Schmidt disputes Retzlaff claims of voter fraud

Clerk claims 'so much misinformation' regarding elections, equipment

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

A campground owner who is being charged in connection with a 2021 high-speed chase in Menominee and Shawano counties is now claiming Shawano County's elections are rigged, and the county clerk is fighting back against those claims.

Ann Retzlaff, owner of Annie's Campground in Gresham, has sent a number of emails to NEW Media, 25 of the 27 county supervisors, Sheriff Adam Bieber, Shawano School Board member Mart Grams and others claiming that every county "flipped votes." She further claimed that Shawano County flipped 1,872 votes in the November 2020 presidential election that were cast for Donald Trump to Joe Biden.

"The idea was that no one would notice because Shawano is a red county anyway," Retzlaff wrote in a Feb. 18 email sent at 5:34 p.m., "but if all 72 counties flipped 1,800 votes, then what does that look like in the end game? How does this fraud impact the entire Republic of the United States?"

Shawano County Clerk Pam Schmidt replied to the email on Feb. 21 at 9:40 a.m., which was also sent to NEW Media, claiming that she has responded to more than 10 emails from Retzlaff and provided her with factual information in response to questions regarding the elections and the election equipment.

"In the link that you provided, it indicates that Trump had 16,111 votes and 'the big lie' according to that link was that 15,173 were reported. The 15,173 votes were correct and that's what was reported to the state," Schmidt wrote. "I have checked the posts to the county website and there were no reports indicating that Trump ever received 16,111. It's just not true. There was no 'flipping of votes'."

Retzlaff also claims in her email that Schmidt, while being very helpful with her "informal investigation," told her that none of the county's voting machines are plugged into the internet.

ANN RETZLAFF

Retzlaff claimed that was not true, based on the manufacturer's user manual, and that all the machines have the capability for wireless internet.

"This means the machine(s) do not have to be plugged into the internet; anyone with wireless capability and the knowledge could potentially hack into each one of these machines to modify the vote," Retzlaff wrote. "These are not secure machines and are intentionally made this way."

Retzlaff also claims Schmidt claimed a voting irregularity where the voting machines might "tabulate more ballots than voters who came in to physically vote" only happened once and was fixed by technicians. Retzlaff questioned where a security and background check was done on the technicians and whether law enforcement escorted them to the machines and supervised them as they worked.

Schmidt disputes both the claim that the machines can be accessed from the outside and that there was any voting irregularity with the machines.

"I have stated to you many, many times that the voting machines are not plugged into the internet but you still indicated in the email below that they are," Schmidt wrote. "You also misquoted my answer to you in the case of more ballots than voters. I stated the case was with hand count ballots and no technicians were called to 'fix it.'"

Schmidt encouraged in her email that because "so much information" is being spread through Retzlaff's emails, anyone with questions about the elections should contact her office, the voting machine company Command Central or the Wisconsin Elections Commission to get answers.

"I have the utmost confidence in the local municipal clerks and their election inspectors ensuring that they are running their elections in a fair, honest and efficient manner," Schmidt wrote. "I also have confidence in the voting machines that we use in Shawano County and that votes are being tabulated correctly."

Retzlaff is also calling in her email for the elimination of the county government and claiming her "Shawano County Committee of Safety" should be called upon to uphold the laws.

"We end this complete usurpation of our County by abolishing all of it and starting over with our Shawano County Committee of Safety," Retzlaff wrote. "Our Committee of Safety is already Chartered, and we want to maintain a peaceful transfer of government for the people, by the people and maintain law and order."

Retzlaff is currently facing felony charges in Shawano-Menominee County Circuit Court for allegedly fleeing and eluding officers in May, along with two counts of second-degree recklessly endangering safety, as well as a misdemeanor count of resisting or obstructing an officer. She reportedly told police at the time that she was rescuing one of her employees from a sex trafficking house. She also faces misdemeanor charges through Menominee County for resisting and failing to stop.

A bench warrant was issued in November 2021 after Retzlaff skipped court, and Judge William Kussel Jr. ordered that the warrant be body-only, which means she cannot post bond. Kussel had issued a bench warrant in October when Retzlaff was also a no-show, but Retzlaff immediately posted the $4,500 bond. Retzlaff has not been arrested on the November warrant.

Among Retzlaff's other legal woes, she had restraining orders placed against her in April 2021 for harassing Shawano County Supervisor Joe Miller and his wife, Jackie Miller. In November 2020, a guilty verdict due to a no contest plea was entered against Retzlaff for a case where she made a phone call and claimed she was a sheriff's deputy.

NTC, UW-Stevens Point team up on liberal arts degrees

Northcentral Technical College and University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point have announced a new opportunity for local learners to earn their Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in liberal arts.

The approval for a new liberal arts transfer program between the institutions was granted by the University of Wisconsin System Board of Regents at its Feb. 11 meeting.

The liberal arts degrees prepare students to enter the bachelor's degree programs at UW-Stevens Point with junior status. Students transferring to UW-Stevens Point will meet the general education requirements of UW-Stevens Point. Courses will be offered in a variety of modalities to meet learner needs.

"We know that NTC students desire to transfer to UW-Stevens Point, and we are thrilled to be able to provide this seamless pathway for them," said NTC President Jeannie Worden. "This agreement ensures learners have the opportunity to obtain their baccalaureate degree locally and local employers have access to the skilled workforce they need."

"Students are the clear winners with these partnerships," said UW-Stevens Point Chancellor Thomas Gibson. "Each of our institutions has an important role in our communities. As strong partners in our communities' success, UW-Stevens Point and NTC are committed to meeting the needs of our students and their families and enhancing opportunities for all residents."

Working collaboratively, UW-Stevens Point and NTC will provide affordable, accessible pathways to bachelor's degrees while positively contributing to Wisconsin's statewide attainment goal for 60% of Wisconsin adults to hold a postsecondary credential by 2027. The collaborative degree program contains elements designed to focus on career pathways and to enhance student success.

"Access to an onsite UW-Stevens Point adviser is an added value that will help NTC students get further faster toward their degree progress, either immediately or down the road," said Gibson. "It will make the transition smoother to UW-Stevens Point campuses in Wausau, Marshfield or Stevens Point to complete a bachelor's degree."

The partnership benefits the entire region by creating additional avenues for residents to pursue careers without leaving north central Wisconsin. Students seeking to start or advance their careers now have more options close to home.

"We recognize that current NTC students and NTC alumni will benefit from this partnership," said Worden. "As Wisconsin's employers continually demand a better educated, more nimble workforce that can adapt to changing demands, we are excited to partner with UW-Stevens Point to provide educational opportunities that retain talent in north central Wisconsin and support our local economy."

Noriega-Avila again denied bond reduction

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Pedro Noriega-Avila was again denied a request to reduce the total bond amount when he appeared before Shawano-Menominee County Circuit Court Judge William Kussel Jr. on Feb. 17.

Noriega-Avila remains in jail on a $500,000 cash bond.

Noriega-Avila faces one count of first-degree child sexual assault of a child under age 13, two counts of sexual assault with someone under age faces a maximum of 40 years in prison and $100,000 fine for each of the 16 and two counts of incest with a child by a stepparent. The case is from 2016, but he was a fugitive until he was caught in April 2021 by the U.S. Border Patrol trying to go to Mexico.

PEDRO

incest and the latter two sexual assault counts. For the child sexual assault in 2010, he faces up to 60 years in prison.

The criminal complaint states that Noriega-Avila allegedly went into his stepdaughter's room between September 2009 and June 2010 and assaulted her. It goes on to say that additional incidents occurred in 2014 and 2015. Noriega-Avila married the victim's mother on July 9, 2010.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Kaupie told Kussel that his office opposes any modification to the bond and pointed out that the lengthy prison sentence Noriega-Avila faces is an indicator he will flee again, according to court records. Kaupie also said that the defendant has filed the same motion three times already, claiming he needed to get out and work so he could afford an attorney, since one has not been made available by the public defender's office.

Noriega-Avila did not make a statement at the Feb. 17 hearing.

Kussel scheduled a status conference for 8:30 a.m. on March 17.

WBHS students building projects for community

Projects include bowling pin holder, log splitters

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

This is not your typical boys-only shop class. Today's demand for skilled workers is shifting the way Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School presents technical education classes, providing a win-win for students and the community.

Waylon Resch, a Witt-Birn tech ed teacher, also advises Wittenberg Manufacturing — a student-run enterprise that helps fill the manufacturing needs of local business owners and community members.

"We get projects that customers bring in for us to build," Resch said. "My role is to teach along as the students build the project."

Whether the need is for something to be fixed or something new created, ranging from boat docks to power tools, Resch encourages others in the community to use Wittenberg Manufacturing for the resource it is.

"Students have to apply to be here," Resch said, adding that Wittenberg Manufacturing is run more like business than a high school course. "They have to be interviewed and then accepted. This really opens them up to what the manufacturing field looks like."

As a result, graduates of the program have been successful in landing professional jobs in manufacturing, Resch said.

One Witt-Birn senior, Alexa Chaney, is involved with the class this trimester. Her project consisted of building a bowling pin holder for Resch Lanes.

"I just cut them out, bent them and right now they are down hanging at the bowling alley, hanging their extra pins," said Chaney.

She said that the process was not always smooth, and she was forced to come up with creative solutions along the way.

"It was a huge process, a huge mess," recalled Chaney. "I moved to the computer and drew up a design, where I transferred it to the programming machine and measured it all out. I bent it up and made it all work."

Chaney said that she is unsure whether she'll continue to pursue manufacturing work after graduation.

"I have thought about doing something like this in the future," said Chaney. "I don't know that I would want to sit in a shop all day, but for now I am enjoying it."

It was her dad, she said, who first got her interested in learning some skills in technical education.

"My dad introduced it to me when I was young," said Chaney. "Freshman year I took a shop class, and ever since I have been taking all of the shop classes."

Chaney's story is not unique. In fact, Resch said he's noticed an increase over the years in the number of girls who were starting to take the class.

"This is not a male-dominated industry anymore," said Resch. "A lot of my best welders this year have been female. I try to show that off because it makes students happy to know that they can do this and that others can as well. It is so exciting to watch them dominate at this."

Not all the accolades go to the girls. Juniors Keagan Nousen and John Hoffman recently took home first place in the Central Wisconsin Manufacturing Alliance welding competition. For Wittenberg Manufacturing, the pair has been creating wood splitters.

"We made three right away, because it is easier to make multiple rather than having to start from scratch every time you want another one," said Hoffman. "Hopefully we can sell some to make some money."

Nousen said that they started with metal tubes, made blueprints, made cuts and welded the pieces together. Both added that working on real-life projects in high school can only benefit them down the road.

"Experience is the big thing," said Hoffman.

"This can really show us what it is like if we want to do something in the future," added Nousen.

Since the welding competition, both Hoffman and Nousen said that they have used what they learned to improve their skills.

"We have done a lot of projects this year," said Hoffman. "Once you get welding, you just get used to what you have to do."

"With all of the stuff that we had been doing, we have been experiencing a lot of different settings and techniques," said Nousen.

As the class continues, Nousen and Hoffman hope that more people from the community come out of the woodwork and ask for projects so they can hone their skills in a variety of areas.

"We had a couple of guys ask for wood splitters, so we put them together," said Nousen. "I think switching it up and doing different things would benefit us more than doing the same thing over and over."

Resch said that having the opportunity to teach students about real-life concepts is rewarding.

