team returns several starters who will try and help the team improve on last year's showing.

Senior Nathan Morse is the lone Tricker who made an all-conference mention list as a defensive back. He will serve as a receiver on offense.

Seniors Brock Smejkal and Klay Barkow will also play receiver and defensive back for Clintonville.

Senior Brady Kasson will serve as a tight end on offense and help form the linebacking core on defense. Fellow senior Ryan Wegenke is also back after starting at running back and linebacker. Senior Tyler Tellock also has starting experience and will help form the team's offensive and defensive lines.

Senior Dylan Arnold is back as part of the linebacker group, while junior Braiden Behnke is expected to serve as the team's quarterback. Juniors Adrian Smith and Wesley Begalke also return with starting experience and will serve as linemen on both sides of the ball.

Senior Payton Griepentrog (wide receiver) is among a group of players that Winkler expects to play bigger roles for the team this fall.

"This season, we are looking to improve on last year's performance," said Winkler. "We have a great group of seniors as well as strong underclassmen that are ready to help us improve the program."

Clintonville opened its season with a 44-7 loss to Southern Door on Friday in Clintonville.

Smejkal returned a kickoff 75 yards in the second quarter for Clintonville's lone touchdown.

The Trickers were outgained 432-29 in the contest.

PRO BASEBALL

Despite virus-related obstacles, baseball reaches postseason

By NOAH TRISTER

The Associated Press

The 2020 baseball season began with Juan Soto testing positive for COVID-19. Now, he's a 21-year-old batting champion — after beating out another player who went through his own ordeal with the coronavirus.

Perhaps it was fitting.

Soto finished atop the National League with a .351 average Sunday, becoming the youngest person to win the batting title in the NL. The Washington outfielder outlasted Atlanta's Freddie Freeman, who hit .341. The fact that either player was in a position for this type of accomplishment was emblematic of a regular season that felt chaotic and uncertain at times — but ultimately reached the finish line.

Soto missed baseball's season opener between the Nationals and New York Yankees back in July, but he ultimately played in 47 games and was one of few bright spots as the defending champions struggled. Freeman played in all 60 games for the Braves, but only after a scary battle with COVID-19.

But although it seemed initially that the season might fall apart because of postponements and positive tests, every team except St. Louis and Detroit managed to play the full 60 games. The Cardinals and Miami Marlins — the two teams hit particularly hard by the virus — both made the expanded postseason. Teams played shortened doubleheaders and the extra-inning rules were different, but in some small ways this season did feel at least a little bit normal.

The Los Angeles Dodgers had the best record in baseball — no shock there. Trea Turner led the major leagues in hits, Jose Abreu topped the list in RBIs and Adalberto Mondesi had the most steals.

None of that would have seemed out of the ordinary in a 162-game campaign.

The postseason, now with 16 teams, could create its own wacky outcomes. The Milwaukee Brewers didn't spend a day above .500 this year, but are a well-timed hot streak from a pennant or even a World Series title. What happens over the next few weeks will go a long way toward determining how this season is remembered — and how fluky it ends up feeling.

For now, baseball can be relieved to have made it this far.

Shawano girls tie for first in final Bay Conference meet

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

The Shawano Community High School girls golf team posted a team score of 204 to tie Xavier at the Bay Conference's final meet of the fall Thursday at Ridgeway Golf Course in Neenah.

The strong finish wasn't enough for Shawano to overtake the top spot in the final conference standings, as Xavier held on to that spot.

Taylor Johnson posted a nine-hole round of 47 to lead Shawano on Thursday. Emily Heling fired a round of 51, while Teghan Kristof and Riley Dreier each posted 53s. Hannah Seehafer (57) rounded out the team score.

The Bonduel girls finished fourth on the day with a team score of 224. The Bears also finished fourth in the final conference standings.

Sydney Luepke led Bonduel in the final meet with a round of 54, while Ava Pleshek and Sara Garside each shot 55s. Thea Tauchen posted a round of 60, while Kerry O'Harrow carded a 69.

Xavier's Lauren Haen was named the conference's player of the year, with Shawano's Johnson posting the second-best individual score to make the all-conference first team. Kristof also made the first team for the Hawks, finishing fourth as an individual.

Shawano's Heling made the second team, while Dreier made the honorable mention team.

