AbbyBank to donate remodeled branch building to Gresham

A sign outside the AbbyBank branch in Gresham announces its partnership with the village as building reconstruction gets underway.

CONTRIBUTED

AbbyBank and the village of Gresham have announced they are partnering to create an even better community space.

AbbyBank is undergoing a major remodeling of its current location at 801 Main St. in Gresham, which will include new business offices and a community room for the village. Upon completion, AbbyBank plans to donate the building to the village and in turn lease its banking space from the village.

Keller Inc. is the design/build and general contractor overseeing the remodeling project, which started earlier this month and is expected to be complete by year's end. In the interim, the bank offices have moved into a temporary banking unit located on the same site.

Hours of operation will not change during construction, and all banking transactions can still take place.

The village of Gresham also announced it is the recipient of a $125,000 Community Development Investment grant through Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation. The matching grants are awarded based on ability of applicants to demonstrate economic impact of the proposed project, including public and private partnerships.

The awarded grant was essential in moving the remodeling project forward.

"AbbyBank is excited about this 'win-win' accomplishment whereby we helped the village of Gresham obtain new office space for their growing needs and modernize our banking office for our Gresham customers," said Craig Stuedemann, CEO of AbbyBank. "We have a long history of supporting the community and are proud to continue that tradition with this unique partnership."

Brian Carroll, village operations manager, said the community is grateful to WEDC for the grant.

"Sharing this space with AbbyBank helps bring us together to ensure our businesses and residents have a great place to live, work and play," Carroll said.

Powers to sign books at historical society

WAHS to honor military veterans with exhibits including letters and photos

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

A local veteran and author is scheduled to sign books at the Wittenberg Area Historical Museum on July 25.

John Powers, a Vietnam War veteran as well as a Wittenberg resident, will be available starting at 12:30 p.m. to talk with visitors and sign copies of his book, "Finnegan Found," just before the 1-4 p.m. open house at the museum, 502 W. Summit St., Wittenberg.

"Finnegan Found" is the second book that Powers has written, the first being "Bean Camp to Briar's Patch." "Finnegan Found" is a historical fiction novel set during the Korean War and revolves around men in prisoner of war camps. Powers' first book is also set in prisoner of war camps in both the Vietnam and Korean wars.

Powers said that he got the inspiration for writing the books from his wife's father.

"He was a prisoner of war during the Korean War," said Powers. "After the war when the guys held reunions, I would go and listen to them talk. I started to write the information down and I compiled it all together."

Powers explained that he compiled the information and detailed it on a website he created — www.northchinamarines.com. The website details history, reunions, letters, documents, books and awards.

Along with the book signing, the Wittenberg Area Historical Society will be hosting a military day, with letters and photos on display from veterans who live in the Wittenberg area.

"We are hosting something that includes Wittenberg ties," Powers said. "This for people who want to learn more about military history from Wittenberg."

He said that writing these books has meant a lot of him, as people have been complimenting him on his story telling and teaching.

"One guy read through the second book," said Powers. "He said that he had learned something. That is what this is about."

He added that people have given him positive feedback on the books and that they have realized the role that people in Wittenberg have played in the Vietnam and Korean wars.

"People tell me that it is interesting to realize the strong attachment that Wittenberg has with the United States military," said Powers.

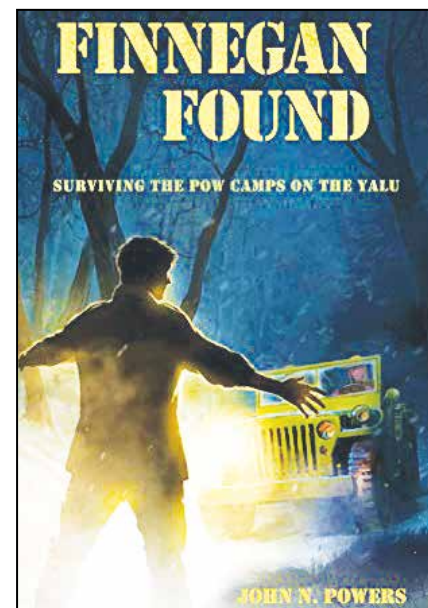

Powers believes that the historical society hosting the book signing event and the military day is positive for the museum.

"I am hoping that this event will help to bring more people into the museum and teach people about the military history with Wittenberg," said Powers.

"Finnegan Found" is a 450-page book that has been positively honored. The book received a 2020 bronze award from the Foreword Indies organization in the war and military category.

Powers said that his books have met with a positive response, proved by the many reviews through Amazon.

The proceeds from the book sign-

John N. Powers is scheduled to sign copies of his book "Finnegan Found" on Sunday at the Wittenberg Area Historical Museum.

Democrats march, rally for fair maps

Former legislator urges residents to call representatives and urge support for bills

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

The Shawano County Democrats kicked off their education blitz on the planned redistricting of Wisconsin on July 17 with a march and rally at the courthouse that brought out over a dozen people.

The Democrats are seeking to have a nonpartisan commission draw the maps, a requirement every 10 years as the U.S. Census data, arguing that the maps were heavily gerrymandered in 2010, guaranteeing that Republicans continue to have strong majorities in both the Assembly and Senate. They believe that the gerrymandering has led to those with extreme views on both the right and left getting elected to office, reducing cooperation and compromise and leading to gridlock.

Fifty-one counties have passed advisory resolutions in support of the nonpartisan commission, and 17 counties have passed advisory referenda with voters. Shawano and Menominee counties have done neither, while Oconto County has approved a resolution.

Former state Rep. Penny Bernard Schaber, who represented the 57th Assembly District for six years until she was defeated in 2014 while making a run for state Senate, led the rallying cry in Shawano on July 17, urging Democrats to call on local legislators to support Assembly Bill 395 and Senate Bill 389, which both call for the formation of the commission.