"The best comparison that I can make is this is like a proud father moment," said Resch. "Being a father, I know how awesome it can be to see kids succeeding at something."

All three students thanked Resch for his involvement in the class. Resch added that if anyone has any materials to donate or needs anything fixed, they should definitely call the high school.

"If we have to scrap any materials, we sell it and it goes right back into the program," said Resch. "What I love is that we are self-sustaining."

Facebook panel discussion looks at health care fraud

Wisconsin Medicare beneficiaries, their families and caregivers are invited to a Facebook Live event focused on learning how to prevent, detect and report Medicare fraud, abuse and errors.

The virtual one-hour event, hosted by Wisconsin Senior Medicare Patrol, will be held on Thursday, March 3 at 11 a.m. A recording will be available for anyone to view after the event. Anyone can view the webinar on the agency's Facebook page, www.facebook.com/WisconsinSeniorMedicarePatrol.

"When Medicare recipients, their families and caregivers are more informed, they are not powerless against fraud, abuse and errors," said Ingrid Kundering, project manager. "The Wisconsin Senior Medicare Patrol provides education, outreach and counseling services to reach as many Wisconsin Medicare beneficiaries as possible," she said, adding, "If you are touched by Medicare in any way, our virtual event on March 3 will be an excellent introduction to preventing, detecting and reporting Medicare issues."

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for people who are 65 or older and certain younger people with disabilities or permanent kidney failure. Over $60 billion a year is the estimated cost of Medicare fraud, abuse and errors. This cost is borne by Medicare recipients who are paying for services they may not need, or by having their medical identities stolen, and ultimately by all taxpayers. It can also put beneficiaries' health and welfare at risk. Kundering said the Facebook Live event will provide potential solutions to help mitigate these losses.

Kundering noted that updated information will be made available leading up to the virtual event on March 3. More information will be coming on the Wisconsin Senior Medicare Patrol Facebook page. Information is also available by calling the Wisconsin Senior Medicare Patrol's confidential, toll-free helpline, 888-818-2611.

The Wisconsin Senior Medicare Patrol program is housed at the Greater Wisconsin Agency on Aging Resources.

Super cheap smartphone plans for scrimping seniors

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you direct me to some really cheap wireless smartphone plans for seniors who don't use much data? I use my smartphone primarily for texting and talking but need some data for checking my email and a few other things when I'm away from Wi-Fi. Right now, I pay $30 per month but am looking for a better deal.

Senior Scrimper

offered through Boost Mobile (BoostMobile.com). For only $100 per year (or $8.33 per month) this plan provides unlimited talk, text and 1 gigabyte of 5G or 4G data each month. If you need more data, their $150 annual plan (or $12.50/month) gets you 5 GB.

Boost Mobile uses the T-Mobile and AT&T networks and lets you use your existing phone (if compatible) or buy a new one.

A third option to look into is Mint Mobile (MintMobile.com), which is recommended by Consumer Reports and has one of the best values for a cheap plan. Mint offers a $15 per month plan (plus taxes and fees) that provides unlimited talk and text, and 4 GB of 5G/4G data each month. They also use the T-Mobile network and will let you use your existing phone (if compatible) or buy a new one.

If your income is low enough, another option you should check into is the Lifeline Assistance Program. This is a federal program that provides a $9.25 monthly subsidy that could go toward your phone or internet service.

To qualify, you'll need to show that you're receiving certain types of government benefits such as Medicaid, SNAP (food stamps), SSI, public housing assistance, veterans' pension and survivors' benefit, or live on federally recognized Tribal lands. If your annual household income is at or below 135% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines — $17,388 for one person, or $23,517 for two — you're also eligible.

To check your eligibility or apply, visit LifelineSupport.org. If you do qualify, contact a wireless provider in your area that participates in the Lifeline program and sign up for service with them. You can also ask your current company to apply your Lifeline benefit to a service you are already getting, if it offers the benefit.

Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC "Today" show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book. Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.

Dear Scrimper,

There are several super cheap wireless providers I can recommend for older smartphone users who are looking to save money by paring down their cell phone plan. Here are three of the cheapest options available that you can switch to without sacrificing the quality of your service.

For extremely light smartphone data users, the very cheapest wireless plan available today is through Tello (Tello.com), which lets you build your own plan based on your needs or budget. For as little as $6 per month, you can get unlimited texting, 100 minutes of talk time and 500 megabytes of high-speed data. Increases in talk time or data can be added in $1 increments.

Tello uses the T-Mobile network and gives you the option to bring your existing phone or purchase a new device, while keeping your same phone number if you wish. If you want to keep your phone, it must be unlocked. Just enter your phone's ID (press *#06# on your keypad to get it) on Tello's website to make sure that it's compatible with the network.

Another super cheap plan to consider is the annual prepaid plan

Curtin new promoter for speedway, fairgrounds

Luepke reflects on his time at the position

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

A personnel change has affected the Shawano Speedway and the Shawano County Fairgrounds.

Brad Luepke, who was the marketing and promotions manager for the speedway and fairgrounds, moved on and Shawano resident Karly Curtin has taken over.

Curtin was born and raised in Shawano. After high school she graduated from University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh with a degree in journalism and public relations. Before this position, Curtin had most recently been employed at the North Star Mohican Casino and Resort, running their digital marketing.

She said that she applied for the marketing and promotions manager for the speedway and the fairgrounds, because of her familiarity with it, as well as to continue to build experience.

"I was pretty much raised around the racetrack," said Curtin. "My dad raced pretty much my whole life."

Spending a lot of her child and teenage years around the speedway and fairgrounds, Curtin said that the feeling of working here is a little odd.

"I always tell everyone that I never in a million years expected to be in this position," said Curtin. "I feel like it is perfect for me though, because one of my strengths is planning events and I will get a lot of opportunities to do that here. To be around people is what is most exciting to me."

She also added that this experience for her has been very humbling.

"It is rare that someone my age is ever put into this position," said Curtin, who is 26. "It is humbling to be in a position, much less a sport, that has been historically male dominated. I have always said that I hope younger girls can look at me and know that they can achieve whatever they set their mind to and be just as successful as males."

Curtin has been in this position since the start of the new year, where she has learned more about the position, as well as met many people. She said that in this position, there are a couple of goals that she wants to meet.

"My biggest thing at the speedway is the kids zone," said Curtin. "The reason I want to focus on it more is because of the memories that I made when I was growing up there. It is really important to get kids involved."

She added that she wants to build a stronger and more cohesive relationship with sponsors.

"I really want to make sure that we have a good relationship with them, because without them and the fans supporting the track, there wouldn't be a track," said Curtin. "Listening to what they want and being adaptable will help to strengthen those bonds."

Curtin said that her relationship with the community and speedway has meant everything to her.

"The fair has been here for 140 years, so I want to continue building that relationship between the speedway, fairgrounds and community, because of my experiences with them," said Curtin.

As for Luepke, he has enjoyed his time showcasing the fair and speedway.

"I was there for seven great years," said Luepke. "I met so many great racers and so many great fans."

Luepke said that this was a job that he was fully committed to for the last seven years.

"You are working seven days a week," said Luepke. "I loved my time there, though."

In this position, Luepke said that he handled sponsorships, promotions and managing awards, along with other duties.

"The list is about four pages long with everything I had to do," said Luepke. "You are definitely the jack-of-all-trades in that position."

He said that during his time there, he formed a lot of friendships and created a lot of memories that will last the rest of his life.

"Building Racing for a Reason was a big one for me," said Luepke. "That became an event where everybody marked on their calendar to be there. I will also have memories of meeting all of the fans, drivers and crews who became a second family to me."

Luepke pointed to finding another job and wanting to spend more time with his family as a reason why he left this position.

"I had another opportunity come, and my daughter graduated high school. That's where it hit me that I missed all of her proms, golf outings and graduations," said Luepke. "I did not want to miss my son's stuff, with him being a sophomore in high school. The biggest reason was to spend more time with my family."

According to Luepke, there were a couple of things that he learned during his time in this position.

"I learned about dedication and hard work, from those people who have been running the speedway and the fairgrounds," said Luepke. "They taught me what it means to be dedicated to one thing and the drive it takes to make something successful. That seven years was big in my life."

He said that he will use what he has learned from his seven years in this position to help him in his next.

"You learn to deal with a lot of different personalities," said Luepke. "I deal with a wide variety of people every day from all over the area. Learning how to deal with diverse people will help me at this new position."

Luepke extended his congratulations to Curtin and said that her background will be a huge success for the speedway and the fairgrounds.

"I think that having her with her background in marketing and racing will be a huge success for the speedway and the fairgrounds," said Luepke. "I think that the Shawano Speedway and the fairgrounds are in good hands."

Casimir Pulaski Days coming in March to northeast Wisconsin

For the past nine years, Promote Pulaski Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation, has helped to promote Pulaski by hosting the Casimir Pulaski Days event along with many businesses and organizations that have sponsored the event.

The festival will take place March 6-13. The committee is bringing back the Mollie B "Casimir Pulaski's Birthday Celebration" Virtual Polka Show at 6:30 p.m. March 6. A historic virtual bus tour of local bars in and around Pulaski, Wisconsin, "If These Bars Could Talk" will show at 6:30 p.m. March 9.

On March 11, Mountain Bay Bar will host the Wicka's Famous Polka

Jam Session from 2-6 p.m. and Casimir's Polka Party Dance from 7-11 p.m., featuring "Live Wire." There will be a $5 cover charge.

On March 12, the Scully's Historic Ballroom (formerly known as Zielinski's Historic Ballroom) will host the first-ever Concertina Swap Meet in the afternoon, and in the evening from 7-11 p.m., the Big Casimir Dance. There will be basket raffles and special performances by the youngest talent in Pulaski, Zander's Music rayMakers, along with the featured IPA Tribute Band from Chicago, Illinois. Admission is $15 for adults, but anyone under 18 gets in free.

Promote Pulaski will again host the Casimir Pulaski Raffle, an online virtual raffle. This year, it will feature an authentic, commercial grade Skee-Ball Home Arcade Premium Machine as top prize, valued at $5,000. The raffle launched live on Facebook on Feb. 14. The Skee-Ball was donated by The Village Companies of Pulaski. This commercial-grade machine is specifically designed for homes.

Anyone can participate in the raffle by purchasing chances through the online raffle. Proceeds from the raffle will go toward the nonprofit's projects and events to help continue their mission building tourism and business in Pulaski and surrounding areas. The raffle will run through March 12.

Casimir Pulaski Day is a holiday celebrated around the country, on the first Monday in March, honoring Revolutionary War hero Gen. Casimir Pulaski. One of the goals of the nonprofit organization has been to educate the public about Count Casimir Pulaski and why this community was named after him.

Currently, the organization is looking for sponsors and donations for this event. Businesses and organizations are encouraged to participate. For information, call 920-822-4450, email promotepulaski@gmail.com, or visit www.casimirpulaskidays.com.

Menominee collection in New York reviewed

Grignon looks over more than 300 items housed inside American Museum of Natural History

By LYNN ZAFFRANN
Correspondent

David Grignon, the tribal historic preservation officer for the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin, is tasked with preserving the cultural heritage of the Menominee people, who have a deep connection to their ancestral lands.

"The Menominees are the oldest continuous residents of Wisconsin," said Grignon.

His department is responsible for any areas of cultural preservation within the ancestral tribal lands that have been the tribe's home for thousands of years.

"We remain on our ancestral lands and owe that to the Menominee chiefs, Chief Oshkosh in particular, who negotiated treaties with the government," Grignon said.