Pleshek landed on the second team after leading the Bears this fall. Luepke made the honorable mention team.

Final conference standings: 1. Xavier; 2. Shawano; 3. West De Pere; 4. Bonduel; 5. Oconto; 6. Seymour; 7. Green Bay NEW Lutheran.

Gresham volleyball and boys soccer seasons come to an end

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Gresham's volleyball team and co-op soccer team with Bowler had their seasons postponed when the Gresham School District announced it was going virtual.

Because of the school's timeframe to reopen, the volleyball and boys soccer team's seasons won't resume play this fall.

While in its virtual format, no practices or sporting events were going to be allowed at Gresham.

The district plans on being virtual until at least Oct. 12, so the volleyball and boys soccer teams would only have one week to play games before postseason play starts.

Jeff Zobeck, Gresham's athletic director, said the volleyball and boys soccer teams would explore the option of moving their seasons to the alternative fall season in the springtime.

Gresham's plans for its football and cross-country co-ops with Bowler are still up in the air.

The football co-op plays its home games at Bowler High School. "If our families of our kids want them to continue, we'll have that discussion," said Zobeck.

The reason the boys soccer co-op season was shut down was because home games are played in Gresham.

The cross-country team had one meet scheduled in Gresham, but that was cancelled.

Who is your dictator?

Have you noticed how easy we were all made to wear a mask? Why were we so willing? We are told that if we do not, we will get the Wuhan virus and die, or we are told that we are not helping our fellow man. So, we are wearing the mask out of fear or to help others or just plain guilt.

Have you seen or heard the public service advertisements with the quiet running water exclaiming that we are all in this together or something like that? I feel like I have been shanghaied.

People have been wearing masks in Asia for decades due to the polluted air. Decades ago, I saw Korean and Japanese wearing masks, and we have all seen pictures of people in China wearing masks especially in cold weather months. Most certainly everyone in Wuhan, China, was wearing masks, but they not only got the virus but spread it around the world.

In the beginning we did not know, so to be safe we agreed to flatten the curve. We are being conditioned to believe that people who stand up for their freedoms are selfish, extreme, irresponsible, hateful, irrational, lawless and of course ignorant. Is it for our health, or has it simply become political?

Democrats are always telling us that President Trump is a dictator. We remember Feb. 25 Speaker Pelosi telling us it was safe to go to Chinatown. On March 5, Mayor DeBlasio said it was safe to ride the subway. Trump banned travel from China on Jan. 31 and a day later Biden exclaimed, "Yesterday, Donald Trump further diminished the United States in the eyes of the world. Trump's atrocious asylum and refugee policies — they are all designed to make it harder for black and brown people to immigrate to the United States. It's that simple. They are racist. They are xenophobic. And there is no evidence that they do anything to make us safer." On March 20, Dr. Fauci was on MSNBC and was asked about the China travel ban and stated, "One of the things we did right, was very early, cut off travel from China to the United States".

May 20, Mayor Lori Lightfoot announced that the city of Chicago would enforce shelter-in-place orders put in place by Governor J. B. Pritzker. This was to enforce the order against churches wishing to practice their First Amendment right. On the same day Pritzker proposed that any business that violates the states stay-at-home order should be fined or even get jail time, but like our Shawano County Sheriff Adam Bieber, numerous Illinois police said they would not enforce unconstitutional orders because people still had bills to pay. Who is your dictator?

On Sept. 8 the Federalist and CNBC Oct. 7 articles Elizabeth Warrens wealth taxes and others are discussed. Under the terms of the Warren "Wealth Tax", the American government would act like any fascist Communist or a totalitarian government and would confiscate assets. Warren is proposing that any company worth more than 1 billion (3%) and a company worth over 50 million (2%) of all assets to be seized by the US government. If this was approved what would stop them from increasing the percentage or taking a portion of yours? When the 1913 tax collection law was passed only 3% of the population paid income tax but today approximately 53% pay income taxes. Who is your dictator?

Earlier this year former Vice President Biden was asked about his platform on the 2nd Amendment, and according to the May 27 Western Journal, Biden showed what his authoritarian wish would be. Biden said that no amendment is absolute. What does that mean? That tells me that Biden does not intend to protect the Bill of Rights or the US Constitution. Who is your dictator?