"Fairness in government is what we need, but in my mind, the most important issue we have to deal with is gerrymandering," Bernard Schaber said. "We have to have fair maps. We have to end gerrymandering in Wisconsin because, if we don't, nothing else will get done."

Bernard Schaber argued that nothing is getting done in the legislature, and that giving candidates on both sides a fighting chance in elections is the way to solve the issue.

"Nothing of substance is getting done," she said. "If we want a clean environment, if we want good health care, if we want to have education that works well for everybody ... we have to end gerrymandering."

Bernard Schaber noted the legis-

Shawano County Democrats march along Main Street on July 17 carrying signs urging fair redistricting maps for Wisconsin. The Democrats marched from Franklin Park to the Shawano County Courthouse, where they were urged to contact legislators to move forward bills that would establish a nonpartisan commission to redraw the districts.

lative bills are languishing in inactive committees at the moment, thus the need for contacting legislators on the issues.

"We have to call the committee people and tell them you want a public hearing," Bernard Schaber said. "We have to ask them to be active and to do something."

The call to action is not just for those sitting on committees looking at the bills. Bernard Schaber said the Democrats in attendance needed to contact all legislators to demand action be taken.

"It's our job to tell the representatives and our senators to do what we ask them to do, not what the big parties ask them to, not what WMC — the Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce — tells them to do," Bernard Schaber said. "It's their job to listen to us, and to do what we ask them and tell them to do."

To not call legislators on the issue would give the impression that it's not a pressing issue among constituents, according to Bernard Schaber.

"If you don't call them, they'll say, 'Oh, it's not important,'" she said. "You even have to call people that you know support the bills because they'll think it's not important."

7 Panthers and 6 Tigers named to CWC-North all-conference lists

Tigerton's Michelle Brady splits Coach of the Year honor

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Bowler and Tigerton softball teams were well represented on the Central Wisconsin Conference-North Division all-conference lists after the spring season wrapped up.

Seven Bowler players and six Tigerton athletes were named to an all-conference team, with Tigerton's Michelle Brady being named the Co-Coach of the Year.

Bowler

Senior Tynea Johnson and freshman Weengeetah Mohawk each earned spots on the CWC-North first team for Bowler. Junior Tia Kroening and freshman Bertina Dodge made the second team, while junior Morgan Paiser, sophomore Brandi Spencer and senior McKayla Putnam were honorable mentions.

Johnson ended her high school career by collecting hits in 12 of her 26 at-bats in conference play. She doubled once, tripled twice and homered once while driving in seven runs. Johnson scored a team-leading 13 runs.

Mohawk scored nine runs and drove in eight more during CWC-North play. The freshman walked nine times and posted six hits in 15 at-bats.

"It motivates me to do more and more, because I know there's more I can improve on and hopefully it shows in my future seasons," said Mohawk, on how the all-conference honor can help her in the seasons to come.

Kroening tallied nine hits in 21 conference at-bats, driving in a couple of runs and scoring 12 times.

"It will motivate me by making me practice (during) the offseason and push myself to be better than I was this year, and hopefully I make all-conference next year to end my senior year in a good way," said Kroening.

Dodge also had nine hits in CWC-North action, with three going for extra bases. She drove in six runs and scored seven times.

"Well, coming up from only starting softball when I was 10, which is kinda late for some, I've always tried my hardest to be the best I could," said Dodge, who added she'll seek a first team spot next spring. "As for my freshman year, receiving a second team spot was a big motivator.

"I ended up playing new position (shortstop) my freshman year, a spot I never played before, and seeing that I was actually good enough in that spot in people's eyes motivated me more than ever for next seasons."

Putnam was Bowler's primary pitcher. At the plate, she got on base six times and scored four runs.

Paiser clubbed six doubles and drove in eight runs for the Panthers.

"Getting honorable mention is definitely a privilege," said Paiser.

"However, it just means I have to step up my game for next year. I have three amazing coaches who got me where I am today and can't wait to see where next season brings us!"

Spencer got on base 11 times in conference play, eight times by walks. She drove in three runs and scored three times.

"I didn't expect to receive anything since it was my first year playing softball, but receiving this makes me want to work harder for the next season and try to get second or first team," said Spencer.

Bowler won five of its eight conference games this spring.

Tigerton

Tigerton also had two players make the first team, with senior Adrienne Brady and sophomore Abby Swartz earning the honor. Senior Savannah Swartz, sophomore Skyler Hauser and junior Bethany Jobe all were second teamers, while junior Leandra Kalwitz made the honorable mention list.

Brady was the team's primary pitcher in conference play, posting a 5-1 record and a 4.01 earned run average across 42 2/3 innings.

At the plate, Brady hit for a .400 average and got on base at a .634 clip. She had 10 hits in 25 at-bats and also walked 16 times. Brady drove in 11 runs, scored 10 times and stole 10 bases.

"I feel honored to be recognized by the other coaches in our conference," said Brady. "I have put in a lot of hard work and practice time throughout the years, and I continued to practice after my junior season was canceled due to COVID-19.

"This season was tough for me because I missed a whole game due to having kidney stones and surgery, but I came back and contributed to my team in any way that I could, even if I wasn't pitching. I will miss the high school competitions, long bus rides and teammates; however, ending my high school sports career with this honor is very special to me and a memory that will always stay with me."

Abby Swartz served as the team's catcher this spring. She had six hits, eight RBIs and scored five runs. She also stole five bases and had a .375 on-base percentage.

"Honestly, after my freshman season of softball (was) canceled from COVID then getting awarded first team all-conference my sophomore season, it meant a lot to me,” said Swartz.

“I felt scared going into this season with little experience, and it really intimidated me. Thankfully, with the support of my team and coaches, I learned a lot, worked hard and gained confidence which eventually paid off. I’m hoping to use this to push myself harder in future seasons to become a stronger player.”