In November 2021, Grignon visited the American Museum of Natural History in New York as the tribe's Native American Graves Preservation and Repatriation Act (NAGRPA) representative. He met with members of the museum's anthropology department to review the more than 300 Menominee items in the museum's collection. NAGRPA allows Indigenous tribes to determine the ownership of cultural items found on federal or tribal land, and in this case, items held in the collections of the American Museum of Natural History.

David Grignon, tribal historic preservation officer for the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin, examines a colorful collection of Menominee twined bags in the division of anthropology for the American Museum of Natural History. Menominee weavers are reviving the techniques used to create these versatile pieces, which often include two different motifs on the front and back.

M. SHANLEY | AMNH

Meeting with the museum's NAGRPA staff, Grignon reviewed Menominee objects in the Hall of Eastern Woodlands Indians.

"It was kinda sad to see these items," Grignon said. "I wished they were back (on tribal lands)."

He also went behind-the-scenes to assess sacred and ceremonial pieces. He ceremonially cleansed sacred items in the museum's "smudge room," speaking to them in the Menominee language. The room is an area designated by the museum specifically for use by tribal representatives.

Grignon would like to see some of the ethnographic objects and ceremonial objects returned to the tribe. Menominee tribal elders will consider his recommendations.

NAGRPA requires federal agencies and institutions that receive federal funding to return Indigenous cultural items to Native American tribes. Grignon works with various museums to review collections identified as Menominee and request repatriation of the items to the tribe, as authorized by Menominee tribal elders.

Through his endeavors, Grignon has repatriated more than 200 items, including human remains, from various museums. Human remains returned to the tribe are buried in a special burial ground on the reservation. Ethnographic objects are on display in the Menominee Cultural Museum in Keshena. Sacred items, such as ceremonial artifacts, charms, medicine bags, etc., are not placed on display.

The act, passed in 1990, requires institutions and museums, such as the American Museum of Natural History, to inventory remains and cultural objects for Native American Tribes and to allow the review and assessment by tribal representatives. A recent inventory prompted Grignon's November visit to the museum.

The Menominee Historic Preservation Department has a staff of three, and relies on numerous volunteers to assist with the preservation work.

Many of the Menominee artifacts at the museum were obtained by Alanson B. Skinner, when he was employed as an anthropologist there in the early 1900s. Some of his writings and pamphlets are held in the Smithsonian libraries. He is viewed as having great success in field work with Indigenous tribes, specifically the Menominee, and brought many artifacts from Wisconsin to the museum. Having the artifacts returned to tribal grounds will continue the cultural preservation efforts of Grignon.

While reviewing ethnographic material, David Grignon and members of the cultural resources office at the American Museum of Natural History were struck by a surprise find in the AMNH collections — two papers carefully sewed into the sides of this piece, with handwritten notes from a Menominee person practicing English cursive on Jan. 24, 1913.

Holsey: Resilience key to tribes thriving

Stockbridge-Munsee president delivers State of the Tribes to Wisconsin Assembly

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

Resilience is a virtue of Native American tribes in the past and continues to ring true in the present and into the future, according to Shannon Holsey, president of the Stockbridge-Munsee Band of Mohican Indians.

Holsey addressed resilience constantly in her 50-minute address to the Wisconsin Assembly on Feb. 22 as she gave the 18th annual State of the Tribes address. She talked of the tribes' resilience as they faced assimilation and extinction in centuries past, and she told of the continued resilience today as they lead the way in combatting the coronavirus pandemic.

"In spite of the many determined efforts to extinguish our people, we are still here," Holsey said.

Holsey noted that addressing the treatment of Native Americans throughout history is not an easy thing for anyone to hear, let alone acknowledge. She said the country has a history of "genocide, ethnic cleansing, forced removals and brutal assimilationist policies" that make it hard, even today, to give Indigenous peoples the respect and honor they deserve.

"Our discomfort in sharing this painful, collective history pales in comparison to the lived experience that so many Native people endured in the past 530 years," Holsey said.

That history is being threatened, she added, because of a bill going through the Wisconsin Legislature that prohibits critical race theory. Holsey pointed out that accurately teaching history is essential to showing what happened to tribes and should not be removed "for fear of hurting students' feelings."

"It is our view and response as tribal nations that perhaps what is needed is not critical theory but more critical thinking," Holsey said. "To have critical thinking, you have to face the full, natural history head on. As you can see from the many tribal members here today, American Indians are not a people of the past."

Holsey took a shot at sports, cartooning and mascots for being detrimental and degrading to Native Americans. Having native mascots like the Atlanta Braves continues to showcase tribal people as caricatures instead of decent human beings, she said, and it's affecting the health of tribal youth.

"Low self-esteem factors prominently in suicides, and our teen suicide has been at or near the highest level in the United States for more than a century," Holsey said. "This is a matter of life and death for most Native peoples. It is also the main reason so many of us devote time and energy to ridding sports of these dehumanizing, belittling, objectifying behaviors."

She noted that tribes did not get a religious freedom act from the U.S. government until the 1970s, and action was not taken to allow tribes to recover ancestral remains and cultural artifacts from museums until the 1990s.

"We are still the only segment of society that cannot use the First Amendment to protect our sacred places," Holsey said. "Far too long, Indigenous people have faced discrimination, disrespect, violence and oppressive use of words and imagery. As long as we can be treated badly in this very public way, Native people will continue to be persistently mistreated, and our collective and individual rights will be at risk."

Holsey also related the hard road tribes have in retaining their traditional languages, noting that those languages link their people to all of their relatives and to the creatures of the world.

"When a language becomes extinct, just like the gray wolf, it can take with it much of our history and the culture of our people who spoke it and continue to revere it," Holsey said. "I cannot stress enough the importance of retaining our tribal languages."

Holsey told the Assembly of some of the positive things going on with tribes. She praised the 11 federally recognized tribes in Wisconsin for "leading the way" in mitigation efforts to curb the coronavirus pandemic and getting their people vaccinated.

"As we struggle with the COVID-19 pandemic and the economic revitalization, Indigenous communities are no longer content to wait for others to make decisions for us. These days are gone," Holsey said. "Given the tribes' leadership and forward movement during the pandemic to protect not only our communities but the communities around us, I believe there were lessons to be learned from the tribes' responses to the pandemic."

From the beginning, tribal leaders were clear in what needed to be done to protect their communities from the coronavirus, Holsey said, because tribes have had a history with epidemics and pathogens. Tribes organized task forces, developed plans for keeping people safe during societal shutdowns and worked with Gov. Tony Evers to get help from the National Guard to administer virus testing and vaccinations.

"In our small tribal communities, the loss of any citizen is too high of a price," Holsey said. "Losing a single elder ... is like a library burning down, and with it, the loss of our culture, our traditions and our teachings."

Board hears about possible referendum

Consultant says one could be coming in November

By LEE PULASKI
City Editor

A consultant leading a discussion of Shawano School District stakeholders told the Shawano School Board on Feb. 21 that the debate is looking at many ways to fund future renovations, expansions and maintenance, but indicated voters could be asked to approve a referendum in November.

Sue Peterson, a consultant with ISG in Minnesota, noted that it will ultimately be up to the board if it decides to proceed with a referendum, but she constantly referred to it at a work session where she updated the board on meeting with school and community officials that are part of a facilities task force.

"The work that our team is doing, in partnership with the district, is really walking you through a roadmap to referendum," Peterson said during the presentation. "We're going through the community engagement process and doing a facility assessment, finding out what it is that your community will support should you decide to go out for bond."

The presentation did not outline what specifically would be included in a referendum and what amount voters could be asked to approve. Peterson said a final report could be put in front of the board around the end of May.

"The path we have you on is leaving open the option of November of '22 should you choose to go out for it," she said. "The reason for that is you always begin with the end in mind. The soonest it made logical sense for the district to consider a referendum was November of '22."

Peterson added that a referendum could be pushed back to 2023 or beyond.

A review of the schools has been done to determine what work needs to be done, Peterson noted. The district held a town hall meeting in January that outlined some of the fixes and additions it is looking at over the next 10 years, including renewed plans to improve and expand athletic and fine arts facilities at Shawano Community High School.

The task force of close to 40 people then held its first meeting at the end of January and plans to meet again Feb. 28, according to Peterson.

"This is a group of community leaders that will provide feedback and input as we move through this roadmap, and looking at what are the things that people are thinking or feeling about the needs for the district's facilities," she said.

The Feb. 28 task force meeting is expected to delve into the financial situation of the district and see what condition it's in. The district has previously boasted about having a higher than average fund balance but has also reported that the continuous drop in its student enrollment is expected to result in less state education aid.

Peterson said the task force will look at each of the schools and determine strengths, weaknesses, threats and opportunities. ISG is also planning to survey school staff to get their assessment on the condition of classrooms and other facilities.

"The idea is to expand that circle of trust and knowledge to deal with the needs of the district, start with the small group and expand on to greater people in the community, telling your story and gathering feedback," Peterson said.

If the board decides in June to proceed with a November referendum, Peterson vowed that ISG would provide the district with a "pre-referendum communication plan" to "educate the community" and "get out that messaging."

The last referendum the district got approved was in November 2015, when it asked voters to approve $9.25 million to update Shawano Community Middle School.

Pulaski schools director gets WEMTA award

Amy Uelmen, Pulaski Community School District director of instructional technology, was selected to receive this year's Professional of the Year Award from the Wisconsin Educational Media and Technology Association.

The WEMTA noted Uelmen's "hard work and dedication to the creation of a strong library media and technology program at Pulaski schools, along with her service to WEMTA, has made her a worthy recipient of this award."

Uelmen will be honored March 7 at the group's annual conference awards luncheon.

"I can't think of a more well-deserving recipient of this award than Amy Uelmen," said PCSD Superintendent Allison Space. "Amy is masterful and intentional in how she collaboratively works side-by-side with her colleagues to drive continuous improvement in our library media programs as well as instructional technology. The blend of her love of learning as well as her passion for technology is evident in all she does."

Jennifer Gracyalny, PCSD executive director of teaching and learning, nominated Uelmen for the award.

"Amy is an intuitive and knowledgeable educator, who is well respected by her colleagues for all of her contributions to the education profession," Gracyalny said.

Uelmen has helped move the district forward in advancing the use of technology by staff and students.

"She has led Pulaski Community School District in being innovative as we adopt and integrate technology, devices and tools into classrooms through the integration of the Information and Technology Literacy Standards with our content standards," Gracyalny said.

Uelmen led major projects in the district including the one-to-one iPad program, modernizing library media centers and, currently, in redesigning classrooms to help provide flexible learning environments that meet the needs of today's students.

Uelmen has served on the district literacy committee as a big six trainer, curriculum mapping trainer, Lexile Workshops trainer and district technology committee, among others. She has been a presenter and/or instructor at the Scholastic Literacy Leaders Institute, WEMTA Conference and University of Wisconsin-

Oshkosh Technology Integration Courses.

In 2013, PCSD was honored as an Apple Distinguished Program due to Uelmen's leadership with the district's model classrooms and cutting-edge tech integration for staff and students, Gracyalny noted. She also is a 2005 winner of the Green Bay Partners in Education Golden Apple Award.

Uelmen earned a bachelor's degree in English and Journalism Education from UW-Eau Claire and a master's degree in educational leadership from UW-Oshkosh. She previously served as PCSD instructional technology coordinator; PCSD Library Media Specialist; English teacher at Neenah High School and an English and journalism teacher at Campbellsport High School. She is an adjunct professor at Viterbo University.