On April 24, Fox 11 News reported that the ordinance against violating the health laws gives the Green Bay police the option to ticket violators. Eric Genrich is the mayor of Green Bay and a Democrat. The maximum fine is $1,000. On Sept. 25, WTAQ radio reported that Brown County is going to begin naming businesses and events that are not following proper COVID guidelines. Health Officer Anna Destree says that the county can issue citations and close the business to the public. Who is your dictator?

Governor Evers just extended his July 30 mask mandate until November 21. How has the mandate worked? Who is your dictator?

On March 23 Robert Barnes, a constitutional lawyer, expressed concern. Barnes warned that governments across America have used the media-stoked panic to limit, restrict or remove First Amendment freedoms of speech and worship. Americans are exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase guns and ammo. Because governments across America are issuing no-arrest and no-detention orders for a wide range of crimes in their community and freeing inmates from prisons.

On March 19 the BBC reported that Los Angeles reduced its prison population by 600 and NY Mayor DeBlasio announced NY prisons will identify prisoners to release. On March 17 the Hill reported that Philadelphia police will delay arrests for some nonviolent crimes amid coronavirus outbreak. Our 4th Amendment is being violated when tech companies are used to surveil and spy on our movements and everyday activities. Stay-at-home orders keep you from earning a living without due process. That is a violation of the 5th amendment. Barnes describes violations of the 6th & 7th Amendment. The real pandemic threat is here. It is the panic that will quarantine our Constitution. Who is your dictator?

"When the people fear the government there is tyranny; when the government fears the people there is liberty."-- Thomas Jefferson

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Protect COVID-19 survivors

To the editor:

It's hard to believe, but to date, Shawano County has reached over 900 COVID-19 cases. Maybe you haven't contracted the virus, but it's very likely that your life will be touched through a family member, friend or neighbor. Local cases have more than doubled since Sept. 6.

Researchers are studying the long-term effects of the virus. So far, they are finding that the virus can cause lung and heart damage and blood clots. (Source: Mayo Clinic)

Whether cases are mild or severe, there is one thing all COVID-19 survivors will hold in common: The virus will be a lifetime preexisting condition for them. Kaiser Health, at KHN.org, reports that "people seeking coverage after they contracted the coronavirus may have faced higher premiums or could have been turned down all together without the preexisting protections provided under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act."

Before passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act in 2010, insurance companies could deny coverage for a prior health condition. Under the Affordable Care Act, health insurance cannot refuse coverage or charge more for having a preexisting condition.

That means that the 900 people in Shawano County and the 1 million people in the U.S. who have contracted the virus could face denial or increase costs for coverage if the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act is revoked. Why would anyone want to revoke the Affordable Care Act, especially during a pandemic? Ask President Trump, who wants to repeal it but has offered no health plan of his own.

Without the protections of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, over 8 million would lose health coverage altogether. All of us would lose protection from preexisting conditions. I urge you to vote for candidates who support these health care protections we all rely on.

Flip this bridge

Story and photos
by CAROL RYCZEK
Editor-in-chief

The Mountain Bay Trail crosses Shawano at Sturgeon Park.

Volunteers reset timbers at Sturgeon Park

A bumpy trail got a bit more foot-friendly Saturday when volunteers from Shawano Pathways pulled and reset the timbers across the Wolf River at Sturgeon Park in Shawano.

The wooden boards across the pedestrian/bike bridge had been replaced through grants from the Shawano Rotary, Shawano Pathways and City of Shawano Parks and Recreation. The bridge is part of the Mountain Bay Trail.

When the boards were placed last year, the volunteers used nails instead of screws, said Pathways member Matty Mathison. They also didn't notice that some of the boards had a cupped surface. Those decisions led to some warping of the boards.

The effect was an uneven walkway, she said.

To remedy this, the Pathways group started the process of pulling up and resetting over 450 boards. They used crowbars, hand drills and muscle power to flip and reset the boards. The group finished 121 of the existing boards and expect to finish the rest this fall.

The repair work should not add any cost to the project, Mathison said. "We're working with the materials we have," she said.

ABOVE: Jesse Sturm, Oshkosh, pulls the hardware from one of the bridge timbers Saturday as he and other volunteers prepare to flip the boards to create better drainage on a footbridge across the Wolf River in Shawano.