Savannah Swartz ended the year with a .385 batting average and .619 on-base percentage. She drove in 16 runs on 10 hits and also scored 15 times. Half of her hits went for extra bases.

Hauser hit .400 in conference play for the Tigers and posted a .600 on-base percentage. She drove in 11 runs on 12 hits, four of which went for extra bases. The sophomore drew 15 walks, scored 19 runs and stole five bases.

Hauser also logged 13 2/3 innings in the circle. She earned one conference win.

“Making the all-conference second team is very special to me, especially because it’s my first high school softball season due to COVID (last spring),” said Hauser. “I am very happy with this honor saying that I am only a sophomore.

“Seeing that your skill is noticed by others feels really nice and will definitely motivate you for your future seasons. Starting out with second team means I can strive for the bigger honors as a junior/senior, and I am beyond excited.”

Jobe finished CWC-North play with a .306 batting average and .405 on-base percentage. She drove in nine runs on 11 hits and scored eight times.

“It makes me proud to be a part of the Tigerton High School softball team. It makes me appreciate all the hard work that came before,” said Jobe.

“Being on an all-conference team makes me excited for the coming season. I have a great foundation to build off of, and know what goals I want to achieve.”

Kalwitz patrolled center for the Tigers. At the plate, the junior had a .318 batting average and .516 on-base percentage. She drove in seven runs and drew nine walks.

Tigerton finished conference play with a 6-3 record to help Michelle Brady earn her coaching honor.

“It’s just a great honor to be recognized again by the other coaches because our conference has great coaches who care about their players and the program,” said Brady. “Our team, the girls and coaches put in so much effort this season, and it’s awesome to see everyone’s work pay off, and we finished second in the conference this year.

“We faced limited numbers, injuries and illnesses; however, our girls worked hard. I think it’s a huge accomplishment for everybody — coaches, players, and with the support of our family, fans and the community.”

Milwaukee wins 2nd NBA title behind 50-point game from Giannis

By BRIAN MAHONEY

The Associated Press

Giannis Antetokounmpo ended one of the greatest NBA Finals ever with 50 points — and a championship Milwaukee waited 50 years to win again.

Antetokounmpo had 50 points, 14 rebounds and five blocked shots as the Bucks beat the Phoenix Suns 105-98 on July 20 to win the series 4-2.

It was the third game this series with at least 40 points and 10 rebounds for Antetokounmpo, a dominant, debut finals performance that takes its place among some of the game’s greatest.

He shot 16 for 25 from the field and made an unbelievable 17-of-19 free throws — a spectacular performance for any shooter, let alone one who was hitting just 55.6% in the postseason and was ridiculed for it at times.

He hopped around the court waving his arms with 20 seconds remaining to encourage fans to cheer, but it was way too late for that.

Their voices had been booming inside and outside for hours by then, having waited 50 years to celebrate a winner after Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Oscar Robertson led the Bucks to the championship in 1971.

In a season played largely without fans, the Bucks had 65,000 of them packed into the Deer District outside, a wild party that figured to last deep into the Midwestern night.

Confetti rained down inside as fans chanted “Bucks in 6! Bucks in 6!” — what began as a hopeful boast by former player turning out to be a prophetic rallying cry.

The Bucks became the fifth team to win the NBA Finals after trailing 2-0.

Kapitz steps back from coaching after 3 decades

He led spring baseball team to only state appearance in 1996

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Dan Kapitz is stepping away from coaching baseball after three decades at Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School.

Kapitz began coaching in 1991 and wrapped up his 30th WIAA spring season — 31 seasons if you include the spring of 2020 season that was lost to the coronavirus pandemic — this past spring.

Over that timeframe, Kapitz also coached at the Legion, Babe Ruth and Little League levels.

“It probably was 30 years,” said Kapitz, when asked of the reasoning behind him stepping down as coach. “You just know when it’s time. Your mindset gets to the point where you’re ready to move on and do other things.”

“I’ve got my own kids; two of them are getting married within the next year. There was just a lot going on, and it was a good transitional time for me to be done.”

Kapitz felt confident stepping down now with assistant coaches in place for the Legion team this summer. Jason Rieck is coaching the Legion team.

While thinking back on his many years of coaching, Kapitz noted the biggest change he’s seen is how players nowadays are being pulled in several directions. “It’s straining on them,” said Kapitz, who added that four-year players were a big part of his baseball teams.

Over his 30 years as the spring coach, Kapitz has plenty of fond memories.

His greatest memory came during the 1996 season, when Kapitz guided Witt-Birn to the state title game.

“That state team I had sticks out, obviously,” said Kapitz. “It was probably not the most talented team I had, but we really played well from about midseason on. We finished off that year 16-7. Come tournament time, we played really well.”

“We beat some teams that — I still look back and say, ‘How were we playing those teams?’ We beat Hortonville. We beat West De Pere, and those are pretty big Division 1 schools right now. We lost in the state title game to Sauk Prairie, who is now a Division 1 school. At the time we were much bigger too, but it was a really good ball team and actually it was a young ball team. I had some really good sophomores.”

Those sophomores helped Kapitz and Witt-Birn to sectional appearances in 1997 and 1998.

Another neat feat for Kapitz was coaching three second generation players this past spring — Bryce Zoromski (son of Scott), Chase Krull (son of Corey) and Ian Salvesen (son of Matt). Kapitz also got the chance to coach his sons, Matt and Nick, and many of their friends.

When thinking about what the future might hold, Kapitz didn’t want to commit to being done coaching baseball forever.

“That’s the part I’m not sure about yet,” said Kapitz. “Right now, just stepping back completely is the right thing to do. And then in the future, if I feel that need or have that urge to do some more coaching — I loved coaching, I still love coaching. It’s just that when you’re ready to move on to something different, whatever that might be, you’re ready. So yeah, I can’t say right now.”