JR Machine expanding in Shawano

Expansion will open 10-12 new jobs

By LUKE REIMER
Reporter

One local manufacturing business is preparing to open an expansion in Shawano.

JR Machine, which had been a staple in the city since 1992, recently announced that it is working toward an expansion. The expansion will add another 8,000 square feet of production capacity, more extensive quality assurance capabilities and 10-12 more jobs.

“We are a contract manufacturing service company,” said JR Machine CEO Tim Tumanic. “We are currently adding more manufacturing space.”

JR Machine streamlines the process of procuring and producing complex machined parts. The manufacturing services include capabilities like prototyping, engineering, CNC machining, multi-spindle machining, thread rolling, fabrication and assembly, among other services.

Tumanic said that the company is planning to have the expansion ready for use in April. According to Tumanic, JR Machine recently received its aerospace certification, which gives it what’s needed to move forward with the expansion.

“With that, we made a marketing effort with the aerospace and space exploration markets,” said Tumanic. “It would be to service those markets.”

As a part of the expansion, JR Machine will also add four new DMG MORI 2500 turning centers. A turning center is a machine process that is used to make cylindrical parts. These turning centers will help JR

The new expansion for JR Machine in Shawano is expected to be ready by early April.

CONTRIBUTED

Machine to service customers by doubling its max length of machine parts from 2 feet to 4 feet. The expansion area will also feature a cleaning system to help prevent rusting on the stainless steel parts of machinery.

As the expansion moves forward, Tumanic wants to continue to stay connected with the community.

“Shawano has been where we have operated for years,” said Tumanic. “We have made contributions to the community, and this is where our employees live.”

The contributions to the Shawano community include aiding the technology education programs at Shawano

Community High School and Bonduel High School.

“We will continue to support those,” said Tumanic. “With the expansion, everything is scaled up, including our contributions to the community.”

Tumanic said that out of the 10-12 jobs available, six of them have been filled. The available positions are entry-level machine technicians, he said.

He added that the decision to expand in Shawano as opposed to a larger city was due to the competition in the job market.

“The competition in the job market is much tougher in Green Bay, Wausau or Appleton than it is here,” said Tumanic. “Over the years, we have leveraged on the strengths of the Shawano community. There are a lot of people out there with good work ethic, so we try to develop people within our own community.”

He said that the relationship between Shawano and JR Machine has worked well.

“We would not think about being anywhere else,” said Tumanic.

He added that JR Machine had no plans of looking anywhere else to expand.

Leeman Corner Market now offers U-Haul services

By NEW MEDIA STAFF

Leeman Corner Market, N9302 State Highway 187 in Leeman, has signed on as a U-Haul neighborhood dealer, offering rentals of U-Haul trucks, trailers, towing equipment, moving supplies and in-store pickup for boxes.

U-Haul has teamed with independent dealers to offer moving equipment since 1945. With the COVID-19 outbreak creating challenging times for small businesses, more than 21,000 dealers across the U.S. and Canada are generating supplemental income through their U-Haul partnership. When a customer rents from a U-Haul dealer, they are directly supporting an independent small business in their community.

Normal business hours are 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday; 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday. Reserve U-Haul products at this dealer location by calling 920-938-3069 or visiting www.uhaul.com/Locations/Truck-Rentals-near-Leeman-WI-54170/052676.

Because no financial investment is required to be a dealer, these local affiliates are not U-Haul franchises, simply small businesses that have committed a portion of their lot space for U-Haul equipment, and a portion of their time to help meet the mobility needs of their neighbors. Learn more about the dealer program and how to join by visiting uhaul.com/dealer.

VILLAGE OF BOWLER, SHAWANO COUNTY, WISCONSIN
AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ORDINANCE NO. 2017-02 ENTITLED "DANGEROUS DOGS"

The Village Board of the Village of Bowler, Shawano County, Wisconsin, do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1: Ordinance No. 2017-02, entitled "Dangerous Dogs", of the Village of Bowler is hereby amended by deletion of the stricken text and/or the addition of the underlined text as follows:

(1) DEFINITIONS. The terms used in this section are defined as follows:

- a. Dangerous Dog. Any dog with a tendency or disposition to attack, assault, cause injury or otherwise endanger the safety of human beings or other domestic animals as evidenced by its habitual or repeated chasing, snapping, barking and/or snarling in a threatening manner.
 - a.i. Any dog which attacks without provocation or otherwise endangers the safety of human beings or domestic animals.
 - a.ii. Any dog owned or harbored primarily or in part for the purpose of dogfighting, or any dog trained for dogfighting.
 - a.iii. Any dog of the pit bull breeds shall be subject to the permit requirements of sub. (3) below. Any dog of the pit bull breeds not in compliance with sub. (3) shall be deemed dangerous and subject to those penalties in sub. (8) below.
 - a.iv. However, no dog shall be deemed dangerous if it bites, attacks or menaces a trespasser on the property of its owner or harms or menaces anyone who has tormented or abused it.

(2) REQUIREMENTS AND PROHIBITIONS. (a) Leash and Muzzle. No person owning, harboring or having the care of a dangerous dog may suffer or permit such dog to go outside its kennel or pen unless the dog is securely leashed with a leash no longer than 4 feet in length. No person may permit a dangerous dog to be kept on a chain, rope or other type of leash outside its kennel or pen unless a person is in physical control of the leash. The dog may not be leashed to inanimate objects such as trees, posts and buildings. A dangerous dog on a leash outside the dog's kennel shall be muzzled by a muzzling device sufficient to prevent the dog from biting persons or other animals. A dangerous dog shall not be required to be muzzled when shown in a sanctioned American Kennel Club show.

- a. Confinement. All dangerous dogs shall be securely confined indoors or in a securely enclosed and locked pen or kennel, except when leashed and muzzled as provided in par. (a) above. The pen, kennel or structure shall have secure sides and a secure top attached to all sides. A structure used to confine a dangerous dog shall be locked with a key or combination lock when the dog is within the structure. The structure shall have a secure bottom or floor attached to the sides of the pen or the sides of the pen must be embedded in the ground no less than 2 feet. All structures erected to house dangerous dogs shall comply with all zoning and building regulations of the Village. All structures shall be adequately lighted and ventilated and kept in a clean and sanitary condition.
- b. Confinement indoors. No dangerous dog may be kept on a porch or patio or in any part of a house or structure that would allow the dog to exit the building on its own choice. No dangerous dog may be kept in a house or structure when the windows are open or when screen windows or screen doors are the only obstacle preventing the dog from exiting the structure.
- c. Prohibited in Multiple Dwellings. No dangerous dog may be kept within any portion of any multiple dwelling.
- d. Signs. All owners, keepers or harborers of dangerous dogs shall, within 15 days of the effective date of this section, display in a prominent place on their premises a sign easily readable by the public with letters not less than 2 inches in height stating "Dangerous Dog." A similar sign is required to be posted on the kennel or pen of the dog.
- e. Insurance. All owners, keepers or harborers of dangerous dogs shall, within 30 days of the effective date of this section, provide proof to the Village Board of public liability insurance in a single incident amount of $50,000 for bodily injury to or death of any person or for the damage to property owned by any person which may result from the ownership, keeping or maintenance of dangerous dogs. The insurance policy shall provide that no cancellation of the policy will be made unless a 10-day written notice is first given to the Village Board. The owner or custodian of the dog shall produce evidence of the required insurance upon request of a law enforcement officer or Village President member. This paragraph does not apply to dogs kept by law enforcement agencies.

(3) PERMITS REQUIRED FOR PIT BULLS. Unless a breed-restricted permit is obtained, no person shall own, keep, harbor or allow to be owned, kept or harbored any dog of the pit bull breed within the Village. Pit bull breeds include: the bull terrier breed; the Staffordshire bull terrier breed; the American pit bull terrier breed; the American Staffordshire terrier breed, dogs of mixed breed or other breeds than the foregoing which breed or mixed breed is known as a pit bull, pit bull dog, or pit bull terrier; any dog which has the appearance of being predominately of the breed of bull terrier, Staffordshire bull terrier, American Pit bull terrier, American Staffordshire terrier, or dogs of any other breed, commonly known as pit bulls, pit bull dogs, or pit bull terriers; or a combination of any of these breeds.

- a. Applications for a breed-restricted permit to own a breed listed above shall include:
 - a.i. The name, address, and contact information for the owner where the dog will reside.
 - a.ii. The name and contact information for all adults residing at the same address.
 - a.iii. The name, address, and contact information for an emergency contact if an event happens and the owner cannot be reached.
 - a.iv. An accurate description of the pit bull and recent color photograph.
 - a.v. Proof that the dog has a current rabies vaccination.
 - a.vi. Proof that the dog has been spayed or neutered.
 - a.vii. Proof of public liability insurance in the amount of $100,000 combine single limit.
- b. All permit approvals will be pending an approved criminal background check for all adults residing at the address where the dog is kept.
 - b.i. Any revocations or denials may be appealed to the Village Board.
- c. The breed restricted permit shall be applied for annually with a fee as from time to time set by the Village Board in its Fee Schedule.
- d. Any complaints shall be filed with the Shawano County Sheriff Department for further investigation.

(4) DANGEROUS DOG DETERMINATION. The Animal Control Officer, Shawano County Sheriff or Village President shall investigate every dog complaint and make a determination as to whether or not such dog is "dangerous," as defined in sub. (1) above. In the event the Animal Control Officer, Shawano County Sheriff or Village President makes a determination that a dog is "dangerous," he shall so inform the owner, keeper or harbinger of such dog and provide such person with a copy of this section.

(5) APPEAL OF DANGEROUS DOG DETERMINATION. Any person aggrieved by the determination of the Animal Control Officer, Shawano County Sheriff or Village President, as provided in sub. (4) above, may appeal such determination by filing a written request to review an initial determination filed pursuant to the provisions of § 68.08, Wis. Stats., all Village officers, employees, agents, agencies, committees, boards and commissions receiving such a request shall conduct administrative reviews of their determinations in accordance with § 68.08, Wis. Stats. In addition, all such written requests shall be immediately referred to the Village Attorney.

(6) COMPLIANCE. Within 10 days of the determination that a dog is dangerous, as provided in sub. (4) above, or 10 days after an unsuccessful appeal under sub. (5) above, the owner of a dangerous dog shall either comply with all provisions of this section or dispose of such dog.

(7) DISPOSITION OF DANGEROUS DOGS. Any dangerous dog which attacks a human being or domestic animal may be ordered destroyed by a peace officer or humane officer when, in the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, the dog represents a continuing threat of serious harm to human beings or domestic animals.

(8) PENALTY. Any person who violates any provision of this section shall, upon conviction, be subject to the payment of a forfeiture as follows:

- a. First Offense, Penalty. Any person who violates any provision of this Code subject to a penalty shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit not less than $5 and no more than $500, together with the costs of prosecution and, in default of payment of such forfeiture and costs of prosecution, shall be imprisoned in the County Jail until such forfeiture and costs are paid, but not exceeding 90 days.

Signs for heart disease easily detectable

Prevea Health is using February being American Heart Month to remind people to learn about your risk for heart disease and the steps they can take to help their heart.

Cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death in the United States and affects men and women equally. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention say more younger adults are being diagnosed with the condition than ever before. This is partly because conditions that lead to heart disease are happening at younger ages, according to the CDC.

The most common type of heart disease is coronary artery disease, which is a buildup of plaque in the heart's arteries. It can lead to a heart attack.

The CDC says nearly half of all Americans have at least one of the top three risk factors, which include:

- High blood pressure. If not controlled, it can negatively affect your heart and other major organs by increasing the pressure of blood flow in your arteries and other blood vessels.
- High cholesterol. Our liver naturally produces the amount of good cholesterol (HDL) our bodies need, however many foods we eat contribute bad cholesterol (LDL) which can build up in the walls of the arteries causing decreased blood flow to the organs.
- Smoking. Nicotine raises blood pressure, and carbon monoxide produced by cigarette smoke reduces the amount of oxygen blood can carry to the heart.

Dr. Jennifer Davis, an interventional cardiologist at Prevea Health, said other contributing risk factors can include obesity, diabetes, unhealthy eating habits and lack of physical activity.

"So many of these risk factors are modifiable. Diabetes can be controlled, cholesterol can be controlled," she said. "One of the most important things you can do to maintain your health is make regular appointments with your primary care providers, rather than ignoring worsening symptoms."

There are certain risk factors you cannot control, like age and family history of heart disease.

"There are some genetic components related to heart disease. But by consulting with your doctor and making changes to your diet or medications, people can reduce their risk of heart disease," Davis said.

If symptoms of heart disease appear, they can be different for each gender.

Symptoms in men can include, but are not limited to chest, neck or upper back pain; indigestion; heartburn; dizziness; and shortness of breath. Symptoms in women can include, but are not limited to pain in the jaw or throat, nausea, dull or heavy pain in the chest, extreme fatigue and swelling of the feet, ankles and legs. If any of these symptoms occur, people should call 9-1-1 immediately.

b. Second Offense, Penalty. Any person found guilty of violating any ordinance or part of an ordinance of this Code who shall previously have been convicted of a violation of the same ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit not less than $10 nor more than $500 for each such offense, together with the costs of prosecution and, in default of payment of such forfeiture and costs, shall be imprisoned in the County Jail until said forfeiture and costs of prosecution are paid, but not to exceed 6 months.

(9) CONTINUED VIOLATIONS. Each violation and each day a violation continues or occurs shall constitute a separate offense. Nothing in this Code shall preclude the Village from maintaining any appropriate action to prevent or remove a violation of any provision of this Code.

(10) EXECUTION AGAINST DEFENDANT'S PROPERTY. Whenever any person fails to pay any forfeiture and costs of prosecution upon the order of the court for violation of any ordinance of the Village, the court may, in lieu of ordering imprisonment of the defendant, or after the defendant has been released from custody, issue an execution against the property of the defendant for said forfeiture and costs.

SECTION 2: If any provision of this Ordinance is invalid or unconstitutional, or if the application of this Ordinance to any person or circumstances is found invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the provisions or application of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application.

SECTION 3: All Ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION 4: This Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication or posting as required by law.

Abrams presenting 'Beauty and the Beast Jr.'

Abrams Spotlight Productions Inc. invites the community to its performance of the Disney musical "Beauty and the Beast Jr."

A limited number of tickets are on sale now for this all-youth show. The musical, directed by Elizabeth Jolly, will be presented the first two weekends in March at the Nancy Byng Community Theater, 5852 Maple St., Abrams. The show is a timeless musical that the whole family can enjoy.

"It's a tale as old as time," Jolly said, "but seriously, the special effects and immersive qualities are some of the largest we've done at Abrams. However, the show doesn't rest on that. It also has a killer score and fantastically written book with some of the most memorable characters in all of Disney."

The classic story tells of Belle, a young woman in a provincial town, and the Beast, who is really a young prince trapped under the spell of an enchantress. If the Beast cannot learn to love and be loved, he and his household will be doomed for all eternity. Playing some of the lead roles are Betsy Finger as Belle, Brady Cox as the Beast, Nick Blaser as Cogsworth, and Ellie Finger as Mrs. Potts.

The Beast, played by Brady Cox, and Belle, played by Betsy Finger, rehearse their roles for "Beauty and the Beast Jr.," to be performed March 3-6 and March 10-13 in Abrams.

"The core leads are all fantastic, but beyond that, the ensemble is also into it," Jolly said. There's so much to love in this en-

Shock, outrage reasonable response in Suring

When attorneys invade a situation, it's harder to say I'm sorry, so I guess I understand why the Suring Area School District has been so silent on the subject of strip-searching students.

On the other hand, whoever is advising the Suring Area School District surely has advised them that, at the very minimum, an apology is in order. For now, the district's attorneys seem to be suggesting that officials exercise their right to remain silent.

At issue is an incident that occurred Jan. 18 at the school after several students were caught vaping in the girls' room. Oconto County District Attorney Ed Burke says six girls were told to strip to their underwear, apparently to ensure that they didn't have more vaping devices or cartridges secreted on their persons. Burke concluded that the incident did not amount to a "strip search" under the letter of the law, so no one at the school will be criminally charged. Angry parents have, however, hired an attorney to explore the option of a civil lawsuit.

I am not the first to say this: Maybe it was not a strip search as defined by the statute, but what else would you call it? The officials' behavior has been declared legal, but was it moral? Was it even reasonable, as in the constitutional prohibition on unreasonable search and seizures?

Strip down to your underwear because you vaped? As a product of the generation where the answer to excessive smoking in the boys' room was to create a student smoking area, I am baffled that the issue of tobacco use has risen to the level of such an extreme response. Is using tobacco on school grounds really that serious an offense?

Let's take the emotion out of this discussion, shall we? Oh, never mind; it's impossible to listen to what happened to those girls without getting emotional.

Like many people — I dare say most people — my first reaction when I heard about these searches was shock and outrage, and it only gets worse the more I hear and think about it.

Heads must roll. Whoever suggested, conducted or dares to condone these searches needs to be gone. I've seen more than one parent say those people should never be allowed to darken the door of a school building again. I can't say I disagree, although no one from the school district has offered an explanation or justification — see the reference to legal advice, above.

Young women have a right to feel safe on school property, especially in the presence of the school's administrators. What happened to these young women is a violation of that trust, plain and simple.

The school board president told local media that the board plans to meet at 5:30 p.m. March 2 to address the matter, although as of the beginning of this week no notice of such a meeting had been posted. I suspect that half the town — probably more — will be at the school to see what they have to say for themselves. It promises to be an interesting evening.

YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW

Local news outlets deserve a break today with bill

In recent years, the news business in Wisconsin has seen a lot of bad news. Dozens of newspapers have closed. Revenues are way down. Staffs are being trimmed. "Vulture" hedge funds are circling, threatening to pick clean the bones of this once robust industry.

There is at least one piece of good news: A bipartisan bill working its way through the Wisconsin Legislature would help local news outlets by offering a tax break to small businesses that advertise in newspapers, TV or radio stations or online media in the state.

The Wisconsin Local Media Advertising Tax Credit would offer credits to advertisers with fewer than 100 employees and less than $10 million in revenue. The credit would be based on 50% of the cost of advertising in local media, for a maximum of $5,000.

Sen. Roger Roth, R-Appleton, and Rep. Todd Novak, R-Dodgeville, former editor of the Dodgeville Chronicle, are co-sponsors of Assembly Bill 762. "Having worked in the newspaper industry for 25 years, I think this proposed credit will make a real difference," Novak told fellow lawmakers during a Jan. 19 Assembly Ways and Means Committee hearing. "I believe this advertising incentive creates a win-win scenario for small businesses that want to advertise, customers and workers, and for local media."

Steve Waldman leads the national Rebuild Local News Coalition, which backs the measure. He said the Wisconsin bill could be a model for other states — and Congress.

"I think its significance is in the leadership and the nature of the coalition. It's led by Republicans and backed by an amazing collection of groups — both news orgs and business groups (restaurants, banks, chiropractors, small businesses etc.)," wrote Waldman, who also is president and co-founder of Report for America.

Beth Bennett, executive director of the Wisconsin Newspaper Association, said the measure's impact is twofold: helping businesses reach their customers, and supporting local journalism by increasing local advertising dollars. The state estimates the tax credit would save businesses at least $65.7 million a year in taxes — meaning twice that amount would be spent on ads.

In 2018, about 163,000 small Wisconsin businesses claimed deductions for advertising expenses, according to the bill's fiscal note. The cost of the tax break could be "significantly higher" than $65.7 million if many of them claim the tax credit, it said.

Richard Lee, president of the Inter-County Cooperative Association, told lawmakers the bill would provide needed revenue to a newspaper group that saw ad sales drop 20% in two years.

The cooperative owns a weekly newspaper, the Inter-County Leader in Frederic, and five shoppers covering a 5,000 square-mile region. It was founded in 1933 by area farmers hungry for local information. Nearly 90 years later, keeping people informed in northwestern Wisconsin is still a struggle, Lee said.

Many of Lee's readers get their TV news from Minnesota, and internet access is spotty. Without the ads he runs for available jobs, restaurant specials and grocery sales, Lee said, "Many of the small businesses don't have a way to let the local residents know what is happening."

AB 762 deserves to pass, because preserving the public's right to know hinges on keeping local news outlets — and the local businesses that advertise with them — alive and well.

There are risks with popular steroid injections

Spinal injection with a steroid medication has become a popular treatment for patients with back pain and leg pain. It is estimated that 9 million Americans receive these procedures each year. Spinal steroid injections were first used in 1952 for the management of low back and leg pain. The early research was extremely poor quality (no control group comparison, small samples of patients tested, etc.). Although the FDA has not approved injectable steroids for spinal use, these products continue to be used “off-label.”

Recently, an international medical research team conducted a randomized controlled trial to determine the effectiveness of steroid injections on pain and disability as an addition to usual care for acute low back and leg pain in general medical practice. They found no clinically relevant the natural history of the condition. There are simply no quality research studies supporting long-term benefits.

In the past two decades, multiple randomized trials have found that spinal steroid injections do not outperform placebo injections long-term. A scientific review of several studies found that injections offer no clinically important short-term benefit in favor of steroid injections at any point in time, short-term (two weeks) or long-term (one year). Although some patients experience short-term benefit, this is likely due to placebo and or long-term relief of leg pain or disability for patients with sciatica; and there is no evidence to support the current common practice of administering a series of injections. Additionally, there is no evidence of long-term benefit for patients with neck pain or neck pain with radiation or spinal stenosis.

Numerous potential adverse reactions have been associated with epidural steroid injections. The FDA now requires that injectable corticosteroids must carry a new label with a warning about the risks of severe adverse effects from epidural injections, including death, stroke, permanent blindness, nerve damage and paralysis. Additional steroid side effects may include weight gain, water retention, flushing (hot flashes), mood swings, insomnia, and elevated blood sugar levels in diabetics.

Just a few years ago, an outbreak of fungal meningitis from spinal injections killed 64 people and sickened 751. Recently, medical researchers discovered that each steroid injection increased the risk of fracture due to diminished bone density (osteoporosis) by 21% in men and women.

Until new evidence emerges supporting the effectiveness of spinal steroid injections, we recommend that patients with neck pain, low back pain, sciatica, or spinal stenosis receive conservative care and avoid this invasive treatment. At a minimum, the results of all available research should be presented to patients prior to steroid administration.

Violent superhero story is not for everyone

When I selected “Winter Falls” by Ian W. Sainsbury, I had no idea just how grisly and hard to put down it would be. It is listed as the first in his Jimmy Blue series, but I think I need to wait a bit before I tackle the next one.