Dan Kapitz looks on during the team’s Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division game against Shioc-ton on April 29 in Wittenberg. Kapitz stepped down as the spring coach after 30 seasons.

TINA BACON

In the meantime, he plans to support the baseball teams as a spectator, although he admitted it might be tough to do at first after coaching every season since he moved to the area.

One thing Kapitz will continue to do for about the next year is some work with the Wittenberg Baseball Renovation Fund, in which his wife, Kelly, also plays a large role.

Most of the fund’s work was done on the downtown village diamond, including installing a new scoreboard and fence and painting the buildings. He said he is grateful for generous donations made by the Village of Wittenberg.

Kapitz added that he feels good about the work that’s already been done and is “putting some finishing touches on our part” before handing the reins over to someone else.

Witt-Birn's Fraaza named to all-state team

Shawano's Gull, Bonduel's Thompson, Witt-Birn's Duranceau earn all-district honors

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Four area high school players earned honors from the Wisconsin Fastpitch Softball Coaches Association recently.

Wittenberg-Birnamwood seniors Abi Fraaza and Jasmin Duranceau, Shawano junior Margo Gull and Bonduel freshman Hailee Thompson were the players recognized for their strong play this spring.

Fraaza earned a pair of honors, the highest being a spot on the all-state honorable mention team in the small schools classification (Division 3-5). The Chargers' shortstop was a first-team player on the District 2 small school list.

"It was very special to be nominated for that and to be able to finally play again with having to take a season off," said Fraaza. "It was so much fun making it to sectional finals with my teammates, and I couldn't have asked for a better year."

Fraaza, who was also the Player of the Year in the Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division, earned the honors after posting a .417 batting average for the season. Nine of her 20 hits went for extra bases, and she drove in 17 runs.

The senior also scored 22 runs and stole 13 bases. Adding in nine walks, she had an on-base percentage of .517.

Duranceau landed on the District 2 honorable mention list in her final high school season.

Duranceau was the Chargers' primary pitcher, posting a 2.26 earned run average for the season. She struck out 42 batters and walked just eight hitters. At the plate, the senior drove in 10 runs on 12 hits.

"It's a huge honor, and it feels amazing to be recognized for my hard work," said Duranceau. "It was a great season, and I couldn't have accomplished this without my teammates and coaches."

Gull made the first team on the District 2 large school list.

Gull posted a .400 batting average in her junior season, also scoring 17 runs.

The Shawano outfielder stole 14 bases and also recorded 11 RBIs.

"It is very special to me, earning a spot on the first team in the district. It really makes me feel good knowing that the hard work I put in is also being noticed by others," said Gull. "Earning this makes me excited for my senior softball season and to keep putting in the hard work which will pay off."

Thompson joined Duranceau on the District 2 honorable mention list.

The Bonduel freshman finished the season with a .407 batting average. She played shortstop for the Bears.

"I feel like it definitely shows that all the hard work you put in will result in great things," said Thompson.

"Teammates, coaches and family helped paved the way for me to reach this goal. It helps me strive to want to continue to grow and get a higher achievement next year and so forth. I definitely wouldn't have been able to get this award without God by my side allowing me to play this amazing sport!"

Seth Pevey serves up an intriguing mystery thriller from New Orleans

JAN JONES

Too late I found that Seth Pevey's "Casket Girls" was his fourth in the Herbert and Melancon series of mystery thrillers. That made it a little confusing, but very interesting.

Casket girls got their name from a mispronunciation of their little suitcases – cassettes. They were brought to New Orleans as potential brides.

Felix Herbert is wealthy but is a private detective. David Melancon is a retired NOLA police detective. Fearing he'll end up like so many retired officers, David has joined Felix's firm.

Tina Green is Felix's girlfriend.

She's only in her early 20s but has a painful past that she refuses to discuss. Tina relates to the men she sees outside of St. Benedict's soup kitchen. One of them is Lonnie Comier, a combat veteran and drug addict with a devoted black lab, Pinot.

Tina knows that the homeless sometimes disappear, but she is concerned when Pinot shows up without Lonnie. It takes a little convincing to get Felix and David to agree to check with the men at St. Benedict's.

Once inside they are confronted by an Ursuline nun who recognizes Tina from her time at the Ursuline orphanage and makes hurtful comments. After questioning the men with no results, the detective's sense that there is something very wrong going on at the soup kitchen.

They get a break when Jim agrees to give them information if they will get his ancient typewriter repaired. Then he immediately types out descriptions of 11 men who have disappeared. All were homeless drug addicts who ate at the soup kitchen.

A little more digging directs them to tunnels beneath the massive statue of Simone Bolivar where many of the men sleep. They find is a small shrine to St. Benedict. Somehow that shrine is a link to the disappearances.

girlfriend Detective Janine a copy of their descriptions. The dead man matches number six. He has more drugs than blood in his system and was covered with a fine layer of sugar.

On a hunch, Felix and Malancon take a tour of the old Ursuline convent where the casket girls were housed until marriage. They sneak off to the third floor and find a little case filled with letters.

Felix steals one letter and discovers that the girls were suffering from a blood condition. Blood transfusions didn't exist back then, so they were often forced to drink blood to get the elements their bodies needed. Thus, the rumors of vampires.

Suddenly the situation makes sense. Someone at St Benedict's is snatching homeless men and removing their blood. While Malancon watches a ruined sugar refinery, Tina and Felix return to St. Benedict's. He questions Jim while Tina confronts the priest in the confessional. Suddenly, Tina disappears.

With help from Jim, Felix finds a hidden door and tunnels leading out. Meanwhile Pinot has led Malancon to a ruined sugar plant. Felix convinced them Tina is being held inside, but where?