London has long been a hub for organized crime. It is a ruthless enterprise where only those with both cunning and foresight survive for long. David Winter is one of that rare breed. At the top of an immense empire, Winter fears no one. That will prove to be a fatal mistake.

Twenty years ago, Tom Lewis was an average 12-year-old who dreamed of a career creating superhero comics. His hero would be named Jimmy Blue. That dream ended when Winter, Marty Nicholson and another man murdered his parents, shot him in the head and left him to die. Now 32, Tom is a huge, brain-damaged man who works manual labor in London’s thriving building trade.

No one knows or cares about Tom’s history except Detective Debbie Capelli. She knows that Tom’s testimony could put Winter away for life, but it remains locked in his memories. Today Tom’s life changed. Today “Jimmy Blue” showed up to make things right.

Jimmy looks just like Tom, but he is confident, well-educated, well-family.

His first carefully planned task was the pain-filled death of Marty Nicholson. It was a gruesome but satisfying job with one small glitch. Young Tay showed up planning to kill Marty, too. When it is over, he leaves a note saying “Jimmy Blue is coming” as warning to Winter and his cohorts.

While news of Marty’s death circulates, Jimmy plots his next move. His childhood friend Rhoda betrayed his family and now works for Winter, procuring victims for his sex slave business. She would be next, but first he would make her sick with fear. Before he throws her off a Paris tower, Jimmy sets Rhoda’s cellphone to record her death, then sends the recording to Winter.

Tom awakes on a bench in a train station. Jimmy Blue is gone. It is time to find his way back to his time room and resume his dull-witted life, not knowing when or if Jimmy will return.

Meanwhile, Winter has managed to track down Tom and have him imprisoned in the specially built dungeon beneath his fortress-like home. Poor Tom knows nothing about Jimmy Blue’s activities and cries like a child when tortured. Eventually, Winter leaves Tom in the dark, not knowing that it is exactly what Jimmy Blue has been waiting for.

When confronted, Jimmy lays waste to the mansion. He then follows Winter planning to kill him, but Winter manages to appeal to Tom which allows Winter to escape. Debbie finds Tom and takes him to her parents’ former home. Things go well until Winter’s mercenaries arrive to kill them both. Now gentle Tom must decide if he wants Jimmy to take dressed, highly trained and very smart. When Jimmy takes over, there is nothing he can’t do. So Tom slips into a deep sleep while Jimmy begins the plan to avenge the deaths of Tom’s over and save his only friend.

Miles away, Winter watches the debacle remotely. The arrogant fool has no idea the terrible fate that Jimmy Blue has arranged for him. Now no one knows when or where Jimmy will appear, but his legend has already grown to epic proportions. While Tom sleeps, Jimmy Blue will find and punish the soulless criminals who prey on the innocent.

I’ll bet most of us have longed for a comic book superhero to swoop down and crush the evildoers of this world. That sure would simplify things. But for now we have to accept they only exist in the books at your public library. Drop by this week and check it out.

3 Panthers headed to state tournament

Comins will represent Lena

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Three Oconto Falls and one Lena wrestler qualified for state after competing in sectionals on Feb. 19.

No Suring/Gillett wrestlers qualified for state, which will be held at the Kohl Center in Madison from Feb. 24-26.

Oconto Falls

Oconto Falls' Clayton Whiting, Graeson Pankratz and Cole Bozile all qualified for state after strong showings at the Division 2 Oconto Falls Sectional in Oconto Falls. To qualify for state in Division 2, wrestlers had to place first, second or third in their respective weight classes.

Whiting won the 182 weight class with a 3-0 mark. Pankratz finished 2-1 at the 120 class, and Bozile also went 2-1 at 126 pounds.

Whiting opened his day with a pin in 1 minute, 42 seconds before a 23-8 technical fall win in the semi-finals. He won the first-place match by pin in 1:58.

The senior will be making his fourth appearance at state and is looking to become a four-time state champ. Only 19 WIAA individuals have ever accomplished that feat.

"Goals I have set for state are pin everyone as fast as possible and score a lot of points," said Whiting. "The only way I can achieve these is by having the right mindset going in to each match, as well as focus on these in my last few practices before I head out to compete."

Whiting owns a 47-1 record on the season and won't need to wrestle on Thursday after his sectional title. He'll open up his state tournament by facing either Amery's Grant Cook (38-11) or Freedom's Josh Lahay (21-9) on Friday morning.

With three titles already, there isn't a lot left to prove for Whiting. Still, he's found a way to keep himself motivated, saying he'd like to show people, "That I am the greatest wrestler in Wisconsin, and I want to make a mark in Wisconsin wrestling out there at state."

Oconto Falls' Cole Bozile, top, wrestles Adams-Friendship's Jordan Dolata during a 126-pound weight class semifinal match at the Division 2 Oconto Falls Sectional on Feb. 19 in Oconto Falls. Bozile went on to place second and qualify for state along with teammates Clayton Whiting and Graeson Pankratz.

Full results from the sectional and state brackets can be found at www.trackwrestling.com.

Pankratz's day at sectionals began with a 51-second pin before a 9-4 decision victory. He lost by technical fall in the first-place match but didn't have to wrestle again, having already defeated the wrestler he would have faced.

The senior is also no stranger to the state tournament, as this will be his third-straight appearance. He made state in the 106 weight class as a sophomore and then was a part of the 113 class as a junior.

"I'm excited to get back down there one more time," said Pankratz. "Knowing this will be the last time I go out and compete in high school, these last matches will mean a lot to me. I don't want it to end, but I'll go out and leave it all on the mat."

While also looking forward to competing alongside Whiting and Bozile, Pankratz has individual goals as well.

"My goal for state is to go out and win. Also to place higher on the podium than last year," said Pankratz, who finished sixth at state as a junior.

Pankratz owns a 36-10 record in his senior season. He'll take on Winneconne's Mason Sternard (34-13) in his first state match Thursday night. The winner will battle Neillsville/Greenwood/Loyal's Luke Dux (29-4) on Friday morning.

Bozile endured a similar fate to second place as Pankratz at sectionals. His wins were a 5:21 pin and 6-4 decision. He dropped the first-place match by a 5-4 decision.

"It means a lot for me to qualify. I've worked so hard, and I'm so glad that I've stayed in this amazing sport," said Bozile. "Being a freshman and being able to have the opportunity to go to state is an honor."

Even though this will be Bozile's first taste of state as a wrestler, he's aiming for lofty goals.

"My goal for state is to win it all — having the mindset to win is something I've always strived off of," said Bozile.

The freshman is 22-6 entering state. He will face Jordan Dolata (34-10) of Adams-Friendship on Thursday, with the winner advancing to take on Neillsville/Greenwood/Loyal's Derek Zschernitz (28-5) on Friday.

In other Oconto Falls' sectional action, Hunter Bozile (113) and Luke Trepanier (145) just missed out on state after settling for fourth-place finishes. Bozile finished 2-2 on the day, with wins by major decision and pin and two losses by pin. Trepanier went 2-2, with wins by sudden victory and decision and losses by pin and technical fall.

Parker Peterson (138) went 1-2, with a major decision win before losses by technical fall and pin. Nick Trepanier (195) also finished 1-2, beginning with a win by pin before losses by major decision and decision.

Quinton McDonald (160) and Mitchell Kallies (285) both lost their lone matches of the day.

Lena

Lena's Dylan Comins is headed back to the state tournament after placing second at the Division 3 Bonduel Sectional, which was hosted by Shawano Community High School.

To qualify for state in Division 3, wrestlers also had to place first, second or third.

Comins finished the day with a 1-1 record. Comins had a bye to begin action before earning a 43-second pin in the semifinals.

He was defeated by decision in the first-place match but didn't have to wrestle again, having already defeated that wrestler earlier in the day.

Comins, a junior, made his first state appearance last year, although state wasn't held in Madison because of the pandemic.

"It's big just getting there. I finally get the experience of the Kohl Center," said Comins.

Comins' loss in the first-place match at sectionals was tough on the wrestler, but he now considers himself an underdog heading into state.

"I'm looking to just get on the podium," said Comins. "Last year my goal was strictly to get to state, and I didn't get the full experience last year. I had no intention of winning any matches there last year. My mindset this year is to win some matches and hopefully get on the podium."

Comins is 48-7 this season and will take on Cadott's Kaleb Lodaahl in his opening state match on Thursday. The winner gets Glenwood City's Wyatt Unser in the next round Friday morning.

In other sectional action, Lena's Sam Marquardt (138), Josh Kristof (170) and Franky Umentum (195) all lost their only matches.

Suring/Gillett

Suring/Gillett also competed in the Bonduel Sectional. The co-op had three wrestlers in action.

Trent Van Den Elzen came the closest to making state after posting a 1-2 mark in the 152 weight class. His day began with a pin in 55 seconds. Van Den Elzen dropped his second match by decision and then was defeated in another decision in his final match.

Riley Denowski (113) finished 0-2 on the day, with two losses by pin. Keegan Rattin (145) wrestled once, dropping the match by pin.

HIGH SCHOOL WRESTLING

Panthers fall short of team state

The Oconto Falls High School wrestling team came up one win short of qualifying for team state after competing in the Division 2 Amherst Team Sectional on Feb. 15 in Amherst.

The Panthers defeated Amherst before falling to Luxemburg-Casco in the team sectional final.

Pulaski and Wittenberg-Birnamwood also competed in team sectionals on Feb. 15, with both teams losing their only duals on the night.

Oconto Falls

Oconto Falls had six wins by pin in a 51-30 dual win over Amherst.

Clayton Whiting (182), Nick Trepanier (195), Mitchell Kallies (285), Hunter Bozile (113), Parker Peterson (138) and Luke Trepanier (145) earned the wins by pin.

Garrett Ganter (106) earned a 9-2 decision win for the Panthers. Graeson Pankratz (120) and Cole Bozile (126) both won by forfeit.

The Panthers were defeated 60-10 against Luxemburg-Casco.

Whiting earned a third-period pin at 182 pounds, while Kallies won a 12-1 major decision at 285 pounds for Oconto Falls' wins.

Pulaski

Pulaski competed at the Division 1 Neenah Team Sectional. The Red Raiders lost 50-26 to Kaukauna.

Trenton Gibbons (220) and Ashton Kapla (106) earned wins by pin for Pulaski. Mason Wells (285) won a 12-3 major decision.

Tristan Taylor (170) and Ethan Eggert (113) earned Pulaski's other wins by technical fall. Taylor won 16-1, while Eggert claimed a 15-0 win.

Witt-Birn

Witt-Birn took part in the Division 3 Suring/Gillett Team Sectional in Suring. The Chargers lost 63-15 against Coleman.

Nathan Waupekenay (195) and David Gauderman (220) had back-to-back pins at 195 and 220 pounds, respectively, to lead the Chargers.

Braeden Groshek had Witt-Birn's other win, a 3-2 decision at 160 pounds.

Witt-Birn's Gauderman, Potrykus qualify for state

Both wrestlers to make
2nd state appearances

By MORGAN RODE

Sports Editor

Wittenberg-Birnamwood High School wrestlers David Gauderman and Pierson Potrykus each qualified for state after competing in the Division 3 Bonduel Sectional, which was held at Shawano Community High School on Feb. 19.

To qualify for state in Division 3, wrestlers had to place first, second or third in their respective weight classes.

Gauderman won the 220-pound weight class with a 3-0 record, while Potrykus came in second at 126 pounds with a mark of 2-1.