Knowing that the police are at least an hour away, Felix and Malancon attempt a rescue and manage to save both Tina and Lonnie as well as capture the former Ursuline nun who was behind the whole mess. Malancon gets her to confess that she was using the blood to save her son, who suffered from the same condition as the casket girls. She felt that using the homeless served a higher purpose.

NTC announces new associate degree programs

Beginning in fall 2021, students at Northcentral Technical College (NTC) can select from three new degree programs created in response to growing job markets and the needs of current and prospective students.

Applications are now being accepted for new programs in data analytics, law enforcement in the 21st century and veterinary technician. Both data analytics and law enforcement in the 21st century are offered 100% online through NTC's most flexible option, virtual college.

"Each new program is taught by experts in their field who use the latest technologies in the classroom," said Darren Ackley, vice president for learning. "Students can expect a high-tech, high-quality education."

For information or to apply, visit www.ntc.edu or call 715-803-1645.

"When we develop new degree programs, we focus on quality, accessibility and cost," said Ackley. "This student-centered design gives learners the opportunity to develop the skills they need to be successful when it's convenient for them in an affordable manner."

The data analytics program is designed to prepare learners to map, interpret and strategically use data as it is used across several sectors. Students will identify data patterns and relationships, map data across different sources, create databases and reports, apply statistical tools, practice problem solving and strategic thinking, and utilize technology to meet tactical objectives related to data.

The college estimates the average starting salary for a person with such a degree is $31,200-$42,432. Potential occupations include data architect, database developer, database consultant, information modeling engineer specialist, data administrator, or data warehouse analyst.

The law enforcement in the 21st century program is designed for actively employed public safety professionals, including but not limited to police officers, corrections officers and dispatchers who wish to earn a degree to further their career.

CMN offers sustainable ag degree program

The College of Menominee Nation has created a new Bachelor of Science program for sustainable agriculture.

The program is an extension of the Associate of Arts and Sciences Natural Resources program at CMN.

The focus of this new program centers on sustainability among Indigenous nations and communities. Although not a commonly used term, "food sovereignty" has gained local interest. The need to address food-related issues and general community interest in learning about traditional foods, gardening and improved wellness through relationships with the natural environment stems from community input sessions held in 2015 and 2016. In 2019, CMN faculty and staff began working on the development of this program.

Sustainable agriculture is about addressing issues of land sovereignty, natural systems, government policies, ancient to modern technologies, economics, and human biological and social systems. Upon completion, graduates will be resilient and creative with the ability to think critically, communicate and enhance the lives of those in Indigenous communities and beyond.

Degree holders in this program can be self-employed or seek employment in agricultural production, food and nutrition, natural resources and other areas. In addition, they may continue with their higher education enrolling in a graduate program.

Any associate degree graduates in natural resources from CMN and other accredited institutions are encouraged to apply for the upcoming Fall 2021 semester.

Competitive scholarships covering tuition and fees are available for the first year of the program. To learn more, contact Luis Ortiz, enrollment manager, at 715-799-5600, ext. 3065, or lortiz@menominee.edu.

OPINION

Package different, essentials stay the same

The first newscast I ever delivered on the radio was 18 minutes long, including the commercials. I started reading at 7:37 a.m. after Paul Harvey News and Comment, and I filled the time until the 7:55 a.m. ABC newscast.

Nowadays, a radio newscast runs about three minutes, if the station carries news at all. I remember playing audio clips that ran 30-40 seconds. Today's sound bites are in the neighborhood of 10.

The first comic book I ever bought cost me 10 cents and was 32 pages long, including the ads. Twenty years earlier, that dime would have bought 64 pages; 10 years earlier, it was 48. The last one I saw for sale was still 32 pages but it was priced around $3.99, and the pages were narrower than they'd been in 1961.

When I started my first job at a supermarket, we stocked the shelves with 3-pound cans of coffee. Now those cans hold about 2 pounds and a fraction. Remember half-gallon packs of ice cream? They're a quart and a half these days.

Stuff changes. It gets shorter, more expensive, smaller or all of the above.

The reasons are almost always economic: The businesses raise the price to cover their rising costs, or they reduce the size of the product so they can hold the price steady.

When DC Comics raised the price of their books to 12 cents, they ran a full-page text ad to explain why. I still remember appreciating that explanation.

This newspaper isn't what it was even a few years ago. The Shawano Leader is a weekly. It shares about half of its content with the Oconto County Times Herald and Wittenberg-Birnamwood Enterprise-News; the other half is unique to each community.

The reasons are economic, of course. The semi-merged papers began as an emergency reaction to the pandemic-related business lockdowns. Advertisers ordered to close their doors had no need to buy ads. Our choices were to go smaller or go away.

Businesses are reopening and rebuilding, and so are we, but some of those advertisers are struggling to recover and others did not survive. So it's hard to say when or if the papers will become separate entities again. We consider ourselves fortunate to be among the survivors, especially since the newspaper business had already been shrinking for more than a decade.

We've adapted, too, of course. The local news and sports you used to see in your daily paper is now posted online at www.newmedia-wi.com every day. The local news and sports you used to wait to see in the weekly papers is now available every day.

The staff is smaller than it was, partly because of economics and partly because it's not easy to find help in these times. We're working on that. Know any good reporters looking for a change? Send them our way.

What hasn't changed is the commitment of the people who are still here turning out the news and sports for you. These are our communities, and we're here to tell their stories — the triumphs and the tragedies and the beauty and the warts and all.

The package is different, but there's still stuff here that you won't find anywhere else.

Boy, do we appreciate that you've stuck with us through all of what the past year — years — have brought. Thank you for every news tip, ad, subscription or single-copy purchase. Thank you for talking with friends about the stories you see here. Heck, thank you for complaining, because complaints mean you care enough to let us know what we can do better.