The duo will head to Madison for the WIAA state tournament, which runs Feb. 24-26.

"It means a lot to qualify. I can represent myself, my family and my school at state, so it means a lot to be able to do that," said Gauderman, a junior.

"It means the world to be able to make it to state, because where else would you want to end your career than under the lights of the Kohl Center?" said Potrykus, a senior.

Gauderman won his first sectionals match by a 7-4 decision. He pinned his next opponent in 4 minutes, 49 seconds. Gauderman was leading the title match before his opponent conceded with an injury.

The junior is headed to state for a second straight season. Last winter, he placed fourth in the 220 class.

"My previous experience helps a lot," said Gauderman, adding that he's learned to never underestimate another competitor. "They're at state for a reason, and it just helps me not to overlook my opponents."

With his top finish at sectionals, Gauderman earned a bye at state. He gets Thursday off and won't wrestle until Friday morning. Gauderman, owning a 44-3 record this season, will face either Stratford's Cole Marten (30-6) or Iowa-Grant/Highland's Jackson Kemnitzer (18-8) in his first match.

"My goals are obviously the first-place finish, and just to be happy with myself and how I wrestled knowing I left everything on the mat," Gauderman said. "That's really the only thing you can ask of yourself."

Potrykus' day at sectionals began with a 22-7 technical fall win before Wittenberg-Birnamwood's Pierson Potrykus, left, wrestles Weyauwega-Fremont's Kaleb Mannel in a 126-pound weight class first-place match at the Division 3 Bonduel Sectional, hosted Feb. 19 by Shawano Community High School. a 7-4 decision win. He lost the title match in a 2-1 decision but wasn't forced to wrestle again, having defeated the wrestler he was set to face.

This will also be the second time Potrykus has made it to state. He was a state qualifier as a freshman in the 106 weight class, finishing with a 1-2 mark.

"My goals for state are very clear, and it's to give it my all every single match, and to not leave the arena feeling as if I could've wrestled any harder," said Potrykus. "Hopefully this goal leads to me being on the podium Saturday."

Potrykus is 44-7 on the season and will battle Stanley-Boyd's Breckin Burzynski (28-6) in his first state match on Thursday night. The winner will take on Mineral Point's Lucas Sullivan (38-4) on Friday morning.

While both Witt-Birn wrestlers are eager to accomplish their own individual goals, having a teammate competing at state at the same time is a bonus in Potrykus' eyes.

"Having a teammate wrestling beside you at state is huge. It helps to have someone going through the same experience as you to help relieve some of the nerves, and hopefully experiencing some wins to go along with it," said Potrykus.

Max Kersten (138) and Nico Pelusi (145) each placed fourth for the Chargers. Kersten went 1-2, with a win by pin and losses by major decision and pin. Pelusi finished 2-2, with wins by decision and major decision and two losses by pin.

Treyton Bierman (113) went 0-2, with two losses by pin. Easton Davis (120) lost his lone match by major decision. Andres Sanchez (132) lost his only match by pin.

Owen Schultz (152) finished 0-2, with losses by pin and major decision. Cain Schiller (170) went 0-2, with the losses by pin. Nathan Waupekenay (182) dropped two matches by pin, while Dominic Weso (285) was defeated by pin in his lone match.

Bonduel's Bogacz qualifies for state again

2 Shawano and 5 Pulaski wrestlers also state bound

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Wrestlers from Bonduel, Shawano and Pulaski all qualified for the state tournament after competing in sectionals on Feb. 19.

No Menominee Indian wrestlers qualified for state, which will be held at the Kohl Center in Madison from Feb. 24-26.

Bonduel

Bonduel junior Tyson Bogacz qualified for state after earning a second-place finish in the 160-pound weight class during the Division 3 Bonduel Sectional, which was held at Shawano Community High School.

"It means a lot to get to go down there again, even more now because it'll be in the Kohl Center this year," said Bogacz, who competed at state in Wausau last season because of the pandemic. "Excited to finally feel that energy that everyone says you feel when you step on those mats."

To qualify for state in Division 3, wrestlers had to place first, second or third in their respective weight classes.

Bogacz's day began with 5-0 decision win and 7-0 decision victory. He was topped 3-0 in the first-place match, but he bounced back with pin in 3 minutes, 39 seconds in the second-place match.

Bogacz was handed a bye at state and owns a 42-8 record for the season. He'll wrestle either Fenimore's Wyatt Ahnen (14-12) or Aquinas' Calvin Hargrove (39-2) on Friday morning.

"My goal is to take a better place than I did last year, as I had my state tournament get cut a little short," said Bogacz, who came in sixth at the 145 class after sustaining an injury. "Show that last year wasn't a fluke and I belong on the podium."

Bonduel's Donovan Vigue (182) just missed out on state after placing fourth at sectionals. He lost by pin to start the day but came back with a win by pin in 1:08. Vigue was topped by pin in the third-place match.

Jaxon Bogacz (106) earned Bonduel's other win on the day — a pin in 1:12 to begin action. He was then topped by two major decisions.

Matthew Walenta (126) and Colin Fischer (132) finished 0-2, while Vance Pahlke (220) lost his lone match.

Shawano

Junior Caden Young and senior Jackson Smits will represent Shawano at state after strong days of action at the Division 1 Hortonville Sectional.

To qualify for state in Division

1, wrestlers needed to place first or second. Young won a sectional title at 170 pounds, while Smits earned second at 220 pounds.

Young finished 3-0 on the day. His first match was a win by pin in 49 seconds. He then won back-to-back major decisions, 11-1 and 20-7, to qualify for state.

"It means a lot to me that I finally qualified," said Young. "I have put in a lot of work to get here at this point."

It will be Young's first time at state, but he isn't hoping to just enjoy the experience. "My goal is to bring home that state title," he said.

Young, owning a 26-2 mark on the season, will take on New Berlin West/Eisenhower's Jack Gillis (43-4) in his first match Thursday afternoon.

Smits earned a 2-1 mark on the day. His day started with 10-0 and 8-0 major decision wins. Smits was pinned in the first-place match but didn't have to wrestle again, having already defeated the wrestler he was set to face.

"The chance to do what so many kids can only dream of means a lot and it is not lost on me how many great wrestlers never do make it down to Madison," said Smits. "I think about some of my teammates, all great wrestlers, that have never had the opportunity to go. They are the reason I work so hard."

Smits hopes to leave Madison having reached the podium, and is excited to be joined by a teammate and so many supporters.

"Having Caden go down with me is awesome. Being able to share the experience with another teammate is something I am truly looking forward to,” said Smits. “In addition, being able to go down with my coach (Mike) Homan, parents and family means the world to me. Being able to reward all of the sacrifices they have made with a trip to the state tournament is truthfully my biggest accomplishment, and has been my goal all along.”

Smits is 32-8 on the season and will open state battling Holmen’s Carson Westcott (37-5) Thursday afternoon.

Shawano’s Brady Stomberg (106), Drake Herm (132), Carsen Herm (145), Noah Jones (152), West Bieber (160), Lance Nuthals (182) and Brady Jones (285) all lost their only sectional matches.

Pulaski

Pulaski had five individual wrestlers qualify for state after competing in the Division 1 Hortonville Sectional.

Mason Wells led the team with a first-place finish at 220 pounds. Ethan Eggert (113), Brady Gille (138), Chase Woosencraft (170) and Trenton Gibbons (182) all placed second.

Wells, a junior, went 3-0 on the day. His first match was a win by pin in 1 minute, 20 seconds before claiming a 5-2 decision win in the semifinals. Wells won the first-place match by pin in 3:56.

It will mark Wells’ second state appearance, having also made it as a freshman. Wells has a 32-2 record this season, and will battle Port Washington’s Jacob Peacy (39-9) in his first match Thursday afternoon.

Eggert finished with a 2-1 mark at sectionals. He opened his day with a pin in 1:34 before a 16-0 technical fall win in the semifinals. Eggert was defeated 7-0 in the first-place match but didn’t have to wrestle again, having already defeated the wrestler he would have faced.

“It means a lot for me to qualify,” said Eggert, a junior. “I’ve been practicing since kindergarten to make this goal come true.”

Eggert, who hopes to place in the top six, is 35-7 on the season and will take on Holmen’s Turner Campbell (33-6) in his first ever state match Thursday afternoon.

Woosencraft and Gibbons also went 2-1 at sectionals and took similar paths to second place.

Woosencraft won an 8-7 decision before winning by pin in 3:36. He lost a 20-7 major decision in the first-place match.

“It means the world to me to qualify for state,” said Woosencraft. “I have dreamed of this day since I was in third grade when I started.”

Shawano’s Caden Young wrestles during the Division 1 Shawano Regional on Feb. 12 in Shawano. Young and teammate Jackson Smits qualified for the state tournament after strong finishes at sectionals on Feb. 19.

LUKE REIMER | NEW MEDIA

Woosencraft, sporting a 27-13 record in his sophomore season, will wrestle his first career state match against Milton’s Aeoden Sinclair (44-1) on Thursday afternoon. After having a goal of making state, he’s updated that goal to now reach the podium.

Gibbons opened his day with a pin in 1:10 before claiming a 6-2 decision win. He was topped 9-2 in the first-place match.

Gibbons will also be making his first state appearance as a junior. He’s 34-5 on the season and has goals of placing at state. Gibbons is also thrilled to be going to state with so many teammates.

“It’s great to have four of my teammates coming with me — we’ve put the time in and just can’t wait to see what we can accomplish,” said Gibbons, who will face Union Grove’s Gianni Scacco (34-9) to open state Thursday afternoon.

Gille finished 3-1 on the day. He pinned his first opponent in 3:44 before being pinned in his second match. He responded with a pin in 2:54 in the third-place match and then earned a 5-3 decision win in the second-place match to punch his ticket to state.

Gille is also making his first state appearance. The senior will open state facing Kaukauna’s Greyson Clark (43-1) on Thursday afternoon.

Tristan Taylor (160) was the only other Pulaski wrestler to earn wins at the sectional. He started his day with a pin in 2:37 but was then pinned in his second match and had a medical forfeit loss in the third-place match.

Ashton Kapla (106), Colin Pratt (120), Conner Nooyen (126), Ryan Frewerd (132), Cole Gorecki (145) and Will Friedman (195) all lost their only matches of the day.

Menominee Indian

Menominee Indian’s Gregory Turney was unable to qualify for state after taking part in the Division 2 Oconto Falls Sectional.

To qualify for state in Division 2, wrestlers had to place first, second or third.

Turney went 0-2 in the 145-pound bracket. His first match was a loss by pin before he lost by technical fall in his final match.

Pulaski's Shaw takes 22nd at boys state meet

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Pulaski senior T.J. Shaw capped his high school swimming career with a 22nd-place finish in the 500-yard freestyle at the WIAA Boys Division 1 State Meet on Feb. 19 at Waukesha South High School in Waukesha.

Shaw completed the event in 4 minutes, 55.1 seconds to come in 22nd in the 24-swimmer field.

"My performance was better than last year's state," said Shaw, who placed 20th in 4:56.22 at the 2021 state meet. "Although I didn't PR (personal record) yesterday, I still swam my race to the best of my ability swimming a 4:55.10!"

Bay Port's Ozan Kalafat won the event this year in 4:27.75, a new state record.

Shaw said the week of practice leading up to state was "the most challenging part of the season."

"Prepping for state is a lot of commitment," said Shaw. "What we do as swimmers is called tapering.