I hope I've helped you understand why we're smaller and don't cost a dime anymore. I hope I've reassured you that our mission hasn't changed. I hope you'll stick around and help us tell our community's amazing story together.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Evers puts money back in for public schools

To the editor:

This past year, students and their families, schools and educators had to sacrifice so much. The one-time $2.3 billion in federal funding from the American Rescue Plan was meant to help public schools recover. However, the funding was not meant to relieve the state of its responsibility. By law, federal funding will not be received by any legislature that fails to increase education funding by at least $387 million over the next two years.

The original Republican supported 2021-2023 budget sent to Gov. Tony Evers cut his budget to $128 million, thus putting the federal aid in jeopardy. The governor, who cares deeply about education, did not want Wisconsin lose the federal funding. Therefore, he used his constitutional authority to revise the budget adding $100 million in recovery funds to invest in Wisconsin's classrooms.

Districts will now be able to use these funds for non-pandemic-related expenses such as hiring educators and staff, providing additional educational or mental health supports or buying computers.

This is such a breath of fresh air after Wisconsin had been ranked 49th in the nation for per-pupil education investment increases. Over the past decade, Wisconsin's investment in K-12 per pupil spending had increased a measly 4.3% compared to 18.9% nationwide. The Joint Committee on Finance had a chance to change that in the 2021-23 budget, but it took the governor to prioritize our children and their education.

In the past, the state of Wisconsin had one of the best public school systems in the nation. Part of this was due to state funding which provided two-thirds of the cost. For two decades, this has not been the case, and the local taxpayers have had to support their school districts. This made it difficult for many rural school districts to provide a quality education. Thanks to Evers, the 2021-23 biennial budget provides roughly $685 million in additional net general and categorical school aids. This funding restores the state's commitment to providing two-thirds of the cost.

There will be $89 million that the governor put into reimbursement for students with disabilities and $19 million in school mental health programs. These services had been drastically underfunded.

As a retired educator, it is heartening and a relief to see our state putting money back into the education of our children.

Jan Koch, Shawano

Don't be duped by label 'Product of the USA'

As we headed into the Independence Day weekend, many families fired up the grill and celebrated with burgers and steaks cooked to sizzling perfection or, in sadder cases, charred to an unrecognizable blackened blob. Whether you're one of the lucky folks feasting on a grillmaster's handiwork or instead find yourself chomping on charred protein, will you know where the beef on your plate originated?

After seeing store shelves stripped bare during the COVID-19 lockdown, many consumers have become more conscious of the fragility in the U.S. food supply. Interest in buying locally surged, which is why many customers reach for beef with the label "Product of the USA" in the cooler. Many, understandably, will think that in doing so, they're supporting U.S. farmers and buying beef from cattle that are born and raised in the USA.

Unfortunately, that's where the disconnect lies.

Sometimes that meat is actually from animals that never took a breath in America. Currently, meat can have a "Product of the USA" label slapped on even if it was imported and only repackaged at a U.S. Department of Agriculture-inspected facility.

I think that's bologna. Thankfully, so does the National Farmers Union (NFU), and they've raised concerns about it, alongside ranchers and farm organizations from throughout the country.

Those efforts may be paying off. On July 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced it would conduct a "top-to-bottom review" of the "Product of the USA" label.

This is good news for farmers and ranchers who know how the label tricks customers into thinking beef and pork is truly an American product even in cases where it was born, raised and slaughtered in another country.

This isn't just a problem for consumers — it hurts farmers who can't differentiate their product while trying to survive against the competing powers of multinational corporations.

My family raises beef cattle in northwestern Wisconsin. We have marketed cattle through conventional channels but are shifting to direct marketing to family, friends and neighbors. The switch was spurred partly by our frustration at deceptive labeling and how, when marketed through traditional avenues, the beef from our animals — born and raised here in Wisconsin — has no edge in the marketplace over imports that are pouring into our country from places like Brazil, Mexico and Canada.

The fact that our government allows the stamp of "Product of the USA" on meat from an animal that never set a hoof on American soil should give us all pause. This loophole is slowly and painfully pushing American farmers out of business.

Over the past few decades, the U.S. has experienced a concerning level of consolidation in agriculture. Four major meatpacking companies — Cargill, Tyson, JBS and National Beef — now control over 85% of the American beef market. In turn, farmers have incredibly little control over the slim margin they receive. For example, that top sirloin steak that averages $9.99 a pound? According to NFU's tracking of USDA data, the farmer's share is $1.90. Misleading labels exacerbate these already difficult market conditions.

Still, farmers are out here rolling the dice. Many of us play the game because we feel a strong tie to the land and a desire to protect it for future generations. We believe that, in a world where something as clear-cut as "Product of the USA" is being watered down, it's important for there to be family farmers — and organizations like Farmers Union — safeguarding our supply chain and providing an alternative to this sad status quo that has become the American food system.