After swimming long practices during the middle of the season, we start to taper for sectionals. Tapering is where the yards get shorter but the difficulty gets higher. Meaning more sprints, but more time to rest.

"After tapering for a week and then making it to state I had to climb back up in yards on Monday then have a short week of tapering. Meaning Monday was the most amount of yards, Tuesday a little less, Wednesday a little less, etc. Going back up in yards is hard to do after tapering for sectionals, but I pulled through and performed my best at the state meet."

Just like his cross-country career that ended at state, Shaw was appreciative to be able to cap his swim career against the state's best.

"It was a great experience to end my high school career at state," said Shaw. "I couldn't have asked for a better season with my team! I'm very thankful for all the support I had from my coach, friends and family. I couldn't have done it without them."

Strong start helps Bonduel girls defeat Oconto Falls

Robaidek leads Bears in scoring

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Bonduel High School girls basketball team powered out to a 27-6 lead and then fended off a second-half rally from Oconto Falls to earn a 59-45 nonconference win on Feb. 14 in Oconto Falls.

During Bonduel's impressive start to the contest, it was senior Allaina Robaidek who led the charge, scoring 12 points. Freshman Audrey Weier provided a spark off the bench, scoring six points in the opening half and playing strong defense.

It wasn't until the seven-minute mark of the first half that Oconto Falls was able to find its footing. A quick 7-0 spurt, with the scoring provided by seniors Alexis Euclide and Hailey Peitersen, made it a 15-point game. The teams traded buckets the remainder of the half, with Bonduel leading 34-17 at the break.

Oconto Falls opened the second half on a 17-7 run to cut its deficit to seven, 41-34. The Panthers used the 3 ball to get back in the game, with junior Ashlyn Allen hitting a pair and junior Kate Pytleski making one. Euclide and Peitersen provided the team's other points.

Bonduel went on a 8-0 spurt to regain control, with Robaidek tallying five of those points.

Oconto Falls continued to battle for the remaining five minutes of play but was never able to work the deficit below 12.

Robaidek led all players with 24 points, making three 3-pointers, nine shots total and three free throws.

Sophomore Ella Hischke contributed nine points, four assists and five rebounds for the Bears.

Sophomore Hailee Thompson provided eight points and had four steals.

Along with her six points, Weier grabbed six rebounds. Senior Brenna Hertzfeldt also had six boards, while sophomore Hailey Zernicke had seven.

It was Euclide who led Oconto Falls in scoring with 18 points. She made seven field goals in the contest.

Peitersen finished with 10 points. Allen and sophomore Kati Radatz each scored six points on two 3-pointers.

Menominee Indian girls drop low-scoring tilt

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

The Menominee Indian High School girls basketball team couldn't overcome a poor shooting night in a 38-24 Central Wisconsin Conference-East Division loss against Shiocton on Feb. 17 in Keshena.

The Eagles endured several long scoreless stretches. The team's first points didn't come until about halfway through the first half, and then the hosts went scoreless for the first four-plus minutes of the second half.

Even though Menominee Indian struggled to score, it was able to hang around with some tough play on the defensive side of the ball.

When the Eagles scored their first points of the game, Shiocton only had scored five points. The visitors managed 14 points through 15-plus minutes of action before a 10-0 finish to the half helped them take a 24-10 lead.

Menominee Indian went behind by as many as 18 points in the second half before going on a 9-1 run.

Eagles' junior Kaysha Wilber jump-started the run with a bucket before junior Mariah Fish hit a shot. Wilber added another basket before Fish sent the crowd into a frenzy with a corner 3-pointer with about 3 minutes, 20 seconds to play.

Menominee Indian only scored one more basket the rest of the way, and had several turnovers that helped Shiocton seal up the win.

Wilber scored 11 points for Menominee Indian, making five field goals and a free throw. Fish contributed seven points.

Senior Alezaha King and sophomore Ayanna Smith both hit a 3-pointer for the team's other points.

Eagles' Dixon, Allen sign letters of intent

Both will play collegiate football

By MORGAN RODE
Sports Editor

Menominee Indian High School seniors Bryce Dixon and Allen Smith each signed a letter of intent to continue their football careers on Feb. 15 in Keshena.

Dixon is headed to the University of Minnesota Morris, while Smith plays for Wisconsin Lutheran College. The duo signed their letters in front of family, friends, teammates and coaches.

"Today is one of the biggest days of my life," said Dixon. "I'm finally going on to a bigger stage and under brighter lights. I'm still in shock."

"It's just really a big accomplishment for me and I feel like I worked my butt off for this opportunity and I feel like I deserved it and I'm glad it came to me," said Smith.

Like every athlete that moves on to the collegiate level, the path Dixon and Smith took were unique.

Smith, who came into high school enjoying basketball the most, didn't begin playing football until he was a sophomore. After his junior season, he began drawing interest from colleges.

According to www.wissports.net, Smith finished his career — which includes a shortened schedule in 2020 after the team moved its games to the alternate season — with 787 rushing yards and three touchdowns. As a receiver, he tallied 655 yards and two scores on 47 receptions.

Smith, who was signed to WLC as a linebacker, became one of the team's defensive leaders over his career. He racked up 164 total tackles in 22 games. He also had seven sacks, three forced fumbles and a pair of interceptions.

"It was a tough decision, there was a couple of other schools that I was pretty interested in, but it was the coaching staff that definitely made me want to come there," said Smith of WLC. "They seemed like they had a good family there, good program, and the coaches seemed like they really wanted me way more than the other coaches, so that was a big deciding factor."

Since he made his decision to go to WLC, members of the team have reached out to him to give him an idea of what things might be like in the years to come.

Menominee Indian senior Bryce Dixon signs his letter of intent on Feb. 15 in Keshena.

MORGAN RODE | NEW MEDIA

Dixon's recruiting process sped up after the most recent fall season ended. He said a couple coaches reached out, but things changed dramatically after he got involved in the Indigenous Bowl.

Dixon joined teammates Andre Corn and Tate Zhuckkahosee for the Indigenous Bowl in early December. Players went through a couple of practices before playing in a game on Dec. 5 at U.S. Bank Stadium in Minneapolis.

It was during the week in Minneapolis that University of Minnesota Morris head coach Marty Hoffmann got a look at Dixon.

Hoffmann came up to Dixon after he had an interception during a practice that week and told him to come visit the school. Dixon got an offer after visiting the school.

A position at the college level has yet to be determined for Dixon, who also is willing to help on special teams, if needed.

"I want to play two sides of the ball," said Dixon. "I understand the college level, the game is faster — I'm used to playing everything in high school ball. But I figure once I get to the higher stuff and it's all faster, I might have to slow myself down a little bit."

In his final three years of high school — when the team moved to 11-player ball — Dixon accumulated 328 yards and two touchdowns on the ground and 776 yards and six scores on 50 catches through the air. He also had over 500 return yards, including a 25.8-yard average and touchdown this past season. On defense, he tallied 58 total tackles from his cornerback position.

Marquardt helped the 4x400-meter relay team to a first-place finish in 4 minutes, 1.41 seconds. Gonnering took 36th in the weight throw with a long toss of 12.18 meters.

UW-Eau Claire

Suring grad Mitch Stegeman won the pole vault and took part in two other events for the UW-Eau Claire men's track and field team at the UW-Oshkosh Titan Challenge on Feb. 19.

Stegeman won the pole vault after clearing a height of 4.83 meters.

He also claimed 11th in the high jump (1.81 meters) and was 17th in the 60 dash (7.43 seconds).

Marian University

Oconto Falls graduate McKayla Goebel combined to play 28 minutes across the Marian women's basketball team's two games last week.

In 17 minutes and win over the Milwaukee School of Engineering on Feb. 15, Goebel tallied six points, three rebounds and two steals.

Goebel had a rebound and steal across 11 minutes in a loss to Concordia on Feb. 19.

Cardinal Stritch University

Gillett grad Aubrey DeBauch turned in three strong games for the Cardinal Stritch women's basketball team last week.

In a loss to Indiana Northwest on Feb. 14, DeBauch tallied two points, two rebounds and two assists in 20 minutes of action. She recorded 13 points, five boards, three assists and three steals in 27 minutes and a loss to Lincoln (Illinois) on Feb. 16.

The freshman had two points, seven rebounds and two assists across 24 minutes in a loss to Judson Feb. 19.

Wisconsin Lutheran College

Pulaski graduate Trevor Stiede and Bonduel graduate Carson Robaidek each played in games for the Wisconsin Lutheran men's basketball team last week.

Stiede scored eight points, grabbed two rebounds and dished out three assists in the team's loss to Concordia Chicago on Feb. 14. Stiede recorded 12 points, four rebounds, two assists and a steal, while Robaidek dished out an assist in the team's win over the Milwaukee School of Engineering on Feb. 19.

Bonduel graduate Kara Troxel logged six minutes in the WLC women's basketball team's loss to St. Norbert on Feb. 15. She hit a free throw and grabbed four rebounds in her time on the court.

University of Minnesota Crookston

Wittenberg-Birnamwood grad Abi Fraaza played 33 minutes across two games for the Minnesota Crookston women's basketball team last week.

Fraaza played 11 minutes and grabbed three rebounds in a loss against St. Cloud State on Feb. 17. She tallied four points, 11 rebounds, two assists, a steal and a block in 22 minutes and a loss to Minnesota Duluth on Feb. 19.

Ripon College

Suring grad Ryan Mahoney started and played 10 minutes for the Ripon men's basketball team on Feb. 18. He was also honored on the team's senior day.

Mahoney knocked down a 3-pointer, grabbed four rebounds and dished out an assist during his time on the court.

Witt-Birn grad Lauren Bahr enjoyed a strong weekend while representing the Ripon women's swim team at the Midwest Conference Swimming Championships from Feb. 18-20 and then picked up a conference award to cap it.

Bahr was on the 200 freestyle relay team that took fifth in 1:44.11 and 400 medley relay that claimed sixth in 4:19.95. The 200 medley relay she helped form came in fifth in 1:55.72, and the 400 freestyle relay she was on came in fifth in 3:49.32.

Individually, she placed 16th in the 50 freestyle (26.57), 15th in the 100 backstroke (1:04.83) and 18th in the 100 freestyle (57.97).

Bahr then received the MWC Elite 20 Award, which is given to student-athletes with the highest cumulative grade-point average and who participated in their respective sport's culminating championship or tournament event.

UW-Green Bay

Witt-Birn grad and current freshman on the UW-Green Bay women's swim team McKenna Metropulos participated in the Horizon League Swimming and Diving Championships on Feb. 16-19.

Individually, she placed 19th in the 100 butterfly (58.45) and 20th in the 50 freestyle (24.46).

Metropulos helped the 400 medley relay team to sixth place with a time of 3:54.45. The 200 freestyle relay team she was on came in fifth in 1:35.9, and the 800 freestyle relay she helped form took sixth in 7:47.67.

Saginaw Valley State University

Shawano grad Tori DePerry and the Saginaw Valley State women's basketball team went 1-2 on the court last week.

In a loss to Northern Michigan on Feb. 14, DePerry was credited with five points, eight rebounds, an assist and a steal across 24 minutes. She had two points, nine rebounds, a steal and a block in 26 minutes and a loss to Michigan Tech.

DePerry totaled 12 points, nine rebounds, two assists, a steal and a block in 28 minutes for the team in its win over Northern Michigan on Feb. 19.

McKai Davis reaches 1,000 career points