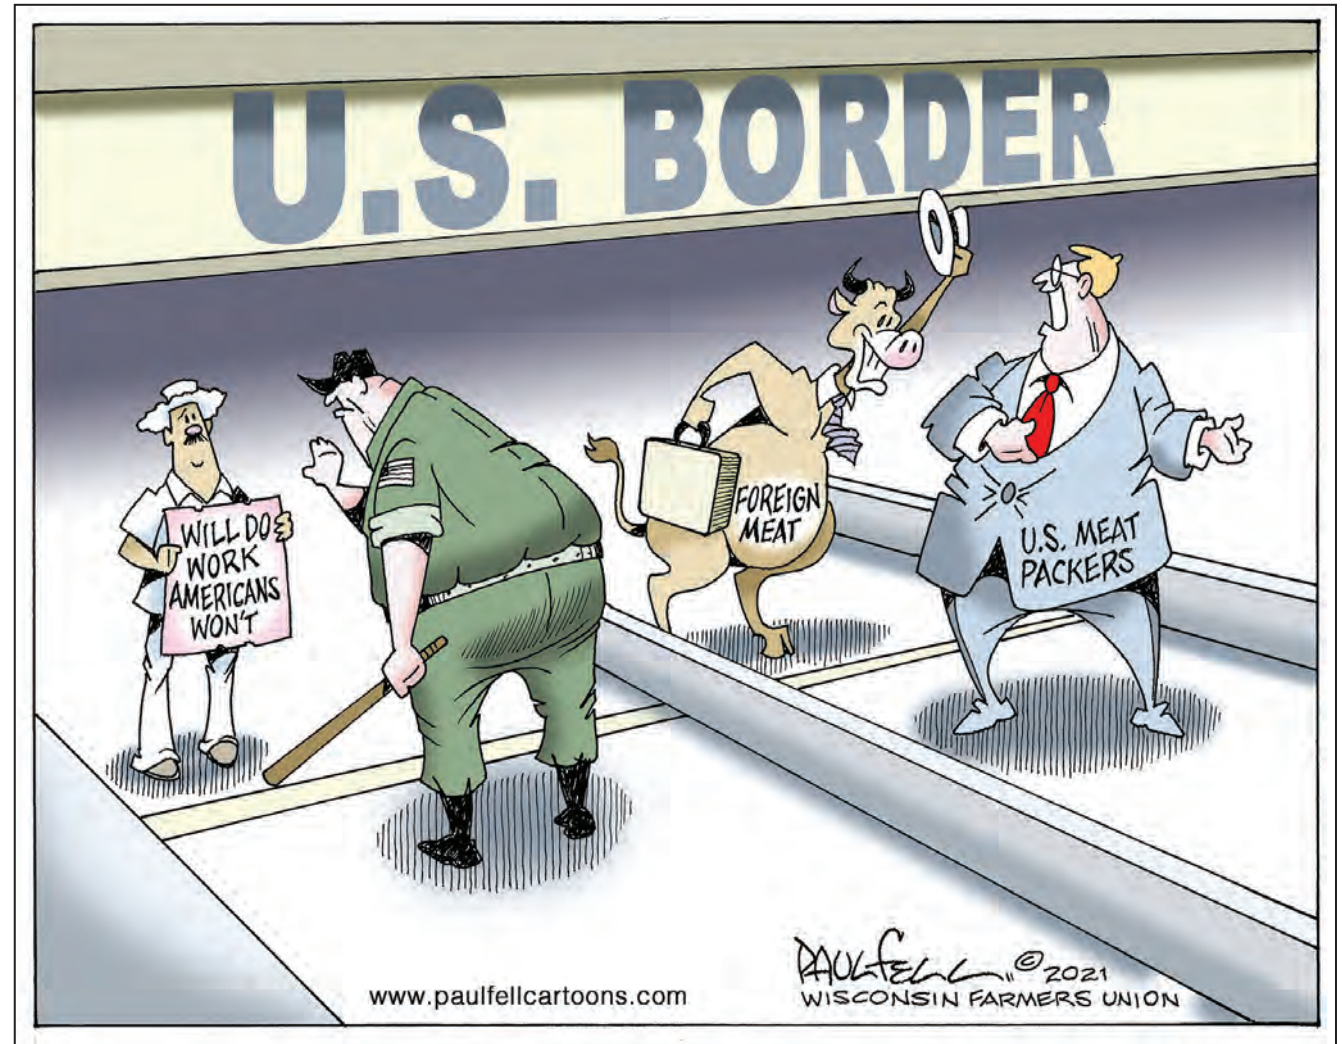

As NFU President Rob Larew noted earlier this week, "American consumers deserve to know where their meat comes from. Whether they want to keep their food dollar in their community, limit their food miles or avoid unsustainable or unethical practices, there are many reasons why someone would want to know what country their meat was raised in. But as things stand, there's no way to determine the origin of beef and pork since the wildly deceptive 'Product of the USA' label can appear on meat that spent its entire life in another country."

Farmers Union, along with the U.S. Cattlemen's Association, was a vocal advocate of Country-of-Origin Labeling for meat, but the World Trade Organization deemed the labeling discriminatory against Mexican and Canadian cattle and Congress repealed the law. Yet we do label country-of-origin for many other products like lamb, fruits and vegetables, and clothing. Why should beef and pork be different — other than the lobbying power of those oligopolies? It seems that the rights of other countries have risen above the right of Americans to know the origins of their food.

Please educate yourself and join in the efforts to remedy this deeply flawed labeling loophole. It's purely common sense that the "Product of the USA" label be reserved only for meat products derived exclusively from animals born, raised, slaughtered and processed in the United States. You know, for products actually of the USA.

Danielle Endvick is the communications director for Wisconsin Farmers Union, a grassroots organization committed to enhancing the quality of life for family farmers, rural communities and all people through educational opportunities, cooperative endeavors and civic engagement. She raises beef cattle on her family's Runamuck Ranch in Chippewa County.

CMN's new president explains leadership philosophy

"Netaenawemakanak" translates to "all my relations" in Menominee. College of Menominee Nation's new president, Christopher Caldwell, also sees it as the school's obligation.

Caldwell, an enrolled Menominee tribal member, told me: "I understand the term goes beyond my family relations to community relations and non-human relations. Our responsibility is sharing what we've learned with the Menominee people, but also with our Indigenous and non-Indigenous relatives who want to learn from us and take that knowledge back to their own communities."

Before becoming the third president in CMN's history, Caldwell served as the director of the college's Sustainable Development Institute helping to foster local, national and international conversations grounded in Indigenous knowledge. Caldwell explained that SDI's mission is grounded in reflection and dissemination.

"Some see sustainability as a nebulous concept with no local application, but we approach the concept by looking locally and then expanding upward," he said. "That philosophical concept was not difficult to carry over to the president's office."

Caldwell has already demonstrated how this theory could be put into practice in the school's executive office. While he assumed the presidency on July 1, Caldwell has served as the interim president since February 2020. From the get-go, he has looked to the teachings of his people for guidance — particularly, the Menominee practice of diplomacy as a strength of his nation.

"It's practical because it draws from the past, is vision-orientated and steers the nation forward as we address and deal with the uncertainty that will always be there," Caldwell said.

Caldwell noted that during his tenure the school had to contend with "COVID, cyber-attacks and adherence to health and safety protocols while ensuring the quality of the Christopher Caldwell is the third president for the College of Menominee Nation, having served in an interim capacity since February 2020 before being named permanently to the position. Caldwell is continuing his work on sustainability — having served as the director for CMN's Sustainable Development Institute — by having the college offer degrees in sustainable agriculture and interdisciplinary studies in sustainability.

education experience."

"We've been able to turn COVID into an empowerment, as we've created opportunities to address longstanding funding inequities amongst mainstream and tribal colleges," he said.

In the past year alone, CMN has invested in a learning management platform, funded the training of faculty, upgraded classrooms at both their Keshena and Green Bay campuses and purchased laptops and portable hotspots for students to use to complete coursework remotely.

Caldwell emphasized: "We didn't just move online. We created a quality experience that in itself provides exciting opportunities of connecting with other communities."

CMN has also progressed towards expanding its degree options. This fall, the school will begin offering courses in a new sustainable agriculture baccalaureate degree, and its new interdisciplinary studies in sustainability bachelor's is slated to begin in 2022.

Still, Caldwell is looking beyond CMN's immediate future, as was evident in his titling the public lecture that resulted in his hiring "Omaeqnomenewak Maec-kaehkinuhamati-wikamek, Pursuing the Best Path for the Next Seven Generations." Caldwell recognized the potential in the school he now leads.

"CMN is a vital center for relationships connected to language revitalization," he said. "We have resources for high school students and Native students, and we offer a unique experience rooted in a tribal context. We are open to adult learners who want to start or restart their college careers, and our programs offer growth potential through learning by doing."

Caldwell speaks from experience, as he earned his associate's degree in sustainable development from CMN, before earning a bachelor's in natural resources at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a master's degree in environmental science and policy from UW-Green Bay.

"CMN gave me my voice," Caldwell reflected. "It allowed me to expand what I knew, and it pushed me to talk in front of groups."

Currently, Caldwell is also a Ph.D. candidate in environment and resources at UW-Madison's Nelson Institute. He stated, "I'm focusing on Indigenous research methodology, tribal forestry and sustainability science. I'm deepening my understanding and connecting it to a broader understanding of Indigenous responsibility and leadership."

He reflected, "The act of going through the program has been transformational."

Transformations are something Caldwell takes to heart.

"I see my journey as arcs in a circle — community member, adjunct faculty member, administrator and, now, as president," he said.

While these arcs are unique to Caldwell, they provide evidence of the potential he sees for all of his relations.

"Some see sustainability as a nebulous concept with no local application, but we approach the concept by looking locally and then expanding upward. That philosophical concept was not difficult to carry over to the president's office."

New school year just around the corner

Greetings and welcome to the start of the 2021-22 school year. It is with great anticipation and excitement for the new school year that I hope this letter finds you in.

GARRETT ROGOWSKI

We are eagerly looking forward to getting back to school as we have known it to be, with all the opportunities and events that our students take part in and that our district and communities embrace.

As we prepare for the arrival of our students, many upgrades are currently taking place throughout the district in our buildings and grounds with the intent to provide them with an even more engaging experience.

New playground structures have been added to both of the elementary schools, new LED lighting put in place in all of our hallways and corridors, remodeled and new bathroom facilities have been completed at the high school and we have expanded our one-to-one chrome book resources to all students in grades 1-12. These are just some of the changes that have occurred over the course of the summer.

The 2021-22 school year calendar is available and can be downloaded from our school website. Our school days will be back to normal pickup and drop-off times, with the exception of most Fridays.

Students will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. on Fridays to allow for staff professional learning community time. On these days from 2:45 to 3:30 p.m., staff will work collaboratively on the generative and important work of assessing student performance, developing team plans designed to assist our students with additional support needed to close achievement gaps and come together as teams that take ownership of all our students' growth as both learners and productive citizens.

Finally, I hope that you are all finding time to enjoy the summer and spend much of it with those friends and family that you look forward to sharing your time with. It is so important to find that balance that allows us to be both productive and happy. Come Sept. 1, we will be ready here at Wittenberg-Birnhamwood schools to do just that for every child that walks through our doors.

Thank you for your continued support and partnership. Enjoy the rest of your summer and please don't hesitate to stop by or call if there is anything we can be of assistance with.

Garrett Rogowski is the superintendent of the Wittenberg-Birnhamwood School District. Readers can contact him at 715-253-2213 or grogowski@wittbirn.k12.wi.us.

Wittenberg-Birnhamwood Notice of 3 Year Old Screening School Visit

The Wittenberg-Birnhamwood School District will be holding a 3 Year Old Screening School Visit on Tuesday, August 24, 2021 and Wednesday, August 25, 2021. Screening will be from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. both days and will be held at the Wittenberg Elementary School.

The 3 Year Old Screening School Visit is an opportunity for young children to come to school and experience play with story and project times. School staff will play and interact with children while looking at development skills. Parents have an opportunity to meet other parents and talk to school staff about any questions or concerns. Development information and fun ideas of ways to play and learn with your child at home will be available.

Information will be sent out to families with 3 year olds that the school district is aware of from the census. If you have a child that will be 3 years old by September 1, 2021 and did not receive any information by Monday, August 10, 2021, please call Joy at the District Office at 715-253-2213.
